

1,500 TO ATTEND FARMERS' RALLY

PLANS COMPLETE FOR ANNUAL FARM HOME WEEK

Program Includes Nine Courses of Study, Music, Plays, Pictures, and Cafeteria Supper

Never, during the 53 years that the college has held open house for farmers, has a program offered such an array of talented speakers of national note as are scheduled to appear in Manhattan during Farm and Home week, February 4 to 9, according to Director H. Umberger.

Large Attendance Expected

"Many Kansans have become convinced that an enormous amount of information and inspiration may be obtained in a minimum of time during farmers' week," said L. C. Williams, who is in charge of the program.

The attendance at the annual meeting is expected to exceed all records of previous years. Nine programs of courses of study will be offered the farmers, and nearly as many lines of study will be available for the homemakers. In addition to class work and lectures will be many other attractions—special music, plays, pictures, and a get-together supper in Nichols gymnasium.

Supper Provided for 1,500

Plans are being made to accommodate 1,500 people Thursday, February 7, at the gymnasium, for the supper. The meal will be served cafeteria style, the people occupying the bleachers as they would at a basketball game. One company of the R. O. T. C. will serve the coffee and desert when the people have been seated. After this the company will put on a 10 minute drill.

The program for the evening will include the presentation of the cup to the county winning in the attendance contest. The winning county in the better sires contest will be presented with a check for $500 by George W. Katts. The object of the better sires contest is to replace scrub bulls with purebred registered stock. The winner of the horse shoe pitching contest will also be announced at this time. There have already been a number of entries in this contest.

Hurdle Race in Evening

Following the announcements, Cliff Gallagher and Ivan Riley will stage a low hurdle. Both of these men are record makers on the speed track and the race promises to be a close one. The frosh basketball team under Coach Corsaut will play a short game against the Tri V's, who won the intramural basketball tournament.

The supper will furnish all the visitors with food at cost and the program will give them an idea of what the college is doing in lines other than home economics and agriculture. Immediately after the entertainment, there will be a stock show in the livestock pavilion, under the supervision of the animal husbandry and dairy husbandry departments. The stock show programs will be printed in the daily announcement in order that each visitor may pick out the winning livestock by name and thus become familiar with some of the state and national champions of the show. Prof. H. F. Reed will be the ring master at the show.

National Speakers on Program

A few of the speakers of prominence appearing on the assembly programs are Judge Clyde Reed and Samuel O. Dunn, who will meet in debate on the question of railroad rates; Bradford Knapp, president of Oklahoma A. and M. college, who will speak on cooperative marketing; Wayne Dinmore, secretary of the Horse association of America, who has attracted national attention by his brilliant qualities as a public speaker; Dr. Caroline Hedges, from the Elizabeth McCormick memorial, Chicago, a recognized authority on the care of children; Walter W. Head, president of the American Bankers' association; Dan Casement, prominent stockman and writer; and E. M. Aylesworth, National Electric Light association director.

SUMMER TERM OPENS MAY 31

Added Features Expected to Draw Large Enrolment

Weekly visits by Kansas superintendents of schools who will give daily talks upon practical school problems for young children will be one of a number of innovations of the next summer session of the Kansas State Agricultural college, according to an announcement by Dean E. L. Holton.

Mere Ford Has No Terrors for Pat---He Used to Drive Mules

Millard Reuben, alias "Pat" Getty, business manager of the 1924 Royal Purple, is making great strides toward international fame. He has all the earmarks of becoming something of a somebody. For instance, Pat has been able to run a consumptive Ford for two seasons without a cording to an announcement by Dean E. L. Holton.

The summer session will commence May 31. The session will last nine weeks, as it always has in the past, and the term will not be split into two distinct terms as has been rumored. There will be 125 instructors to take care of the long list of subjects to be offered during the term.

One feature of the session will be the presentation of an entirely new pageant by Miss Osceola Burr. The pageant occurs the Fourth of July, and will lend a distinguishing mark to the program of the day.

The athletic program for the summer will be in the hands of Prof. M. F. Ahearn, Coach Charles Bachman, and Coach C. W. Corsaut.

Expectations are held of a larger enrolment than that of last summer, when close to a thousand attended.

ANSWERS POUR IN TO WISE FOOL "21" PUZZLE

Awards Made to First 10—19 Wise Fools Nominated—Tickets on Sale February 4

Over 500 answers were received by Prof. Ray E. Holcombe in regard to the "21 puzzle" which is being used in Manhattan as a means of advertising the play "Three Wise Fools." Answers are still coming in, but the first 10 to get the right answer are the only ones entitled to prizes.

The following persons will obtain a ticket to "Three Wise Fools" and a box of candy—all free of charge—by calling for their mail, as the prizes have already been sent: N. S. Spangler, Esther Tracy, Genevieve Lovejoy, Claud Graves, Wilbur G. Enns, Jack W. Sheetz, B. O. Cooley, Lewis M. Walker Jr., R. L. Hutton, and Jack Eakin.

Of the 500 answers sent in for the puzzle, less than 30 had the right solution. The same contest is being conducted in all the towns to which the play is taken.

With the ticket sale for "Three Wise Fools" opening at the auditorium box office next Monday, February 4, renewed interest will be shown in the wise fool election, because each ticket entitles the holder to 30 votes in the election.

The ticket sale, which is in charge of Myron Russell, will continue from early Monday morning until the night of the play at the auditorium—February 8. Tickets may be secured by mail, personal call, or may be reserved by calling phone 614.

Nineteen Aggie men have been nominated in the wise fool contest and during the coming week ticket holders will drop their votes in a box placed in front of the Royal Purple window in Anderson hall for one to three of these nominees: Gill Wann, P. H. Dent, H. Sappenfield, Christian Rugh, Tom Shaw, Joe Haines, Don Corby, Burr Swartz, Forrest Whan, David Hervey, Paul Bascom, Ted Bayer, Jack Baney, Parker H. Mannen, Ira Patterson, Jack Eakin, J. Harris, Cliff Jolley, Fred O'Viland.

The men placing first, second, and third in the contest will be announced Friday night from the stage and appropriate prizes will be awarded.

breakdown, he knows how to drive mules, and he is taking a six year course terminating in two college degrees.

Millard R. became famous as a mule driver in December 1919, the year the Aggies averted a coal strike at Pittsburg. Pat said the experience was great but that the team he managed had more "mule sense" than he did. However, that is history.

At present Mr. Getty is driving a Ford. Said Ford is disguised as a corn sheller but it gets there. Pat either jacks the back wheels up to get it started or he pushes it. The car runs and manages to convey the Royal Purple official where he desires to go, so what's the difference. Getty's other occupation is in standing behind windows opposite the post office and giving out information. He takes great pleasure in answering question about pay checks, special delivery stamps, and quiz paper. Being an information bureau doesn't bother Pat to any degree as he has had experience in managing a soph-frosh hop and a junior-senior prom.

He is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

ENROLMENT MILL GRINDS OUT 2,411 ASSIGNMENTS

Total Expected to Reach 2,500—111 New Students Register Tuesday and Wednesday

The registration mill shut down Wednesday evening with 2,411 students registered for the second semester. Enrolment yesterday and today was expected to increase the total to 2,500. The number is slightly less than the total at this time last year, although 111 new students took out assignments. About 100 regular students, 60 federal board men, and 40 seniors, completed their work the first semester and are consequently not enrolled.

The five dollar late registration fee which materially reduced the number of tardy entries at the opening of the fall semester, retained its effectiveness, and attendance at first hours yesterday morning was very commendable, according to instructors.

Miss Ruth Cramer of Wakefield and Mr. G. M. Johnston were married in Topeka Saturday, January 26. Mrs. Johnston is a graduate student in food nutrition.

The experiment station faculty will hold their second meeting of 1924 at the cafeteria next Saturday at 12 o'clock.

The students of the cafeteria force held their annual between semesters party at the home of Miss Mable Ginter, 1116 Laramie street, last Monday evening. The evening was spent in playing progressive rock and popping corn.

The Faculty club held a party in the H. E. rest room Wednesday evening. Games and stunts furnished the amusement for the evening.

Dr. H. J. Waters, a former president of K. S. A. C. recently presented two volumes of the 1770 edition of "Dickson on Agriculture" to the library. This edition is very rare, and the reading matter is interesting.

SMITH TO STAGE DISPLAY

Hair Raising Stunt Provided for Engineers' Chapel

Those habitually bored persons whose time is ordinarily too valuable to waste by attending chapel, need not hesitate to come around at assembly time on February 5. The assembly on that day, as well as the program for the entire day will be in charge of the engineers.

The program will be conducted by J. L. Smith, Garden City, better known here as Joe Smith, who is now employed with the Commonwealth Edison company of Chicago. Mr. Smith is coming to Manhattan to present a special display of the behavior of the Tesla coil, static electricity, high tension currents and various other electrical phenomena commonly considered to be of a mysterious nature. Last year, during the engineering open house, Mr. Smith, who was then a student in the electrical engineering department, performed certain electrical and electrifying stunts, and this year the stunt will include all the spectacular performances of last year as well as many new features that he has learned since.

The afternoon of Engineers' day will be given over to the open house of the division.

WILDCATS WIN MINUS "K" MEN

GAME FEATURED BY FAST PLAYING BY BOTH TEAMS

Throughout Game Neither Team Led by More Than Three Points

In a game full of thrills and featured by fast playing and close guarding on the part of both teams, the Aggie Wildcat triumphed over the "Mizzou" Tiger last night in the closest and most exciting game ever played in Nichols gymnasium.

Scoring Was Seesaw

The scoring was a seesaw affair throughout and at no time during the game did either team have an advantage of more than three points.

Starting out with a team on which there was not a single letter man, the Aggies were the first to score when Tebow counted with a field goal at close range. Missouri then broke into the scoring with a free throw and followed with a field goal. The Aggies again took the lead when Tebow annexed another field goal. And thus it went throughout the first half, first, the Wildcat and then the Tiger leading. Three times during this period the score was tied and when the whistle blew that ended the half, the Tiger led 18-16.

Second Half Like First

The second half was a repetition of the first. Both teams had an almost impregnable defensive and each had trouble getting the ball past the first line of the opposing defense. The score was again tied at 21 points, but a free throw by Wheat again gave the Tigers a one point lead. It was at this point that Weidenbach was substituted for Wann and the Wildcats started a rally in which they took the lead and were never headed.

Tebow led the Aggie scoring with six field goals and Wheat, was high man for Missouri with three field goals and as many free throws.

Sideline Snaps

Both teams presented an almost airtight defensive and it was necessary to take many long shots.

In the last few minutes of play the Aggies varied their offensive in an effort to draw out and scatter the Missouri defense.

The victory was remarkable for the Aggies in that there was not a letter man on the floor during the entire game.

The Missouri team is well balanced as evidenced by both their defensive and offensive. Each man on their team helped in the scoring.

Brown Bull Gets Slicked up for Leap Year Debut

The Brown Bull wants more. He is a voracious feeder, and this being leap year he is getting all slicked up—ready to trot out February 28 with a garland of roses around his sleek neck and a coquettish ribbon bow on his well hornicured head.

The Bull's keepers are making a last plea for contributions—cartoons, verses, jokes, anything spicily and palatable which can be prepared in a hurry, for when the Bull feels the pangs of hunger, not even the editor and the associate editor can keep him in leash.

The contribution box still hangs in Anderson hall.

RILEY TIES WORLD'S 70 YARD HIGH HURDLE RECORD

Defeats Karl Anderson, Present World's Record Holder—Time 8 4-5 Seconds

Ivan H. Riley, famous Aggie hurdling star of last year, tied the world's record of 8 4-5 seconds for the 70 yard high hurdles indoors at the annual Illinois Athletic club's handicap meet held at Chicago last Saturday. Riley is at present running for the I. A. C. since he has had three years of college competition and is ineligible to hurdle for the Wildcats.

While tying this record Riley defeated the present world's record holder, Karl Anderson. The building in which the race was run was extremely cold, the temperature outside being about 16 degrees below zero with no fire in the building. The track was one of the best indoor tracks ever constructed, according to Riley, and these conditions enabled him to do his best.

In addition to winning the high hurdles in record time he also won second place in the 70 yard low hurdles. In this race he was defeated by Karl Anderson in 8 1-5 seconds, comparatively slow time when contrasted with the fast time of the highs.

There is some doubt as to whether the record will be accepted by the Amateur Athletic association because Riley touched one of the 5 hurdles while running the race. The force with which he struck the barrier was not enough to knock it down but rocked it out of the perpendicular about 6 inches. According to the rules laid down for record-breaking performances in the hurdles each must be cleared without touching if the mark is to be official. However it is thought that the small variance from the rule will not keep Riley from being awarded the title of joint world's record holder in the 70 yard hurdles.

THRILLS APLENTY IN ANNUAL MEET

PURPLE AND WHITE FRACAS DOPED TO EXCITE

Erwin and Riley to Compete in Feature Races—Eight Speedsters Will Try to Smash Relay Record

Plenty of excitement will be furnished spectators at the fourth annual Purple and White track meet to be held in Nichols gymnasium Saturday night, according to dope. Coach Bachman has divided the athletes so that competition is certain to be exceptionally close and bona fide thrills should be obtained from the two races in which Captain "Red" Erwin and Ivan Riley, will struggle for honors.

Fast Men on Both Teams

The teams have been chosen as follows: White—Mathias (capt.), Riley, Balzer, Whitfield, Pierson, Johnson, Coffman, Carter, Karns, Meak, Alkman, Dooley, Webb, Hamilton, Nixon, Campbell, Neal, Shaw, and Hunter; Purple—Irwin (capt.), Knauss, Kimport, Brockway, Smith, Wells, Butterfield, Munn, Dayhoff, Brunkau, Roberts, Flock, Schindler, Atwood, Youngman, Hoffman, and Taylor.

In the 30 yard dash is a quintet of flyers each of whom is capable of stepping in fast time: "Red" Irwin, Riley, Meeks, Karns and Whitfield. Irwin, Riley, and Karns will meet again in the 440 yard dash with Knauss, varsity quarter miler, and Brockway, freshman, adding to the spice.

Three Varsity Letter Men

Mathias, Balzer, Wells and Kimport will furnish the thrills in the mile run. Three of this quartet—Mathias, Balzer, and Wells are varsity letter men, and Kimport won the mile in fast time in the intramural meet last spring.

Ivan Riley, in the hurdles, is a trackster of national reputation, his latest feat being that of tying the world's record in the 70 yard high hurdles. He is a member of the Illinois Athletic club and holds the American record in the 440 yard hurdles. He is also holder of the Missouri Valley record in the 220 yard low hurdles.

Freshmen Compete in Jumps

A goodly number of freshmen are out for the jumps and a gallery of last years high school stars will compete for places in the high jump and pole vault. At present there is a lack of varsity material for these events and men who are eligible for varsity competition are urged to come out.

The meet will close with a thrilling half mile relay in which eight speedsters will attempt to break the indoor record.

Any Student Eligible

This is the one meet of the year in which anyone enrolled in college can enter. Eligibility rules have been waived and all students, regardless of classification, are invited to enter.

PROMINENT CHURCHMAN HERE

Dr. Alva Taylor Addresses Several Classes Today

Dr. Alva Taylor, editor of the Christian Century magazine and a member of the Social Service department of the Christian church, addressed a joint meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. yesterday, and spoke at a union mass meeting at the Christian church in the evening.

Today Dr. Taylor's speaking program includes talks before the following: a class in journalism at 9 o'clock; a current history class at 10; a class in economics at 11; and a class in education at 1 o'clock. At 5:30 a dinner meeting will be held at the cafeteria. Everyone is invited to attend.

INTRAMURAL HANDBALL TOURNAMENT BEGINS MONDAY

List Shows 46 Entries—Points to Organizations

The handball tournament will start next week with the largest entry list that it has ever had. Drawings for the matches have been made and will be posted immediately in the men's gymnasium. Winners in these contests will win points for themselves and for their organization in the intramural contest.

The entry list includes 46 teams of doubles and 52 singles. This is double the number of entries last year. According to Professor Knott, considerable interest is being shown in the contest.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1924

PREFACE

The prefatory editorial on page one states that evidence of pet peeves and pet hobbies might be unearthed in the editorial comment. A few specific points that may be construed generally as hobbies are presented here.

The Collegian believes that:

The east section of the Memorial Stadium should be completed this year.

The present freshman and sophomore classes should contribute decent amounts to the Stadium fund, and that the general disinterested attitude toward the campaign is discreditable.

Artistic programs offered by the music department and other organizations should be accorded more hearty support by both students and townspeople.

Loosening and broadening revisions should be made in the registration system.

ANENT REGISTRATION

How do universities which enrol 10,000 students in two or three days, do it?

Although a pleasant and commendable change in the K. S. A. C. registration system was effected three years ago, the problem of herding students through the gymnasium has never been solved. Later revisions have tended to increase rather than reduce red tape. The old unbending efficiency plan, based on the idea that all students are imbeciles and that 90 per cent of the faculty is grossly incompetent, has not been scratched.

SIGNIFICANT OR INSIGNIFICANT

The opening of a new semester gives both faculty members and students a chance to consider the purpose of what they are doing.

If they are merely imparting and learning facts that may or may not be useful, their work is inconsequential.

If on the other hand, they are respectively teaching and learning how to recognize facts, how to distinguish facts from the spurious substitutes constantly offered, how to utilize facts in forming opinions, and how to make these opinions count in action,—in short, how to think and how to feel—they are doing the most important work conceivable.

Between the two possibilities there is not much middle ground; a teacher or a student is significant or insignificant.—Industrialist.

FANATICAL POLITICS

A prominent Kansas Day orator, with immense impressiveness, fed his audience as follows: "Whoever is nominated at the Cleveland convention, we are prepared to assure you tonight that no matter whom the Democrats may nominate, our candidate will be elected."

Another one cried earnestly: "This damnable factionalism must be crushed. Republicans must stand together, no matter what the issue, and no matter whom the Cleveland convention nominates. These radicals are ruining party standards."

A Nebraska congressman to a group of listeners: "Yessir, him and I stumped the state together and spoke from the same platform every night. And Whadd'ye think. My district gave me a 20,000 majority and he was defeated in his district by 5,000 votes. Now,—etc., etc."

Congressman Foley Tinscher became a greater man when he said, at the business meeting of the Kansas Day club: "These fellows act as if all this really meant something."

It might have been a great day.

Three years have we waited for the time when, with only 11 hours to kill, and all those required, we might stride past the Outside Guardian, the Inside Guardian, and the Left Wrongsidout Supporter to the Chief Doorkeeper, tell Assigner Haymaker just what we wanted, fill out a few cards, scatter them about haughtily, and with a careless and jaunty flip of the assignment copy in the faces of the disgruntled Sentinels of the Middle Door, slip into the wide open spaces.

We had imagined it that way.

Having learned through seven suchas to spend two days in the gym, we waited till Wednesday afternoon, turned in number 42, stared insolently at the first guard, and walked into a wall of men.

"WHERE'S YOUR DEAN'S CARD?"

The first trap. They knew where the dean's card was. They knew very well that the deans' cards were upstairs—but they insisted on a definite answer.

Miss Correll, without even asking our name, graciously handed over the card. No questions, no arguments, no discussions. A gentlewoman and a scholar—that's Marie.

With a furtive look at the guard, we slipped past him to the next in line, whose calloused "Five!" compelled our instant attention.

"Five—dollars?"

He nodded. His lips silently formed the words, "No, silly, five lemon cokes."

"Write check to K. S. A. C.?"

Another nod. A silent "Certainly not, foolish, to the Duke of Senegambia."

Maxine was ahead of us. Kindly but firmly she was telling Mr. Haymaker exactly what she wanted.

when she wanted it, and why she intended to have it just that way.

At 3 o'clock, with hardly a vestige of her original schedule left, she staggered out.

Two hours later, having convinced our assigner that we were not majoring in botany, we approached the Seraphic Sentinel of the Middle Door. Weary of soul, we showed him our whole collection of cards, papers, and canteen meal tickets, and with a suspicious glance he opened the door seven inches, to Freedom!

A girl handed us a cordial invitation from Doctor Siever—urging us to come to the Hospital when we first began to feel ill.

We felt better immediately.

Lest our readers perceive a lack of intellectual guidance under the present editorial regime, we will endeavor to keep them posted on the newest styles in art, literature, and Mah Jongg. The Dial, plus a trip to Topeka, inspired the following bit of—shall we call it poetry?

inanity

In gigantic smoke of square voices from circular vapid Sumptuousness, ourself sees zigzag Nothings perambulate in soft shelled Words olordhelpus

Rosy is vexed. She "covered" the Woman's Kansas Day club banquet for the Topeka Capital Tuesday, and this item appeared under her name:

Mrs. Jarrell, acting as toastmistress, introduced Mrs. Raph Tennal of Sabatha, who gave a clever and original toast, "A Little Hellish."

Which it is, to take advantage of a hardworking cub reporter who swears she wrote it correctly, "Relish."

We're surprised at you, Cliff.

A Correction

Through a stenographers' error the recent statement issued by Athletic Directors M. F. Ahearn of K. S. A. C. and Phog Allen of Kansas university, was incomplete as published in the Collegian and other newspapers. The paragraph in question

Boy, Page Houdini

Two downtown business men drove up to the gymnasium Wednesday to secure basketball tickets. They appeared before the guardian of the west door. The following conversation ensued:

"Where's yer permit?"

"We don't want a permit, we want basketball tickets."

"Well, you can't get inside without a permit."

"All right, then where do we get permits?"

"Inside."

should have read as follows:

"The above statements apply to the recent game between the agricultural college and the university, about which there has been some discussion. While there were a few isolated instances of unfair playing on the part of both teams which we jointly deplore and which we attribute to the excitement of the game, nevertheless in speaking for the two sister institutions it is our firm conviction and belief that the general level of play in the recent game was on the usual high plane characteristic of the Missouri Valley conference."

Here and There

A very pompous young man stepped up to the Royal Purple windows yesterday morning and asked if they had found his assignment cards and schedule—the ones with a red rubber band around them.

One of the general science students wrote to his father asking for an auto in order to get from the gymnasium to the new ag building between second and third hours.

A certain junior boy is out gunning for one of the assigners. It happened that he was assigned to a home ec class and the junior is the only boy to balance a group of 23 girls.

"Dean" Mack, of the men's gymnasium department, says that registration is nothing but a lot of bother. He had to put up the bleachers again yesterday for the Missouri game.

ROGER BACON

English philosopher and man of science. Studied at Oxford and the University of Paris. Wrote the Opus Majus, Opus Minus, Opus Tertium, and many other treatises.

For this he was sent to prison

Roger Bacon may not have invented gunpowder, as has been claimed by some biographers of the famous Franciscan friar, but he exploded some of the outstanding errors of thirteenth century thought. Because of his advanced teachings, Bacon spent many years of his life in prison.

In an age of abstract speculation he boldly asserted the mathematical basis of all the sciences. But even mathematical calculation, he showed, must be verified by experiment, which discovers truths that speculation could never reach.

In the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company, Bacon's principles are followed in every experimental investigation. The gas-filled electric lamp and the electron tube were worked out on paper, but it was experimental verification of the underlying mathematical theory that made electric illumination, radio broadcasting and X-rays what they are today.

More than a million dollars a year is devoted to research by the General Electric Company in order that the giant—electricity—may be made more and more useful to mankind.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

FACULTY MEMBERS TO ADDRESS STATE MEETING

Dean Holton President of Council of Administration — Miss Hyde Chairman of Classroom Teachers

A group of educators from the Kansas State Agricultural college will attend the Kansas Council of Administration meeting, held in Topeka, Friday and Saturday, February 1 and 2. This annual gathering is really a part of the state teachers' meeting, held each year during the last part of January or first of February in addition to the main meeting in November.

E. L. Holton, dean of summer school and head of the department of education, is the president of the council, and Miss Emma Hyde, assistant professor of mathematics, is chairman of the classroom teachers' section. Others from the college who will attend are F. D. Farrell, dean of the division of agriculture, who will talk on the subject "Relating the College of Liberal Arts Course to the Professional or Graduate Course of the Individual"; Dean Margaret Justin, of the home economics division, who will discuss "What We Mean by Educational Standards"; Miss Helen Elcock, of the English department, speaking on "Raising the Standards in Colleges"; Miss Ima E. Holroyd, mathematics, who will speak respectively on "Mathematics in the Education of Girls and Women," and "Mathematical Facts Which We Should Like Our Students to Possess When They Reach College."

Arrangements have been made with several of the best nationally known educators to be present at the meeting. Included in the list are J. H. Newlon, superintendent of schools, Denver, Col.; Dr. J. C. Engleman, Washington, D. C.; and Dr. L. V. Koos, of the University of Minnesota. The council of administration is composed of the presidents of universities, colleges, and normal schools of this state; the deans and heads of the departments of these same schools; all city superintendents of schools; principals of high schools and elementary schools; special supervisors in any school work; county superintendents; and classroom teachers interested in school administration.

Fire Doesn't Stop Literature and Music—Art First

Nero fiddled while Rome burned. But the old Roman emperor had nothing on a fraternity man who sat at the piano hammering out "Oh Sister! Ain't That Hot!" while the room in which he was playing filled with smoke. And another erstwhile student looked up from a Western Stories magazine to remark, "I wonder if the house is on fire," and then continued in his literary vein. The remaining occupants of the room engaged in a heated argument as to the location of the possible fire, which was causing smoke to creep slowly from the crevices around the fireplace and windows.

But alas for literature and music! The smoke grew so dense that reading magazines and fiddling piano keys could not keep the participants' attention. Reluctantly two more joined in the argument in front of the fireplace. By this time an idea that perhaps there was some danger had penetrated several skulls, and an attack on the fireplace with the aid of axes and awkward tools brought forth many bricks and much profanity. The cause of the trouble was discovered as well, and a bucket-full of water put out the smoldering floor piece which was causing so much grief.

As the smoke cleared away, one boy went back to the piano, and another took up his Western Stories on the davenport, remarking for the benefit of an astounded new arrival on the scene, "Well, I guess the insurance will pay for all the repairing." The late-comer evinced more interest. "Then let's throw a brick through the piano," he suggested.

Caroline Kesler Appointed Agent
Miss Caroline Kesler, who completed the requirements for the master of science degree in home economics at the end of the first semester, has been appointed to the position of home demonstration agent in Meade county. She will begin her work after Farm and Home week.

We Are Here, Clifton Jaiirus--- Is It Murder, Theft or Fire?

The Aggie journalism students, en masse, went down to Topeka Tuesday to edit the Topeka Daily Capital.

Velma, always foresighted and ready for any contingency, packed her trunk, took her rubbers, her umbrella her journalism text book, and her deck of cards and was prepared to stay indefinitely in case Mr. Stratton offered her the position of city editor.

Harold the irrepressible improved his time going down by teaching the girls to play poker. He was "slightly perturbed," he admits, to find that they knew more about royal flushes and full houses than he did.

Mr. Rogers, the uncrowned king of the journalism department, went down with the boogie, but as he stepped from the street car in Topeka, one look at the 39 students who clustered trustingly around him, was too much. People might think—

Making an ignoble dash, he literally ran to the Capital office, coat tails flying, and the gang tumbling after.

Helen, bright and shining star of the sophomore class, made good on her very first trip to the big city. As proof, we submit this letter from Judge C. W. Ryan, Wathena:

"Dear Miss Correll: When I met you at the State House and you were talking to Mr. Jordan and expressed a preference for going after the news alone and in your own way, I decided that you would make good. So, coming home this morning, I looked through the Capital with considerable interest and was pleased to see that you had found news and had written it well. May I not congratulate you?"

"If I was still running a country newspaper, I would probably be trying to get you to work on it and you would be almost sure to want to go to a larger place and a bigger publication."

If further proof is demanded, look on page 12 of the Capital. The story is four inches long.

Margaret and Jo represented the Fourth Estate at the Woman's Kansas Day club meeting. Sitting at a collapsible table in the front of the church, the society editors were proud and pleased to be recognized in a charming speech by Mrs. Mattie Toothaker Kimball, as representatives of the Fourth Estate. The representatives got up to bow gracefully.

Henceforth they put no trust in folding tables.

Velma, playing bridge on the train, "I would like to bid in spades but I haven't the three or the five."

Charles Claybaugh, rushing into the Capital office, "A man dropped three stories in the Chesterfield hotel." Later he confided that the man was in an elevator.

Ira, "It's funny. Every time I turn around I see a policeman."

Alan, at the city court, "After hearing all these bootleg cases that have come up, I am convinced that this is a good town to live in."

Karl, "It's a shame more people are not killed here."

Muriel, "I really can't concentrate after being introduced to that city editor."

Maxine, in the dining room of the hotel, "Should I use a mashie or a niblick in approaching this dish?"

Helen, at the state house, "Jonathan, I'm reporting for the Capital and I'd like to have you spill me some chatter."

H. Parker, at the city hall, "Could I see the sheriff, please?"

Josephine, "This typewriter reminds me of Prince Albert tobacco, aged on wood."

Marie, as the "force" busted into the office, "We look like a bunch of fifth graders visiting the city gas works."

Rosy, on the way home, "The Capital won't be what it used to was."

Mrs. M. Sullunberger, Mrs. W. A. West of Kinsley and Winifred West were dinner guests at the Alpha Delta Pi house Thursday evening.

Virginia Deal went to Clay Center last week to visit her sister, Rebekah Deal, '23, who is teaching home economics in the Clay Center high school.

MANHATTAN WOMEN APPEAR AT WOMAN'S KANSAS DAY CLUB

Mrs. J. T. Willard Presents Oil Painting to State

Four Manhattan women were prominent in the meeting of the Woman's Kansas Day club, which was held in Topeka Kansas day, January 29. Dr. Margaret Justin, dean of the division of home economics, spoke on "An Outstanding Event in Kansas History." She mentioned the development of K. S. A. C. in her talk, which she based on the idea that the most outstanding event was the laying of a basis for vocational education.

Mrs. J. T. Willard presented an oil painting of Kansas Sunflowers which was painted by Mrs. C. E. Holroyd. The picture was accepted for the state by Mrs. A. B. Carney.

W. A. A. tests in folk and interpretive dancing were held in the women's gymnasium during final exams. The following girls passed the tests which gave them 30 points toward W. A. A. folk dancing: Mae Aliman, Oral Ewbank, Lanora Russell, and Bertha Worster; interpretive dancing, Anna Best.

SHORTHORNS SCORE HEAVILY

Seven Head from College Break Records at Wichita

Seven head of Shorthorn cattle, from the college animal husbandry herd, won more prizes in the recent stock show at Wichita than any other animals shown by a single exhibitor. The exhibit defeated prize winners of the American Royal, and Western National stock shows, and established a record never before equalled by an agricultural college. Six of the entries placed, winning $300 in prizes.

The winning individuals will be shown at the stock show in the college judging pavilion Thursday night, February 7, during Farm and Home week.

Several members of the animal husbandry department faculty at K. S. A. C., are assisting in handling the show work. Prof. B. M. Anderson is superintendent of the Hereford cattle department, Prof. F. W. Bell has charge of the hog judging, and Dr. C. W. McCampbell is judging the night horse show.

Ruth de Lee of Kansas City, Mo., has enrolled as a sophomore in the department of journalism.

UNION PACIFIC GIVES $2,400 IN PRIZES TO COUNTY CLUBS

Boys and Girls in Club Work Will Compete

In order to stimulate farm boys and girls to seek higher training in agriculture, the Union Pacific Railway company will offer $2,400 in agricultural scholarships to Kansas boys and girls in club work during 1924. R. W. Morrish, state club leader, announced this week. The winning club member more than 16 years of age in each of 36 counties will be awarded a scholarship of $75 and transportation from home to the Kansas State Agricultural college and return.

The prize is available in the following counties: Atchison, Brown, Clay, Cloud, Dickinson, Doniphan, Douglas, Ellis, Ellsworth, Geary,

KAMMEYER AND CLAMMER DEBATE BOK PEACE PLAN

Vote Cast by Audience at Close of Discussion Shows 190-60 in Favor of Plan

In an open discussion of the Bok peace plan at the Methodist church Sunday evening, Dr. J. E. Kammeier and George Clammer developed the main causes for difference of opinion among those who favor a peace plan.

Professor Kammeier presented the view of those who are for the league without reservations. He explained the world court, which, he said, was superior to the old Hague tribunal because it is permanent and always available. One of the members of the court is America's foremost authority on international law, John Bassett Moore. The world court scheme has been favored by six presidents. It deals with the interpretation of treaties and international law. More than 300 treaties have been registered with the court and 46 nations have accepted it.

Mr. Clammer, while he favors the Bok plan, believing it a step toward ending war, insists that American sovereignty, the Monroe doctrine, and our independence of action must not be impaired through its operations. He brought forth the failure of the European nations to abide by all the articles of the league covenant, and intimated that so long as the will to obey is not present among other nations the United States should avoid becoming entangled in any contract.

The casting of ballots by members of the audience followed the discussion. Of the 254 votes cast, 190 favored the plan and 64 opposed it.

BURTIS AND RUGH OPEN FORUM

Meeting Is First of Series of Discussions

The first of a series of forums promoted by the Y. M. and Y. W. was held in the home economics room, Monday, January 28, at 7 o'clock. The topic was pacifism and war. Phyllis Burtis and Christian Rugh presented the question. These forums will be held every week during February and also through March if enough interest is shown.

Miss Burtis discussed pacifism. She explained that the word pacifism does not necessarily mean passive submission to insults or invasion. The pacifist can work for peace through the league or world court.

Christian Rugh in discussing anti-pacifism asked if the last war would have been averted by such a program. He pointed out that it was improbable. According to Mr. Rugh, such a plan is a high and worthy ideal to be strived for but the step can not be taken all at once. Rugh suggested a league of nations or a world court as the stepping stone.

A lively discussion followed the presentation of the question. Practically everyone who spoke agreed that war is a thing to be abolished if possible. Several maintained that pacifism would result in evils worse than war. However, the majority seemed to favor the plan suggested by Mr. Rugh, combined with "active pacifism."

The next meeting of the forum will be Thursday, January 31, in recreation center at 4 o'clock. Dr. Alva Taylor, an authority on social problems, will speak on "Students and the economic problems."

A. S. Strain will present the labor man's side of the industrial question Monday, February 4, at 7 o'clock in the Congregational church. Mr. Strain is a member of the state labor commission.

Aggies in Alaska

K. S. A. C. is well represented in Alaska. Four former Aggies are connected with agricultural experiment work in the territory. W. W. White, '17, is assistant agronomist in charge at the animal breeding and feeding station at Kodiak. M. D. Snodgrass, '06, was recently appointed agricultural extension agent for Alaska with headquarters at Fairbanks. G. W. Gasser, '05, is also located in Fairbanks, where he is assistant agronomist in charge of the United States experiment station. He conducts work in cereal plant investigation and hybridization. Dr. C. C. Georgeson, formerly dean of agriculture at K. S. A. C., is in charge of all Alaska agricultural experiment stations. His headquarters are at Sitka where investigations in horticulture and gardening are carried on.

Gladys Sandford In Lead

Miss Gladys Sandford of Kansas City, who is playing the leading feminine role in "Three Wise Fools" will be remembered by Purple Masque adherents as the chewing-gum steno who played in the "Show Shop."

In "Three Wise Fools," Miss Sandford carries a part which, to most amateur actors, proves difficult, but she has succeeded in interpreting the character of Sidney exceptionally well. At one moment she is happily engaged in entertaining the "Three Wise Fools" and in the next scene she is found, seemingly in conspiracy with Benny the Duck, and her action rises to emotional heights—a type of playing which is difficult for an amateur to keep from making distasteful to the audience. But Miss Sandford does her entire character in such a way that the spectators will be interested only in the meaning and action of the scenes.

Miss Sandford is a junior in general science, a member of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority, and besides her work in the Purple Masque, she is actively interested in many college affairs.

The Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. commission will meet with Alvin Taylor in the green room of the cafeteria at 5:30 Friday evening.

ART DEPARTMENT INSTITUTES MUSEUM IN NEW CAFETERIA

Collection Includes Paintings, Sketches, and Embroidery

The nucleus for an art museum for the Kansas State Agricultural college has been instituted in the new cafeteria building by Miss Araminta Holman of the applied arts department. The tea room of the new cafeteria, which is still unfurnished, will be used for this purpose until funds are provided to equip it as a dining hall. The collection of the applied art department is grouped according to the nature of the individual pieces. Original paintings by Sandzan and others of the newer artists are arranged on one wall of the room.

The collection includes ink sketches, charcoal drawings, and oils. In an alcove is a collection of posters, including some war posters from France, Russia, and other countries. On the other walls are collections of copies of old masterpieces of the twelfth century, and later. There are also a number of pieces of Chinese and Japanese embroidery and a variety of interesting bits of pottery.

Miss Dorothy Brooks spent the week end at her home in Columbia, Mo.

Dr. W. F. Slade, entertained Pi Kappa Delta, Friday evening, January 25th, with a 6 o'clock dinner at his home at 710 Poyntz. Afterwards initiation services were held for C. W. Claybaugh, J. S. Fuller, and G. W. Corbet. The following members were present: Cool, Stover, Langford, Hill, Summers, Slade, Bushey, Wilkins, Baker, Sherman, Meliwaite, and Shinn.

Miss Margaret M. Douglas, who attended summer school here last year, is now teaching domestic science in the American mission college, Sharia, Abbas, Cairo, Egypt. This is the highest school of learning for girls in that part of the world with the exception of a school in Constantinople.

Second Orpheum February 29
The second annual Aggie Orpheum, sponsored by the Y. M. C. A., will be given in the college auditorium, February 29.

It will consist of ten acts made up of dancing, comedians, tumblers, magicians and singing. Anyone is eligible to try out for an act. A prize of $25 will be given to the best act presented by college students, and another of $15 to the best act put on by townspeople.

Anyone wishing to try out should see Jim Lansing.

C. C. Gottscoil, '23, is working for the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, at the South Philadelphia Works of the company.

The pledges of Alpha Xi Delta entertained the active members of the chapter with a line party at the Wareham Wednesday evening.

PURPLE MASQUE PLAYERS START ON TOUR SUNDAY

"Three Wise Fools" to Be Given in Four Towns Before Showing in Manhattan February 8

The Purple Masque players leave Sunday for Concordia where they will make their first appearance in "Three Wise Fools," the play to be given in the college auditorium on Friday night, February 8.

This is the fourth consecutive year that plays from K. S. A. C. have been taken to various high schools as a means of advertising the college. Each morning a short program, consisting of piano solos, quartet numbers, and brief talks will be given, and in the evening, "Three Wise Fools" will be presented at the following places: Concordia, Brown-Grand theatre, February 4; Salina, Lincoln high school, February 5; Chapman, community auditorium, February 6; Junction City, city theatre, February 7; Manhattan, college auditorium, February 8; and Hutchinson, high school auditorium, February 9.

An extensive publicity campaign has been carried out in order that the play may be presented before packed houses in all of the towns.

RADIO CLASS TO BE NATION WIDE

MAY BE LARGER THAN RESIDENT STUDENT BODY

Farmers Greeting Plans Enthusiastically—Definite Curriculum Being Outlined

The rate at which requests for enrollment in the radio agricultural course are coming in indicates that a class larger than the resident student body will be enrolled before the course opens. According to Sam Pickard, extension editor, nationwide interest is being shown in the course which will be broadcast from the college beginning February 11 at 7 o'clock. Applications for enrollment have been received from many places, including stations in Missouri, Mississippi, Illinois, and Michigan.

Course to Be Practical

A definite curriculum is being outlined by L. C. Williams and Mr. Pickard. The courses will be concrete and practical. Attractiveness, interest, and timeliness is the basis on which they are being arranged. The courses may be supplemented with written home study work.

E. R. Lyon, of the physics department, will have charge of the technical part of the work. Distant control methods will be used in transmitting the program from the station here to the broadcasting station at Milford. The powerful 500 watt station, KFKB, is one of the strongest in the country. Work on the sending room under the stage in the auditorium is being rushed to completion. Prof. E. V. Floyd has charge of the acoustic arrangements.

Curriculum Includes Five Courses

The curriculum as arranged for the first week starting February 11, will consist of five courses. The schedule follows: Monday, poultry; Tuesday, dairy and livestock; Wednesday, crops, truck, and soils; Thursday, agricultural economics and farm engineering; and Friday, home economics. A written examination at the end of the course will entitle the students to a certificate of graduation from the first air school ever conducted.

A sample of the interest and appreciation with which Kansans are greeting the course is evidenced by a letter to President Jardine from E. B. Studebaker, of Cloverbrook farm, Fredonia. Mr. Studebaker says: "I take this opportunity to state to you that I am very glad to learn that you expect to put on a radio agricultural course for the benefit of those who would like to know more about agriculture but who do not have the chance to go to Manhattan."

Farmers Favor Plan

"Having had a standard receiving set on the farm for more than seven months, and having learned much from many different stations, it seems to me that the radio is going to be a great help to those who live on the farm when they become familiar with it."

"Now as a tax payer and citizen of Kansas I am in favor of practical economy and tax reduction, but I feel that the Kansas State Agricultural college should have a good broadcasting station."

AGGIE RIFLEMEN SCHEDULE MEETS WITH FIVE SCHOOLS

Pistol Shooters to Hold Two Inter-collegiate Contests

K. S. A. C. will have a good rifle team schedule this spring, according to Captain Stickney. Teams which have recently accepted the challenge of this school are South Dakota for the week ending February 16; Fairmount college, February 23; Oregon Agricultural college and Minnesota university, March 8; and the University of Illinois, March 15.

In addition to these rifle matches there will be a pistol shoot with West Point during the week ending May 10. The team will consist of 10 men. The regular 45 calibre automatic pistol will be used.

The rifle match which was to have been held with Marion institute, February 16, has been cancelled by that school.

Champions of Four States

The Kansas State Agricultural college horticultural products team was a dark horse in the competition held in connection with the first biennial Central States Horticultural conference and exposition, Kansas City, Mo., recently. The Kansas team scored a total of 2,551½ points out of a possible 3,000. The Missouri university team was second, with a 2,522½ points. The Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college team was third, with 2,527½ points. The Iowa team was fourth, with 2,555 points. Both Arkansas and Nebraska are members of the conference, but neither state sent a team this year.

TRACK MEET FOR VISITORS

Aggie Stars to Perform for Farm-Home Crowd

Farm and Home week visitors will have the opportunity of seeing some of the best tracksters in the country perform during their stay here. The athletic department has arranged to hold a track meet February 7, in which former and present Aggie stars who have gained national reputations on the cinders, will compete.

The feature of the meet will be a hurdle race between "CHIT" Gallagher, former Aggie hurdler and dash man, and unofficial holder of the world record in the 30 yard low indoor hurdles, and Ivan Riley, Aggie hurdler who holds the Illinois Athletic Club record in the 440 yard hurdles and who recently tied the world's record in the 70 yard low hurdles.

"Red" Irwin, captain of the Aggie squad, who won the 100 and 220 yard dashes at the Missouri Valley meet last year will attempt to show his heels to a trio of promising freshman sprinters. Several other events will also be run.

MRS. CROCKETT WINS CONTEST

Has Almost 500 Inches Published in Collegian

Mrs. Mary Elva Crockett was the winner of the $10 prize offered by the Collegian board to the person having the most material published during the semester. She had a total of 477 inches, winning by a margin of 61 inches from her nearest competitor, Dorothy Greve who had 416 inches, and received second prize, of $5.

Leslie Combs, sophomore, was third with 306 inches, Helen Norton, general science special, fourth with 275 inches, and Genevieve Tracy fifth with 259.

This prize has been offered by the Journalism department each semester for several years. However, owing to the reorganization of the Collegian this semester no space contest will be held this year.

COLLEGIAN STAFF NAMED FOR FIRST NINE WEEKS

Burr Swartz Is New Business Manager—Fifteen Students Chosen to Gather News

The staff of the Kansas State Collegian, chosen by the editor-in-chief and the managing editor for a term of nine weeks, was approved by the board at a meeting held Friday afternoon.

Burr Swartz of Hiawatha was elected business manager, to succeed Karl Wilson whose resignation became effective at the end of the first semester. Mr. Swartz is well qualified for the position, having had considerable experience in advertising during the last two years.

Alice Paddleford of Cedar Vale has been appointed assistant managing editor. Miss Paddleford was feature editor last semester, and was among the five best reporters both semesters last year.

Margaret Ploughe of Hutchinson and F. E. Charles of Republic are associate editors. Miss Ploughe is a sophomore and has held the positions of exchange and rewrite editor on the Collegian. For the past year she has been society editor on the Hutchinson Gazette. Mr. Charles who is a senior has also had experience on the Collegian.

Maxine Ransom is society editor. She has held the positions of assistant editor and society editor on the Collegian. Harold Sappenfield, the exchange editor of last semester, has been appointed feature editor.

Emil von Riesen of Marysville, the assistant sport editor last semester, has been made sport editor with R.

I. Thackrey of Kansas City as assistant.

The Campus Echoes column will be written by Josephine Hemphill of Clay Center. Miss Hemphill has been editor of the Collegian for the last two semesters, and is now editor of the Brown Bull.

A reporter staff has also been selected from the students who placed highest in the Collegian contest last semester. The reporters are Dorothy Greve, I. O. Call, Mrs. Mary Elva Crockett, L. R. Combs, Genevieve Tracy, Helen Correll, C. W. Claybaugh, David Russell, Velma Lockridge, C. W. Roberts, Miriam Dexter, Ruth Bachelder, Lucille Potter, Ralph Blackledge, and Louis Childers.

Evening Assembly
8:00 p. m. Play, entitled "Three Wise Fools." Presented by the Purple Masque Players of the Kansas State Agricultural College, under direction of Ray E. Holcombe, Assistant Professor of Public Speaking.

J. Pluvius and P. Connor have pulled their usual shenanigans on the Farm and Home week folks, but the folks are used to that. Farm week is in progress, despite the swirling, worrying wind and the snow underfoot.

Train Tieup Lowers Attendance
Late trains and bad roads have cut down the attendance from its expected high mark, but there is nevertheless a good representation of farmers and their wives and of other folks interested in agricultural progress.

Despite the small enrolment, the program began Monday evening. The evening's entertainment consisted of a concert given by students of the department of music. The program was relayed and broadcast through KFKB radio station at Manhattan.

The program was opened with a short address of welcome to the visitors, delivered by President Jardine. Tuesday is to be Engineers' day, and the Engineers will have complete charge of the day's program. The feature of the day is the general assembly in the morning. H. M. Aylesworth, National President of the American Farm Lighting association, is the principal speaker of today with an address on "Farm Lighting." Joe Smith of Garden City who is now in the employ of the Commonwealth Edison company of Chicago will have charge of the program. He will repeat the hair raising stunts presented at the engineer open house a year ago, together with many new ones which he has learned since.

To Hold Open House
In the afternoon the engineering division will hold open house for the visitors, and interesting displays have been prepared by each department for this occasion.

On Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the general assembly, Dr. Caroline Hedger of Elizabeth McCormick Memorial, Chicago, will discuss "What the Community Owes the Child." Other subjects which she will take up are "Positive Health for the Child of School Age," "Health for the Rural Child," and "Nutrition of the Adolescent Child." Doctor Hedger is one of the most widely recognized authorities on the health and welfare of children in the United States.

Motion Pictures Each Day
Free motion pictures will be shown daily during Farm and Home week, from 12:30 to 1:30 in the auditorium.

"The college is asking only a 'fifty-fifty' break from the weather in order to make the week the greatest ever," L. C. Williams said. "The fact that several hundred persons were sufficiently interested to come in spite of the storm is held as evidence that the town won't hold them if nature smiles."

SWIMMERS TO MEET PIKERS
The first swimming meet of the season will be held with Washington university on February 22. The team is practicing regularly, and prospects for a winning are much brighter, according to E. A. Knott, swimming coach.

Bert Colburn, swimming ace, has returned to school and will compete for the Aggies. Knott reports that he has found a good breast stroke man in E. L. Reichert, and that C. Miller is showing up well in the backstroke. For the dashes, Joe Mackey and Paul Stuenkel both show good form, and Mackey and Carter are showing up well for the dive. So far no candidates have shown up for the distance plunge.

In Washington university, the Aggies will meet some stiff competition. Swimming is given a good deal of prominence at that school, which is said to have the best aquatic equipment in the middle west. The Pikers defeated K. S. A. C. last year and they have a strong team again this year.

SAMPLES TO BE GIVEN OUT AT CANDY DEMONSTRATION
Candy Making Explained Wednesday in L. 22

A candy demonstration is to be held Wednesday morning at 10:00 o'clock in L. 22, at which samples will be given out. A demonstration and discussion of all kinds of candies will be given and the mistakes commonly made in making candy will be explained. Any questions will be answered. The demonstration will begin with the making of fondant and dipping of chocolates and proceed through the various stages of sugar cookery. The candies to be demonstrated will include dipped chocolates, nut brittles, taffy, lolly-pops, penoche and fudges.

Emery and Gloyd on Program
F. E. Emery, assistant mammalogist, and H. K. Gloyd, museum assistant, will take Prof. F. L. Hisaw's place on the farm and home week program Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. They will exhibit and discuss the economic importance of gophers, snakes, hawks, and owls.

R. O. T. C. Prepares Exhibit
An exhibit for Farm and Home week visitors will be given by the R. O. T. C. in room 211 of the engineering building. Weapons of various kinds and other instruments related to military activity will be on display and members of the cadet corps will be on hand to explain their use. The anti-aircraft gun recently received will also be on display in front of the engineering building.

Winners In Essay Contest

First and second prizes in an essay contest conducted by the Fifth District Federated Women's club went to Mildred Swenson of Clay Center (left), and Helen Van Gilder of Manhattan (right) seniors in journalism. The first prize of $25.00 went to Miss Swenson for an essay entitled, "What is Wrong with Modern Education." Ten dollars as second prize was given Miss Van Gilder for her essay, "The Small Town, a Sociological Problem."

Miss Swenson is a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority and Miss Van Gilder is a member of the Phi Omega Pi sorority. Both are members of the American College Quill club, an organization of college persons interested in writing. Miss Van Gilder won the prize for writing the greatest quantity of news for the Kansas State Collegian last spring.

ERWIN LEADS PURPLE TO VICTORY BY CLOSE SCORE

Annual Meet Fast, but Produces No New Records—Riley High Point Man

The Purple team captained by the versatile "Red" Erwin won the fourth annual Purple and White track meet in Nichols gymnasium Saturday night by a score of 46-44. Although no new records were made, several of the races were fast and furnished plenty of thrills.

The showing made by several freshmen featured the meet. In the pole vault all three places were won by yearlings and in the high jump two freshmen and one varsity man tied for first honors. Second place was won by frosh entries in the 440 yard dash, 30 yard low hurdles and the shot put. They also won third place in three events.

Ivan Riley, with firsts in the 30 yard low hurdles, the 30 yard high hurdles, and a second in the 30 yard dash, was high point man of the meet.

The events and winners follow:
30 yard dash—first, Erwin; second, Riley; third, Whitfield. Time 3.7 seconds.

30 yard low hurdles—first, Riley; second, Meeks; third, Davis. Time 4.1 seconds.

30 yard high hurdles—first, Riley; second, Roberts; third, Schindler. Time 4.3.

440 yard dash—first, Knause; second, Brockway; third, Karns. Time 57.5.

880 yard dash—first, Johnson; second, Hunter; third, Pyle. Time 2:16.

2 mile—first, Balzer; second, Alkman; third, Lantz. Time 10:27 3-5.

Shot put—first, Munn; second, Smith; third, La Paille. Distance, 40 feet.

High Jump—Davis, Logan, Young, tied for first at 5 feet, 5 inches.

Pole vault—first, Butterfield; second, Carter; third, Dooley. Height, 11 feet 6 inches.

The veterinary unit of the R. O. T. C. will be continued, according to an announcement made by Major C. A. Chapman this morning. The secretary of war has approved the unit, and has appointed Captain G. W. Brower to continue in charge. There are at present about 35 in the veterinary unit.

CORSAUT MAKES RADICAL CHANGE

DROPS TWO REGULARS—ADDS EIGHT TO FIRST SQUAD

Lineup That Beat Missouri to Start on Road Trip—Webber, Doolen, Still Ineligible

The Road Schedule
Thursday, Feb. 7—Ames
Friday, Feb. 8—Grinnell
Saturday, Feb. 9—Drake
Tuesday, Feb. 12—K. U.

Defections from the Aggie basketball squad at the close of the first semester has resulted in marked changes in coaching policy, according to a statement made by Coach C. W. Corsaut yesterday. A number of younger players have been taken into the regular squad although they will not be eligible to play in intercollegiate games this year, and some of the older regulars have been dropped.

Eight Men Added
Helea and Woodbury have been dropped and the following youngsters added: Overall, Miller, Helmerich, Metz, Leeman, Levitt, Byers, and Davis.

With Weber and Doolen, the only letter men on the squad, still ineligible on account of scholarship deficiencies, the Aggies will take a team composed entirely of first year men on the Iowa trip this week. The probable lineup will be Bunker and Wann at forward, Tehow at center, and Kock and Harris at guards—the quintet which defeated Missouri on the home court last week.

Are High School Stars
Overall is a former Hutchinson Kan., high school star and was all-Kansas high school center last year. With his 6 feet 3 inches of height he towers above every other man on the squad. Miller played with the Central high school of Washington, D. C., last year and was all-Allegheny mountains high school guard. Helmerich and Metz were Argentine high school men last season. Metz is left handed. Lehman comes from Cleveland, Okla. He is a long, rangy guard. Levitt played on the Wilson team as guard; Byers is a left handed forward from Abilene, and Davis played forward on the Fredonia high school team last season.

Coach Corsaut will carry this group of men on the regular squad and will continue throughout the present school year with the training, holding twice a week sessions after the close of the season.

BASKETBALL BRIEFS
The Aggies have every chance to make a clean sweep of the first three games of the road trip and come home with a percentage of .500 or better. Drake is said to have a "rejuvenated" team, but on comparative dope is weaker than the Aggie five.

K. U. has not performed in championship style since its game here, and an Aggie win at Lawrence, while not to be expected, is easily within the range of possibility should the changed lineup get "hot."

Webber has a chance to make up his work and become eligible, but probably will not be able to play before the K. U. game.

The loss of Doolen and Webber was expected to throw the Aggies off form in the Missouri game, but "Jerry" Harris, playing his first game of the season, and Koch, functioned like veterans. The offense seemed to be strengthened over that displayed in previous games, and the defense was fair, but was caught off balance several times by Faurel and Wheat of Missouri.

BEST DRILLED COMPANY TO STAGE SPECIAL EXHIBITION
R. O. T. C.'s Pride to Drill for Farm Home Visitors
Company K, selected as the best drilled company in the R. O. T. C. last semester, will give an exhibition drill for Farm and Home week visitors Thursday February 7.

The exhibition will be staged in Nichols gymnasium. It will consist of close order and silent drill, followed by the manual of arms.

Everyone, particularly visitors, is invited to attend.

Proxy Speaks at Parsons
President Jardine will go to Parsons, Tuesday, February 19, where he will address a chamber of commerce meeting.

A Prize Winner Show

A "prize winner" show, will be staged in the college judging pavilion by the animal husbandry department Thursday evening for Farm and Home week visitors. Only animals that have won prizes at leading livestock shows, or have established state or national records, will be exhibited.

In addition to the display of prize horses, beef cattle, hogs, sheep, and dairy cattle, a short history of the development and record of each animal will be given. Those in charge of the show are also planning some surprise features which they promise will be interesting.

The show will begin at 8 o'clock. Everyone is invited to attend.

TEN ATHLETES ENTERED IN K. C. A. C. CLASSIC

Aggie Strong in Sprints, Relay and Pole Vault—Butterfield a Dark Horse

Ten athletes will make the trip to Kansas City, next Saturday to represent the Aggies in the annual Kansas City Athletic club track meet in Convent hall.

While it is too early in the season for predictions, all of the men on the squad have been showing good early season form. In the 50 yard dash, Captain "Red" Erwin, the Valley's premier sprinter and Keer Wittfield, freshman, who has been showing up well, have been entered. K. L. Knause, quarter miler of last year and H. A. Brockway freshman, will run the 440 yard dash. Lyle Munn and J. E. Smith, who have been tossing the lead marble consistently for 40 feet, are entered in the weight event. In the pole vault and broad jump, Butterfield, freshman from Mulvane is the lone entry. He has been showing exceptional form and vaulted 11 feet 6 inches in the Purple-White fracas Saturday.

Mathias and Kimport, who have been running the mile in fast time will compete with other valley milers for honors in the distance run. Kimport is also entered in the 1,000 yard handicap race.

The mile relay team, composed of Knause, Brockway, Karns, and Erwin, has never yet run together in a meet, but Coach Bachman believes it is a worthy successor of the team which won from Oklahoma at the K. C. A. C. meet last year. The Aggies will meet the Sooners again this year.

Up to the present time no men have been entered in the 880 yard dash or in the 600 yard Shannon Douglas cup race.

2690 STUDENTS ENROL FOR SPRING SEMESTER

Record Made Tuesday When 1,800 Students Were Enrolled—Students Still Taking Out Assignments

The enrolment for the spring semester has reached 2,690, according to the latest figures obtained from Miss Jessie M. Machir, registrar. Students seeking late assignments are still straggling in, so that the total enrolment will probably be well over the 2,700 mark.

This number is slightly less than the total at this time last year, since the number of students entering college this semester did not come up to the number who did not return to school. About 40 seniors and 60 federal board men completed their work last semester, and consequently did not return.

Tuesday, the first day for enrolment, 1,800 students were assigned to their classes. This is the largest number ever put through in one day, Miss Machir said.

FRESHMAN COMMISSION PLANS SPECIAL VESPERS FOR VISITORS

Will Present Pageant Written by Sybil Porter

A special vesper program, followed by a tea at which the Farm and Home week visitors will be special guests, has been planned for Thursday afternoon. The girls on the freshman commission are in charge, and will present a pageant "Pictures on Memories Walls," written and arranged by Mrs. Sybil Porter. It is a dramatic presentation of familiar songs worked out in pantomime. Popular, patriotic, folk and sacred songs will be included in the group.

Lavina Waugh, director of the freshman commission, with Margaret Burtis and Marie Insley have direct charge of the program.

The Lincoln and Philomathian literary societies of the vocational school gave a Kansas state program last Friday evening.

NEED 5,000 MORE SEATS FOR FALL

ERECTION OF MORE STADIUM UNITS A NECESSITY

Work Will Probably Begin this Summer Whether or not Funds Are Available

That the completion before fall of at least 5,000 more seats in the K. S. A. C. Memorial Stadium is a practical necessity, and that construction on the east section will be started this summer whether or not funds are available, is the consensus of opinion expressed by officers of the stadium corporation. Members of the board believe, however, adequate financial support will be forthcoming during the summer and early fall.

Three Great Drawing Cards

No official action has been taken, but the immediate need of greater seating capacity is so strongly felt that regardless of other factors, the work must continue. The potential drawing power of the 1924 Aggie football schedule including home games with Kansas U., Nebraska, and Drake, is the greatest in history and the example of two years ago, when over 12,000 persons paid admission to the Homecoming battle, and many had to be refused admittance, is always staring athletic officials in the face. Last fall, every seat in the Stadium was sold, although the rain kept many people away. Athletic authorities believe the Nebraska game next fall will attract a throng the size of which has never been seen on an Aggie field. They also state that in order to keep the Cornhuskers on the home schedule, larger crowds will be necessary.

Practically all work on the field and running track has been completed and contractors will be ready to turn their attention to construction in a short time. It is probable, however, that actual work will not be started before early summer.

Financial Problem a Bugaboo

The financial problem is of course the big bugaboo to be overcome. The corporation has been able to pay most of the expense incurred up to date, but funds for the new section are lacking. Because of the critical situation, Dr. J. V. Cortelyou, secretary of the corporation has abandoned thoughts of a summer vacation, and engineers are expected to do likewise.

Manhattan banks are backing the corporation to the limit. Directors state they will continue to do so until seating capacity sufficient for immediate needs has been provided. With this aid, and in the belief that many pledges will be paid during the summer while the students are working, members of the board hope to emerge successfully from the campaign.

Seniors Establish Record In Paying Year Book Dues

"The seniors are establishing a record in paying their Royal Purple assessments," said M. R. (Pat) Getty, business manager of the 1924 year book. Three hundred eight seniors out of a class of 325 have paid up.

Pat says this is the one ray of sunshine that brightens things up in the Royal Purple room opposite the post office. The juniors pay only when they feel like it; the freshmen when they overcome their timidity and the sophomores when they are sick or have a headache.

So far, only 140 juniors have paid up their assessments but this is much better than the sophomores who have only 88 members who have paid. The frosh also are doing better in the matter of payment than the sophs, as 92 have shoved in their money.

"The first ones to pay their assessments," said Pat, "are those who are the hardest up, and the most obscure socially. As an average the students who can best afford it; the 'high lights of society' in the school are the slowest ones in paying their dues. This is no doubt due to negligence but when they all rush in to pay at the last moment, it makes matters very complicated for the manager."

Cosmopolitan Club Meets Saturday

The Cosmopolitan club will hold an open meeting in Recreation center Saturday evening. After the business meeting, a program will be given. The club is made up of the foreign students in attendance at K. S. A. C., but anyone who desires to do so is cordially invited to attend the meeting.

FARM AND HOME WEEK

Farm and Home week should not be considered simply a series of lectures. It is a school, a veritable short course. More, it is an opportunity for the people of Kansas to see in operation one of the great educational institutions that they support.

Perhaps even more usefully, it facilitates contacts among persons following the same occupations. Every lawyer learns from other lawyers. Every physician learns from other physicians. Farming and home making are coming more and more to be recognized as professions. The farmer, the home maker, can get fresh knowledge, fresh stimulation, fresh zeal, from others who are following the same professions.

"BONUS" vs. "COMPENSATION"

We hasten to assure the Reverend Doctor Holtz that his fears concerning the stultification of the newspapers by interests opposed to adjusted compensation for ex-service men are groundless. He palpitated over the matter in his Sunday evening sermon at the Baptist church, adducing as justification for his fear the fact that the newspapers refer to compensation as a "bonus."

If the Reverend Doctor ever tried to write a headline in 24 point type or larger to fit in a 13 em newspaper column he would know why the newspapers say "bonus" instead of "adjusted compensation."

Beyond the Hill

Harvard has a 15-year old freshman, and Princeton has one who is 12 years of age. Columbia, however, leads the field with an 11-year old prodigy who speaks 12 languages.

The honor system at Princeton is so well developed that students are permitted to take the examination papers to their rooms and write out answers in privacy.

In England football stars draw the fabulous prices that baseball players do in the United States.

Nevada State University claims the most unique secret society in the United States. It is known as the "Sundowns of the Sagebrush" and consists of twelve men whose bid to fame lies in the fact that they have bummed their way by land or sea for at least 1,000 miles.

Greek meeting Greek won't be preliminary to the fracas that will ensue when the W. C. T. U. sees the report that women smoked 7,000,000-000 cigarettes in 1923.

A beauty contest will be a feature of the "Wallulah," junior annual at Williamette university. The pictures of the five most beautiful girls and the five most handsome men will appear in the feature section.

We must preface this number of Campus Echoes with a note of explanation to our readers who were expecting a humorous column. We intended to make it such a feature—a reflection, as it were, of the glad, gay, spontaneous humor that abounds in a college community—but since our mail has been flooded this week with letters which demand answering, we ask you to be patient. And please, PLEASE, dear readers, do not send us any more letters. We thank you for the confidence you have in us, but we do not feel qualified to answer your questions. Too often there is a heart throb, a touch of pathos, an underlying motif of sadness which the coarse warp and woof of conventional phraseology cannot obliterate. Obviously, such letters are out of place in a humor column.

Dear Campus Echoes: Don't you think a handsome man has a better chance to make good than a homely man? Will you please give me a motto, a small one that will look nice engraved on a silver belt buckle? Thanks.—Billy J.

Yes.
Labor omnia vincit.

Campus Echoes: Last week there was a rumor afloat to the effect that I intended to give up my classes this semester. Do you believe that such a rumor, doubtless the fabrication of some brainless journalist, has affected my popularity?—Ivor V.

Not appreciably.
We cannot pass up the insinuation so cleverly (?) hidden in your communication, without telling you that it makes "the hot blood start." We cannot conceive of any gentleman applying the invective "brainless" to those who have chosen for their life work the uplift of humanity through the power of the press.

Dear Campus Echoes: Is it correct to wear rubbers over Russian boots? Please do not use my name.—A.

We do not pretend to be up on the latest idiosyncrasies in dress, but presume that if rubbers must be worn, it is all right to wear them over the boots. For further information, consult back numbers of Vanity Fair.

Dear Campus Echoes: Now I'll tell you what is bothering me this week dear Campus Echoes. Our literary society is going to have a leap year party the fifteenth, and the girls are supposed to ask the boys for dates. Now dear Campus Echoes, I know I'm a little bit old fashioned, but do you think I could go home and face my folks after acting so bold?—Old Fashioned Edith.

My dear, dear little girl, for you are only a little girl—we have spent time and thought on your problem, a problem that we know looms big in your youthful eyes, and our solution may break your heart. But "heaven holds all for which you sigh," and it is far, far, better to obey the whispered warning of your own conscience, to uphold the high ideals inculcated by wise and loving home folks, than to lower your standards of—of—ideals. We love to hear from girls who have such high ideals as you, Old Fashioned Edith.

Dear Campus Echoes: My point average for the first three years is .601. They say that is a below normal average. Is there any chance for me?—John.

Chance? My dear boy—opportunity is just around the corner! Read "Why I Never Hire Brilliant Men," in the latest American magazine.

Dear Campus Echoes: I was born February 29, 1880. Do you think I will ever be dean of the division of agriculture?—H.

Yes, we believe you will. The planets were in a rather peculiar position on that date, and there was an eclipse of the sun—but not for long.

Dear Campus Echoes: Don't you believe the paper has improved a thousand per cent since we took it over, and gave it a definite, vital editorial policy, with a real punch?—Rosy and Posy.

Yes indeed. Keep up the good work, and in a very short time your paper will compare favorably with those of the big eastern schools.

Dear Campus Echoes: I am engaged to two men. Both of them belong to a fraternity, both can dance, both have money, both are good looking and I like them both. Which one's pin shall I return?—Mary.

We make no claim to superhuman knowledge. Ask the dean of women.

Dear Campus Echoes: Here is a verse I found in the back of an old book, called "Friendship for Friendship's Sake," and will gladly share it

Veterans Prepare For New Attack
Against Facultate

The battle smoke of the final exams have gradually drifted from the hill. The heavy barrages of the chem and zoology profs have ceased their ghastly toll of student lives. At 12 o'clock on January 26, an armistice was forced on the various classes and now the front lines are being changed.

For the past week a steady stream of the wounded and dead have been pulled, carried or kicked off the hill and deported to the gloomy realms of ignorance. One of the promising young neckers of Respiration hall led the procession by making 13 hours of flunks out of a possible 13½. The young man wins the Whiz Bang sheepskin.

But the 1924 version of William and Mary's war has begun and the past will soon be forgotten. Already the college prof is swabbing out the old blunderbuss. The vet-

TAYLOR IS FORUM SPEAKER

Addresses Meeting Thursday, and Classes Friday

Dr. Alva Taylor, well known authority on sociological and industrial questions, addresses several meetings on the hill Thursday and Friday, January 31 and February 1. Thursday at 4 o'clock he spoke at Y. W. C. A. vesper. Friday morning at nine and at eleven he addressed various classes. The Indianapolis delegates were given a chance to become acquainted with him at a luncheon at the cafeteria Friday evening. Doctor Taylor delivered his main address at the Christian church Thursday evening.

"It was the so called Christian nations who started the last war," the speaker explained. He declared that only by applying the principles of Christianity to international problems can peace be maintained in Europe or any place else. An interesting discourse on community relations, industrial relations, race relations, and international relations, brought out the fact that in each of these relations the underlying principles of christianity must be applied to make for the best interests of mankind.

"IN OTHER FELLOW'S SHOES" IS SUBJECT OF VESPERS TALK

Dr. Alva Taylor of Chicago is Speaker

"In the Other Fellow's Shoes" was the subject of the address given at Vespers Thursday afternoon by Dr. Alva Taylor who spent two days at K. S. A. C. discussing student relationship to social and economic problems.

The way to settle conflicts is to get into the other fellow's shoes, and see his viewpoint Doctor Taylor stated. "The judgments of various groups are colored and biased by personal viewpoints. I suppose the need of formal boards of conciliation could be reduced ten per cent if leaders would have the right personal attitude."

"If the leaders who attempted to settle the disputes between capital and labor could meet together and arrange things to benefit the greatest number, the problem would be forever closed," Doctor Taylor continued. "There will never be an end to fighting through war nor an end to strikes by striking," he declared.

"A cap as good as the cream"

High praise for Williams Shaving Cream is contained in this suggested slogan for the Hinge-Cap. Yet truly, the combination of faster beard-softening, elimination of razor friction through lubrication of the skin, and the extraordinary care of the skin which Williams gives, has never been equalled by any other shaving cream. And Williams is a pure product, absolutely without coloring matter! Begin on a tube--compare it in every way.

For the best sentence of ten words or less on the value of the Williams Hinge-Cap, we offer the following prizes: 1st prize $100; 2nd prize $50; two 3rd prizes, $25 each; two 4th prizes, $10 each; six 5th prizes, $5 each. Any undergraduate or graduate student is eligible. If two or more persons submit identical slogans deemed worthy of prizes, the full amount of the prize will be awarded to each. Contest closes at midnight March 14, 1924. Winners will be announced as soon thereafter as possible. Submit any number of slogans but write on one side of paper only, putting name, address, college and class at top of each sheet. Address letters to Contest Editor, The J. B. FIRST RIFLE MEET TO BE HELD FEBRUARY 16

Seven Schools Enter Contest—Aggie Team Not Yet Picked

The first rifle team competition will take place the week ending February 16. The Aggie's opponents will be Marion Institute, Nevada, South Dakota, K. U., Illinois, and South Dakota State College.

The team of 15 men has not yet been picked.

According to Captain Waltz, the gallery range has been improved in several ways. A platform has been built over the firing pit so that six men can now fire instead of three. Two large searchlights illuminate the targets. The scores are announced by a man who watches the targets with a telescope. This saves time and the trouble of going up to the targets to find the score. In order to give proper ventilation at the firing point a large fan has been installed.

The range is now open to any cadet who wishes to fire on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays from 9 to 12 and from 1 to 5 o'clock. Cadets are requested to call up and make arrangements for a time. Each cadet will be allowed an hour in the gallery.

Eurodelphians Discuss Lindsey
The Eurodelphian literary society met at the Eurodelphian hall, Saturday, February 2. The following program was given: devotions, Nina Uglow; paper, "The Life of Vachael Lindsey," Marie Insley; extempo.

VALUABLE TEXTILES SHOWN IN TOWN SHOP WINDOW

Larger Exhibit to be Brought to College Soon

An exhibit which is to be brought to the college is hinted at by a window display in the Spot Cash window. Here are to be seen both ancient and modern textiles and little figures dressed in the fashions representing different periods of style history.

The most valuable of the materials are the fragments of ancient Peruvian cloths which are both rare and of excellent workmanship. Examples of tie-died, woven, batiked, block printed and embroidered saras, ponchas, tapestries and peasant blouses from all parts of the world are to be seen and are just bits from a larger exhibit which may be seen here soon and which is being brought here largely through the efforts of Miss Louise Glanton, head of the clothing and textiles department.

BOARD TO CLOSE VOCATION SCHOOL

WILL DISCONTINUE SECONDARY WORK THIS YEAR

Development of Kansas High Schools Has Materially Decreased Demand for Secondary Work

The vocational school will be discontinued at the close of the present school year, according to an announcement by A. P. Davidson, head of the school. The development of the high schools in Kansas, together with the vocational work under the Smith-Hughes program, has materially decreased the demand for a secondary vocational school. No more students will be admitted, but the students now enrolled will be taken care of.

Action Taken at January Meeting

Upon recommendation of President Jardine, the board of administration at its regular January meeting voted to abandon the school. The Veterans' bureau students, now in the vocational school, will complete their training one year from this February.

The school of Agriculture was organized in 1913, taking the place of the old sub-freshman school. Originally three-year courses were offered in home economics, mechanical art, and agriculture. In 1922 the name was changed to vocational school. The home economics course was discontinued at this time because the enrollment of girls in the school did not justify its continuance.

H. L. Kent Was First Principal

H. L. Kent who was the first principal of the School of Agriculture is now president of New Mexico A. and M. college.

The purpose of the institution was primarily to give a vocational education. Statistics show that about forty-eight per cent of the students have gone on and taken regular college work. Many of these students have made a name for themselves in athletics, or some other form of college activity.

School Has 126 Graduates

During its existence approximately 2,200 students have been enrolled in the school. The largest number in one year was in 1913 when 658 were enrolled. In 1922 there were 220 students in attendance. Of this number 117 were Veterans' bureau men. About 126 have been graduated.

Eighty-nine per cent of the students enrolled this year are from outside Riley county. There has at one time or another been students from every county in the state.

Snapshot of Small Son Wins Journal-Post Third Award

E. T. Keith, professor of printing, of the college was awarded third prize in the Kansas City Journal-Post amateur photographers' contest Sunday, February 3. The contest is conducted each week by the Journal-Post and the picture combining the highest degree of photographic skill with the unusual and interesting is awarded first place.

The photograph submitted by Professor Keith was a kodak picture of his little boy taken on his first birthday.

HOSPITAL ADDS CONTAGIOUS WARD

Annex for Contagious Diseases Is Fully Equipped

An annex for contagious diseases has just been added to the college hospital. It is fully equipped to isolate any contagious disease which may develop. A student is allowed three days' free service and after that a rate of one dollar a day is charged. There is no other expense unless the patient desires to employ a special nurse or an outside physician at his own expense.

"We hope that with the cooperation of the students, faculty, and landladies it will be possible to prevent most of the cases of contagious diseases," Doctor Siever stated. "If each case of illness is reported to the department of student health before it is allowed to fully develop, it will no doubt prevent the spread of the disease. Students may perhaps save themselves the loss of several weeks of school, if they will report at the hospital as soon as they begin to feel ill. Both day and night service may be obtained by telephoning the head of the College Medical corps. Graduate nurses are on duty at all times."

Hanna Is Forum Speaker

George Hanna, former student at K. S. A. C., will be the speaker and lead the discussion at the student forum next Tuesday evening in the home economics rest room. His topic will be "Youth Movements in Europe."

Mr. Hanna, as a delegate from this college, was a member of the pilgrimage of friendship which toured Europe last summer studying student conditions. His special interest was in the student activities in Germany, France, and Czechoslovakia.

This talk will take the place of the one announced for Monday evening by George Collins, secretary of the fellowship of reconciliation. Mr. Collins has been delayed in Nebraska but may appear here at a later date.

HOLD TRYOUTS FOR M. V. ORATORICAL FEBRUARY 21

Contest Takes Place at St. Louis March 21—Any Undergraduate Is Eligible to Compete

First tryouts for the Missouri valley oratorical contest will be held Thursday, February 21. Any undergraduate is eligible to compete, using any subject with a limit of 1,700 words. Anyone who intends to enter the contest should notify Prof. H. T. Hill by Tuesday, February 19, and get an appointment for a tryout.

This contest between Missouri valley colleges will be held at St. Louis on March 21. Ames and Drake are K. S. A. C. has placed in the contest this year, and Nebraska is entering for the first time in three years. K. S. A. C. has placed in the contest every year for the last three years. In 1923 E. W. Merrill placed third, J. Wheeler Barger placed second in 1922, and Milton Eisenhower won first in 1921.

The college will participate in at least two other oratorical contests this spring for which tryouts will be held later. Early in April there is the annual oratorical contest with Montana, held in connection with the Montana debate. On April 21, a Kansas intercollegiate peace contest will be held at Friends university at Wichita. Some phase of international peace must be the subject and any undergraduate may qualify, though the preference will be given to freshmen. There will be a first prize of $60 and a second prize of $40.

The Pi Kappa Delta honorary debating fraternity will probably send a contestant to the oratorical contest which the fraternity will hold in connection with its national convention April 1 at Peoria, Ill.

Doctor's Degree to Hisaw

Prof. F. L. Hisaw, who is on leave this year studying at the university of Wisconsin, has completed his examinations for the degree of doctor of philosophy. He will take his degree at the June commencement.

FIRST RECITAL SUNDAY

Miss Rosemonde and Miss Ellis Give Concert

The first music faculty recital of the spring semester will be presented Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the college auditorium.

The recital will be given by Gertrude Rosemonde, pianist, Edna Ellis, soprano, and Dorothy Brown, accompanist.

As usual no admission will be charged and the students and townspeople are urged to attend.

TOO MUCH CREDIT MYERS' DIAGNOSIS FARM AILMENT

Intermediate Land Credits Banker Says Thrift a Necessity Now

L. B. Myers, vice president of the intermediate land credits bank of Wichita, gave a very interesting talk to Farm and Home week visitors Wednesday in the agriculture lecture room.

"The trouble with the farmers of today," Mr. Myers said, "is that they have had too much credit. They have been ruined by it and they must be thrifty from now on."

"The land banks are the greatest factors we have today in lowering the individual mortgages that in the past have been so high."

WEBBER, DOOLEN BACK ON SQUAD

TEAM LEFT WEDNESDAY FOR GAMES WITH IOWA SCHOOLS

Missouri Conquering Lineup Will Continue to Play, However, Corsaut Says

On the Up Grade

The Aggies won their first road trip start last night, defeating Ames after an uphill battle, 18 to 17. Bunker starred. Bunker, Wann, Tebow, Harris, and Koch, started the game, and Weidenbach and Webber were substituted.

Last minute makeup examinations put Captain "Hank" Webber and Art Doolen, guards, back on the Aggie basketball squad in time to make the trip to Grinnell, Wednesday night. Coach C. W. Corsaut announced his intention of keeping the lineup that defeated the Missouri Tigers intact, however, so long as they continue to win games. "Webber and Doolen will be used on the trip only as a last resort to avert defeat," Corsaut said.

Dope Favors Aggies

While "Jerry" Harris, and Fritz Koch filled the shoes of the regulars adequately against the Tigers, an accident to either on the road would have put the team in a bad hole. Harris was the only bona fide guard left on the squad when the finals cut four off the list in one day.

The most expert dopster could scarcely predict accurately the results of the three road games. However, the Aggies left home leading all three of their coming opponents in the valley standings, and the only available comparative scores give them a slight edge. With a reasonable amount of luck, they may take all three games, or at least a two-thirds slice.

Week Important in Final Standing

Should the Wildcats sweep the series, interest will again reach top pitch when they face K. U. next Tuesday. Although the Jayhawk won by a comparatively large score in the first tilt, results of games played since then tend to show that Coach Allen's men were playing above their usual form, while the goal shooting of the Wildcats was far from perfect.

Three Wise Fools Announced Tonight — Play Takes Well

The Three Wise Fools of K. S. A. C. will be announced tonight between the second and third acts of the play, and the prizes will be given out. With every ticket the purchaser is given thirty votes, which he is allowed to cast for three different candidates.

Prof. R. E. Holcombe wires from five times better than the one given on Monday night of this week, that the Three Wise Fools was better advertised there than Guy Bates Post, and that they had a fine house.

At Salina the play was pronounced a great success, the manager of the theatre saying that the play was five times better than he one given on the trip last year.

Wednesday night they played Chapman with similar success, and regardless of the fact that this was the smallest town on the trip, the play went over big.

The play met with a storm of approval at Junction City where it played last night. The players come back to Manhattan for the performance tonight, after which they will leave for Hutchinson where the play will be given on Saturday night.

"WRITING IS ART, NOT TRADE," SAYS NOTED MODERN AUTHOR

Miss Sturmer Tells of Work of William McFee, Novelist

William McFee, engineer-novelist, was the modern author whose life and works were discussed by Miss Anna Sturmer Wednesday afternoon in the home economics rest room. Mr. McFee is an associate member of the institute of mechanical engineers, and a member of the institute of marine engineers.

"He writes while on duty," said Miss Sturmer, "and believes that writing is an art, not a trade, and that it is the business of the artist to create art. He has traveled a great deal, and reads exhaustively. He is interested in life in suburb, city and sea. His sea faring life has brought him to many ports."

Miss Sturmer read from two of his books, "Allens" and "Causals of the Sea" which is sometimes called, "The Voyage of a Soul." Mr. McFee sees in the life of the soul a self sufficient life. He believes that to dream is in itself a sort of realization.

"William McFee writes," concluded Miss Sturmer, "because he gets fun out of it. His wide reading and close observation have made him sure in portraying character, or depicting a scene or situation. His quest is life. This he represents with truth and fidelity, and in so doing he has fulfilled his desire to do some fine and honorable work."

The next lecture of the series will be given by Miss Ada Rice on the plays of John Galsworthy in the home economics rest room at 4:00 next Tuesday.

NEW DIAMOND WILL BE COMPLETED BY APRIL 25

Home Games To Be Played at New Field This Spring, Says Mike

According to "Mike" Ahearn the work on the baseball field west of the engineering building is progressing as rapidly as the weather conditions will permit. The grading will soon be completed and the field put in shape for the first home games of the season which will be with K. U. on April 25 and 26.

The collapsible bleachers which now are used at the basketball games will be taken to the field. A crowd of 2,500 people can be taken care of in this way.

It is necessary to have a separate baseball field because of the fact that it is very desirable to have a good coating of sod on the football field by next fall. The east side of the stadium also will be built this spring and summer.

AG ECONOMICS CLUB JOINS NATIONAL ORGANIZATION

Membership in Association Made Possible Through Efforts of Grimes and Englund

The Agricultural Economics club, at its regular meeting Tuesday evening voted to affiliate with the American Farm Economics association. Membership of the local club in the larger organization was made possible through the efforts of Prof. W. E. Grimes, and Prof. Eric Englund who attended the national meeting. The affiliation affords an opportunity to the local members to come in contact with the leaders of agricultural economics throughout the United States and Canada. Each member receives the Journal of Farm Economics, the publication of the association, which contains information on what is occurring in the various institutions over the country, reviews of the latest literature on agricultural economics subjects, and articles on current economic problems.

The Agricultural Economics club at K. S. A. C. is composed of students who are majoring in the department of agricultural economics. Officers of the club are M. M. Williamson, president; B. J. Miller, vice president; C. D. Tolle, secretary; O. M. Williamson, treasurer. The club now has a membership of more than 30.

It is believed the local organization is the first club of its kind to take advantage of this relation to the national association, since the affiliation was made possible through an amendment to the association's constitution at the last annual meeting held in Washington, D. C., the latter part of December.

TRACKSTERS WORKING HARD

Gartner Consistently Bettering M. V. Record in Discus

Head Coach Bachman has been giving his track squad a strenuous workout each evening this week in order to get them in the best possible shape for the Kansas City Athletic club meet in Convention Hall, Kansas City, Saturday night.

At present, according to Coach Bachman, there is a lack of varsity material out for the jumps and the pole vault and he is especially anxious for men who have had previous experience, or think they have some ability to come out for these events.

Several of last year's varsity men are back and are showing good form in their events. Gartner, last year's varsity discus thrower has developed exceptionally good form in the discus, and has consistently beaten the Missouri Valley record of 133 feet, one inch. In practice last Saturday Gartner hurled the iron platter 138 feet and six inches.

WAGE-TAX QUESTIONS PLAY IMPORTANT PART IN DEBATE

DUNN CHALLENGES REED TO STATE POSITION ON THE TWO ISSUES

Does It Pay?

"In dollars how much does education increase the earning capacity of the young farmer?" is a question asked by the United States bureau of education.

The Kansas Agricultural college has 1,237 reports along this line. The average young farmer with a common school education earned $442 a year, the high school graduate $554. Short course graduates in agriculture had an average yearly earning of $859 while the college graduate's earnings reached $1,452.

KANSAS JUDGE CHARGES RAILROADS WITH BASING RATES ON EXCESSIVE VALUATION

SAYS 1923 EXPENSES ABNORMAL

Editor of Railway Age Asserts Railways Have Never Derived Cent of Profit from Increased Rates—Declares Increase Essential

A challenge to Chairman Clyde M. Reed of the Kansas Public Utilities commission and other public men who are advocating reductions of freight rates to state publicly whether they also favor a reduction of wages and taxes was issued by Samuel O. Dunn, editor of the Railway Age, in opening the joint discussion of the railroad question with Mr. Reed here this morning. Judge Reed in turn charged the railroads, represented by Mr. Dunn, with basing freight rates upon excessive valuations, and with being entirely out of sympathy with the situation of agriculture.

Both Wages and Taxes Increased

In replying to Mr. Dunn's challenge, Judge Reed said, "Wages and taxes have both increased. Living expenses and cost of government have increased also. Before the war many railroad wages were unduly low. It may be that some are unduly high. I have not studied that question and do not undertake to speak with authority."

"Wages should be based upon service rendered, risk incurred, and responsibility borne. If wages are unreasonably high, consideration should be given to their adjustment, but first that must be shown."

Earned Less Last Year

Mr. Dunn, in answering Mr. Reed's charge, asserted that the high expenditures of last year were made necessary by strikes and by the large increase in traffic, that last year the railroads earned considerably less than the Interstate Commerce commission held they were entitled to. He declared the real causes of the present rates were completely ignored by those agitating reduction.

GIRLS PLAN COLOR TOURNEY

Will Play During Regular Basketball Classes

Basketball for college girls will be run on a different basis this semester. The annual color tournament will not be held after school hours as was done last year, but will be held during the regular basketball classes. The winning teams of each class will play the winners of other classes. After the color tournament is played off, the players for the individual class teams will be chosen and the annual class tournament will be played.

The manner in which the basketball teams are to be managed this semester does not care for those girls not enrolled in a basketball class and who desire to try out for a class team, so Miss Geneva Watson has made arrangements for those girls to take part by permitting them to practice with the regular basketball classes. However, in order to participate in interclass basketball those girls must see Miss Watson at once and commence practicing with the regular classes.

THREE WAYS OF IMPROVING ORCHARD SOIL EXPLAINED

Use of Cover Crops as Green Manure Most Efficient, Says Barnett

There are three ways of improving the soil of an orchard, according to Professor R. J. Barnett in his address Wednesday afternoon in the horticulture building, to the Farm and Home week visitors. He says that commercial fertilizer may be used but it does not permanently improve the soil. He believes that barnyard manure is good since it supplies organic material to the soil but that it is difficult to secure it in large enough quantities.

IN TRIBUTE—

To Woodrow Wilson, one of the outstanding figures in United States political history. Americans, regardless of party affiliations or beliefs cannot but admire and respect the late expresident. History will undoubtedly accord him tribute as one of the most sincere, thoughtful, and liberal-minded statesmen ever at the head of our government.

AT A CRISIS

The Stadium issue is now directly before the student body. The responsibility of success or of failure in plans for 1924 must of necessity rest largely upon the present undergraduates.

Here are the facts:

The east section of the Stadium must be built this summer.

The Stadium corporation is without funds.

The active campaign cannot profitably be continued.

Construction of an adequate seating capacity for next fall depends largely on payments of student pledges this summer.

A major proportion of students now in college have not pledged to the fund.

That the campaign should come to such a crisis is a discredit to students and alumni. That students and alumni should fail to respond now, would be highly discreditable to K. S. A. C.—particularly in comparison to sister institutions.

It should be 'A profit is not without honor save in its own state,' seemingly. At least mighty few of the hundred-odd thousand Kansas farmers can be observed to go dotty with enthusiasm or energy over the experts' minute instructions on how to turn a deficit into a profit.

A NEW NEED

Why do students never play cards in Recreation center?

The mystery was cleared up last week when two organizations were denied permission to supplement dances in Anderson hall with a few tables of bridge. Representatives of each organization were informed that card playing on the campus was prohibited by a faculty ruling.

The discovery of this apparently long established ruling makes K. S. A. C.'s collection of prohibitory laws and traditions complete. Progress must produce a radically new vice, before another statute or tradition can be enacted or unearthed.

HEAR! HEAR!

A situation unique in the annals of Aggie athletics exists just now, and The Collegian turns from the consideration of trivial matters to commend most heartily the fact that such is present.

A losing basketball team is receiving the support of the student body, and the coach of a losing basketball team is regarded as a man whom we delight to honor.

Imagine!

As a rule this institution, in common with most other great institutions, engages in intercollegiate contests simply for the sake of the sport and the pure love of the thing in a generous and fair-minded spirit—and promptly accept the resignation of the losing coach and ceases to worry about whether the members of the losing team make 30 hours in two semesters and summer school. But with a basketball team which has lost two-thirds of its games this year, Aggies so violate the time-honored standards of simon-pure amateurism and fairplay that it is difficult to find a belittler of coach or team upon the campus. Many kind words are said about the players and not a few encomiums spoken of their mentor.

The Collegian, in keeping with its pet policy of approving the overturning of pedestals and the slow throttling of traditions, beams with joy at the uniqueness of this wholehearted endorsement of a game but often defeated athletic team. May we not again give the jolly old college a congratulatory slap upon its unregenerate old back?

K. S. A. C. SCORES

Newspapers and magazines in all parts of the country greet the announcement of radio courses in agriculture as an innovation of great importance and significance. It seems probable now that within a few years the idea will be generally adopted.

If the courses prove successful and practical it will be only a brief time until K. S. A. C. has a broadcasting station of her own. It is regrettable even that the first course must be relayed from Milford.

Plain Cat Is Worth $100

The zoology department values a cat at 25 cents, but Tom, guardian of the horticultural greenhouse, although he is just plain cat, has the distinction of being one of the most valuable in the city.

At the last invoice made by the horticulture department, Tom was listed among miscellaneous articles as "One cat, value $100." He adopted the greenhouse force about two years ago. Rats and mice and other vandals were then numerous, and large quantities of bulbs and seeds were destroyed.

Tom is a born hunter. No mouse or rat dares show itself around the houses. Several times he has brought in gophers and moles for inspection of the force, and his latest exploit is the capture and annihilation of a full grown cottontail.

Next week the Kansas State Radicultural college begins its air school. Hank, the Hired man and Matilda the tired Maid will devote one hour a day to culture. Jim will lay aside his I. C. S. lessons and tune in, while station R. A. S. P. broadcasts a 60 minute program by the best known college authorities in agriculture, sociology, heredity and eugenics, chemistry, music, public speaking, and whatnot. There will be bedtime stories, too, and music—not too highbrow—by a jazz orchestra, so Hank and Tilly and Jim won't go to sleep before 8 o'clock and lose something big and worthwhile.

The only problem which confronts the radio faculty now is how to get each member represented in one hour. We have figured until we are dizzy, but it doesn't come out right yet. As Gladys remarked, the first program, (q. v.) will certainly be hectic:

Choice Specimens
Professoriana In Next Brown Bull

The Brown Bull desires to honor our worthy profs. He is going to build a hall of fame and put some of them in it, in little glass cases with neat little labels under them, telling just why each prof has been preserved for posterity.

The pictures of each man in his case will appear on a page in the Leap Year number of the Brown Bull. About half a dozen of our best beloved instructors will be so honored, and their virtues extolled. Our most able artists will be employed to reproduce the preserved specimens of these honored educators.

Without doubt the Bull's judgment can be relied upon to select only those most worthy of note—the ones all the students love and revere and would desire to have elevated where future generations may see and admire.

The identity of the new members in the Brown Bull Hall of Fame will be disclosed in the February 29 issue, for only two bits.

N. L. Harris, who has been seriously ill since Christmas day, is still in a critical condition. Mr. Harris was formerly poultry husbandry expert at K. S. A. C., and has been with the Seymour Packing Co. of Topeka for the past year.

Judge for Yourself

"AW!" was the favorite expression of the crowd at the basketball game with Missouri whenever one of the Aggie players was called upon to try a "long shot." There is some chance for improvement on the Aggie spirit at the games and here is the most vital point that is of interest to both the players and to the crowd. We all have the same end in view and should do all in our power to make that end more easily attained.

If a player has not seen that man who is not "covered" and if he tries a "long shot" and misses, there is some excuse for a groan of disappointment from the rooters, but when the groan is uttered as soon as the player starts to shoot, the man receives the correct impression that the crowd has not the proper amount of confidence in his ability.

Where to Look for Style

You will go farther than the design of a suit for style, just as you must go farther than the shape of a violin for its worth.

A great part of style is in the fineness of materials; the expertness of workmanship.

These things give the design its best expression and keep it that way.

Hart Schaffner & Marx style is not only a matter of design but of fine quality, too.

AGRICULTURE INCLUDES PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION

Problem of Distribution Exceedingly Complex, President of Oklahoma A. and M. College Declares

"Agriculture used to be thought of as merely farming, or the production of food fiber, and other articles recognized as agricultural products. Today the word agriculture includes both production and distribution, just as industry deals with the problem of manufacturing, and also with the problem of distributing and marketing the product," said Bradford Knapp, president of Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college, in an address to Farm and Home week visitors Wednesday evening on the subject of "Cooperative Marketing."

Agriculture Is Commercial Business
"Transportation and the means of communication plus modern invention for manufacturing, has had a tendency to concentrate manufacturing in large centers," he said. "This process, which has been going on for a couple of centuries, has made of agriculture a commercial business. The problem of distribution has become exceedingly complex. We have developed world crops which depend upon world consumers and a world market."

President Knapp divided the process of marketing and distribution into the following nine functions: assembling, standardizing and grading, transporting, storing, risking or insuring, financing, processing or manufacturing, distributing, and selling.

Group Effort Lowers Cost
"Every one of these steps," he said, "adds to the cost of marketing and distributing, and creates a value in the article. However, if the article passes through too many hands, the cost to consumer may be unduly increased, for the amount paid to the producer will be unduly decreased. Ultimately the real interest of people in general is in performing these various functions efficiently and at reasonable costs. These things must be done by some one, whether the marketing be the usual type of individual marketing or cooperative marketing."

Cooperative marketing he defined as a group effort on the part of the producers to save unnecessary cost of handling products between producer and consumer—to assemble, grade, standardize, ship, store, and market their product for the benefit of producers.

Associations Employ Trained Men
President Knapp went on to explain the general principles of cooperative marketing associations. Only trained and experienced men should be employed to do the work," he stated. "The production of a commodity is one kind of a job, and the distribution and sale of such a commodity is an entirely different thing. A trained salesman would make a great failure of growing wheat but the individual farmer is not expert in the selling of wheat. Modern commodity marketing associations employ only trained and experienced men. The rights and interests of the growers demand that their product shall be handled as efficiently and marketed as skillfully as the same product would be if in the hands of the best and largest private dealer or buyer."

KANSAS VETERINARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION HOLDS MEETING

Twentieth Annual Convention in Session This Week

"Only forty per cent of the doctors of veterinary medicine are members of the American Veterinary Medical association," according to Dr. H. Preston Hoskins, secretary of the association, in his speech to members of the Kansas Veterinary Medical association at the twentieth annual meeting, held in the amphitheater of the Veterinary building, Wednesday morning.

"The reason so many of the veterinarians do not belong to the association is that they have not been invited to join," Doctor Hoskins stated. He believed that a larger percentage of the eligible men should be in the association, and that the present members should work to this end.

Dr. E. J. Frick of Manhattan, associate professor of comparative medicine at the college, read a paper on "Recent Development in the Handling and Control of Animal Diseases." The paper was a review of the more important developments that are not as yet in text books.

Dr. S. L. Stewart, president of the Kansas Veterinary Medical association, stated in his speech to members of the association that the future of the organization depended upon the leaders. He declared that the future leaders must be broadminded men who have a vision for the upbuilding and advancement of the association.

SALVATION IN OWN HANDS

"Feed for Yearling Market" Case—ment's Advice to Stockmen

"In no way can the meat packer be blamed for the producers' loss," said Dan Casement, Manhattan farmer and cattle breeder and a contributing editor to the Breeders' Gazette, in his address at general assembly Wednesday morning.

"It is also impossible for the producer to expect legislative help," he continued. "The situation must be faced by the growers, and there are two things that may be done to remedy the situation."

"First, the grower should produce the kind of cattle that the market demands. It is possible, with present methods, to produce stock which at 21 months will weigh as much as the steer that has been allowed to graze for four years, and the present market demand is for the yearling."

"Secondly, the grower must study how to produce this stock in the most efficient manner. The most profitable time to feed stock is in the fall, for the 50 or 100 days before marketing."

FARM HOME VISITORS JUDGE STOCK AT PAVILION TUESDAY

Mackintosh Gives Meat Cutting Demonstration in New Shop

A small but appreciative and interested crowd attended the stock judging pavilion in the judging pavilion at 8:30 Tuesday morning. Poland China brood sows were judged by the visitors. The points to be taken into consideration in judging were explained by A. D. Weber who had charge of the program.

About fifty people attended the meat cutting demonstration given by D. L. Macintosh, in the new butcher shop. Before the demonstration Professor Macintosh explained the various advantages of home butchering. Among the advantages enumerated were cheapness, and the possibility of curing to suit individual tastes.

TOO FEW PAY, AND TOO MANY ESCAPE TAXATION

C. D. Foster, Chairman of the Kansas State Tax Commission, Gives Address Wednesday

"The reason taxation is considered a burden is because too few people are paying taxes and too many people and too much property is escaping taxation," declared C. D. Foster, chairman of the Kansas State Tax commission, in an address Wednesday morning. "Our tax laws are inadequate. Conditions have changed, but tax laws have not. Too many things such as fraternity houses, commercial hospitals and invisible wealth are escaping taxation."

"The general attitude of the public toward taxation," continued Mr. Foster, "is that it is a penalty. Taxes are not a penalty, but a just debt that every citizen should pay. Education on matters of taxation is the thing to be desired. The fundamentals should be taught in our public schools."

"The average citizen knows very little about taxation but he thinks taxes are too high. Few people present constructive ideas as to defects and proper remedies in the tax system."

Mr. Foster gave reasons why taxes are too high, and suggested a remedy by which taxation could be more equally distributed and at the same time less likely to be a burden to any one. He suggested that a county assessor be appointed by the board of county commissioners on the basis of qualification, and not as a result of his political beliefs. "This man," said Mr. Foster, "should have the authority to appoint deputy assessors who really know the value of things. Many articles which are not now assessed correctly could be uniformly assessed according to their value."

W. E. GRIMES SUMMARIZES PRESENT WHEAT SITUATION

Attributes Dissatisfaction to Old Factors of Supply and Demand

"The present wheat situation is due partly to the war," said Prof. W. E. Grimes, head of the agricultural economics department at Kansas State Agricultural college. "That is, the war started the movement which failed to close with the signing of the armistice."

"We may approach the subject," he continued, "by the law of supply and demand. First, both are dependent upon human beings, and second, every change on one side of the sheet must be equalized on the other in order that our sheet will balance."

Professor Grimes explained that in 1923 it took 120 bushels of wheat in Kansas to buy what 100 would buy in 1913. He said that dissatisfaction among Kansas farmers was due mostly to debts contracted for with high priced wheat which must now be paid although the price of wheat is much lower.

Specialists Discuss Cooking Errors
A demonstration and lecture interesting to both farm and city women was held at 9:00 o'clock Friday morning. Common mistakes in cooking was the topic discussed, and an exhibition of the good and bad points in preparing meat, eggs, cake, muffins, fruit and vegetables, and several beverages was given. Miss Mina Bates and Miss Martha Pittman were in charge of the demonstration.

FARRIS SHOWS SUPERIORITY OF CABLES OVER OPEN WIRES

Telephone Man Gives Reasons for Poor Service

"Radio is not a new discovery—it is just a further development of an old one," declared H. N. Farris of the Kelly Switchboard and Supply company, Kansas City, Mo., in speaking on "Rural Telephone Conditions in Kansas," Tuesday afternoon.

With the use of illustrated slides, Mr. Farris pointed out some of the reasons for poor telephone service in the small towns and rural communities. He showed how cables are superior to open wires. The expense of the average system that uses the pole and wire is enough to install the cables in a year's time, according to Mr. Farris.

"The records of the U. S. Bureau of Agriculture shows that 77.6 per cent of the people in Kansas own telephones," he said. "This does not mean that they all get good service. People will spend money on churches and schools unnecessarily before they will spend it on telephone systems and keep them in good shape."

SLEEP IN MOVIE NOT ADEQUATE

CHILD REQUIRES SLEEP AT HOME SPECIALIST DECLARES

Doctor Caroline Hedger Outlines
Principles of Child Health in Farm Home Week Address

"Sleep over the arm of a movie chair does not take the place of sleep at home in bed," declared Dr. Caroline Hedger of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial foundation, in her talk on "Positive Health for the Child of School Age." According to Doctor Hedger, a child of preschool age should be in bed and asleep by 7 o'clock every night, a child of school age by 8 o'clock, and a high school boy or girl at 9 o'clock five nights in the week.

"Too often the mother of the unhealthy child explains his skinniness on the basis of 'he is just like his father's family,' without ascertaining possible factors other than heredity that are at work," she continued. "If we build nervous, skinny children, we will have a nervous, skinny future."

Responsibility Rests on Mother

Doctor Hedger places upon the mother the responsibility of making the child as beautiful as possible with all the attractiveness of sound health. Even more important than the charm of sound health in the present moment is the fact that it prepares the child for the "long haul" of life. Emphasis was placed upon the idea that the child does not grow but is built, and he must be built to last, perhaps 70 years. Buildings constructed for that period of time must be made according to definite rules and tab kept over the rate of construction, and the same is true regarding growing children. "In other words, you must watch your child grow and you can only do this through weighing and measuring."

Doctor Hedger spoke enthusiastically of the new table of weights and measures recently published by the Iowa Child Welfare Research station, University of Iowa, which is much more correct than any tables that have been used, since it is compiled entirely from data from well children.

Child Requires Proper Food
Equally important with the measuring of the rate of growth is the definite knowledge of all the things necessary for growth. Doctor Hedger cited as the chief essentials proper food, proper rest, proper play, and desirable surroundings for mental development.

Concerning food, stress was placed upon the fact that there must be a sufficient quantity and that attention must be given to the inclusion of milk, butter, and glandular tissues, meeting not only the mineral requirements of the body but also that of the growth principles.

Rest and Play Important

Next to food, rest is of prime importance and is the hardest thing to obtain for the American child. Not less important than sleep is the necessity for play out of doors. No child can develop normally without adequate play, and parents will do well to bear this in mind.

A very important factor which is too often neglected or overlooked is that of providing the child with a proper atmosphere for mental and moral development. No child can grow well if persistently nagged or perpetually dominated by fear. We must free children from fear if we are to have them 100 per cent children.

MOTTOES OF LABOR UNIONS GIVEN AT FORUM MEETING

A. S. Strain, Labor Leader, in Address Monday

"Agitate, organize and educate are the three mottos of the labor union," explained A. S. Strain, a member of the State Labor commission, who addressed the members of the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. forum Monday, February 4, in home economics room.

Mr. Strain further said, "It is necessary to agitate in order to start things moving; to organize to meet organized capital and educate the people to the real labor problem."

PROGRAM TODAY ENDS GALA WEEK

Electric Light association director; and Dr. Caroline Hedger, from the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial, of Chicago, recognized authority on child welfare.

Two Assemblies Each Day

Two general assemblies were held each day, in the morning and evening, for all in attendance at the Farm and Home program. An innovation was instituted this year by the engineering division. The principal numbers of the program were broadcast as they were given at the assembly programs.

The annual Farm and Home week banquet was held Thursday evening in the college cafeteria, instead of in the gymnasium as was originally planned, because of the small enrollment. At the banquet announcement of the winners in the several contests conducted during the week was made.

Friday Is Big Day

Different from anything ever attempted at the college Farm and Home week, the livestock show held Thursday evening at the pavilion was enthusiastically received by the visitors. Horse, cattle, hogs and sheep were on exhibition, and included prize-winning animals belonging to the college.

Friday is the biggest day of the week. The debate on the transportation situation by Clyde M. Reed and Samuel O. Dunn, is the big drawing card in the morning schedule. The debate starts at 11:30 o'clock.

Purple Masque Play Ends Program

In the afternoon there will be a special assembly in charge of Dr. C. W. McCampbell, head of the department of animal husbandry of the Kansas State Agricultural college. The principal speaker at the afternoon assembly is Wayne Dinsmore, Chicago, secretary of the American Horse association, who will give an illustrated address on "Horse Power."

Farm and Home week will be concluded Friday evening with the presentation of "Three Wise Fools" by the Purple Masque Players of the college, under the direction of Ray E. Holcombe, professor of public speaking. The play has been presented in four of the larger towns of Kansas previous to its showing here on Friday evening.

THREE GRADUATE STUDENTS SECURE MASTER'S DEGREES

Have Good Jobs—Moses to Do Government Work

Three graduate students completed their work for a master's degree last semester. They are Caroline Keeler of the department of home economics, E. A. Stokdyk of the department of plant pathology, and Dudley E. Moses of the department of agronomy.

Miss Kesler immediately secured a position as home demonstration agent in Meade county. Mr. Stokdyk works in the extension department of the college. Mr. Moses is returning by way of England to his home in South Africa where he will do work for his government.

W. E. Cotton Addresses Dairymen

"The best methods of preventing disease in animals are isolation of the diseased animal and the consistent use of disinfectants," according to Dr. W. E. Cotton of the bureau of animal industry, Washington, D. C., who spoke to a group of Kansas dairymen, on "Dairy Cattle Sanitation," Wednesday. "Sanitation in the preparation of all dairy products is one of the essentials," he declared. "Prevention of disease should also be given considerable attention."

Doctor Cotton emphasized the fact that in the production of dairy products practically no soil fertility was lost.

RADIO BUGS NEAR FARIS

Tells How to Install Radio Sets in Rural Communities

One of the features of the Farm and Home week program Tuesday morning was the lecture and demonstration on rural radio and telephony given by H. N. Faris, a member of the Kellogg Switch Board Supply company of Kansas City, Mo. He explained the construction and installation of the rural and small town telephones and radio.

Mr. Faris' first advice to the radio amateurs in the audience was the use of the single circuit regenerating set until they were well enough informed to use the more difficult sets.

The important points brought out concerning the installation of the radio set were: In rural communities and small towns use single strand aerial wires because they are less susceptible to static electricity; keep away from chimneys; install lightning reter direct to the radio set in order to get better distance conception; select the location of aerial wires with care—be careful and avoid electric light wires which cause noisy harmonics; and never take the lead in over the roof of the house. Slides were also shown by Mr. Faris to demonstrate the radio apparatus and the manner in which the electric currents work.

Miss Beulah Helstrom, McPherson, is working part time as student assistant in the clothing and textiles department this semester.

Launches Publicity Campaign for Friendship Drive

An extensive publicity campaign will be put on by the Y. W. C. A. in the near future, in preparation for the 1924 student friendship drive which will be made at K. S. A. C. early next fall.

Reports from the 1923 drive show contributions from 36 countries including Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, China, Chile, Denmark, Japan, Italy, Germany, France, Finland, Egypt, Norway, Switzerland, and Turkey.

Contributions were sent by 580 schools and colleges of the United States, to the relief of 105,000 students, in 200 European institutions. The money and supplies were distributed impartially, without regard to race, nationality, creed, or political affiliation.

The money distributed by the student friendship committee was spent for food, clothing, and housing for the students, books, scientific equipment, payment of fees, and for loans which would enable the student to operate some line of business which would make him self supporting.

In the recent campaign, K. S. A. C. subscribed $291. K. U. and Southwestern each contributed over $1,000.

SPRING FASHIONS

Here and there may still be seen the remnants of the fast ending winter season. It marks the passing of a season that ushers in a new one. Throughout the store this spirit prevails—spring's gay, colorful modes is displacing winter's sombre types—a new fashion season has come in reality.

DRESSES

COATS

The change the new fashion season brings in dresses is refreshing. Frocks that say "Spring is Here" in terms of lightness, zephyr-like fabrics and sunlight colors. A new season—new modes—a new social calendar. In this showing there is a type of dress to meet every occasion, stylishly and correctly.

Whose simplicity is smartness. Quality of fabric and finesse of workmanship are their distinguishing marks. The novel draping of the collar lends a trignoness becomingly smart. A versatile mode, indeed, adaptable to so many spring and summertime occasions. Satisfactory choice is assured, for the vogue at its best finds representation here.

COLE'S

EFFICIENT MANAGEMENT SOLVES PROBLEM--OTIS

Graduate of College Addresses Bankers at Assembly Thursday

The adaptation of efficient industrial management methods to farming was offered as the fundamental solution of agricultural difficulties by D. H. Otis, '92, chairman of the agricultural commission of the American Bankers' association, in an address at the general assembly Thursday morning.

"Agriculture differs from most industries in its need for efficient management," said Mr. Otis. "A thousand capable managers might direct the constituent parts of an industry employing an amount of capital equal to that employed in farming, with a product of equal value. But, in the case of farming, with more than ten million people employed, there must be more than three millions of managers, each managing his own investment—his own farm. The success of the industry depends upon the ability of innumerable managers."

"In addition to economical production, the farmer's prosperity depends as well upon economical marketing. It involves the raising of products marketable as to quality and quantity. Even more than in the field of production, capable and efficient management is important in the field of marketing."

"Ability to barter and trade, to foresee probable future developments, to finance the movement or the storage of a crop, courage to take the action dictated by sound judgment, are merely a few of the requisites of farm management. The problems of agriculture basically are the same as of business generally. Intelligence, foresight, courage, cooperation with and cooperation of other business interests—these will bring satisfactory results in agriculture, as in all other lines of business."

"In the last few years there has been a change. Progressive farmers have realized the need for adopting as their own some of the principles which have been successful in other business activities. The great agricultural industry has undergone and is undergoing a transformation. The farmer—taking a lesson from the history of manufacturing—must adjust his industry to the new conditions."

"We have heard much recently about the plight of the wheat farmer. Likewise, we have heard much about the fact that wheat, after all, is only a part of the agricultural output of America and that it alone is but one of many factors which, together, determine the degree of agricultural prosperity. Such consolation does not recognize the fact that, to some farmers—to many farmers—wheat is the one crop upon which their prosperity depends."

"Diversification is advocated as the answer to this problem. Bankers are rating a farmer's credit by diversification more than by the amount of land he owns. Bankers do not want to acquire farms by the foreclosure route. Bankers want their loans repaid, because repayment reflects the creation of new wealth in the community and consequent increased prosperity for everyone—banker, farmer, merchant."

COACH CORSAUT HAS ARTICLE
PUBLISHED IN AMERICAN BOY

"Put the Ball in the Basket" Appears in Current Issue

"Put the Ball in the Basket," an article by C. W. Corsaut, Aggie basketball coach, appeared in the February number of the American Boy. George Pierrot, assistant managing editor of the publication, made a special trip to Manhattan last fall and the article is a result of his visit.

The importance of skillful basket shooting and passing was emphasized by Coach Corsaut in the article. "Good passing is essential for a strong offensive," he declares. "Every fellow should master the snap pass. The floor pass is slow and should be used only to drive the ball past a menacing opponent. The tip pass also is important. Instead of seizing the ball when it comes flying at you, push it to a team mate, who pushes it again, and you have a chance to get it."

Running towards the pass was another point stressed by the writer as important.

Mr. Corsaut, in closing, declares there could be no stars on an all star team. The fellow who plays an individual game, he says, no matter how brilliant, is likely to weaken the team more than he strengthens it.

MUST ELIMINATE MONOPOLY

Lawrence Tells Value of Cooperative Marketing

Before an audience of almost a hundred Kansas grain farmers, students, and visitors, R. E. Lawrence, secretary of the Kansas Cooperative Grain Dealers' association, opened the Thursday morning agricultural economics program with a speech on "Sound Thinking on Cooperative Marketing of Kansas Grain."

"Tendencies toward monopoly and price fixing have been the cause of many disasters in cooperative marketing movements," Mr. Lawrence stated. "To succeed in the movement," he said, "there must be business men in the organization to conduct it on a business basis, eliminating any trend toward monopoly."

From his boyhood Mr. Lawrence has been in touch with farm life and farm problems, and since taking over his present position, has made a careful research of farm cooperative marketing. His study reveals the fact that from less than a dozen such organizations in 1899, the movement has grown to such an extent that there are now over 600 well established associations, owning property worth approximately $7,000,000, and handling over a hundred million dollars' worth of business annually. Mr. Lawrence estimates that 60,000 farmers are back of the movement in the Mississippi valley.

Demonstrate Candy Making

A candy demonstration was given Wednesday morning in the home economics building by Miss Katharine Hudson and Miss Margaret Ahlborn, instructors in food economics. Fondant, taffy, brittle, and lollipops were made, illustrating the various kinds of candy made from syrup cooked to different temperatures.

The equipment, utensils, precautions in the making of the candy, decorations and ways to serve the candy were also fully discussed. Over 100 people were at the demonstration. Samples of the candies were distributed to the spectators.

WAGE-TAX QUESTION PLAYS IMPORTANT PART IN DEBATE

points emphasized by each speaker follows:

Not Advocating Wage Reduction

"I am not advocating a reduction of railway wages," said Mr. Dunn, "because while such high wages obtain in coal mining, manufacturing and other industries it is doubtful if any reduction of railway wages is practicable. But neither am I advocating a reduction of railway rates. What I do maintain is that present railway rates have been made necessary by advances in wages and taxes, and that no man can consistently or fairly advocate a reduction of rates unless he will also advocate a reduction of wages and taxes."

"Railway profits have had absolutely no part in causing rates to be advanced or kept up. The railways have never derived a cent of profit from the increased rates. All the advances in rates have been since 1916, and in every year since then the railways have earned smaller profits than they did in that year. The things that have put up and keep up railway rates have been, first, increases in wages of men employed on the railroads and other industries, and second, increases in taxes."

Freight Rates No Burden

Mr. Dunn contended that farmers in western territory are being burdened much more by other things than by freight rates and that while a reduction of rates would soon render it impossible for the railways to render adequate service, it would be of little or no benefit to the farmers.

"The fact is," he declared, "the program of Senator La Follette, Senator Brookhart, and other extreme radicals to reduce rates entirely at the cost of the net return of railways, shows plainly on its face that it is not really a program intended to bring about substantial reduction of rates, but one intended to make continuance of private ownership of railways impossible and government ownership unavoidable."

High Rates Not Only Factor

"The radical politicians and labor leaders know the shortest and surest way to bring about government ownership is to both reduce rates and maintain or increase wages and taxes, thereby rendering it impossible for the railways under private management to live financially and render the public satisfactory service."

Judge Reed, in reply, said in part: "High freight rates are not the only cause of the dilemma of agriculture, but it is a factor more important to us than the same factor is to any other producing region in the world. There has been an effort to show that the wheat farmer only is in distress. That is not true. The corn farmer is seriously struggling along and the corn farmer who has been unfortunate enough to be feeding hogs has lost a lot of money this last year."

Higher Than Pre-war Level

"The freight rates charged for transportation of grain and livestock, both hogs and cattle, range from 40 to 80 per cent above the pre-war rate levels, and are taxed against a class of products whose value has been hammered back to that obtaining before the great war."

"We cannot continue on this basis. I repeat that freight rates are not the only great burden on the farmer but they are one of the most important factors and they happen to be the one factor which can be dealt with directly by the government in the interest of the public."

Must Have Sympathy, Reed Declares

Judge Reed accused railroad officials of making no attempt to understand the farmer's condition. "To get an understanding with the other fellow," he stated, "we must have a little sympathy for his situation. In the 40 days of taking testimony in the grain rate case, if there was a single note of real understanding of the situation of agriculture in the boundless west, from the railroad side, I did not hear it, and I was there every day."

Mr. Reed denied that he was an advocate of government ownership. "Mr. Dunn," he said, "has referred to the La Follette and the Brookhart, and pointed with scorn to the radicals of one side. So far, he has not mentioned the Storeys, the Lores, and the Reas, who are the radicals of the other side."

1923 Expenditures Abnormal

"I charge that freight rates in this western country of ours are based upon excessive valuations. I charge that in 1923 expenditures were abnormal and in support of this I offer testimony from Mr. Dunn's own publication. These excesses ran into the scores, perhaps hundreds of millions, and are felt by every shipper of the west."

Let Him Rest When He Gets to Necktie Stage, Hedger Urges

"When the necktie stage appears, stand by the child," said Dr. Caroline Hedger of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial Fund of Chicago, in her talk on "Nutrition of the Adolescent Child," Wednesday morning. "Develop his ability to get into the gang. The basis of all socialization is service—service to kind and generation. In this service may be included the religious group, civic group, and the family group."

"The fatiguing growth of the adolescent child is not appreciated by his parents," Doctor Hedger declared. "The child should not be called lazy until he has had a chance to rest after his tremendous growth. Every child must grow as tall as he can grow, and this growth is based on the nutrition which he receives in the period before this growth. His strength for this growth must be accumulated before this age."

"Besides the rapidity and fatigue of this growth, the growth is irregular. The child must not be made to feel that he is awkward. Rather he should have it explained to him that in a few months he will have his body under control."

WORKS OF WILLIAM MCFEE TO BE DISCUSSED WEDNESDAY

Miss Anna Sturmer to Give Next English Lecture

Miss Anna Sturmer will discuss the life and work of William McFee Wednesday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, in the home economics rest room.

William McFee, an engineer who has turned novelist, was born at sea in 1881. He lived and was educated in London, and at Edmunds, Suffolk. He served his apprenticeship in an engineering shop at Aldersgate, and in the office of an engineering firm in London. In 1905 he went to sea, and since then has spent most of his time on shipboard.

It is said that his "Casuals of the Sea" was something of an event in the world of books, and introduced to the reading world a new writer of unquestioned strength and subtlety.

W. E. Dickerson, '21, is living in Casper, Wyo., where he is employed by the White Eagle refinery as construction engineer.

KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1924

NO. 39

RADIO COLLEGE BEGINS MONDAY

INTEREST OF STUDENTS AND FARMERS AROUSED

Station KFKB Sends Programs Which Will Be Taken from Air by Residents of Every State

"Persons from every state in the union are enrolling in the new 'college in the air' course given by K. S. A. C., but the majority of the enrolments are being made from Kansas and Missouri," said Sam Pickard, extension editor.

Program Begins Monday

The first program was given Monday, February 11. Prof. L. E. Call lectured on "What Better Crops Have Done for Kansas," and Dr. C. W. McCampbell explained "Principles and Practices in Feeding Livestock." Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the public speaking department made a brief talk.

A musical program will be given between lectures each evening. The college male quartet, the girls' and men's glee clubs, solo and instrumental numbers, college orchestra, and band selections, will be included on the program.

Many Letters Received

Unusual interest is being shown in the course and many letters of inquiry are being received. J. L. Melior, farmer and stockraiser of Waverly sends the following message: "I would like to get in on the first 'College in the Air' program. I expect to have my daughter here a part of the time to take these lectures in shorthand for I do not want to miss any of the lectures."

Students as well as farmers will be benefited by this course, and many schools are showing their interest by enrolling large numbers of students. The following letter from E. A. Clawson, instructor of vocational agriculture, in the Cherokee county community high school is typical of the many letters received: "I note that the extension department will begin the radio course February 11. This is certainly an excellent opportunity for boys and girls over Kansas to receive a college education. Please send me thirty enrollment blanks. Our high school has a radio and we shall expect to make use of it."

Announce Week's Program

The first series of programs are: Tuesday, February 12 7:05—Kansas as a Dairy State, Prof. J. B. Fitch.

7:30—Selection and Care of Hatching Eggs, Prof. L. F. Payne.

Wednesday, February 13 7:05—Why Tax Reform is Needed in Kansas, Prof. Eric Englund.

7:30—Timely topics.

Thursday, February 14 7:05—Planning the Family Meals, Prof. Martha S. Pittman.

7:30—Infant Feeding, Prof. Pearl E. Ruby.

Friday, February 15 7:05—Recent Radio Developments, Prof. E. R. Dawley.

7:30—Relation of Engineering to Agriculture, Prof. H. B. Walker.

FIRST INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATE IS WITH BAKER

Women Meet Kansas School Friday—Extensive Schedule Arranged for Spring Semester

The most extensive debate schedule that the Kansas Aggies have ever had is the program for this spring. The first intercollegiate debate of the second semester will be the women's debate at Baker University, February 15. Charlotte Swanson, Helen Correll and Bernice Fleming compose the Aggie team. The question is, Resolved: That the United States should enter the existing league of nations. The same team will debate on this question with the Colorado Aggies on March 29 and will uphold the negative. There is a possibility that there will also be a debate with Park college sometime in the early part of March.

A women's debate with Washburn on the world court question is scheduled for March 28. Only girls without previous intercollegiate debating experience will be allowed to participate. The same question will be debated with Bethany college on April 23.

A freshman men's team debating on the world court question will go to Warrensburg, Mo., Westminster, Mo., and Bethany, Neb., February 20-25. The team of three will be selected from Cecil Walt, R. H. Davis, Forrest Whinn, Frank Morrison, and Richard Elliot. The same team will also meet Southwestern on March 17, and there is a possibility that they will debate with Okla-

"Any person of ordinary ability can get valuable executive and judicial training from the S. S. G. A. if he will take the trouble to be interested." These are a few words of enlightenment from Guy Charles Bart-gis, president of that organization.

The above is the result of an endeavor to get Charles to spill something about himself. In place of telling the world what he has done, he is trying to tell them what to do. Don't let people know too much about yourself," says Guy.

Modesty, however, is the only reason for such a statement from Mr. Bartgis. By using four detective agencies in Cedar Vale it was found that this modest young man had no severe court records behind him. It might be said that Guy Charles was in the navy a few years before entering college. A common observer wouldn't notice that he was a sailor made man but he still gets rather sea sick when he sees some of the permanent waves on the campus.

G. C. Bartgis' work as president of the S. S. G. A. has consisted mainly of working others. He believes that if a person is placed in an official position he should make the most of it. "If a student is ever going to take any responsibility, the time to do it is when he comes to college," Bartgis declares, "and the S. S. G. A. should be a matter of interest to every student."

homa City college, Central Teachers' college, or Phillips university.

Marvel Baker and J. C. Wilkins will meet Oklahoma university on March 24. The question is the occupation of the Ruhr.

There will be a debate at K. U., February 29, in which a team composed of Randall Hill, C. W. Claybaugh, B. J. Miller, and Silver Fuller will uphold the affirmative of the world court question. This team will meet the Michigan Aggies here on March 22.

Debates have been arranged also with Center college at the Pi Kappa Delta convention at Peoria, Ill., March 31, in which the Aggies will support the negative of the world court question; with the Montana Aggies, April 11, on the League of Nations; with Penn State, April 21, on the negative of the court question; and with Oklahoma Aggies, April 24, on the negative of the league of nations question.

Plans for next year are even more extensive than this, including arrangements for a coast to coast trip for the men's debate team.

PICTURE GRADUATE CLUB

Royal Purple to Stimulate Interest Among Graduates

In order to increase the interest of the graduate students in the 1924 Royal Purple, pictures of the members of the K. S. A. C. Graduate club will appear in the year book. The Royal Purple staff has offered the club members a special rate of $1.50 each.

Dr. J. E. Ackert supervises the club, of which there are 180 members. Forty-six of these expect to receive their master's degrees at the end of the spring or the summer terms. Three foreign students are enrolled in this group: they are S. R. Todorovic, of Serbia, and F. H. Bosman and D. B. D. Moses, of South Africa.

The officers are: Earnest Hartman, president; Charles Nitcher, vice president; Caroline Perkins, secretary; P. W. Gregory, treasurer; and Robert Lush, chairman of the social and program. Meetings of the club are held every two weeks.

BENTLEY IS CHAPEL SPEAKER

Noted Psychologist Will Address Assembly Friday

Through the efforts of the alumni chapter of Sigma Xi, honorary scientific fraternity, Dr. Madison Bentley, noted psychologist, of the University of Illinois, has been secured as the speaker for regular assembly, Friday. Doctor Bentley's subject will be "Science and Magic."

Doctor Bentley will also address an open meeting of Sigma Xi, Friday evening at 7:30 in the Chemistry lecture room, on the subject "Spatial Orientation of Man and Other Animals."

Doctor Bentley is making an extensive trip in the interests of Sigma Xi. He spoke before the chapter of that fraternity at the University of Missouri, Tuesday, is speaking before the Sigma Xi chapter at the University of Kansas today, and goes from here to the University of Nebraska.

The week end guests at the Delta Zeta house were, Lucile Rogers, Abilene; Lucile Boyd, Dwight; and Ella Wilson, Paxico.

Elsie Wall spent the week end in Kansas City, Mo.

AGGIE SPEEDSTERS WIN TWO FIRSTS AT K. C. A. C.

Kimport Noses Out Ames Miller on Last Lap—Erwin Cops 50 Yard Dash

Aggie athletes won two firsts at the Kansas City Athletic club track meet held in Convention hall, Kansas City, last Saturday night.

Captain "Red" Erwin, lived up to his reputation of being the speediest flyer in the Valley when he won the 50 yard dash in five and three-fifths seconds, outrunning a classy field of sprinters.

R. E. Kimport proved his worth as an Aggie miler when he won the mile run in the fast time of 4 minutes and 34 seconds. Kimport ran a heady race throughout trailing McIntyre of Ames until the last stretch when he passed the Iowa runner and led him to the tape by a few feet.

Ivan Riley, former Aggie hurdler, now running under Illinois Athletic Club colors won the high hurdles and placed fourth in the low sticks. Clifford Gallagher, another of Bachman's former hurdlers, running for the K. C. A. C. won second place in the low hurdles.

The Aggie freshmen who were entered unattached showed good form in their events. Whitfield, in the 50 yard dash took second in his heat. In the pole vault, Butterfield cleared the bar at 11 feet and six inches but was forced out of the contest by cramps. J. E. Smith, showing rare form in the shot put heaved the iron pebble almost forty feet.

GRADUATE SCHOOL NOW NUMBERS 181 STUDENTS

Shows Increase of 26 Per Cent Over Last Year

The total enrollment in the graduate school is now 181 according to Dr. J. E. Ackert, chairman of the graduate council. It has increased more than 26 per cent this semester. Last semester 143 were enrolled in graduate work and the second semester of last year only about 80 were enrolled.

There are four divisions of graduate students: those who give full time to graduate work, those who hold graduate assistantships, teaching half of the time, seniors who have less than 32 credit hours to complete and who on account of the character of their work are permitted by their dean and the graduate council to enroll for graduate work, and members of the faculty who may take a maximum of five hours of graduate work. This year there is an increased enrollment in all classes except the second.

K. S. A. C. requires a year of residence and 32 credit hours of work, three fourths of the grades of which must average G, from the student who wishes the master's degree. An oral examination is given at the completion of the thesis and the course work. About 40 candidates have signified their intention of coming up for the master's degree during this spring and summer.

Senior Class Meets

A meeting of the senior class will be held Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in A 51. Class officers for the spring semester will be elected, and arrangements for the senior play discussed.

Frances Izerman spent the week end at her home in Topeka.

LORADO TAFT TO SPEAK MARCH 6

FAMOUS SCULPTOR WILL GIVE LECTURE AND DEMONSTRATION

Oscar Jacobson, Head of Oklahoma Art School, Will Speak at Gallery Opening

Two speakers of national importance will lecture at the college within the next month on different phases of art. Lorado Taft, the foremost sculptor of the middle west, will lecture at the college Thursday, March 6, on "A Glimpse of a Sculptor's Studio." The artist's studio will be reproduced on the stage, and during the lecture he will build a bust, changing features, proportion, and expression. Oscar B. Jacobson, director of the art school at the University of Oklahoma, will give an address at the opening of the art gallery, the latter part of February.

Is Professional Lecturer

Mr. Taft studied sculpture in Paris and then established himself in Chicago where he soon became prominent not only as a sculptor but also as a speaker and writer on art subjects. He has been instructor in modeling and lecturer at the Art Institute at Chicago for over 30 years, is professional lecturer on the history of art at the University of Chicago, and non-resident professor of art at the University of Illinois.

Taft's "Fountain of Time," "Fountain of the Great Lakes," and "Black Hawk" are his best known productions. The lecture will be given under the auspices of the American Association of University Women.

Jacobson Also Well Known

Mr. Jacobson was born in Sweden. He came to this country when a child, settling near Lindsborg. He was graduated from the art school of Bethany college in 1903, and studied two years in the Yale art school. Since then he has taught in Washington State college, Wash., and in the University of Oklahoma.

Mr. Jacobson paints southwestern motives successfully, both figure and landscape. He gave the leading address at the fifteenth annual convention of the American Federation of Arts, held recently in St. Louis. He has been making a tour of the west, coming here from Denver.

PLAN MILITARY FIELD DAY

Commander of Riley Cooperates in Planning Program

Arrangements are being made for a military field day to be held May 5, according to Major C. A. Chapman of the military department. The program will be similar to the one last year. The commander at Fort Riley has promised to aid in every way possible.

Tentative plans include military maneuvers by the cadet corps and cavalry from the Fort. It is probable that a field battery will be sent down from Fort Riley also. Besides the maneuvers there will be firing demonstrations with the anti-aircraft and 75 mm. guns. Other plans will be announced later.

This field day is now an annual affair and indications point to the fact that it will become one of the big days of the year. The first field day last year was well attended.

TRACK TO BE MINOR SPORT FOR WOMEN THIS SPRING

W. A. A. Will Be Represented at National Meet

Announcement that girls' track will again make its appearance this spring was made at the regular W. A. A. business meeting last Thursday. Probably more interest and enthusiasm will be shown in track this spring since it is to be classed as a minor sport, such classification permitting a girl to enter track along with either baseball, swimming, or tennis.

Nominations were made for representatives of W. A. A. to be sent to the national semi-annual Women's Athletic conference which will be held at Berkeley, Cal., April 1. From the following girls, Alice Marston, Mary J. Herthel, Phyllis Burtis, and Genevieve Tracy who were nominated, two will be elected at the next meeting to attend the conference at Berkeley.

J. W. McColloch, acting head of the department of entomology, was operated on for appendicitis Thursday. He is reported as getting along very well.

Dr. Mina Jewell and Miss Bertha Danholm, of the zoology department, motored to Irving Friday where they spent the week end.

Heartless Cops Thwart Plans of Chicken Fanciers

Chicken stealing is a well developed art, and amateurs at the game should receive some good coaching before attempting to enter into competition with the old heads. It is also to be noted that extemporaneous chicken dinners can not be counted on, unless Perry Brothers have been notified in advance.

Heartless officers of the law spoiled a banquet the other night by locking up two pledges engaged in carrying out the orders of a hell captain. In consequence the weak voice of a pledge was heard over the phone and the following conversation ensued: "Is this the Mu Cow Mu fraternity?" "No dizzy, it's the home for feeble minded pledges, what do you want?" "Be not harsh with us kind sir, we are in the toils of the law and, wish ball that we may sleep in soft beds as our ancestors have done, and not try to rest after the manner of Dante."

"Well give your jaw a rest that we may not be again this night awakened by jokers."

Half an hour later a member of the Mu Mu frat carried on the following one sided conversation: "Is this the police station? Do you have two men there for stealing chickens? All right thanks."

So it goes in hell week.

ORATORS CHOSEN FOR INTERSOCIETY CONTEST

Annual Oratorical To Be Held March 8—Winner Receives Gold Medal and $25

Orators have been chosen for the intersociety oratorical contest which will be held in the college auditorium March 8. The orators for the various societies are Ionian, Helen Correll; Franklin, Lenora Doll; Alpha Beta, Jessie Newcomb; Eurodelphian, Orpha Russell; Webster, George Corbett; Hamilton, Walter Daly; Athenian, Martin Fritz; Browning, Grace Curran. Prof. H. T. Hill of the public speaking department is coaching the orators.

The winning orator will be given a gold medal and $25 in gold. The person placing second will receive $15 and a silver medal. Third is $5 and a bronze medal. Besides winning these prizes for themselves the winners receive points for their respective societies toward the intersociety contest. The winning society is awarded a cup at the end of each year.

The program consists of the orations and stunts by each brother and sister society, and special numbers. While the judges are conferring, each society will be given two minutes in which to demonstrate the effectiveness of their yells and songs. Dr. H. H. King of the chemistry department will have charge of these demonstrations.

The judges will be announced later.

PATTERSON IS FIRST FOOL

Joe Haines and Christian Rugh Also Place

I. L. Patterson, Alpha Rho Chi, was elected first wise fool of K. S. A. C. in the contest conducted during the past week by the Purple Masque. At the presentation of "Three Wise Fools" in the auditorium Friday night he was awarded a special red lavalliere with the inscription "don't be a wise fool."

Joe Haines, Delta Tau Delta candidate, was awarded second place and a prize of two front row tickets for "Three Wise Fools."

Christian Rugh, on the Beta Theta Pi ticket, won third place. As a token, he received a beautiful tin horn. The contest was close throughout and the result could not be foretold until he voting closed on Friday.

Ames	2	5	124	152 .389
Grinnell	2	6	183	219 .250
Drake	2	6	180	245 .250
Missouri	2	8	223	250 .200

Boistered up by a successful road trip, the Kansas Aggie representatives in the Missouri Valley basketball race get their big opportunity for revenge on the K. U. Jayhawk in Lawrence tonight. Statistics show that the Aggies suffered their worst defeat at the hands of the Jayhawk, and those same statistics point to another K. U. victory, but Old Man Reason may have a different story to tell.

Jayhawk's Record Beaten Saturday

The Jayhawks of tonight will be a beaten bunch, having suffered their first defeat in 35 valley games at the hands of Oklahoma Saturday. They will no longer be fighting confidently to maintain an unbroken record.

Then, too, with the exception of the Oklahoma game, the Kansas team has had better luck away from home this season than in the Oread gym. The Aggies will be fighting to better their position in the Valley standings, to wipe out the memory of the defeat here, and to conquer their best enemies. An Aggie win probably would mean a tie between Kansas and Oklahoma for the Valley title. Who knows?

Lineup Tonight Undecided

Tonight's lineup is undecided, but probably will include Bunker and Wann at forwards, Tebow, center, and Doolen and Webber, guards.

The Aggies will be without the services of Koch, whose arm was thrown out of joint in the Grinnell game. Doolen will fill the place as far as defense is concerned, but lacks accuracy in shooting baskets. Koch will be out of the game for at least two weeks, Coach C. W. Corsaut said.

Iowa Invasion Successful

The Aggie invasion of Iowa was successful from every standpoint, although dope had it that Drake and not Grinnell was the "strong man" of the North.

It took only a one-point margin to decide all three games. Ames took a commanding lead over the Wildcats in the third quarter, but failed to reckon with the finishing power of Corsaut's men and stalled for time, with the result that the Aggies forged ahead by a point, 18 to 17.

Grinnell Could Not Be Downed

Grinnell should have been the next victim, but refused to be victimized and took the Aggies to a 27 to 26 fall.

Slightly peeved at Pioneer hospitality, the Aggies moved over to Drake Saturday night and won, 22 to 21.

Trip Raises Aggie Standard

The road trip showed the Aggies up from a tie with Ames for fifth place to undisputed possession of the notch.

Washington, which came out of the east tied with K. U. for the Valley leadership, went back to St. Louis with three distinct cans tied to its tail, Kansas, Missouri, and Oklahoma acting the role of small boys. It was the first trial of the Pikers against the stronger Valley teams, and practically eliminated them from a chance at the title.

Aggie Chances Good

The Aggies have every chance of finishing the season in the place they now occupy, midway between the first and second division teams. Only seven games remain on their schedule. Drake, Ames, Grinnell, and Washington will come to Manhattan for a game each, and the Wildcats in turn will visit K. U. Missouri, and Washington.

Victory in three out of the seven games is to be expected, while a better average, combined with disaster to the Cornhusker, may throw the Aggies into fourth place.

Aggies Are Out of Cellar

At any rate, they seem to be no danger of repeating the performance of the past two years and coming out in undisputed possession of the cellar.

AN ATTAINMENT

The Collegian desires to commend most heartily the Purple Masque players on their production of "Three Wise Fools." The excellence of the performance is unquestionable. Their chief claim to honor, however, is that the performance is the only Purple Masque play in the editor's recollection in which the waits between acts were less than 10 minutes in length.

GOOD ENGLISH

Some times we sit and ponder, wondering if we should be given the privilege of living until speaking "good English" comes in style. Chances are that time will be so far distant that our bones will long since have been mouldering in the grave. But while there's life there's hope, and so we ask: why are not the students here on our campus made to speak "good English"? (Note we put the two words in quotation marks, realizing the fact that the first word is superfluous).

Grammar has not been studied nor practiced by many of us since eighth-grade days. The lack of it shows up vividly in our themes and our every day speech. Poor grammar is the first mark of ignorance that can be detected. We speak, only to betray ourselves.

Here's a toast to the instructor, be he a teacher of English, history, chemistry, music, art or economics, who will correct the English in every student's recitation. A campaign of this kind among instructors on the campus would do much toward turning out better educated seniors each year.—Oklahoma A. and M. Orange and Black.

They Actually Said It

Joe Cooper—Cutting a woman's hair is an art.

Pete Bates, of the Stevenson Clothing company—One whiff of that stuff is enough to make you see double and feel single.

Ralph Shideler—No, I've quit smoking. Yes, I have no cigarettes.

Dahy Barnett—Well, I can't see that there's any relation between the amount of studying a girl does and the grades she gets.

Sam Pickard, extension editor: An attempt will be made in radio courses to carry something of the spontaneous spirit of the college campus to the non-resident students.

Geology Instructor Goes to Colorado
Author B. Sperry, instructor in geology, has been engaged to teach classes in geology at the University of Colorado, at Boulder, for the coming summer session. The University of Colorado maintains strong courses in geology which in connection with the excellent opportunities for field work in geology there, attract students from all over the country.

Miss Stella Harris, Esther Bruner, Lois Wildy, Florence True, and Helen VanGilder attended the Currier Institute in Topeka, February 8 to 10.

Elizabeth Quail spent the week end at her home in Topeka.

Send Them In

The Collegian will be glad to publish all announcements, notices, etc., sent in by college organizations. Communications should be signed, but will be printed either with or without signatures. Address College Bulletin, Kansas State Collegian.

J. F. H.

Campus Echoes: Under the head of "A New Need," the Kansas State Collegian asks this vital question: "Why do students never play cards in Recreation center?" But why limit card playing to Recreation center. It seems to me there are other places where a game of bridge would be a real life saver. Please tell me what you think about it. I trust your vacuum as a critic.—Old Subscriber.

We are sorry that the college newspaper has come out boldly for card playing. While not opposed to authors, dominoes, and parchesi, in moderation and when well supervised, we do believe that at least 87 per cent of the rack and ruin toward which the present generation tends is the direct result of bridge. We cannot conscientiously endorse the editorial in the Collegian (which was more or less sarcastic in tone) and will use what influence we have to keep old K. S. A. C. free from such disturbing practices. We suggest that Old Subscriber consult the dictionary when he uses a word with which he is unfamiliar.

The most honest man in Kansas has been discovered. He was three minutes late to the first radio class, and sent a special delivery letter to the college asking for an excuse blank.

We used to think Pat Getty was "a little bit of all right." Many's the time he has come to the office two minutes before the deadline with a top head story, or a feature story, or an editorial and implored us in husky tones to get it in the paper.

And we never failed him. He had such a taking way. Even after learning that his name was Marcus Reuben we still cherished the idea that he was fundamentally a gentleman.

Last week the blow fell, and it fell crool hard.

Mr. Getty announced to the world that "the first to pay their assessments are those who are the hardest up and the most obscure socially." And he knew all the time,—but What's the Use?

I paid my Royal Purple dues,
I paid them early,
I did my duty by my class and by my school.

For this considerate thoughtfulness

I'm branded publicly
As "hardest up" and "socially obscure."
Vae mihi.

Helen recommends that the board of administration be invited down to look over the bunch of string haltered, spavined typewriters in K 33. She contends that the dearth of literary material at K. S. A. C. may be traced directly to the worthless Woodstocks in Kedsie.

We take a more optimistic view of the case. Didn't the immortal Abraham Lincoln, father of his country, write the Gettysburg address on the back of a coal shovel?

FACULTY MEMBERS IN RECITAL

Rosemond, Ellis, and Brown Appear Sunday Afternoon

The first faculty recital this semester was given Sunday afternoon in the college auditorium by Gertrude Rosemond, pianist. Edna M. Ellis, soprano, and Dorothy C. Brown, accompanist.

The program was a well balanced selection of MacDowell, Saint-Saens, and Chopin for the piano, and Hayden, Handel, La Forge, and Farley for voice.

Miss Rosemond's playing is characterized by brightness, vivaciousness, and good technique. The Allegro con Vigore movement of the Otto Messner "Sonata in E Minor," and parts of the Chopin "Polonaise Brillante" were played in very competent style.

Miss Ellis has an easy, natural manner of singing, that is quite pleasing. Her interpretation of each number was exactly in keeping with the varied themes, and showed an unusual knowledge of the emotional value of works.

The accompanying of Miss Brown deserves special commendation. Although not spectacular or individualistic, it gave evidence of an intelligent grasp of the purpose of an accompanist, and a fine sense of musical shading.

ELEVEN MORE MAGAZINES ADDED TO COLLEGE LIBRARY

American Mercury Among Those Now Being Received

The college library is now receiving a group of new magazines and, as Miss Mabel Baxter says, they concern nearly every field being studied on the hill. They are American Mercury, Applied Art, Astro Physical Journal, Automotive Industries, Hygeia, a medical magazine; Journal of the American Optical Society, Journal of Pomology, National Miller, Testing, Theatre Arts, and Time, a political magazine.

It is the belief of Miss Baxter, assistant librarian, that the American Mercury will be read the most. This magazine is similar to The Dial and is edited by George Jean Nathan. Mr. Nathan has contributed to Judge and the Smart Set and is known as one of America's foremost humorists.

Lectures on Social Hygiene

Mrs. Buena Burr will speak to the freshman women and new girls Tuesday at 5 o'clock in C26, on "Social Hygiene." All girls who have physical education on Mondays and Saturdays will be excused from their gym classes to attend this lecture.

"Three Wise Fools"

"Three Wise Fools" has won a place of distinction in college dramatics. The play as given by the Purple Masque players in the auditorium last Friday evening was the best that has been presented by the fraternity in the last several years.

The selection of the three wise fools was admirable. Perhaps the best of these was Theodore Findley, although even at that, there were times when one felt that it was Harold Sappenfeld who was playing back of the footlights, instead of the grouchy financier. Ferdinand Volland added dignity and seriousness to the play in his interpretation of Judge Trumbull, and was perhaps the only player who completely lost himself in his character. John Young as Dr. Gaunt, regardless of his gray wig, lacked age to fill the part of what one expects of an eminent psychologist.

Gladys Sandford is to be congratulated on her ability to throw real pathos into her part and she did it so successfully many a listener had to brush back a tear. However, she seemed to lack vivacity in the livelier parts.

Milton Eisenhower as the irresponsible, temperamental, Gordon Schuyler kept the action popped up while he was on the stage. With the exception of a rather strained laugh at times, and an inane line or two during the love scenes, he acted very naturally.

Of the minor characters the most outstanding were the butler, Gray, and the crook, Benjamin Suratt, both played by Jack Kennedy. Winifred West played the part of the housekeeper, Mrs. Saunders, and was quite dignified and majestic until the last scene when her grief almost converted her part into burlesque.

The other members of the cast were James Lansing as John Crawshaw, and as Clancy and Melville Thompson as Poole.

The performance, as a whole, came nearer to appearing like a professional production than any given by college players in the last two years. Mrs. Blanche Forrester was responsible for a very artistic setting, and in this connection it may be well to mention that the attempt to reduce the size of the stage was highly successful.

Prof. R. E. Holcombe in directing the play, attempted to get away from the old style of dramatics. This was very obvious when in the first scene he placed Dr. Gaunt with his back to the audience, and regardless of the fact that numerous critics in the audience whispered "He's got his back to the audience!" it was quite a relief from the ordinary play.—O. W. C.

"The perfect cream in the perfect container"

Williams
Shaving
Cream

Men buy Williams expecting to find their main satisfaction in the Hinge-Cap. But when they first use the cream they get an equally pleasant surprise. The heavier lather, the greater thoroughness with which it softens the beard, make a hit at once. Then, Williams lather lubricates the skin so that the razor fairly "glides" the hairs off. And last, there's that delightful after-care of the skin. Truly, you'll find that with the Hinge-Cap Williams is "miles ahead." It's a pure cream without coloring matter of any kind.

For the best sentence of ten words or less on the value of the Williams Hinge-Cap, we offer the following prizes: 1st prize $100; 2nd prize $50; two 3rd prizes, $25 each; two 4th prizes, $10 each; six 5th prizes, $5 each. Any undergraduate or graduate student is eligible. If two or more persons submit identical slogans deemed worthy of prizes, the full amount of the prize will be awarded to each. Contest closes at midnight March 14, 1924. Winners will be announced as soon thereafter as possible. Submit any number of slogans but write on one side of paper only, putting name, address, college and class at top of each sheet. Address letters to Contest Editor, The J. B. Art Department Work Explained

"A Little Lesson in Line," was the topic of a talk given during Farm and Home week by Ethel Arnold of the applied art department. Illustrations were given of straight, curved, and erratic lines as they occur in draperies, wall paper, rugs and furniture, and suggestions were given for securing good lines and avoiding poor ones.

The pictures in the art museum were explained by Louise H. Everhardy, and modern pottery, glassware, and old Indian pottery were exhibited. An interpretation of "An Arrangement in Grays," "The Golden Stairs," and "Spring," was given by Professor Holman.

FAMOUS ARTISTS TO SING ELIJAH

MINNEAPOLIS SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA WILL PLAY SCORE

Arthur Middleton, Ernest Davis, Mary Welch, and Lleanor Sparks Take Solo Parts

Arthur Middleton, baritone, Ernest Davis, New York, tenor, Mary Welch of the Chicago Civic Opera company, and Lleanor Sparks, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company will carry the solo parts in the "Elijah," which will be given during the music festival this year, according to an announcement of Prof. Ira Pratt, head of the music department, yesterday. The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra will play the score. The college chorus will sing the choruses.

Pratt Calls for Singers

Professor Pratt expressed himself as being particularly anxious to have a superior chorus this spring. "No one will ever hear the Elijah done better from the standpoint of solo work," Professor Pratt said, "and if the people who can contribute to the success of the chorus will turn out, the whole production will be one that will place Manhattan in the lead among the festival towns of the country, as the remainder of the week's program will be of the same high order."

Rehearsals began Monday evening, and will be held each Monday until the first of May.

250 in Last Year's Chorus

The chorus last year was composed of about 250 singers, most of whom were connected with the college. Professor Pratt plans this spring with the cooperation of townspeople to increase the number of voices only slightly and to select only the best.

The "Elijah" will be presented on Saturday night, May 10, the last day of the Festival.

NEW STADIUM SECTION TO BE COMPLETE OCT. 18

Directors of Corporation Decide Additional Seats Are Necessary—Pledges Reach $306,000

The urgent necessity of larger seating capacity to care for the record crowds expected to attend the three big Missouri Valley games on the Aggie schedule next fall impelled the directors of the Memorial Stadium corporation to decide at their meeting Friday night upon the erection of the east one-third of the stadium seating decks during the coming building season.

The new section will seat 7,000 people, doubling the capacity of the stands at Stadium field by the time the football season opens next fall.

Kansas university, Drake university, and Nebraska university—three of the strongest teams in the conference, and all good drawing cards—will play the Aggies here next fall. It is a certainty that even the 14,000 seats which will be ready by the time of the K. U. game on October 18 will hardly be adequate to accommodate the spectators. As large a crowd is expected to attend the Aggie-Nebraska clash, and the Drake game will not be far behind in attractiveness.

The directors of the corporation feel that if the Aggies intend to travel in Missouri Valley company they must be provided with an adequate athletic plant, and have decided to bring the stadium seating arrangements to a parity with those existing at other conference schools.

To date $306,000 has been pledged toward the stadium fund which must reach $500,000 before the structure can be built as planned. A fourth of the total amount already has been expended on the construction of the west one-third of the seating decks, the grading and drainage of the field, and the construction of the running track.

According to engineers an unusually good piece of work has been done for the corporation by W. B.

Stingley, contractor who built the section now completed. The work was done slowly, but it was done well, experts say.

Bids will be asked on the east unit within a short time and work will be started as soon as weather conditions will permit.

SIGMA NUS WIN INTRAMURALS

COMPETITION IS KEEN IN INDOOR TRACK MEET

Butterfield, Delta Tau Delta, Is High Point Man—Aikman Wins Two Mile Race

The Sigma Nu fraternity won the largest number of points in the indoor intramural meet held in Nichols gymnasium Wednesday night. Keen competition between individuals and various organizations furnished the crowd plenty of excitement. The half mile relay which was won by the Sigma Nu team, was the most exciting race of the evening and was a fitting termination for the meet.

Butterfield Is High Man
H. R. Butterfield, Delta Tau Delta, was high point man of the meet with a tie for first in the high jump, second in the pole vault, and fourth in the 30 yard low hurdles. R. P. Aikman ran the prettiest race of the evening when he won the two mile by a lap and a half in fast time.

The events and results follow:

30 yard dash—first, Whitfield; second, Meek; third, Foote; fourth, B. C. Wright. Time 3.9 seconds.
30 yard low hurdles—first, Meek; second, Davis; third, C. A. Logan; fourth, H. R. Butterfield. Time 4.2 seconds.
30 yard high hurdles—first, C. A. Logan; second, N. L. Roberts; third, R. D. Hamilton; fourth, W. A. Brinkman. Time 4.6 seconds.
440 yard dash—first, L. D. Slocombe; second, J. C. Keas; third, T. C. Potter; fourth, B. C. Wright. Time 1 min. 0.2 seconds.
180 yard run—first, D. C. Coffman; second, M. L. Sallee; third, H. T. Hunter; fourth, J. H. Marchbank. Time 2 min. 15.2 seconds.
1 mile run—first, M. L. Sallee; second, H. C. Lantis; third, C. A. Walt; fourth, A. Wolgast. Time 4 min. 57.6 seconds.
1 mile run—first, R. P. Aikman; second, H. C. Lantis; third, R. G. Cortel; fourth, H. D. Nichols.
High jump—H. R. Butterfield and C. A. Logan tied for first; T. H. Newman, J. M. Baney, J. L. Davis, and G. D. Stewart tied for third. Height, 7 feet 7 inches.
Pole vault—first, C. R. Carter; second, H. R. Butterfield; third, C. E. Priest; fourth, H. G. Ehrhardt. Height 11 feet.
Shot put—first, L. P. Lapaille; second, J. E. Smith; third, M. W. Reed; fourth, C. F. Towle. Distance 38 feet, 4 inches.

DOPSTERS WERE RIGHT—WILDCATS HAVE NO ALIBI

Aggies Lose to University Quintet 23-15—Will meet Grinnell in Second Contest Saturday

True to dope, but contrary to hope, the Kansas Aggie basketball team lost to the University of Kansas five in Lawrence Tuesday night, 23 to 15. The prowess of the Jayhawk proved fatal to the Wildcats, which nevertheless clawed valiantly for victory until the final minutes of play.

There were no individual stars, with the possible exception of Ackerman of K. U. The Aggie team displayed good team basketball, and fair shooting ability, but were outplayed by their opponents by the margin the score indicates. Bunker, Wann, Widenbach, Tebow, Webber, and Doolen got into the game for the Aggies.

Grinnell will be here tomorrow night for the second battle of the week. Although the Wildcats lost by a point to the Iowans at Grinnell last week, Coach Corsaut expects to win the return engagement by a comfortable margin. The Aggies led Grinnell by eight points in the final quarter at Grinnell, but an injury to Koch's arm, followed by the retirement of Wann from the game on personal fouls broke up the combination, and Grinnell spurted through to victory.

Unless Washington gives the Jayhawk a dying wallop, indications are that the valley season will finish with all teams still occupying the approximate berths they now hold. Nebraska has met the harder valley teams, and has only Grinnell, Drake, Ames, Missouri, and Washington remaining.

trade places with Nebraska unless she does the unexpected and takes both K. U. and Oklahoma into camp. The Pikers apparently have the potential power, but were badly demoralized by dropping three straight games on a recent road trip. Grinnell, Drake, Ames, and Missouri are about on a parity. Missouri has suffered no overwhelming defeats this season, but seems to lack the drive to win, as is also the case with Ames.

AGGIE MARKSMEN SHOOT AGAINST OTHER SCHOOLS

First in Series of Telegraphic Rifle Meets Is Held This Week—Contest Closes Saturday

The first of a series of telegraphic rifle meets is being held in the college gymnasium this week. At the close of the contest tomorrow, the ten highest scores will be averaged and sent to the competing schools, and the winners determined. K. S. A. C. competes with the following colleges: Kansas university, University of South Dakota, South Dakota State college, and the University of Nevada.

Lieutenant Cole is in charge of the rifle men. He states that in spite of the inferior ammunition that is being used, and the fact that there are several new men on the team, the marksmanship of the Aggie team is above average.

The scores being made in the rifle match by the Aggie team are good according to Captain Waltz. The scores are averaging 25 or 30 points better than the first scores last year. The average individual score is 80 off-hand, 90 kneeling and sitting, and about 95 prone. P. A. Shepherd and W. S. Mayden are tied for high point man with a score of 362 out of a possible 400 at the present time. The shooting will not be completed until Saturday.

FISTIC ARTISTS MEET AMES

Aggie Boxers to Hold First Match Saturday

The K. S. A. C. boxing team leaves Friday for Ames where the first boxing match of the season will be held Saturday, February 16. According to E. A. Knott no dope is available. This is the second year Ames has had a team, while it is the first year of intercollegiate boxing for the Aggies.

The men who will make the trip are: Z. Pearson, Paul Schoplin, A. Carmean, C. F. Hoelzel, F. T. Rose, P. A. Shepherd, and A. H. Bachelor.

GEORGE HANNA DISCUSSES EUROPEAN STUDENT RELIEF

Tells Experiences on Tour of Continent

"The student of Europe is no different from the student of America except that he is living under different conditions," George Hanna told the audience at the forum meeting in home economics rest room, Tuesday evening. Mr. Hanna, a former student of K. S. A. C., was one of a number who toured Europe last summer.

Mr. Hanna explained the work that the European student relief committee is doing. "The movement furthers good will among students of the various countries," he stated, "especially those of France and England." Mr. Hanna found that the students of England have a different outlook on life from the average American student. "They are studying world problems, trying to find out fields of greater service to England and to the rest of the world," he declared. "The hope of Europe is in the European student relief."

Mr. Hanna said in closing. Dr. C. K. Edwards, president of Canton Christian college will talk to the students in the home economics rest room next Tuesday, February 19, at 7 o'clock. All students are invited to attend these forums.

Junior Class Meets

The junior class will meet in C 26 at 5 o'clock, Monday, for the purpose of electing officers.

Carol Rickert Writes Song

The Manhattan high school has adopted a school song both words and music of which were written by Carol Rickert, junior in journalism.

WILLARD TO JUDGE ESSAYS IN CHEMICAL SOCIETY CONTEST

American Chemical Society Offers Six $20 Prizes

Dr. J. T. Willard, has been asked to serve as a member of a committee chosen to judge essays submitted by Kansas high school students in a contest conducted by the American Chemical society.

The society is offering six prizes of $20 in gold and certificates of honorable mention in each state for chemical essays written by high school students. The essays are to be judged by a group of representative citizens, only two of whom shall be chemists. Doctor Willard and Dr. E. H. S. Bailey of the University of Kansas, are the two chemists of the Kansas committee, of which Henry J. Allen is chairman. Other members asked to serve on the committee are: Mrs. Margaret Hill McCarter, Topeka; William Allen White, Emporia; Dr. A. E. Hertzler, Halstead; Dean L. E. Sayre, Lawrence; General Charles I. Martin, Topeka; Leigh Hunt, Rosedale; W. J. Tod, Maple Hill; and W. O. Steen, Beloit.

The essays, which are not to exceed 2,500 words are to be in the hands of the judges by April first. Any student in any secondary or high school is eligible to compete in this prize contest. From among the winners of state prizes a national committee will select the best essay in each of the six classes. The winners will be awarded four-year scholarships at Yale university or Vassar college.

KODAK WEEK BEGINS MONDAY

Royal Purple Issues Call for Snap Shots

Snap shot week is scheduled for February 15 to 22. Ray Yoder, snap shot editor of the Royal Purple, will select the best of those submitted for the year.

The student's equipment for that week will be incomplete without a kodak, according to Mr. Yoder. The object of the campaign is to catch a dear enemy in the most embarrassing position you can, snap him quickly, dash to the developer's and send the finished print to the Royal Purple. Revenge will be complete when the enemy's discomfiture is registered in the Royal Purple for the amusement of future generations.

"Possibilities in this line are endless," Mr. Yoder declares. "With the aid of flash light powder, judiciously applied, dark porches may yield most interesting studies in proximity," he says. "The library steps should also be a source of striking poses on a rainy day."

Seniors Take Commission Exams

The following seniors in the advanced military course will take examinations for commissions in the regular army on April 14: Cecil G. Charles, L. W. Grothusen, Hal F. Irwin, H. W. Johnston, C. C. Jolley, R. C. Lane, H. L. McCord, T. E. Rodgers, and Myron H. Soupen.

Bluebird Fails As Prognosticator of Warm Spring Days

Another sacred tradition has gone on the rocks, and the bluebird, long recognized as a harbinger of spring, gentle spring, is about to lose his place as far as weather prophets at K. S. A. C. are concerned. The bluebird was ousted from his place of authority on January 13, when Dr. Mary Harman and her class in ornithology observed a flock of eight birds—and January 13 was one of the coldest days last month. Bluebirds, and cardinals too, in great numbers have been seen and heard on the campus so far.

Ornithology is supposed to be given only every other year but the demand for the course is so strong that it has been given for three successive years. The class spends its laboratory period studying the birds in the museum and out of doors, and a scrapbook is kept of newspaper clippings about birds.

Interesting observations have been made by the class in regard to Kansas birds. There are nearly 50 varieties of sparrow in Kansas and few of them resemble the English sparrow which most people think of when sparrows are mentioned. Scarcely any robins were observed for several months but now they are arriving in large numbers.

Manhattan seems to be the transition place for the red shafted and yellow shafted flickers. In eastern Kansas the red shafted flicker is common and in the western part of the state the yellow shafted flicker is found. Both are found here, and certain markings indicate that there is interbreeding.

NEED STARS TO REPLACE STARS

AGGIES FEEL LOSS OF RILEY, KUYKENDAH, AND HOPE

Will Fare Worst in Dual Meets—Munn and Gartner Show Up Well in Discus and Shot

To mold a track team which will be a worthy successor to the one which won second place in the Missouri valley track meet at Ames last year is the problem now confronting Head Coach Bachman. With the limited amount of material that has presented itself Coach Bachman must develop men who will fill the shoes of Ivan Riley, Charles Kuykendahl, and Hollis Hope.

Former Stars Ineligible
These men have all had three years of Valley athletics and were sure point winners in their events. Riley, was conceded to be the best hurdler in the Missouri valley and it was seldom that he failed to win at least a first and second in the high and low hurdles. Kuykendahl, who captained the purple and white thinly clad last year, was a consistent winner in both the mile and two mile runs. He won the two mile at both the indoor and outdoor Missouri valley meets last year. Hope was Riley's running mate in the high hurdles and was always counted on for a place in the pole vault. He was also the Aggie's best entry in the broad jump.

At present there is no varsity material out that is worthy of giving competition to Valley opponents in the hurdles, jumps and vault, and the loss of points in these events will be keenly felt in dual meets.

Fare Worst in Dual Meets
The lack of a shot putter and discus thrower has been a defect in the Aggie track squad since the graduation of Everett Billings in 1920, but the development of Gartner and Munn has helped greatly to remedy the situation.

Unless more material shows up in the jumps and hurdles the Wildcats will not be able to offer the stiff opposition to their opponents in dual meets which they did last year, but where points are split up as they are in the Missouri valley meet Coach Bachman's proteges will fare much better.

Erwin in Good Form

Captain L. E. Erwin is running in better form than ever before and is probably the best flyer in the valley. He should not have much trouble in winning the 100 yard and 220 yard dashes in all meets. In the mile run, R. E. Kimport will give a good account of himself. He won the mile at the K. C. A. C. against strong competition in the fast time of 4 minutes, 34 seconds. The two mile will be well taken care of by "Puff" Balzar who ran second last year in the Missouri valley meet. Gartner, in the discus throw, is probably the class of the Valley having consistently beaten the Valley record in spring practice. In the quarter mile, Knause, will have strong competition in quarter miles from various schools but can be expected to place.

Life Saving Demonstration Friday

A life saving demonstration will be given in the men's swimming pool, Friday, February 15, at 5 o'clock by the women's life saving corps in conjunction with Captain Law of the Red Cross life saving corps. This demonstration is open to the public.

SEASHORE ASKS RECOGNITION FOR EXCEPTIONAL STUDENT

Noted Psychologist Would Shorten Four Year Courses

A condemnation of the idea that all college courses should require four years for completion by every student who enrolls was voiced by Prof. C. E. Seashore, dean of the graduate college at the University of Iowa, in an address before members of the Kansas State Agricultural college faculty last week. Professor Seashore visited the college in the interests of the National Research council and addressed several group gatherings while here.

Dean Seashore stated that he was heartily in favor of a reduction in the length of time required for various courses, rearranging them so that only enough time to get the material well in hand should be required. There are many courses that could be adequately covered in two years of work, he said, and there are others that would necessarily require only two and one-half to three years of study.

The object of Dean Seashore's visit was to determine what the Kansas State Agricultural college is doing in the way of recognizing the exceptional student and what advantage the school is giving the student of above the average ability. He laid stress upon the fact that more efficient methods of discovering the student of exceptional ability during his first year should be used so that classes could be arranged that would contain students of equal intelligence in each. With this arrangement, more satisfactory work could be accomplished by all of the students, he said. He emphasized the intellectual comradeship that would result from such a system.

Quintessence of Faculty in Brown Bull Hall of Fame

The Brown Bull has been tremendously busy the past week selecting the faculty members who will grace the Hall of Fame. And selecting five, from a list of several hundred instructors, is no easy task. There were so many good ones, but the best natured people weren't handsome enough, and the handsome ones didn't come up to the Bull's expectations of what a true representative in the Hall of Fame should be. The Bull's keepers tried to help him out. The editor in chief wanted his favorite professor in the center of the page—but no, he has red hair, and the Bull simply paws the earth at the mere mention of red.

The assistant editor timidly suggested that somebody from the department of horticulture or botany might be good enough, and the Bull meditated seriously for 10 minutes on that. Botany has a pleasant connotation, green fields and fresh grass, and all that sort of thing. But no again; somebody in the Hort building—he didn't remember who—had laughed at the Bull when he was just a yearling, and although he has forgiven, he never forgot.

The English department members were dismissed with a haughty swish of the tail; too erratic. The home economics staff didn't appeal to the Bull's ideas of pulchritude—and so on through the list. The choice has now narrowed down to 10, and the Bull is still pawing the air, and trying to decide which five he will select.

And those five—the first to be nominated for the Aggie Hall of Fame—will be announced in the Leap Year number of the Bown Bull, February 28.

SENIORS VOTE TODAY FOR CLASS OFFICERS

John Tole and Sole Finney up for President—Voting at Royal Purple Window from 8 to 5

Senior officers will be elected today, the voting taking place at the Royal Purple window from 8 to 5. The nominees who were named at the meeting of the class Tuesday, February 12 are president, John Tole and Sol Finney; vice president, Bernice Fleming; secretary, Lucia Biltz and Helen Reid; treasurer, Austin Heywood, Ruth Leonard, and V. O. Clements; marshal, M. R. Getty; devotional leader, Ruby Northrup and Florence True.

The election board consists of Paul Vohs, general science; Neva Hollis, home economics; Sam Gatz, agriculture; Ivan Riley, engineering; H. Coons, veterinary medicine.

At the meeting Tuesday, the class voted to present an outdoor play this spring. Notice was given that orders for invitations must be made by April 1.

Enters Nurse's Training

Jennie Williams, who was graduated from the division of home economics in 1910, will complete her nurse's training course at the University hospital, Ann Arbor, Mich., this semester.

TONY SARG GIVES NOVEL PROGRAM

MARIONETTES Pantomime Chinese Willow Plate Story

Showing Booked by Public Speaking Department Is Only One in Kansas—Given March 10

A unique form of entertainment will be presented in the auditorium March 10, when Tony Sarg's Marionettes will pantomime the "Chinese Willow Plate Story." The music for the production was written by Victor Herbert, one of America's foremost composers, and David Belasco sponsored the premier performance at the Belasco theater in New York.

Marionettes Seem Almost Human

The Marionettes appearing in the "Willow Plate Story" are not like those of "Aesop's Fables," or yet like the visible figures of former Sarg productions. They are rather variations of the ancient Chinese shadow-graph, endowed by Sarg with speech, color, and almost human intelligence. The marionette figures themselves are transparent, and their outlines can be thrown in any size on a transparent screen.

They interpret, both vocally and dramatically, the ancient love story painted on the Chinese willow plate used in table settings. Art, humor, drama, cartoons, literature, and music are said to be combined in the production.

Sarg Is Well Known

Sarg is widely known to magazine readers through his cartoons, to movie fans for his animated comics, and to the art world for his experiments with the humorous side of sketching. He has already successfully produced numerous marionette "dramas," among them being "Rip Van Winkle" and "Don Quixote."

A special children's matinee has been arranged, with special children's admittance prices of 25 and 35 cents. Tickets to the evening performance will sell at 75 cents and $1.

The presentation here is to be the only one in Kansas and was booked by the department of public speaking.

COLLEGIAN CHIEF ATTENDS VALLEY PRESS ASSOCIATION

Oklahoma Sponsors Organization of College Newspapers

Alan Dalley, editor-in-chief of the Collegian, left Thursday for Norman, Okla., to attend a conference of the Missouri valley college newspaper representatives. The Oklahoma chapter of Sigma Delta Chi is sponsoring the organization of a Missouri valley press association similar to the college organizations in the east, in the western conference, and on the Pacific coast.

Mail and telegraph services will be furnished to all schools belonging to the association. All of the Missouri valley schools are sending representatives with the exception of Missouri university and Grinnell.

IOWA EDUCATORS INSPECT WORK OF KANSAS SCHOOLS

Richardson and Devitt to Visit K. S. A. C. Friday

Anna E. Richardson, dean of the division of home economics at Iowa State college, Ames, Iowa, and Pauline Lewelling Devitt, a member of the Iowa state board of education, are making inspection visits to the Kansas state schools and will visit K. S. A. C., Friday, February 15.

Miss Richardson was connected with the federal board for vocational education at Washington, before she was appointed dean of the division of home economics at Ames in November, 1922. Mrs. Devitt is a daughter of L. D. Lewelling, governor of Kansas in 1892. She was graduated from the Wichita high school and the University of Kansas, and was a teacher in the Kansas schools for several years.

Vet Medics Plan Banquet

Plans for the annual banquet of the Veterinary Medical association were made at the meeting Wednesday afternoon, and arrangements to obtain an out of town speaker for some future meeting were discussed. The following officers were elected for the spring semester: E. E. Hodgson, president; E. W. Young, vice president; J. F. Souze, secretary; H. L. Church, treasurer; J. E. Greer, marshal; E. C. McCulloch, assistant marshal; W. T. Miller, and R. W. Boone, senior directors; F. R. Allerton, junior director; W. S. O'Neal, sophomore director; J. J. Spurlock, freshman director; V. C. Hill, critic; A. O'Toole, reporter.

Dean Mary P. Van Zile and Miss Jessie M. Machir were Sunday dinner guests at the Alpha Xi Delta house.

YES, IT'S A RELIEF

Assuredly it is a relief.
It seems to be a recognized thing nowadays for athletic coaches to send out "bear stories" about their teams. In order to mislead the opposition, reporters are told tales of woeful injuries that have occurred to certain stars, by which the team will be immeasurably weakened.

Such ideas are seemingly not regarded with favor by Coach C. W. Corsaut. A reporter gets from him the truth, whether good or bad. He does not manufacture pre-season stories, and therefore does not have to explain why his prophecy did not come true.

The Collegian has found that stories emanating from Aggie basketball headquarters are strictly authentic. It doesn't sound right, but it has been the case.

LAMENT

We drop a tear for the good old days. Specifically, for the days when everybody had ideas on the Ides of March—when Roughneck day was rough.

Time was when Roughneck day was spontaneous and joyous and permeated with the spirit of high adventure. Then the Uplifters got hold of Roughneck day. The chamber of commerce offered prizes for the best costumes; the parade, instead of being a riotous procession without form or order was organized by divisions; dancing was sanctioned by the authorities and confined to certain places at certain hours; Roughneck day was deliberately and foully murdered by organization, the omnipotent impulse of K. S. A. C.

We appeal to all high-minded and right-thinking students and faculty members who retain a vestige of respect for the memory of the dead—the Roughneck day that was—this year to tear down the placards announcing the organized celebration of March 15. To tear down the placards and pile them together in a pile on Stadium field where they shall be burned publicly on the evening before the Ides of March. Mayhap old Roughneck day shall rise, phoenix-like from the ashes.

J. F. H.

Campus Echoes, ever striving to uplift humanity, to keep before the students of K. S. A. C. the highest standards of refinement and culture and all that sort of thing, pauses this week to rebuke the department which officiates on the ground floor of Nichols gymnasium.

What are we coming to—whither are we drifting—when the young women of this institution organize themselves into teams (gangs was the word which first occurred to us) and voluntarily give themselves such odious names as Whiz Bang, Grease Lighters and Devil's Disciples? The moral degradation, the utter ignominy, of such disgusting terms, makes us shudder violently.

Fancy Alice or Lucy writing home, in the enthusiasm of youth, in this wise:

Dear Folks: Our team beat the Grease Lighters 36-0. Some game! Your loving Devil's Disciple.

What will Ma think? What will Pa do? Before it is too late, we beg, we entreat the athletic department to reconsider these words—to substitute, if they must have names, Vanity Fair, Starbeams, and Gabriels' Cohorts.

If the athletic department fails to act, the S. S. G. A. should be notified to do its duty. The hope of the nation must not be allowed to assume names invented for denizens of the under world.

If education amounts to this—Campus Echoes will support the southern professor who contends that the uneducated girl is the "safest, sweetest, and the most serene."

Appreciation

"Whataju learnfer tuhday, kid?"
"Kipling's Longvov, 'scutest thing y'veer read."
"Yeah. I shure like that olguy-stuff."

For enterprise and efficiency we wish to nominate for the Ball and Chain the young woman who, having lost a pair of brown wool gloves, sent a note to each member of her class asking him to return her property to the postoffice immediately.

Each member of the class who trudged to the postoffice with murder and righteous indignation in his heart should contribute 10 cents to the fund to buy her a genuine brass hair net, double meshed.

Two months ago Pat obligingly lent his Conklin fountain pen to a member of the Borabegga sorority. Seventeen times has he composed a charming little note asking her to please return his property if she ever happens to pass through Anderson hall, but he has never had the nerve to mail the letter. At least five times a day he has gone to the telephone to call the young lady, but he just can't do it. Pat is a bashful lad.

But he is resourceful. He is offering a substantial reward this week to the first student who will suggest a method for painlessly recovering the cherished Conklin. The only stipulation is that the plan contain no clause which might injure the young lady's feelings, or cause her to think that she is being coerced into returning the pen too soon.

Campus Echoes, believing that such a plan would be a boon to mankind, will pay half of the reward, and the author will have his picture published in the Kansas State Collegian (provided he will pay for the cut).

They Actually Said It

Ruth Wilson—These kickout dresses just aren't wearable in windy weather.

class—Yes, the Outlook's editorial policy is rather socialistic.

John Gartner—No, I won't have time—I'm going to do a lot of outside work this semester. C'mon, let's go to the show.

G. C. Bartgis—If a man is ever going to take any responsibility, the time to do it is when he comes to college.

Bethany Pledges Give Program

The pledges of Bethany circle had charge of a Valentine dinner and program which was held Tuesday evening at the Christian church. A business meeting was held and the following program was given: devotions by Mary Logan; report by Elizabeth Sorenson on a chapter from Norris Royden's book "Women at the Crossroads;" a talk by Miss Lois Wildy on "Opportunities of a Y. W. C. A. Member;" and a play by the pledges, "Seeing Yourself as Others See You."

TOURNEY STARTS FOR GIRL CAGERS

CLASS CONTESTS WILL BE PLAYED IN MARCH

Modern Nomenclature Replaces Colors as Team Names—First Game Wednesday

The girls' annual basketball tournament began Wednesday following the announcement of the teams. This tournament is not an interclass contest, but is held as a preparation for the regular class tournament which will be played the latter part of March.

Replaces "Color Tournaments"

The present contest corresponds to the "color tournaments" which have been held in previous years. The modern trend in nomenclature may be observed in the names by which the various teams are known.

The following schedule has been prepared: February 13, Whiz Bangs-Demons; Devil's Disciples-Rough and Ready; February 14, Grease Lighters-Goalers; February 19, Grease Lighters-Aggie Kittens; February 18, Demons-Devil's Disciples; Whiz Bangs-Rough and Ready; February 20, Rough and Ready-Demons; Devil's Disciples-Whiz Bangs.

Members of Teams

Members of the teams are:
Grease Lighters—Helen Green, captain, Minnie Heath, Irma Fulhage, Olive Filppo, Betty Elkins, Lillian Russell, Maggie Jeffrey, Gladys Stoops, Helen Clark; Goalers—Lorraine Smith, captain, Trena Olson, Jean Rankin, Janice Brown, Geneva Faley, Lenore Cress, Alma Cress, Edna Bullimore, Ruth Barnhisel; Aggie Kittens—Dorothy Howe, captain, Mildred Peterson, Louise Magaw, Jessie Winder, Elsie Zohner, Victorine Fry, Aldene Scantlin, Helen Diller, Daisy Davies; Whiz Bangs—Mildred Meyer, captain, Leone Bacon, Dorothy Stahl, Ethel Watson, Lillian Worster, Alaina Reed, Lorene Wolfe, Ruth Gardenhire, Ruth Leonard; Demons—Thelma Coffin, captain, Lucia Biltz, Merle Grinstead, Emma Jehlick, Dede Daniels, Louise Wann, Mary J. Herthel, Josephine Brooks; Devil's Disciples—Lanora Russell, captain, Elmira King, Ruth Burns, Alice Marston, Leonora Doll, Kathryn Whitten, Mary Roesener, Ruth Kimball, Eleanor Davis; Rough and Ready—Genevieve Tracy, captain, Ann Klason, Lucille Miller, Ann Nohlen, Helen Eakin, Vera Alderman, Thelma Sharp, Mildred Thurow, Letha Olson; Katy Dids—Wilma Biddle, captain, Clare Gray, Daisy Davison, Margaret Howe, Marjorie Barth, Madge Ricky, Emma Currin, Margaret McClintock, Geraldine Rebol; Raggedy Anna—Alice Turner, captain, Mary Stutz, Jessie Atkins, Mignon House, Evelyn Peffley, Undine Uhl, Katherine Osborne, Frances Hooper, Mary Lowe; K—Florence Lerner, captain, Ethel Oatman, Edna Somerville, Esther George, Lydia Stephens, Helen Johnson, Grace Glenn, Belle Viers and Ola Curtis.

MISS RICE REVIEWS PLAYS AND LIFE OF GALSWORTHY

Outlines Distinguishing Characteristics of Playwright's Works

The reading of the play, "The Silver Box," was the feature of the lecture given Tuesday afternoon by Professor Ada Rice on the plays of John Galsworthy. After briefly tracing Galsworthy's life, she outlined the characteristics which distinguish his novels, poems, sketches, and plays.

"Galsworthy's style is not one which appeals to the multitude but rather to those who are willing to be preached to indirectly," said Miss Rice. "He believes in the dramatist presentation of a moral in every play. An unusual characteristic is that he brings out his point through situations, not dialogue. The remarkable technique and sense of situation in his plays make them good on the stage."

The play, "The Silver Box," was well chosen to illustrate the points mentioned. It presents the class struggle of two strata of English society, pointing out the inconsistency of moral standards existing between them. Though the characters were numerous and varied Miss Rice, in her reading, gave a very good interpretation of each.

Hobbs Discusses Copy Written by Aggie Journalists

Students in the department of industrial journalism who assisted in getting out the Kansas day edition of the Topeka Daily Capital were complimented upon the quality of their work by Elwood Hobbs, city editor of the Capital, who led an informal discussion of the students' copy at the departmental lecture Monday afternoon.

Mr. Hobbs reviewed part of the copy written by the students, making suggestions for its improvement or showing why some of it had to be edited or rewritten. Some of the copy, he said, was as good as the most reliable reporters ever write, and required no editing whatever.

ORCHESTRA GIVES CONCERT TONIGHT

BOYD RINGO, PIANIST, TO PLAY CONCERTO

Director of Minneapolis Symphony
Praises Work of Orchestra—
No Admission Charge

The college orchestra under the direction of Harold P. Wheeler will appear in concert at the college auditorium tonight, commencing at 8:15. The orchestra will be assisted by Boyd R. Ringo, pianist.

Includes Unfinished Symphony

The program will open with Wagner's paraphrase "Walther's Prize Song," taken from "The Mastersingers." The second presentation on the program is an orchestral favorite with Americans—the two movements of Schubert's Unfinished Symphony, the Allegro Moderato and Andante con moto. A short intermission will follow and then Mr. Ringo will present a concerto. The closing number by the college orchestra is Strauss' famous overture to "Die Fledermaus."

The high quality and pleasing rendition of orchestra concerts under the direction of Professor Wheeler has been proved by the works which he has presented within the past few years. During festival week last year the conductor of the Minneapolis symphony made the statement that the orchestra concert given under Professor Wheeler's direction was almost identical with a program of their own and that it was rendered in a pleasing and superior manner. The program to be given tonight is of the same high type that has characterized programs given by the orchestra before.

Boyd Ringo Is Soloist

Mr. Ringo will play the Concerto in G minor, Op. 25, containing the motifs Molto Allegro con fuoco, Andante, and Presto, assisted by the orchestra. This concerto by Mendelssohn will give piano lovers an opportunity to hear Mr. Ringo in a selection which will show technique, as well as expression.

There will be no admission for the concert tonight, and all students, faculty, and townspeople are cordially invited. This is the only concert to be given by the college orchestra this year with the exception of the recital to be presented during festival week.

RIFLE TEAM MAKES GOOD SHOWING

Team Average 365.5—No Results From Other Schools

W. S. Mayden and Ernest Miller, both new men, tied with P. A. Shepherd, ex-national champion of the Marine corps, for high point honors in the telegraphic rifle meet held last week. The score was 362 out of a possible 400.

The Aggies competed with South Dakota State college, Kansas university, Nevada university, and South Dakota university. With South Dakota State college the first ten scores fired counted. With the other schools the highest ten scores were taken to make the team score.

The men who made the highest 10 scores and their points are as follows: P. A. Shepherd, 362; W. S. Mayden, 362; Ernest Miller, 362; D. C. Taylor, 357; I. K. McWilliams, 358; E. E. Howard, 348; V. C. Hill, 355; D. E. Lathrop, 358; A. W. Clark, 358; A. W. Marshall, 345. The total or team score is 3,565.

The first 10 men, or the men who fired against S. D. S. C., are P. A. Shepherd, 362; D. C. Taylor, 357; W. S. Mayden, 362; I. K. McWilliams, 358; E. E. Howard, 348; Ernest Miller, 362; V. C. Hill, 355; H. J. Broderick, 332; O. K. Correl, 333, and D. E. Lathrop, 358, making a team total of 3,527.

The results of the shooting at the other schools had not been received at a late hour yesterday. Captain Waltz expects to hear from them today or tomorrow.

The team average is 356.5. Last year the average for the first match was 326. The highest average for any time last year was 352 which is lower than the average, for the first time this year. This fact, considering also that six of the team are new men, points to a very successful season, according to Captain Waltz, coach. Last year the average for the individual positions was 64. This year in the first match it is 79.

The new members of the team are Mayden, McWilliams, Lathrop, Clark, Marshall, and Hill. The other men who fired for K. S. A. C. but who did not make scores high enough to count are R. L. Roberts, and L. A. Murphy. J. O. Riley did not complete his score.

Harold McNeiley spent several days last week in Topeka.

Long Hair Belongs in Attic with Hoopskirt, Declares Joe Cooper

By Joe Cooper, of Cooper's Barber-shop

The modern woman of today would no more think of letting her hair grow long than the modern Chinese would think of returning to their traditional cue.

For that would be taking a step backward instead of forward. Long hair, rats, switches, and whatnot, that crowned the head of yesterday, have no place in Milady's coiffure. They belong in the attic alongside grandmother's hoop skirts and the like. About two years ago bobbed hair of the flapper style came into vogue. Girls that never had their hair cut before had their locks shorn. Some looked becoming while others looked just the opposite. Girls sitting in the chair while the barber applied his skill, actually had tears trickling down their cheeks as they saw their locks being cut away, saying that they were going to let them grow back again, while others lost their courage as they saw the smiling face of the barber as he placed the hair cloth carefully about their necks, and sought all kinds of excuses.

"O, I think my neck is too long," or "It may make me look too fat," or "My daddy told me I couldn't drive the car if I bob my hair." "O, please excuse me, I forgot to write and ask mother first." And what a big sigh of relief when the barber smilingly consented to their requests. For he knew very well these girls would eventually come back and they did come back smiling and not so shy this time on the second attempt. It had to be bobbed—simply because this is the bobbed hair age.

For the girl of college age, and the more mature women, the so called bob of two years ago, I must say is not appropriate. Having the hair bobbed is a mistaken idea. Having the hair cut or shingled is correct for the hair now must be cut to fit the shape of the head or sloped up the back of the head as the case may be. It is true that a woman's crowning glory is her hair, but that does not mean that she should wear her own hair long, hooked up with pins, wire netting, rats, etc., but instead a head of hair cut to fit with the different styles of Marcell waving has taken its place. Cutting a woman's hair is an art. It must get away from that kiddish bob, it must be cut to suit each individual and at the same time bring out the expression of womanhood, not flapperism.

I do not say that long hair will never be worn again. In fact some are wearing it now on different occasions but you can rest assured that under this mass of ear muffs and swirls, lies the foundation of an up-to-date haircut or shingle bob.

And I will go a step further and say that the time is not far off when the girls will be having their hair clipped as short as possible and over their head will be worn a most beautiful, ventilated wig with style and color to suit each one's taste. But why not?

TOLE IS SENIOR PRESIDENT

Little interest was shown in the senior election Friday, only 60 out of a class of more than 300 voting. The officers elected for the semester are president, John Tole; vice president, Bernice Fleming; secretary, Helen Reid; treasurer, V. O. Clements; marshal, M. R. Getty; devotional leader, Ruby Northrup.

Mrs. MacEachron Vesper Speaker

"Myself" will be the subject discussed by Mrs. M. D. MacEachron, wife of Dean MacEachron, vice president of Washburn college, at the Y. W. C. A. vespers Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Recreation center. Mrs. MacEachron's talk will be the first of a series of "Myself" meetings of the Y. W. C. A. to be followed by "Myself and My Friends," by Mrs. W. M. Jardine; "Myself and My Religion," a discussion in groups on a girl's religion; "Myself and My Future," by Dean Justin.

Even Goldfish Sing in Performance by Sarg's Marionettes

"Say, Tony, you didn't warn me that I had to write fish music," said Victor Herbert, foremost American composer, when the heroic sized gold fish of the Oriental Subterranean Gardens appeared before him while he was engaged in writing music for Tony Sarg's new Marionette production, "The Chinese Willow Plate Story," which is to be shown at the college auditorium on March 10.

"Mr. Sarg and I had often talked of the possibility of working my music into his unique Marionette presentations," says Mr. Herbert, "but we never saw really desirable combinations until he decided upon this new Shadowgraph variation of the Marionettes, based upon the ancient Chinese art. As soon as I saw the preliminary showing of figures and the marvelous lighting arrangements perfected by Mr. Sarg, I could only say, 'When do we start?'"

As was true of David Belasco, at whose theatre Tony Sarg's latest production was shown in early December, Mr. Herbert was delighted with the fact these Marionettes are life size and of such coloring as to resemble huge, animated, stained glass windows. In fact his curiosity as to how the figure would be made of a colored, yet transparent material, and how they could be so manipulated as to bring about the effects presented, often interfered with his music writing as the scenes passed before his eyes.

WEAVER RESIGNS AS ALUMNI HEAD

GOES TO EMPIRE GAS AND FUEL COMPANY

Has Served K. S. A. C. Association Since July 1922—Position to Remain Vacant Until June

Oley W. Weaver, executive secretary of the K. S. A. C. Alumni association has resigned to take a position in the public relations department of the Empire Gas and Fuel company of Bartlesville, Okla., it was announced Monday. Mr. Weaver's resignation was accepted at a meeting of alumni association directors on February 8, and it is effective March 1. No successor has been named by the board and the office will probably be left vacant until the regular meeting of the association during commencement week.

Well Qualified for New Position
Mr. Weaver, a graduate with the class of 1911, became alumni secretary in July, 1922 succeeding Cliff Stratton, the first executive secretary of the association. Prior to that time he was on the news staff of the Kansas City Star. Since graduation he has had much active newspaper and publicity experience which make him well qualified for his new position.

Immediately after graduating in 1911, Mr. Weaver worked as newspaper editor in Wyoming and Kansas. Later he served as agricultural editor to the universities of Florida and Missouri. After a few months of country newspaper ownership in Missouri, he joined the news staff of the Star.

Leaves Manhattan March 1
Mr. Weaver, and his wife, Kate (Blackburn) Weaver, a former student of K. S. A. C., will move to Bartlesville the first of next month.

SWIMMERS BATTLE FRIDAY

Washington Water Athletes Meet Aggies

Burton Colburn, J. Mackay, Paul Stuenkel, P. Carter, B. C. Harter, L. C. Miller, and E. Reichart are to be the Aggie representatives in the swimming meet with Washington university, in the men's pool at the gymnasium, Friday, February 22, at 7:30. The public is invited.

Swimming is considered a major sport at Washington university, according to E. A. Knott, Aggie swimming coach, and consequently much greater interest is taken in it there. At St. Louis last year the Aggies were defeated. This year, although the material is not so hopeful as last, Coach Knott said we may look for surprises.

The list of events are: relay, fancy diving, 40 yard free style, 200 yard breast stroke, 220 yard free style, plunge for distance, 150 yards back stroke, 100 yard free style.

Coach and Mrs. Chas. Bachman were dinner guests at the Alpha Sigma Psi house Sunday.

Aggie Basketeers Must Learn to Dance Before Washington U. Fray

Dancing practice for the Kansas Aggie basketball team?—A new idea possibly, but Coach Corsaut is said to be contemplating it quite seriously after the Grinnell comedy-tragedy of Saturday night. The tragedy was furnished by the Aggies' losing, 21 to 14, the rest was sheer comedy.

It all came about as a sequel to the faculty leap year party Thursday night. Either the faculty was too enthusiastic, or the janitor not enthusiastic enough, but a liberal coat of powdered wax still remained when the Pioneers and Wildcats trotted on the floor.

That trot on the floor, by the way, was the last trotting done during the game. From then on it was a wild scramble to see who could stand up the longest. Gelving of Grinnell really should have been handicapped, as he stood up and played a speedy floor game, scoring four sparkling baskets. Tebow of the Aggies also had fair luck at keeping his feet, and accounted for three baskets. The remainder of both teams also played good floor games,—they were going down or getting up from whistle to whistle.

The entire Aggie team, especially the guards, were seemingly afflicted with near sightedness when in possession of the ball, and shot from any where on the court without looking for open men.

At that, the Aggies outplayed the Pioneers both offensively and defensively, wasting a dozen chances to win the game when shots that

Leap Year Brown Bull Sparkles with Scintillating Wit

The five noteworthy professors have been chosen for the Brown Bull's Hall of Fame. With so many deserving honor, the Bull had a hard time deciding. He thinks there will surely have to be additions to his Hall in the future, but the first five to be so honored will appear in the Leap year number.

The Hall of Fame is not the only feature for Leap year. John Post has contributed several cartoons—and everybody knows Post's cartoons. Judge, Life, and College Humor combined cannot rival them.

The articles on etiquette still continue. Those who have doubts about the fine points of correct behavior will find these invaluable aids.

Some of our most illustrious contributors have sent in copy. The doctor who revived Nobananos has an unusual article in the Leap year number. A cartoon by Post has verses by H. W. D.

This symposium of scintillating literature and art will appear the last of February. Price, two bits.

MOVE TO MAKE CAMPUS SAFE FOR THE CORRECT

Sigma Delta Chi and Manhattan Club Women Unite to Exalt Undeified English

Slang will be anathema on the campus and in Manhattan this week. Pure, undeified English will be exalted.

It is Better English week. Sigma Delta Chi on the hill, and the Manhattan Council of Clubs down town, are leading the movement to make Manhattan safe for the correct.

The campus drive was formally launched this morning in chapel, where the purposes were explained by a representative of the journalistic fraternity. Sigma Delta Chi members promise to set a shining example to the rest of the student body during the week, and one member has even gone so far as to take a vow never to say "keen" for five entire days.

Mrs. F. J. Rumold, chairman of the education committee of the Fifth District Federation of Women's clubs is in charge of the "Better English" week propaganda throughout the district and has made arrangements for the campaign here. The efforts will be centered in the schools, evidently on the theory that older folk can practice self-improvement in the use of their mother tongue—or that their speech is so sadly riddled with colloquialisms and vulgarisms that it can't be repaired.

Appointed Hospital Dietitian

Miss Alfreda Honeywell, '23, who has just completed the six months' pupil dietitian training course at John Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, Maryland, spent the week end in Manhattan.

Miss Honeywell was on her way to Denver, where she has a position as dietitian in the Children's hospital. This is a 75 bed hospital, employing 35 nurses, and is located in the exclusive residence district of Denver.

FAMOUS PIANIST CLOSES SERIES

ELLY NEY IS HIGH PRIESTESS OF PIANIST'S ART

Noted Artist Will Appear at College Auditorium Monday Evening—Career a Succession of Triumphs

Elly Ney, known the world over as "High Priestess of the Pianist's Art," will make her first appearance at K. S. A. C. next Monday night in the final number of the 1923-24 Artists series. Individual admission tickets to the concert may be obtained at the box office in the college auditorium.

Phonograph Records Well Known

Mme. Ney is already well known to many students and citizens of Manhattan. She has made two tours through the country since coming to America, and her phonograph records have a wide circulation. Few artists in recent years have succeeded in making so deep an impression on American audiences as Mme. Ney.

The career of the great pianist, whose New York debut created an unprecedented sensation started at an early age. She showed a passionate devotion to music from her earliest years. Her parents, however, declined to force her extraordinary talents and she is well versed in literature and arts as well as music.

Won Mendelssohn Prize

At the age of ten, Elly Ney received a scholarship in one of the largest conservatories in Germany. The young pianist was below the traditional age limit but even then her exceptional gifts were recognized and the authorities suspended the rules to accommodate the brilliant young student.

Six years later Mme. Ney won the Coveted Mendelssohn prize—a grand piano—against a remarkable field in a competition of which Joseph Joachim, the famous violinist, was one of the judges. This attainment marked the beginning of Elly Ney's fame. Since then her career has been a succession of permanent triumphs.

VALLEY PRESS DIRECTORS CONVENE HERE IN APRIL

Intercollegiate Press Association Organized at Norman Meeting—Alan Dalley Is Secretary-Treasurer

The first annual directors' meeting of the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Press association will be held at K. S. A. C. according to the vote of delegates present at the organization meeting held at Oklahoma university Friday and Saturday. Representatives from at least seven valley schools are expected to come to Manhattan for the conference which will be held the latter part of April.

The election of officers to serve until the directors' meeting and the drafting of by-laws were the principal results of the Oklahoma meeting. Guy P. Webb, editor of the Oklahoma Student Daily, was elected president and manager; Paul Richardson, editor of the Nebraska Daily, vice president; and Alan Dalley, editor in chief of the Collegian, secretary-treasurer. The by-laws provide for both telegraph and mail service between member newspapers.

Indications are that every school in the Missouri Valley except Missouri and Washington universities will be a member of the association before the spring meeting at K. S. A. C. Oklahoma A. and M. college will also be admitted. The association plans to begin functioning by March 1.

TWO TEAMS LEAVE MARCH 1 ON "GO TO COLLEGE" TOURS

Quartet and Purple Masque Players Visit High Schools

Two "go to college" tours have been scheduled for the first week in March, one to be made by the college male quartet, and the other by members of the Purple Masque who will present a one act play.

The members of the quartet are Albert Goering, Harry Wilson, Ralph Blackledge, and Floyd Strong. They will visit high schools in Kansas City, Kan., Leavenworth, Atchison, Argentine, Rosedale, Fort Scott, Girard, Parsons, Cherryvale, Coffeyville, and Independence. They will leave March 2 and return to Manhattan the following Saturday.

The cast for the one act play has not yet been selected, but the play will be given in Wilson, Russell, Ellsworth, and eight high schools in Saline county. The play was written by Prof. Ray E. Holcombe of the public speaking department.

YOUR "LINE"

It is perhaps true, as has been charged, that the college student of today is more readily detected by his clothes and the jewelry that he features than he is by the kind of English he employs. At the same time, it is strange that it should also be true that he believes, far back in the recesses somewhere, that a more correct and less "slangy" lingo would more nicely befit the station in life he is preparing himself to assume.

Yet he hesitates to make that effort necessary to rid himself of crudities of speech that mark the most illiterate classes. Better Speech week, now in the process of weeking, offers him an opportunity to start. But that is all.

Better speech is a matter of 52 weeks, rather than one. It takes time, effort, and concentration to rid oneself of a cheap line of chatter and substitute a pleasing conversational style with true freshness and true "punch."

Of course, your "line" may "get over big" in Recreation center, but—

HEAR ELLY NEY

Elly Ney's visit to the college Monday night of next week marks a new feature of musical attainment that the Artists series makes possible for students, faculty, and townspeople to hear. Elly Ney is not only the greatest pianist ever brought to K. S. A. C., but she is without doubt the leading woman pianist of the world.

Her music varies from the smooth and pleasing Chopin waltz and nocturne to the brilliant and sonorous polonaise. She does not play for effect—no great artist does—but rather each interpretation which she renders is really a musical gift. Elly Ney holds the distinction of being the only woman pianist who has ever given the Sunday afternoon concert at the Metropolitan and she was the only pianist at the recent gathering of the world's greatest pianists, including Rachmanoff, Granger, Hofman, who met in memory of Liszt.

Elly Ney is rivalled by only one woman pianist—Samaroff—in the number of American concerts given. She has been in Kansas only once before, and it is to be hoped that a large number of persons will take advantage of this unusual opportunity.

DO WE NEED GOOD ENGLISH WEEK?

From conversation reported and contributed by one of the Rhetoric classes:

"How you supposed to do this?"

"Oh Lord, I don't know. This stuff sure gets on my nerves. I sure will be glad to get out of this blamed place."

"You and I, both."

"My gosh, kid, I hate to do this experiment, don't choo?"

"I'll say I do and I don't mean maybe."

"Do you know that boy over there?"

"No, I never saw him before but he's kinda cute isn't he?"

"He's about as cute as a bug's ear, could you imagine that?"

(An ill odor escaped into the air.)

"Isn't that the danest smell. Oh gee, thass awful."

"Say, gimme the assignment in Rhetoric for today."

"Sorry, but I ain't got it all myself."

"We'll let's have what you got; who's got it all?"

"That guy in the seat next to you—he has his lesson every day."

"Gee whiz, what luck! Thanks."

"Boy Howdy, what do you think of Chem by now—ain't it the berries?"

"I hear they are sure putting it to them this semester. I'm darn glad I passed but I just did get by the skin of my teeth."

"Tell me what you had in the quiz."

"Oh, Boy, its hot stuff, but I got a hunch that I slipped by."

"Well, I'm goin' to rake over a few pages of this mess."

"Well, I'm danglin on. See you later."

"Say Bud, what do ya think of my shirt?"

"Oh Boy, isn't she a hot one."

And so on, ad infinitum.

THE STORY OF MARCELINE LA MONTE

WHAT EVERY GIRL WANTS

(Not copyrighted yet by the Macfadden Publications.)

The story of Marceline La Monte, her meeting with Garth Bennington, scion of a rich and prominent New York family, and how this meeting marked a turning point in her life, is one of the most thrilling tales ever written. A true story of drab hopelessness, culminating in glorious triumph, it reads like fiction, but it is indeed stranger than fiction.

Beautiful Marceline La Monte, lived in a small town in Alabama, surrounded by an atmosphere of love and refinement. The La Montes were wealthy—it is true—but never arrogant. They believed in the aristocracy of brains. Mr. La Monte, a staunch Republican, for many years United States senator, was admired and respected by every citizen in town, excepting perhaps, the fiery old editor of the only newspaper, the Daily Democrat. But all this is not germane to our story.

The beautiful Marceline, who had everything, it seemed, that heart could wish, was not happy. There was in her life an aching void—and money could not stop the ache nor fill the void. The one thing she wanted was denied her.

It seemed to Marceline that Fate was against her, and in moments of pensive brooding, when the black butterflies of despair caught their somber wings in the shimmering gold of her hair, the proud head drooped. Why, oh, why—must it always be some one else?

Of course there was James—faithful old James—the strong, silent man who had always adored Marceline. To him she was personification of all that was lovely—pure and sweet—a dear little white souled angel. But he knew, in his heart, that he could never be anything to her but a privileged friend.

She told him one day, in a voice whose faltering tones reminded him of muffled silver bells, she confessed. "James, I cannot stay here longer, and look in vain for my heart's desire—to see my friends, one by one—oh, why must it always be my friends? I know you think I am silly—a silly little girl—but I—I am going away. Perhaps, in the city, I will find—"

The next day she was gone. James settled down into the old routine, but he watched the city papers. He knew Marceline—he knew that this frail beautiful girl would either get what she wanted, or—he shuddered, and watched the papers.

It was six months before Garth Bennington came into her life. Rich, reckless, carefree Garth, used to high life with all its pitfalls, he had come to the city to work at his favorite occupation—to make good. He was infatuated by her beauty, he features—the beautiful contour of her head. In this southern city, he had found what he had sought from New York to San Francisco, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf.

With hands that trembled, James unfolded the faintly fragrant, lavender and pink tinted envelope, and slowly read the letter that fluttered out.

"Dear James," he read, "I am happy at last. Look on page 7. Tell Dad to meet me at the station today. —Marceline."

James opened the door, and climbed rheumatically over the porch railing to fish the morning paper out of the lilac bush. He did wish the newsboy could learn to throw straight. In the society section was a quarter page likeness of the beautiful Marceline—photo by Bennington—and a detailed description of the charming young guest who was visiting friends in the capital city.

He must show it to his wife, Mandy was always interested in the affairs of the "missus's chilun."

The ivy won't save any of us

THE ivy of tradition is a slender support. A man or a team or a college that clings to it, harking back to the glories of yesterday, is likely to be outstripped by some young but sturdy rival.

That is a sermon we have taken home to ourselves.

The Western Electric Company is proud of its fifty-four years of history. But it is a great deal more concerned with the next fifty-four—and that is why we have been talking to the college men of America month after month now for four years.

The future of this business depends not so much on the physical equipment we have built up as on the mental equipment which men of your generation are building—on your habits of study and conduct, on your right choice of a profession and your proficiency in it. So we have made suggestions for your guidance, with the conviction that they can help you—and us.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT NAMES
H. L. McCORD AS HONOR GRAD

McCord Has Average of 96.8 Per Cent

H. L. McCord has been named as the honor graduate of the military department for the year, according to a statement by Major C. A. Chapman. The basis for this citation is the student's standing both in scholastic work and in the military classes. McCord has made an average of 96.8 per cent on the basis of 100 in the advanced military course.

"This record will probably entitle McCord to an appointment as second lieutenant in the regular army without any examination except the physical test, from which there is no exemption," Major Chapman stated.

STADIUM BOARD LETS CONTRACT

14,000 SEATS TO BE AVAILABLE BY FALL

Contractor to Forfeit $1 for Each Seat Not Completed Before K. U. Game

The stadium board at its session Saturday awarded to Walter B. Stingley the contract for the east wing of the K. S. A. C. memorial stadium. The entire wing is to be finished before October 18, the date of the K. U. football game. About 7,000 additional seats will be ready for the big football games on the home gridiron.

East Wing Like West

The base price for the new structure is $50,000. The contractor's base compensation, which includes pay for his own time and use of his tools and machinery in addition to his profits, is to be $5,000. In case the cost of construction runs above $50,000 the contractor's compensation is to be correspondingly less. In case the base cost falls below $50,000, the contractor and the stadium fund are to share the saving. In case the full seating capacity is not ready by October 18 the contractor is penalized $1 for each seat not available.

The east wing is to be an exact counterpart of the west wing now standing, including the north wall and the two towers. It is expected that construction will start as soon as the building season opens. Contracts have already been let for the cement, lime and lumber needed and arrangements are under way for buying the necessary steel at the mills.

Little Excavation Necessary

Very little excavating will be necessary for this project, but extra heavy foundations will need to be put in as much of the ground where the east wing is to stand is filled in land. The work on the running track is now practically complete. All the excavating is done, the curbing is finished and most of the cinders are in place.

The big problem before the stadium board is that of funds. It is hoped by those in charge that subscribers will make payments promptly when due, or before if possible, so that the work may go forward steadily.

LIFE SAVING DEMONSTRATION HELD IN MEN'S POOL FRIDAY

Captain Law, Red Cross Instructor, Officiates

Captain J. S. Law, life saving instructor for the Southwestern division of the Red Cross, assisted the American Life Saving corps of K. S. A. C. in giving a demonstration in the men's pool at Nichols gymnasium Friday afternoon. Over 200 spectators attended the demonstration.

Captain Law is here for the purpose of organizing a men's life saving corps and reviewing the work done by members of the women's corps which was organized two years ago.

While he was here, Captain Law examined 414 students, and selected 100 who will receive life saving instruction. They will be supervised by B. E. Colburn and L. C. Miller of the college swimming team who have qualified as life savers under the Red Cross standards.

Game Warden Here

J. B. Doze, state fish and game warden, spoke on fish and game conservation and described the state fish hatchery at Pratt at a recent zoology and entomology seminar. During his visit arrangements were made for more cooperative effort between the state fish and game department and the zoology department of the college.

MATTHEWS TO GIVE LECTURE ON WORK OF CABELL TUESDAY

Leads Next Discussion on Contemporary Writers

The next lecture in the series of discussions on contemporary writers will be given Tuesday at 4 o'clock in the home economics rest room when Prof. C. W. Matthews will discuss the life and works of James Branch Cabell.

Cabell has been prominent as an American novelist since the appearance of his first novel, "The Eagle's Shadow," in 1904, but has shown a great improvement in his work since that time. He is one of the few American novelists who has written on his philosophy as a novelist. The statement of this philosophy is found in a book of essays entitled "Beyond Life."

Vespers Thursday afternoon consisted of discussions led by Marie Correll, Laureda Thompson, Alice Marston, and Evelyn Colburn, all of whom were delegates to the Indianapolis convention in December. The subject was the Y. W. C. A., its function, value to the college girl, and future work.

Each girl was given a colored triangle upon entering, and after the opening exercises, the entire assembly was divided into four groups according to these colors. Each group then adjourned to a different room where the discussions were held. More meetings of this sort have been planned for a later date.

AGGIES LOSE AMES MATCH

Iowa State Wins Five of Seven Fistic Bouts

By winning five out of seven bouts, Iowa State college defeated the Aggie boxing team Saturday in a series of matches held at that school. Rose and Captain Hoelzel, of the Aggies, won in the 135 and 145 pound classes. This was the first intercollegiate competition for the K. S. A. C. team while it was the second time for Ames.

Three two-minute periods were boxed. A referee handled the bout while three judges gave the decisions. The points on which the decisions were based were defense 7, offense 7, generalship 4, aggressiveness 2.

The summary is as follows: 115 pound class, A. H. Bachelor lost to Cilley by technical knockout; 125 pound class, P. A. Shepherd lost to Captain Rouser (Ames) in one extra round; 135 pound class, F. T. Rose won from Dunbar in one extra round; 145 pound class, Captain C. F. Hoelzel won from Anzulovein, 158 pound class, A. Carmean, (K. S. A. C.) lost to Sherwood; 175 pound class, P. Shopflin (K. S. A. C.) lost to Peacock by technical knockout; heavyweight class, Z. Pearson, (K. S. A. C.) lost to Clappitt by technical knockout.

Williams
Shaving
Cream

Men buy Williams expecting to find their main satisfaction in the Hinge-Cap. But when they first use the cream they get an equally pleasant surprise. The heavier lather, the greater thoroughness with which it softens the beard, make a hit at once. Then, Williams lather lubricates the skin so that the razor fairly "glides" the hairs off. And last, there's that delightful after-care of the skin. Truly, you'll find that with the Hinge-Cap Williams is "miles ahead." It's a pure cream without coloring matter of any kind.

$250 in prizes

For the best sentence of ten words or less on the value of the Williams Hinge-Cap, we offer the following prizes: 1st prize $100; 2nd prize $50; two 3rd prizes, $25 each; two 4th prizes, $10 each; six 5th prizes, $5 each. Any undergraduate or graduate student is eligible. If two or more persons submit identical slogans deemed worthy of prizes, the full amount of the prize will be awarded to each. Contest closes at midnight March 14, 1924. Winners will be announced as soon thereafter as possible. Submit any number of slogans but write on one side of paper only, putting name, address, college and class at top of each sheet. Address letters to Contest Editor, The J. B. ORCHESTRA WINS WITH SCHUBERT

UNFINISHED SYMPHONY MOST POPULAR ON PROGRAM

Boyd Ringo's Interpretation of Mendelssohn's Concerto Also Draws Deserved Applause

By C. W. Matthews

Ten years ago to refer to an agricultural college symphony orchestra would have been a contradiction in terms. Somehow, one would not have been quite able to associate an agricultural college and a symphony orchestra in the same mental picture. They did not seem to belong together. Unfortunately, that idea still prevails in many of the agricultural and mechanical colleges of the country.

Fortunately, at K. S. A. C. we have come to recognize that musical appreciation is a necessary part of the life of every college bred man. The college orchestra and the college band take their place beside the stock judging and football teams as a necessary part of the institution. Our orchestra has been with us so long that, somehow, we seem to take it for granted.

No small amount of labor has gone to the making of our symphony orchestra one of the institutions of our college life. Orchestras are not thrown together in an afternoon, and a symphony orchestra is something more than two or three dozen instruments thrown together, all playing the same tune. Orchestral scores presupposed skilled musicians and an intelligent conductor; and if a symphony concert cannot be well played, it is much better that it should not be attempted at all. That accounts, no doubt, for the small number of real orchestras in our technical colleges.

Any success which our orchestra may have achieved is due primarily to the sound musical intelligence and thorough-going musicianship of Harold P. Wheeler, conductor. Mr. Wheeler has ever been a musical aristocrat. He makes no cheap compromises with popular music. He is highly sensitive to the poetry of music, and yet never sentimental. His manner before the orchestra reminds one of Emil Oberholfer, that master of conducting who for years directed the Minneapolis symphony. And this is no idle flattery. Two years ago when Hans Hess, cellist, appeared in concert in Manhattan, he heard our college orchestra. He mentioned then that had he known our orchestra was of such high caliber he would have been glad to play the "Kai Nedri" as a concerto with it. This year when Hans Hess signed the contract to come to Manhattan in a program of chamber music, he requested that he be allowed to play a concerto with our orchestra—a high but certainly a well deserved compliment from a musician of national importance.

One cannot say which was the finest number on our orchestra program; for who can choose between the enchanting melodies of Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony" and the lilting waltz movement of Strauss' "Die Fledermaus," especially when both were exquisitely played? The orchestra was least happy, I think, in "Waltzer's Prize Song" from the "Mastersingers." It was as near perfect as one had a right to expect in the "Andante con moto" movement of the "Unfinished Symphony." The gratifying thing about the program was that the orchestra took its crescendos and diminuendos without any noticeable breaks in the quality of tone. At times the orchestra was toned down to harmonies of finest gossamer with never a waver on the part of a single instrument. Any fool can cover up a multitude of harmonic crimes by a blare of brasses; it takes a real musician to conduct an orchestra through a series of complex symphonies—all of them played pianissimo.

The Mendelssohn "Concerto in G. Minor" for orchestra and piano, was the feature of the program, and Boyd Ringo, pianist, deserved the generous applause which his audience gave him. Heretofore in faculty recitals, Mr. Ringo has usually selected powerful, massive numbers for the features on his programs, so one looked forward with interest to see what he would do with Mendelssohn. He did exactly what one might expect a scholarly musician to do; that is, scoring any erratic attempt to be original and modern, he gave us a sensible interpretation of the traditional Mendelssohn, the Mendelssohn of sparkling and melodic moods; and proved in the andante movement, especially, I think, that Mendelssohn, when intelligently played, does not stand in need of any modern embellishments. This concerto together with what we have seen Mr. Ringo do before confirms the rather general belief that Mr. Ringo is a versatile pianist of undoubted promise.

Juniors Nominate Officers

The following officers were nominated at the meeting of the junior class held in C 27, Monday afternoon: president, V. E. Bates; vice president, Laureda Thompson; secretary, Virginia Reeder; treasurer, H. P. Quinn.

The voting will take place Thursday, at the Royal Purple Window.

EUROPEAN PIANIST TO CLOSE ARTISTS SERIES

Elly Ney, World Famous Musician, Appears Monday in Last Major Recital Before Spring Festival

The closing number of the Artists series will be presented in the college auditorium Monday evening by Elly Ney, who comes hailed as the leading woman pianist in the world. The recital marks the beginning of an intermission in major musical presentations which will be broken in May by the Spring Festival.

The coming of Mme. Ney is of the same significance to lovers of piano music that the appearance of Albert Spalding was to those who dote on classic violin renditions. She is supreme in her class. Her success in the United States has probably been greater than that of any other pianist in history.

Seats for the Monday night program are selling in the box office in the college auditorium. The prices are $1.00 and $1.50.

COLLEGE OF AIR COURSES TO BE CONTINUED INDEFINITELY

Enrollment Approximates Number Doing Resident Work

"If enrollment in the 'College of Air' courses continues, we will soon have as many students on the United States campus as we have on the Manhattan campus," said Sam Pickard, manager of the radio program. The courses by radio will be continued as long as sufficient interest is shown.

Letters are being received daily from points as far north as Ontario, and as far south as Mississippi and Texas, and they are all full of enthusiasm over the courses. A special program was broadcasted Saturday night by Roark's orchestra.

VOCATIONAL HOME ECONOMICS TEACHERS HOLD CONFERENCE

Professor Holman Reads Bulletin on Applied Art

The teachers of vocational home economics, commonly called Smith-Hughes teachers, within a radius of 80 miles of Manhattan met at the college on February 16, for an all-day conference on home making problems with Maude Williamson, state supervisor of vocational home economics.

The morning session was devoted to consideration of related arts and Prof. Araminta Holman discussed her new bulletin, "Applied Art in Home Furnishing and Decorating," which is intended for use as a high school text. Mrs. Lucille Osborn Rust of Frankfort, had an exhibit of work by her class in applied design. Hazel Richards of St. George, demonstrated what can be done on minimum cost to the student. The afternoon was devoted to a discussion of the teaching of sciences related to home making, and a course of study was outlined for use in all high schools of the state offering vocational home economics.

According to Miss Williamson, the State Vocational Home Economics conference will be held at K. S. A. C. June 6 and 7.

Forum Quotes Nabours

Dr. Robert K. Nabours, head of the zoology department, is quoted in a symposium in the February issue of the Forum entitled "The Outlawry of War." The quotation reads, "An interesting if perhaps irrelevant angle is suggested in a communication from Dr. Robert K. Nabours of the Kansas State Agricultural college, whose attitude is extraordinarily detached. 'Dr. David Starr Jordan, and many others,' he writes 'are attempting to show the bad biological effects of war on the human race. They are far from having proved their case. Professor Gini of Italy, and others, appear to some of us to have marshalled far better arguments in favor of the good biological effects on the human race of war.'"

King Addresses Chemists

Dr. H. H. King will lecture before a meeting of the American Chemistry society in Kansas City, Saturday, on the subject, "Reversibility of Colloids."

Dusky Dancers Appear Tonight

Do you want to see a good crap game, and a troupe of dusky dancers? Have you ever heard a real syncopating jazz minstrel band?

These are a few of the attractions, offered by the Chi Omega minstrel, to be held Thursday, February 21, at 8:15 at the college auditorium. The cast is composed of 20 entertaining, alluring characters. The program consists of negro jokes, songs, dances, and music. The proceeds will go into a fund from which the sorority each year offers a cash prize to the student making the best grade in sociology.

Hold Glassware Exhibit

Eight specimens of modern American glassware are now on exhibit in the art room on the second floor of the cafeteria building. The pieces are from the Steubens and the Sinclair factories. "The Steubens candlestick and puff box of rose and blue are especially interesting when it is known that this color combination will never be made again," Miss Holman stated in describing the exhibit. "The producers found that each piece cost them almost four times what they would sell for." The Quezel vase will probably become quite rare since such vases are no longer being manufactured. All the pieces show exquisite color and workmanship.

PRESENT SECOND ORPHEUM

Varied Program to Become Annual Event

Vaudeville, comedy, music, dancing, and even a moving picture film will be included in the Aggie Orpheum which will be presented next Friday evening, February 29. Some excellent stunts are materializing, in spite of a shortage of comedians, according to Jim Lansing who, has charge of the program.

The musical part of the program will be given by the Dick Fox seven piece orchestra, the college orchestra, and the college quartet, composed of Albert Goering, Floyd Strong, Ralph Blackledge, and Harry Wilson.

Professor Holcombe and Shorty Whan will each present an original stunt, the names of which have not as yet been announced. An act "A Rag Time Meal," will be given by Helen King, Alice Carney, Jean Rankin, and Donald Diefendorf. A dance number will be presented by one of Mrs. G. K. Tetrick's dancing classes, and two other numbers presented by downtown persons.

A prize of $25 is to be awarded for the best and most original stunt presented by college students and a $15 prize for the best one presented by townspeople. The audience itself is to determine the winners of the awards by a vote at the close of the entertainment. The act placing first last year was a dance number presented by Myrtle Broberg.

This is the second annual Aggie Orpheum to be presented and the Y. M. C. A. which is sponsoring the activity is endeavoring to firmly establish its place on the social calendar of the school year. Its aim is to present a popular form of entertainment at a reasonable price.

Wise Club Elects Officers

The Wise Club held its first meeting at the Episcopal rectory, Sunday, February 17 from 5 to 7. The following officers were elected: William Rankin, president; Muriel Shaver, vice president; and Henry Alard, secretary-treasurer. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting of the club will be Sunday, February 24, from 5 to 7, at the home of Mrs. N. W. Kimball, 800 Houston. All students interested are invited to attend.

BABE RUTHS OUT FOR EARLY WORK

20 AGGIE PILL TOSSERS REPORT FOR SPRING PRACTICE

Eight Letter Men Back in School—Conroy, Karns, and Cunningham Have Mound Positions

Already, 20 baseball tossers have reported for early spring practice. Until basketball season is over or until the weather gets warm enough to work outside without danger of sore arms, candidates will work in the gymnasium, lightly throwing the ball and playing handball.

Eight Letter Men Back

There are eight letter men back in school this semester. Of this number, three are pitchers, B. J. Conroy, Henry Karns, and Ed Cunningham. This means that at no time will a pitcher have to work two games in as many days and if necessary one of the pitchers may be shifted to another position.

Two outfielders, Captain Glenn Aikens and Nelson S. Barth, and three infielders, Lyle Ernst, M. B. Swartz and Loraine Staley, are the other letter men. All of these men were on the team last year.

Corsaut Calls for Players

Coach Corsaut is anxious that any men who have played baseball previous to entering college, come out and try for the team. There is room for any man who can show that he has good material in him.

Unlike the basketball squad, the baseball squad will not have to be cut down and indications are that a squad of from 35 to 50 will be kept throughout the playing season. This means that many men who would like to learn more about the national pastime will have the opportunity to receive professional instruction.

Architects Hold Exhibits

There will be on exhibition, in the galleries of the department of architecture, third floor of the engineering building, a representative collection of the works of Dahlgreen, one of America's foremost landscape etchers. This exhibition will be shown February 18-23 from 8 to 5.

EXPLAINS MAGICAL AGENCIES

Dr. Madison Bentley Shows Relation to Science

The relation between science and magic was outlined by Dr. Madison Bentley, professor of psychology at Illinois university, in an address at student assembly Friday, February 15. "There is a widespread belief in magical influences and agencies," said Doctor Bentley. "Since earliest times man has felt the need of explanation of the magical influences about him."

Using as illustration the two magical days celebrated in February, Groundhog's day and St. Valentine's day, Doctor Bentley indicated the prevalence of the popular faith in things magical.

The conquest of the sciences over magic has been slow and labored, according to Doctor Bentley. He illustrated how the science of psychology has proved that the popular conception of the human mind and its powers, based on the attitude of the magician, is entirely wrong.

HOME ECONOMICS TEACHERS TO HOLD DISTRICT MEETING

Delegates From 100 Schools Are Expected

A district meeting of home economics teachers will be held at K. S. A. C. on Saturday, February 23, to consider membership in the state and national home economics associations. Representatives from 100 schools and colleges are expected to come to Manhattan for the conference.

Prof. Louise P. Glanton will preside at the afternoon program, at which Elizabeth Sprague of the University of Kansas, and Margaret Fedde of the University of Nebraska, will speak. Dr. Margaret M. Justin and other members of the division of home economics of K. S. A. C. will also appear on the program.

To Attend Dean's Conference

Dean Mary P. Van Zile will attend the annual conference of the National Association of Deans of Women held at the Blackstone hotel, Chicago, February 25-29.

Speaks to Topeka Y. W.

Dean Mary P. Van Zile will speak at a meeting of the Topeka Y. W. C. A. Thursday evening, on the subject "The Place of Social Conventions in the Life of the Girl of Today."

Brown Bull Caters to Dyspeptics and Chronic Joy Killers

The time for the Brown Bull's first 1924 exhibition is rapidly drawing near. February 28 is the date set for his appearance. The editors have been working long and patiently, getting him in good condition for the Bull show. He has been fed the choicest diet of sparkling wit, humorous features and brilliant cartoons. He is carefully groomed every day so his coat will be no detriment to him. His colors this time are orange and brown, most appropriate for a Brown Bull. His cover has just returned from the printer, and he is quite delighted with it.

Twenty-five cents admits the public to a view of the Leap Year Brown Bull.

AGGIES WILL COMPETE IN ILLINOIS RELAY CARNIVAL

Past Meets Show Bachman's Men Have Good Reputation to Uphold This Year

Coach Bachman has entered five men in the Illinois Relay carnival which is to be held at the University of Illinois, Urbana, March 1.

It is yet undecided as to who will make the trip but it is practically certain that Captain L. E. Erwin and R. E. Kimport will run the 70 yard dash and the 1,500 yard race, respectively. A medley relay team has been entered but the lack of a good half miler may cause the Aggies not to be represented. The relay consists of the 220 yard dash, 440 yard dash, 880 yard run and the one mile run.

Aggie entries in this carnival have always done well. Last year Ivan Riley won first place in the 70 yard low hurdles against one of the strongest fields of hurdlers ever assembled at the Illinois carnival.

Captain Erwin who won the 50 yard dash at the K. C. A. C. recently will have strong competition from Iowa, Minnesota, and Nebraska university sprinters. In the 1,500 yard run Kimport will meet the best distance runners of the valley and Big Ten conferences.

Lyle Munn has been entered in the shot put.

Eureka Club Plays Abilene High

The Eureka club basketball team defeated the Abilene high school team Tuesday evening in a hard fought game at the Abilene high school gymnasium. The final score was 21 to 19. Individual stars in the game were Worley for Abilene, and Youngman and Byers for Eureka.

KAW FARMERS WELCOME THIRD POTATO TRAIN

Lawrence Chamber of Commerce Banquet Spud Specialists

Potato growers over the entire valley have cooperated in making the third potato train, run by the college in cooperation with the Union Pacific railroad, a successful venture. Before the run started, numerous letters were received by the college specialists requesting that the trip be made.

The Lawrence chamber of commerce has initiated a movement showing its appreciation of the work done. A banquet will be held on the evening the train arrives in Lawrence. Each member of the chamber of commerce has personally invited a potato grower.

One of the cars is fitted up with exhibits, and a second is the Pullman and diner for the speakers. This car is equipped with a radio.

Ethel Martin Dead

Ethel Martin, junior in home economics, died on Thursday, February 14, at the Methodist hospital, Hutchinson, Kan.

Miss Martin withdrew from school January 7, suffering from an acute thyroid disturbance of only a few weeks duration. An operation was performed on February 12, and she died at 2:45 February 14. The funeral was held at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Martin, in Turon last Saturday. Rose Mary Rallsback and Eleanor Nelson, classmates of Miss Martin, went to Turon to attend the funeral.

Miss Martin was a member of the Y. W. C. A. and the Girls' Loyalty league.

Wiedorn Lays Out Grounds

Prof. W. S. Wiedorn, of the horticulture department, has been visiting various parts of the state, and doing landscape work. He has recently laid out the grounds for the Roxbury high school, the Wellington park, and the Baptist Theological seminary at McPherson.

SHIFTED LINEUP TO FACE PIKERS

LONG TO TAKE WANN'S PLACE AT FORWARD

Kock Still Unable to Play—Washington Has Lost Last Five Games in Row

A shifted Aggie lineup will be used against the Washington university basketball team, which comes to Nichols gym tomorrow night to try conclusions with the Wildcats. Charles "Chig" Long, sub forward, will get his first chance as a regular, playing in the place of Gil Wann.

Wann's endurance has been reduced during the last two games because of a severe cold.

Kock Still Out of Game

Fritz Koch still is suffering with an injury to his left arm, and may not get into the lineup again until week after next. Bunker, Tehow, Webber, and Doolen will complete the lineup.

Washington will give the Aggies a hard battle, although the game they play may depend in part on the treatment received at the hands of Nebraska tonight. The Pikers have lost five straight games to date, but maintained a perfect record prior to their disastrous road trip of two weeks ago. The St. Louis team seems to be an "off again" "on again" aggregation, defeating Missouri at Columbia early in the season only to be decisively whipped by the Tiger in St. Louis last week.

K. U. Has Two Game Lead

K. U. seems almost "in" as valley champions, as the defeat of Oklahoma by Missouri gave the Jayhawk a two game lead over the Sooner.

Missouri is finishing the season in phenomenal shape, with their always potentially strong team at last functioning together. A K. U. loss to Missouri at Columbia is not at all improbable, but Washington in its present stride is scarcely unable to turn back K. U. and throw the race into a tie between Kansas and Oklahoma, much as the rest of the valley would like to see the champions dethroned for a while.

Bunker Scores 67 Points

Bunker and Tehow are running each other a close race in Valley scoring. Tehow having accounted for 64 points at the end of the Grinnell game, while Bunker has a slight edge with 67 points. McBride and Wallace of Oklahoma still have a monopoly on the two top runs in scoring, and seem to be destined to remain there until the season closes.

Farrell Speaks at Abilene

Dean F. D. Farrell went to Abilene Monday, to address the members of the chamber of commerce at the regular noon luncheon.

Fritz Is Valley Orator

Wins First Place in Tryouts Wednesday

Tryouts for the Missouri valley oratorical contest were held Wednesday afternoon from 4 to 5 in Recreation center. Those who tried out were Clara Shaw, Bill Kerr, George Corbet, Ralph Sherman, Martin Fritz, W. J. Daly, and Helen Correll. Martin Fritz won first place and will be sent to St. Louis, March 21 where he will give his oration at the contest.

The judges were C. V. Williams, Dr. J. E. Kammeyer, Dr. H. T. Hill, and H. A. Shinn. Other tryouts will be held later for other oratorical contests. The intersociety oratorical tryouts will be held March 8.

A. A. U. W. TO HOLD STATE CONVENTION EARLY IN APRIL

Denishawn Entertainment Nets $680 to Scholarship Fund

Plans for the entertainment of delegates to the state convention of the American Association of University Women which will be held here early in April, were made at a meeting of the local branch in the college cafeteria, Monday evening.

The following delegates were elected to attend the convention: Dean Margaret M. Justin, Prof. Emma Hyde, Mrs. H. W. Brubaker, Mrs. J. V. Cortelyou, Mrs. C. O. Swanson, Prof. Martha Pittman, Prof. Ada Rice, and Maude Arnett.

The final report of the ways and means committee on the Denishawn dancers' entertainment was presented and showed net proceeds of $680. It was voted to place $300 of this amount in the scholarship fund of the local branch, to be used to assist junior and senior girl students of the college.

IN MEMORIAM

Let's abolish Roughneck day.
It is already far down the path to extinction. Organization took a death hold on the occasion three years ago, and, already this spring, plans for further strangulation have been announced. It is now only a matter of brief time until the Old Guard adds the pressure of its scaly talons to the choking process and the Roughneck day that was will be only a beautiful, beautiful, myth.

Roughneck day is interesting and useful only inasmuch as it typifies freedom unlimited and allows the flinging aside of repressions. Otherwise it becomes a nuisance.

Let's hold the obsequies now and forstall future unpleasantness.

K. U. SCORES

"Recognition of the track and field equipment at Kansas university by the award of an Olympic trial meet must be gratifying to the men and women responsible for the stadium. Each year the purpose of the stadium is better defined. It won't be a long while until the great project is in use every clement day. Football, track, baseball, commencement, conventions, celebrations, pageants; the call of the outdoors will be heard by all of them. The latest honor will bring hundreds of athletes from 10 states."—Leslie Edmonds in the Topeka Daily Capital.

K. U. assuredly deserves congratulations. Our sister institution is fortunate, not only because she has attained such recognition, but also because she has the kind of students and alumni who take pride in providing their alma mater with facilities necessary for high standing among modern institutions.

I never use the vulgar words.
Nor write them in a letter:
Slang is anathema to me.
And now my speech is better.

—Dan Tay.

"Jessie," we remarked Tuesday morning to our room mate, "Jessie, this is Better Speech week. Everybody that is anybody is going in for better speech. Slang is anathema, and I want that I and you should do our bit towards correcting grammatical errors. Not just this week, but all the time. Would you have a 'Wash Your Face' week just once a year? Or a 'Shine Your Shoes' week? You would not! The English language is the most elegant in the world—you've no idea how many words there is in it. Now, just for instance—"

"There goes the first bell. You gotta step lively if— My carp! Y'aint even gotcher shoes on. See yuh later!"

We met John in Aggieville.

"John," we said, "do you know that slang is anathema this week? All the better people in the world are going in for better speech. Not just this week either. Would you have a 'Shave Your Face' week? Or a 'Black Your Boots' week? I should say not! They say the English language has more elegant words in it, more—more—you know what I mean—than any other language in the world. Don't you think I and you can do our bit towards—towards furthering—"

"Yeah, you'n me both. S'pose you're gonna hear Elly Ney Monday. They say she's the hot stuff. Can't get much kick outa this classical junk myself, but guess that's cause I ain't quite all there. Well, s'long."

Straight to Recreation center we wended our way. There must be some one who we could help. Ah, there was Alice. Her language is sometimes quite shocking.

"Alice," we said "do you know slang is anathema this week?"

"Who says so?"

"Why, er—Sigma Delta Chi, and the Collegian, and the Chronicle."

"Ah, rats. I don't give a (censored) what the (censored) Collegian says about any (censored) thing on the (censored) Hill. Get me?"

Like a broken thing, we wended our way out of Recreation center to the postoffice, where Mildred was waiting for some one, with a troubled expression of countenance.

"Whom was you looking for?" we asked politely.

"That darn Wreck of the Hesperus who promised to part here and drag me along to chapel. It does seem like even a poor benighted piece of Roquefort like Oliver could tie a twine around his finger once a week—"

Ah! The opening we had been speaking!

"Mildred," we said, "do you know that slang is anathema this week? And not this week only, either! I guess one wouldn't have a 'Tie Your Shoestrings' week, or a 'Carry Your Handkerchief' week. And with so many elegant words in the English language, it does seem as though one could use enough synonyms to make their speech interesting. They say language is only slang already made, and if I and you and a few more smart people would, just for one week—"

"Yeah, you said a mouthful. There's the old gable roof now. Gotta toddle on."

With the courage of a Daniel in the Lion's Den we allowed ourselves to be pushed out by the crowd, and went to the Collegian office. There, at least, were people whom the English language was at least familiar to.

"Posy," we said, "as editor-in-chief of the college paper, and president of Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalistic fraternity, don't you think one should do all in their power to use only the most elegant, the best speech, he can every day? Of course not just this week. One wouldn't have a 'Sign Your Letters' week, or a 'Answer the Doorbell' week. Well, slang is anathema this—"

"What in the name of the seven sacred snapdragons is 'anathema'?"

"Why, I don't—Didn't you use that word in your editorial?"

"Yeah, and I eat hash, too. Gotta colyum wrote yet?"

Disappointed and disillusioned, we dropped a silent tear on the dusty buckram back of old Webster.
Sic semper reformatibus.

Conducts Eastern Star Initiation
Phi Omega Pi put on the initiatory part of the work of the Eastern Star chapter Tuesday evening, members of the sorority taking the places of the regular officers for the work. The candidates initiated were Mrs. Elsie Gertrude Callahan, and Miss Laurel Jarrett; the latter is a pledge of Phi Omega Pi. The acting officers and the offices they filled were worthy matron, Georgia May Daniels; associate matron, Helen Stamley; secretary, Frances Hooper; treasurer, Mary Bold; conductress, Ruby Seward; assistant conductress, Letha Olson; Ada, Dorothy Sanders; Ruth, Emma Jehlik; Esther, Thelma McBride; Martha, Mildred Thuro; Electa, Helen Van Gilder; chaplain, Thelma Sharp; marshal, Daby Barnett; warden, Edith Haines; organist, Jessie Bogue; soloist, Marjorie O'Neil Peters. Mr. Dwight C. Cook, the regular worthy patron, retained his office. Following the meeting refreshments were served, and a program was given.

Quill Club Meets

Osceola Burr had charge of the program at the regular meeting of Quill club, Monday evening. Miss Burr spoke on "The Writing and Production of Pageants," giving a short history of pageantry, and a discussion of the work of contemporary pageant writers.

ARE YOU GUILTY?

The list of common student errors in grammar compiled by members of the English department is reprinted here as being particularly significant during "Better Speech" week:

I should of gone to the main door.
Many of us was there early.
Everybody kept their place in line until their number was called.
I arrived late, which kept me waiting in line.
We saw there was no chance of us getting in.
Went to the gym early. Got in line and waited.
Neither of us were in the right room.

AGGIES BREAK EVEN IN FIRST RIFLE CONTEST

Marksmen Score 3,565 Out of 4,000
—South Dakota State College Takes First Place

By winning from K. U., 3,565 to 3,520, and from the University of Nevada, 3,565 to 3,060, and losing to South Dakota university, 3,565 to 3,634, and to South Dakota State college, 3,565 to 3,649, the K-S. A. C. rifle team broke even on the telegraphic rifle match held last week. South Dakota State college won first place with a score of 3,649 out of a possible 4,000. South Dakota university won second place with 3,634. K. S. A. C. placed third with a score of 3,565.

In the match being fired this week, A. W. Clark, is high point man so far with a score of 375 out of a possible 400. P. A. Shepherd is next with a score of 371. While W. S. Mayden, one of the high point men last week, is a close third with 269. According to Captain Waltz, the score should average 368 this week. This will very likely take the match for the Aggies although Iowa university and North Dakota State college, two of the opponents, have especially good riflemen. Besides these two schools the Aggies are competing with Syracuse university, Texas A. and M., and Fairmount college.

The team is a 10 man team the members being decided by the scores made the previous week.

DAWLEY ISSUES BULLETIN ON BUILDING FARM RADIO SETS

Lectures on Processes of Construction and Operation

There are three reasons why one should build his own radio receiving set, according to Prof. E. R. Dawley who spoke at farm machinery hall recently upon the subject "Building a Farm Radio Set." First, a set can be built more cheaply than it can be purchased already assembled; second, a simple set can be built to which can be added one or more stages of amplification; finally, the one who builds his own set usually knows much more about its operation and proper upkeep than if he bought it assembled.

The outfit exhibited and advised for use on the farm was of the single circuit regenerating receiving type. Such a set is particularly simple in construction and in operation, and the cost of construction is relatively low. All the parts necessary for building this set were shown to cost from about $28 to $38 depending somewhat upon the type of battery used.

A set of this kind gives satisfactory service for receiving messages from either coast without further amplification. Because of the difficulty of having a storage battery charged on the farm, the "B" type dry battery was advised except in places where one can readily recharge the storage battery. If the storage battery is used it is possible to eliminate many more of the unpleasant noises and floor vibrations that are so apparent when a dry "B" battery is used. Dry cells however, give satisfactory service and are quite long lived.

Professor Dawley has written a bulletin entitled "The Construction and Operation of a Radio Receiving Set." Copies of this bulletin were distributed among the audience, and these were used as an aid in making the explanations of diagrams and the methods used in construction.

DOCTOR HILL OUTLINES TWO AIMS OF COLLEGE EDUCATION

Technical Training Required for Success in Business World

Two reasons for attending college are to gain technical information and to receive cultural development, according to Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the department of public speaking, in an address before the student assembly, Tuesday, on "Two Phases of College Education."

Doctor Hill emphasized the importance of technical training to success in the business world. He called attention to the fact that college trained men are to be found in every line of business.

In discussing the other phase of college life, Doctor Hill said that no man can be a true success in business unless he has an interest in art, music, or other avocation.

Town Boys Form Calf Club

A meeting of boys interested in the raising of purebred cattle will be held at the stock pavilion on the college campus Saturday, February 23, at 2:30. The purpose of the meeting will be the definite formation of a calf club consisting of boys of the community between the ages of 10 and 20 who were interested in the project.

The club was partially organized at a meeting held at the chamber of commerce rooms recently. At that meeting, Prof. M. H. Coe, extension instructor of the college, gave an outline of the nature of the work expected of those joining the organization.

A trip through the college farms will be a feature of the meeting Saturday afternoon.

SAYS CHINESE ARE ALERT

Dr. C. K. Edmonds Speaks Before Student Forum

"The Chinese, especially the students, are more dynamic and alive than most people realize," said Dr. C. K. Edmonds of Canton Christian college, China, at the student forum meeting Tuesday evening. "The Chinese are alert, equal to and sometimes superior to the people of foreign countries."

"The student of China predominates in his country," said Doctor Edmonds. "For this reason, the way to build up China is through the students."

When asked about the attitude of the orientals to modern invention, Doctor Edmonds said that modern invention will have to overcome the same opposition in China that it has in this country.

The labor question, from the viewpoint of the capitalist, will be discussed at the forum next Tuesday evening, at 7 o'clock.

C. OF C. TO FETE JUDGING TEAMS

HONOR AT HOME ACCORDED STUDENT CONTESTANTS

Dinner Marks Close of Unusually Successful Season—Two Teams Win First Place

Honor at home will be accorded members of student judging teams of the Kansas State Agricultural college who have brought to Kansas unusual distinction in competition with representatives of state colleges and universities throughout North America when a dinner given as a token of esteem to the teams by the Manhattan chamber of commerce will celebrate the close of an unusually successful season Thursday night.

Manhattan business men give two banquets annually for students in local schools, honoring the high school and college football teams at the close of the football season and the judging teams at the close of the competitive season, late in the winter.

First Honors to Two Teams

Two of the five teams representing the college won first honors in their particular fields, while only one fell below fourth place during the entire season.

The stock judging team claimed the championship of North America by virtue of its victory in a field of 17 entries representing institutions in the United States and Canada at the International Livestock show, Chicago. The team which won at Chicago had previously led the field in the judging competition at the National Western Livestock show, Denver, early in the winter of 1923. This team won first place in the contest at the Kansas state fair, Hutchinson, and second place in the American Royal student judging competition, Kansas City.

Champions in Horticulture

Mid-western championship in judging horticultural products went to the Kansas team at the first biennial Central States Horticultural conference and exposition, Kansas City. The Kansas placed first over Missouri, Oklahoma, and Iowa, amassing a total of 2,851 1/2 points out of a possible 3,000.

Competing in a field of 29 teams, the dairy judging students won second place in the National Dairy congress competition, Syracuse, N. Y. R. L. Stover, Manhattan, a member of the Kansas team, won high individual honors, entitling him to a $400 scholarship. The Kansas team won third place in the Waterloo dairy congress competition at Waterloo, Iowa.

Other Team Ratings Fair

The poultry judging team and the grain judging team representing the college at the International exposition, Chicago, rated fair, placing seventh in a field of 18 in poultry and fourth in a field of seven in grain.

CORSAUT'S HOOP ARTISTS WILL WIND UP SEASON

Aggies Meet Missouri and Washington on Final Fling Away from Home

Five Kansas Aggie basketball players probably will have had their fill of the game for at least one week by the time Saturday night rolls around. Starting with last Saturday night, the Wildcat schedule includes four games in eight days, two of them on consecutive nights.

Much fun is expected to fly in Columbia tonight when the Aggies and Tigers meet. Missouri is said to be a changed team from the one which the Aggies nosed out 29 to 26 on the Nichols gym court a couple of weeks ago. Although defeated by Drake, Missouri took Oklahoma to a fall when the Sooners were fresh from a victory over Kansas and hopeful of a chance at the Valley title.

Tomorrow night will see Saturday night's exciting contest revived, with Washington as the host in St. Louis. Although the Aggies lost the first round 28 to 24, it is entirely possible that they may cop the encore. The Aggies will be playing their second game on the road, which usually finds the road team in the best form of the trip.

Over-enthusiastic Aggie fans were in a measure responsible for the loss of the Washington battle, as they caused an extra foul to be assessed by "riding" the umpire at a time when the psychological effect of the added penalty spelled victory instead of defeat. True, the Washington man failed to throw a basket, but the team was made to feel that the home

Jimmy Parker Believes One Line in Hand Is Worth Two in Dictionary

Here we have little Jim, rarely known as James Edward Parker of Paola, commonly known under the aliases of Jimmy and Jimsy. Although he is only slightly acquainted with the boys, any girl can tell you his phone number, the color of his eyes, and his particular brand of hair tonic.

—By Wolf's Studio.

Mr. Parker holds the unique position of being the only man on the hill who has not changed his line during his four years in college. He crowd was a drawback rather than an aid to fast playing.

Otherwise, the game was a thriller from a basketball standpoint. Washington had in Feago, and Minner, captain, about the speediest pair seen on the Nichols gym court in recent years. Feago caged six baskets and missed as many more on hair-breadth shots from the center of the court.

Webber and Doolan played a good game at guard, and the whole team showed a brand of basketball which deserved a better fate. Tebow was "off" and the lack of his customary three or four baskets turned the tide, although Bunker attempted to fill the gap with a quartet of counters, and even Art Doolan came through with a basket after a season of effort.

Wann and Widenbach alternated at left forward. Both played well. Wann especially showing a nice defensive game and fair consistency in nailing the tip off.

Saturday night Ames comes to Manhattan for the semi-windup of the season. Only one more team, Drake, remains on the Aggie schedule after Ames.

Four Valley conference teams, including Kansas and Oklahoma, the leaders, finish their schedule this week. Kansas is practically "in" as Valley champs for another season, as they have only Grinnell, Missouri, and Washington to play, and would have to lose two of the three games for Oklahoma to tie. Kansas has won 12 and lost 1, while Oklahoma has won a dozen and lost 3, having only Grinnell yet to play.

As an outside chance Missouri, always a dangerous opponent for Kansas, might spoil the Jayhawk playhouse by trimming K. U. in Columbia Friday night, and Washington also might call back memories of what its football team did to Missouri and repeat on Kansas, leaving Oklahoma and Kansas tied for honors.

The Aggies dropped to sixth place in the standings by virtue of their loss to Grinnell and Washington, while Drake traveling at a hot pace, stepped into the position left by the Aggies. Drake has two games yet to play with Nebraska, one with the Aggies, and one with Grinnell and Ames, finishing up the season with four games in five days. It is possible that the Aggie-Drake game here next week may decide the ultimate holder of the fifth rung of the ladder.

NATIONAL Y. W. SECRETARY IS VESPER SPEAKER THURSDAY

Miss Jaunita Saddle Will Address Several Student Groups

Miss Jaunita Saddle of New York, national Y. W. C. A. secretary, will be the vesper speaker at vespers Thursday afternoon. Her topic will be "Denials of Christ."

Miss Saddle has had considerable experience not only in New York, but also in colleges of the south. She is at present making a tour of the schools of the Rocky mountain district.

At 5 o'clock on Thursday Miss Saddle will confer with Y. W. committees and in the evening with the cabinet. On Friday she will meet other informal groups of students and faculty members.

still strings the girls with the same chatter he used when he was a freshman and Jim gets away with it. "A line at hand is worth two in the dictionary," is the motto used by James.

Probably Jimmy is best known to the boys through his Y. M. C. A. work. Last year he held the position of treasurer of that organization, and this year is not only president of the Y, but he is state treasurer as well. Jim is also a good noise maker and has been leading and helping to lead the cheering for the past four years. Anyone who has attended a pep meeting this season knows that James leads a mean yell.

During his spare moments Jimmy Parker is thinking up new campaigns to spring on the student body. He was the promoter for the Aggie calendar this year. "It makes a beautiful gift for the wife or sweetie. Bound in genuine Morocco pebble grained leather. Wonderful pictures of the silos and the vet clinic. Lasts a life time." Jim is thinking seriously of becoming a traveling salesman as soon as he gets his degree.

James Edward is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity, the Scabbard and Blade, Delta Phi Epsilon, and Tobacco. He also takes active work in the S. S. G. A. Jimmy finds time for athletics and was a member of the Sigma Nu's championship basketball squad. He also likes to chase the pill around over the diamond during odd hours in the balmy spring.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO BACK MUSIC FESTIVAL

Will Appoint Publicity Committee and Push Local Ticket Sale—Advertising Will Be Statewide

Plans for the 1924 Spring Music festival and guest week were officially launched at a meeting of the board of directors of the Manhattan chamber of commerce last week. Prof. Ira Pratt, head of the music department, outlined to the directors his plans and a general campaign was mapped out.

The chamber of commerce has undertaken the task of helping Professor Pratt underwrite the festival, thus freeing him from the burden of carrying both the business management and the production and staging of the entertainment. A committee on publicity for the festival will be appointed to act for the chamber of commerce, and it is possible that a local ticket selling campaign will be undertaken by that organization.

The festival is to be given statewide advertising as was done last year. The "Come to Manhattan" idea is to be stressed.

Insomnia of Possible Victims Impels Bull to Relent—Out Early

Who are the favorite profts included in the Brown Bull Hall of Fame? That is the question of the hour; it is causing faculty members to lose sleep, to grow thin and wan. Men, women, and children are waiting with bated breath to see whom the sacred Bull has chosen for the distinction of being nominated for the Hall of Fame absolutely eclipses the honor of being included in Who's Who, or elected to the French Academy.

"Who are they?" is the burning question. It is discussed from the pulpit, from the chapel platform, on the street, in class, in the canteen, at the beauty parlors, in the fraternity houses. Although the Bull has been showered with inquiries from over curious persons, he will answer none. Everyone is to have an equal chance at being the first to know.

But the Bull has heard the cries of those who cannot wait longer, and he has promised to appear a day earlier than was promised. The Leap Year number of the Brown Bull will be out Thursday, February 28. Govern yourselves accordingly, and stick an extra quarter in the old leather wallet.

PROFESSORS PRATT AND SMITH ON MUSIC TEACHERS' PROGRAM

Appear at Meeting of State Association at Emporia

Prof. Ira Pratt, and Miss Elsie Smith, both of the department of music, will appear on the program at the annual convention of the Kansas State Music Teachers' association, being held the first three days of this week at Emporia.

Miss Smith is to play before the association in the program Tuesday evening. Professor Pratt will lead a discussion on voice teaching, Tuesday morning, and will sing on the program Wednesday evening.

SECOND ORPHEUM IS STAGED FRIDAY

AUDIENCE TO JUDGE WINNERS OF TWO PRIZES

Program Includes Singing, Dancing, Tumbling, One Act Play, Jazz, and Moving Pictures

Dancing, singing, tumbling, jazz, comedies, and just plain vaudeville will be featured at the second annual Orpheum, which will be given Friday evening, February 29, in the college auditorium.

The Aggie Orpheum which is presented each year under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., is made up of a wide variety of stunts. Prizes of $25 to the student group putting on the best act, and $15 to the down town group starring in the Orpheum, are to be awarded at the end of the performances. The audience will act as judge.

Varied Program Offered

The following acts have been scheduled: number by the college orchestra, one act moving picture comedy, Razz and Jazz stunt by the colored boys' fraternity, one act comedy by the Purple Masque players, humorous singing act by the college male quartet, dancing and singing stunt by several girls of the Phi Omega Pi sorority, tumbling stunt under the direction of Prof. E. A. Knott, dancing by pupils of Mrs. T. L. Tetrick, dancing and singing combination by Marie Bolter and Winfield Walker, and an original comedy by Vorlin Whan.

All this for just 25 cents. Seats will not be reserved but the first to arrive will have the advantage.

To Speak to Anesthesiologists

Dr. J. S. Hughes of the chemistry department has received an invitation to speak at the meeting of the national association of Anesthesiologists in Chicago in June. Doctor Hughes will present a theory which he and Dr. H. H. King have worked out concerning the action of the elements used in narcotics.

ORATORS PREPARE FOR INTERSOCIETY CONTEST

Announce Subjects to Be Given March 8—Doctor Hill Coaches Speakers

The list of intersociety orators is now complete, and daily practices are being held under the direction of Dr. Howard T. Hill of the department of public speaking, in preparation for the annual oratorical contest on March 8.

The subjects of the orations are "By-Products of Progress," Helen Correll, Ionia; "The Undertow," Leonora Doll, Franklin; "A Choice," George Corbet, Webster; "The New Commandment," Orpha Russell, Eurodelphian; "The Measure of Success," Grace Currin, Browning; "War Abolished," Martin Fritz, Athenian; "The Anglo American Handclasp," Jessie Newcomb, Alpha Beta; "Cooperation in Agriculture," Walter Daly, Hamilton.

Dr. H. H. King of the chemistry department will be director of the demonstrations and yells. Each society will be given two minutes while the judges are conferring. President Jardine will preside at the contest.

CLARK IS HIGH IN RIFLE MEET

Five Schools Compete with Aggies in Second Meet

A. W. Clark was high point man with a score of 375 out of a possible 400 in the second telegraphic rifle match held last week. P. A. Shepherd was a close second with a score of 371, while Walter Mayden placed third with 369. The average for the team is 364, and, according to Captain Waltz, although not up to expectations, it is a good score.

The other men who fired and their scores are D. C. Taylor, 368; E. E. Howard, 368; V. C. Hill, 366; D. E. Lathrop, 365; Ernest Miller, 359; I. K. McWilliams, 354; and A. W. Marshall, 350, making a team total of 3,645.

The other schools in the match with the Aggies are Iowa university, North Dakota state college, Syracuse university, Texas A. and M., and Fairmount college.

As yet, no scores have been received from these schools, so the winner of the contest could not be determined.

H. M. Wallingford, who transferred at the first of the semester from the division of engineering to the division of general science, has withdrawn from school and returned to his home in Ashland.

Family Skeletons to Be Unearthed for Branding Iron Orgy

Prexy is having Yale locks put on all the files in his office, every professor is trying to erase his record of the past year, and students are attempting to look innocent for once—for the Branding Iron banquet is coming. The exact date has not been determined, but April 1 is the tentative date.

Those who attended the Branding Iron celebration last year, wouldn't miss the banquet this year if it costs them their reputations to go. The Branding Iron is an annual banquet given by Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalism fraternity, to which many faculty members, townspeople, and students are invited.

The invitation list for this year's banquet is now being prepared and will be in the mails within the next week or so. Morse Salisbury, editor of the Manhattan Chronicle, is the general manager of this year's fray, and he promises that the iron will be even hotter than last year.

PIKERS WALLOP AGGIES IN DUAL SWIMMING MEET

Washington U. Takes First in Every Event—Final Score 49-19

Speed, endurance, and superiority in numbers were the factors that defeated the Aggie swimmers in a dual meet with Washington university at Nichols gymnasium, Friday evening, February 22, by a score of 49 to 19. The Pikers took first place in every event.

V. Johnson, swimming coach at Washington university, brought eight men who were well trained in their events to compete with the five Aggie men whom Coach Knott has been able to get into training for the meet. According to Knott, the men who represented K. S. A. C. made a good record considering the fact that they had to enter some events after they had been worn out in previous events.

The list of events and their results are as follows: 160 yard relay, won by Washington, with Gilbert, Ewerhardt, Ulrich, and Helbing, captain, as the team, time 1:28; fancy diving, Ulrich of Washington first, 305 points, Miller of the Aggies second, 287 points, and Carter of the Aggies third, 280 points; 40 yard dash, Ewerhardt of Washington first, Gilbert of Washington second, and Colburn of the Aggies third, time 21 seconds; 200 yard breast stroke, Schlosstein of Washington first, Ullman of Washington second, and Mackay of the Aggies third, time 3:28; 220 yard free style, Captain Helbing of Washington first, Colburn of the Aggies second and Ulrich of Washington third, time 2:45 1-5; plunge for distance, Captain Helbing of Washington first, Mackay of the Aggies second, and Stuenkel of the Aggies third, distance 55:4; 150 yard back stroke, Schlosstein, Washington first, Miller of the Aggies second, Canavan of Washington third, time 2:22 4-5; 100 yard free style, Ewerhardt of Washington first, Colburn of the Aggies second, and Gilbert of Washington third, time 1:6 3-5.

FIRST M. V. SING HELD NEXT YEAR

EIGHT SCHOOLS WILL COMPETE IN 1925 MEET

Intercollegiate Glee Club Association Arranges Details for Contest—February 14 Is Tentative Date

Eight Missouri Valley schools will compete in an annual glee club contest starting in 1925, with Kansas City as the scene of the first meeting, according to an announcement made yesterday by officers of the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Glee Club association. The tentative date selected for the 1925 event is February 14.

Committee to Arrange Details

K. S. A. C., Nebraska, K. U., Missouri, Oklahoma, Drake, Ames, and Washington will be represented in the initial contest. Grinnell, the only valley school which did not send a representative to the recent meeting in Kansas City, already belongs to an organization of competing glee clubs which holds an annual contest in Chicago.

Following the conference held at the Kansas City University club on January 26, committees have worked out details of the contest organization which will be governed by an executive committee composed of one representative from each contesting school. Working with the executive committee will be a business committee, composed of alumni representatives in Kansas City, which will have charge of local arrangements.

Council Meets October 4

Prof. Ira Pratt, head of the music department, is the K. S. A. C. member of the executive committee, and J. H. Anderson, '12, is the alumni representative.

The two committees will form a council which will meet jointly in Kansas City October 4 when detailed plans for the first annual contest will be worked out. It is expected that the event will be staged in convention hall with alumni of all schools cooperating to make the affair successful. The convention bureau of the Kansas City chamber of commerce is taking responsibility for furnishing the place of the contest and for advertising.

TO HOLD WORLD FORUM AT COLLEGE MARCH 21

Y. M., Y. W., Literary Societies, and Churches to Cooperate in Securing Speakers of National Importance

A world forum will be held at the college on March 21, 22, and 23, according to an announcement by Dr. A. A. Holtz. The Y. W. and Y. M. literary societies and churches will cooperate in bringing the speakers here. The speakers so far secured are Dr. Y. Y. Tsu, secretary of the Chinese Student Christian association in North America, Chancellor H. R. Harper of Denver university, and Margaret E. Lewis, student secretary for the Presbyterian Women's Board of Missions.

Dr. Y. Y. Tsu is conceded by all who went to Indianapolis to be an instructive and entertaining speaker. Many maintain that he gave the most interesting talk at the student volunteer convention. Chancellor Harper is also a man of note.

Besides the general meetings, there will be opportunities for the various literary societies and churches to have one of the speakers at their respective assemblies. Detailed plans are now being worked out and will be announced later.

SANITATION CLASSES INSPECT VENTILATION OF THEATRE

Girls Study Cooling and Ventilating System

Two classes in sanitation and public health visited the Wareham theatre recently to investigate the cooling and ventilating system in use there. There were 20 girls in each class and they were accompanied by Margaret Ahlborn and Helen A. Bishop, instructors in the division of home economics.

Harry Wareham explained the operation of the machinery and demonstrated the way the foul air is forced outdoors by means of suction pipes.

AGGIE "SPIRIT"

So called Aggie spirit will not occupy an exceptionally high place in the minds of Missouri valley officials after this basketball season.

At practically every home game, a portion of the crowd has exhibited poor sportsmanship, and at a few games a majority of the rooters have given away to their prejudices. The work of Mr. Edmonds Saturday night seemed as efficient and as impartial as any seen in the gymnasium this season. Certainly, if any partiality was shown, it was to the Aggies. Yet the crowd donated a point to Washington by yelping when an Aggie fouled an opponent and Mr. Edmonds called the foul.

I'd like to tell a tale of life
Up in the frozen north,
Where there is gold,
And men are bold,
And so on, and so forth.

I'd like to write a movie plot
For which the crowds would clamor,
Of love and hate
And webs of fate—
A good old mellerdrummer.

WEEKLY CINEMA REVIEW
(Not printed by request)

"The Rapids," presented Saturday evening at one of our best show houses, is no doubt without a peer on the silver screen. It is a stirring tale of the virgin forests of the frozen north, where men are men, and where the primal emotions, unfettered by the chains of civilization, are allowed full sway. "The Rapids" is a picture which holds one spell-bound, in utter amazement at the power which can, without condescending to use any such mean inducements as originality of theme, clever subtitles, or honest character portrayal, inveigle you into the fourth row back for an evening of half-conscious repose. Truly, wonders have not ceased.

THE CAST

Bob Belding (the Man Who)—the man who, utilizing the power of the rapids, transformed the city of St. Clair in six days from a barren wilderness into a thriving mart of commerce; the man who justified the confidence the old priest had in him; the man who, although he became wealthy, still clung to his simple tastes and modest quarters.

Little Sue—"the gift of the rapids," rescued from the black whirlpool of death by Bob Belding.

Clarke, the hero—a wonderful man, the sort the heroine had been looking for.

Elsie, the heroine—(direct descendant of Elsie Dinsmore)—a wonderful girl, the sort the hero had been looking for.

The mob—a wonderful mob, the sort you'd like to arm with bean shooters and popguns, just to see if anything would happen.

THE PLOT

The plot—probably a wonderful plot, but the scenario writer forgot it.

BIG MOMENTS

Elsie—"Bob, you dear, dear MAN, you have been everything but a mother to little Sue."

Little Sue—"Daddy Bob, you're the bestest man in the world what is."

Bob Belding—"Elsie, I've had my dreams, but the one of you is the strongest of them all." (The ungrateful girl married the hero, anyway.)

Little Sue (weeping)—"Daddy Bob, I wish I had a mamma like other girls."

Bob Belding (fighting to keep back the tears)—"The course of true love never does run smooth."

Lucille (who sat next to us)—"That's the dumbest looking hero I ever saw. Wake me up when the show's over."

Us (50 minutes later)—"It's over."

Announcement:

Call for your dates for Thursday night at 8:15. First dance will be at 8:30.

Signed—"A woman faculty member."

This notice was sent out to the lady members of the faculty for a leap year party given to the male members of the same group last night. A glance at the above mischievous shows that it was conceived by a woman, written by a woman, and sent out by a woman.

No one but a woman could think of calling on a date at 8:15 and getting to a dance at 8:30.

The ladies, as usual, did not take into consideration such trivial things as shaving, shining shoes and pressing trousers. They overlooked the possibilities of a lost collar button or a hole in the sock. They took everything for granted as a woman always does.

The men, as always, were no doubt ready when their dates arrived. It has become a time worn eleven seconds. If there is a hole in a sock they will turn down the custom for men to get ready in cuffs of their trousers. If a button is missing, a safety pin does as nicely. Yea verily, there are many devious ways.

But we must yet find the man who can call for a date at 8:15 and get to a dance at 8:30. If there is such a man, he has the distinction of being the one and only and his girl should be in a feature act on the Orpheum circuit.

A lady who is going to a dance at 8:30 tells her escort to be on hand at eight bells. Then when he comes, she sends him word that she will be down in six minutes. Sixty minutes later she comes down for the first time but not the last. In the next 45 minutes she makes eleven trips back up the stairs. Knowing that a man's pockets are always empty, she loads him up with a vanity box, a comb, an extra handkerchief and a few dozen other accessories. Promptly at 10:29 they enjoy their first dance.

We ask you, "Has a woman any conscience at all?"

A Strap Hanger Philosophizes

Neighboring straps in a Topeka street car suspended us, vis-a-vis. He introduced himself as a public official. I told him I was with the students of industrial journalism who had come to the city that day to aid in getting out the Topeka Daily Capital.

I think he tried to smile. He acted a good deal as a white man does when he unexpectedly discovers he has been cordial to an exceedingly pale member of the Negro family. I didn't push the conversation.

"My boy in high school is studying journalism. I guess it won't do him any harm."

The genial neighbor had decided to show how liberal he was toward journalism and the like. He also wanted one to know how remarkably well informed on the subject he was.

"Even a doctor or lawyer ought to know something about newspapers. Help them in their business. I don't think my boy will want to be a newspaper man but he's getting pretty interested in it."

The poor fellow seemed to be worried about his child. I tried to comfort him with a casual remark about the general fascination of printer's ink.

"Yaas, I guess so."
Conversation dragged again, although I felt that the man had something on his chest, and I hoped he would get it off before we reached our corner. The motorman was applying the brakes for my stop when he renewed the subject.

"I guess we couldn't get along very well without the newspapers but they sure are run funny, some of 'em."

I had stepped into the vestibule, and he had sort of hurried this at me.

"Yes, it's sort of that way with our public officials," I replied as the conductor opened the door for my get away.

Clammer to Lead Forum

Attorney George Clammer of Manhattan, will present the industrial question from the viewpoint of the capitalist at the Y. M.-Y. W. forum in home economics rest room Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. The last half hour, as usual, will be devoted to questions and discussions by the students themselves. Every student is urged to attend.

Harold Howe, who was awarded his degree here in 1922 and who spent the following year doing graduate work in a Maryland school, is now studying advanced work in agriculture in K. S. A. C.

HOUSEKEEPING IS MEANS OF LETTING HEAD SAVE HEELS

Mary Mason Tells Advantages of Budget System

"Using One's Equipment to the Best Advantage," was the subject of a lecture given recently by Mary Mason of the household economics department. Miss Mason explained how to use time, money, and energy to the best advantage.

"This is an age in which value is weighed in time and strength as well as in money," Miss Mason declared. She defined housekeeping as a means of cutting corners by letting the "head save heels."

As a means of conserving money, Miss Mason recommended a budget and an accurate record of household expenditures. "Many housewives are saving for a rainy day, and look for misfortune as the end toward which they must save. Instead, she should select some worthy goal and work toward it."

HOLD DISTRICT MEETING

Home Economics Association Forms Local Club

The district meeting of the State Home Economics association, called by Prof. Martha S. Pittman, chairman for this section of Kansas, was held in the home economics rest room, February 23. The purpose of the meeting was to organize the local association and secure members for the national association.

Professor Glanton presided at the meeting. Prof. Amy Jane Leazenby of the department of household economics told of the new bureau of home economics established in Washington, D. C., for the purpose of research. She said that Dr. Helen B. Thompson, formerly of this college, had been one of the foremost leaders in research in the United States, and was chairman of the committee that recommended the establishment of the bureau of home economics.

Dr. Margaret M. Justin reviewed the history of the National Home Economics association, explaining its growth out of the household science association organized in Chicago, in 1893, and the Lake Placid conference organized in 1899, by Helen H. Richards, which led to the organization, in 1909, of the present National Home Economics association.

Appointed Demonstration Leader

Marion Hepworth, a graduate of K. S. A. C. and a former specialist in the extension service, was recently appointed leader of home demonstration work in Idaho. Miss Hepworth has had extensive training in home economics at the Kansas State Agricultural college, the Bradley Polytechnic Institute, the University of Chicago, and Columbia university. She has taught at George Peabody college at Nashville, Tenn., and was in charge of the home economics extension work of the University of West Virginia for five years.

Delta Zeta sorority held formal initiation Wednesday evening, February 20, for Miss Marie Gilmore, of Herington.

Prof. W. B. Balch was a dinner guest at the Alpha Sigma Psi house Sunday.

COMMUNITY NEWSPAPER IS DISCUSSED BY P. W. KEISER

Journalist Contends Farm Paper Gives Valuable Service

"The community newspaper is giving more service than is being paid for. There is too much sneering at the home town paper," said Paul W. Keiser, head of the department of journalism at the South Dakota Agricultural college, in an address at journalism seminar recently. The subject of the address was "The Community Newspaper and Its Relation to the Farmer."

There are three things a subscriber has a right to expect of his community newspaper according to Mr. Keiser. He may expect its support of all activities that are for the good of the community; he has a right to expect the paper to publish all the news of the community that will serve a good purpose, news of what other farmers are doing, news of activities of worth while farm organizations, and accounts of important farm legislation; and last of all he may rightly expect a good interpretation of the news on the editorial page.

"On the other hand, a publisher should have the loyal support of his subscribers," declared Mr. Keiser. "He has a right to expect the subscriber to pay his subscription in advance, he may expect him to advertise through the home town paper, and to buy his letterheads and printed stationery at the printing office."

"The community paper should be allowed to do the work of the farm bureau sheets and the high school papers. But the editor must have the cooperation of the readers to get

What is your Verdict?

When you have tried Williams Shaving Cream your verdict will be as favorable as is your verdict about the new Hinge-Cap. The heavier, faster-working Williams lather, the fact that Williams lubricates the skin, the fine condition of your face after the shave, these qualities make men stick to Williams as faithfully as the Hinge-Cap sticks to the tube. As regards the Hinge-Cap, here is an offer we make:

For the best sentence of ten words or less on the value of the Williams Hinge-Cap, we offer the following prizes: 1st prize $100; 2nd prize $50; two 3rd prizes, $25 each; two 4th prizes, $10 each; six 5th prizes, $5 each. Any undergraduate or graduate student is eligible. If two or more persons submit identical slogans deemed worthy of prizes, the full amount of the prize will be awarded to each. Contest closes at midnight March 14, 1924. Winners will be announced as soon thereafter as possible. Submit any number of slogans but write on one side of paper only, putting name, address, college and class at top of each sheet. Address letters to Contest Editor, The J. B. C. OF C. TO FETE JUDGING TEAMS was the best ever seen in collegiate competition in the middle west, according to the judges of the contest. It was necessary to make a recheck of the score before the judges would make their final awards, so close was the scoring. Every school entered showed unusual training.

Attain Remarkable Record

Kansas State Agricultural college stock judging teams have attained a remarkable record in competitions in the five years they have been coached by Prof. F. W. Bell. They have not fallen below fifth place in the International and they won first place three years in succession at the National Western Livestock show. The complete record of Professor Bell's teams is as follows:

1919—Third at the International, first at the National Swine show, first at the National Western Livestock show.

1923—Second at the American Royal, first at the International.

Three Straight to Dairy Team

The dairy judging team also has an unusual record attained under the coaching of Prof. H. W. Cave. Previous to 1922, Kansas dairy judging teams won first honors three years in succession at the National Dairy congress competition.

Student judging teams in horticultural products, poultry, and grain, representing the Kansas State Agricultural college, have been developed recently. A poultry team composed of rehabilitated soldiers studying at the college represented the institution in 1922. The grain judging team and the horticultural products team of the judging season just closed were the first to represent the college in recent years.

All Teams to Be Feted

Members of the various teams who are to be feted by the Manhattan chamber of commerce, the home address of each, and the coaches are as follows:

Stock judging—G. R. Warthen, Webb City, Mo.; J. L. Farrand, Hunter; M. L. Baker, Syracuse; F. H. Moxley, Osage; A. C. Magee, Manhattan; Edwin Hedstrom, Manhattan; Prof. F. W. Bell, coach.

Horticultural products judging—Dan M. Braum, Denison; George A. Filling, Cuba; C. O. Dirks, Augusta; William J. Douglas, Piper; Prof. Robert T. Barnett, coach.

Dairy judging—E. L. Raines, Louisburg; F. E. Charles, Republic; Edward Watson, Osage City; R. L. Stover, Manhattan; Prof. H. W. Cave, coach.

Poultry judging—Martin Hendricks, Humboldt; G. W. Montgomery, Sabetha; F. W. Schultz, Wathena; Harriet Myers, Americus; Prof. L. F. Payne, coach.

Grain judging—B. R. Churchill, Flatt, Ill.; W. H. von Treba, Oswego; Edward Watson, Osage City; Max M. Hoover, Burlington; Prof. J. W. Zahnley, coach.

2,489 POTATO GROWERS ATTEND MEETINGS HELD BY SPECIALISTS

Train Run in Cooperation with U. P. Is Well Received

The Kaw Valley Potato train was a decided success judging from the statements made by potato growers and the interest displayed by them, according to Prof. L. E. Melchers. A total of 2,489 people attended the meetings, the majority of whom were potato growers. As near as members of the party could estimate they reached over 90 per cent of the potato growers in the Kaw valley. Professor Melchers stated that a majority of the growers who attended the meetings of the first train run three years ago were present. The largest meeting held was that at Silver Lake where over 400 attended the meeting at the high school.

"Judging from the conversation of the growers," said Professor Melchers, "there is no longer any doubt in their minds as to the importance of treating potato seed. Even the school children who visited the car could talk intelligently of the plant diseases. Great interest was expressed on soil fertility, insect control, and the grading and marketing of potatoes." While nothing has been definitely decided on a potato train for 1925, it seems apparent that the Union Pacific is willing to run another train as far west as Abilene.

TWO-THIRDS CATTLE PRODUCE NO PROFITS KILDEE DECLARES

Yet Dairying Increases Says Iowa Agriculturist

"One-third of the dairy cows in the farm herds of the United States do not produce enough milk and butterfat to pay for the feed they consume and the labor they require," declared H. H. Kildee, head of the animal husbandry department of Iowa State college in a recent address to Kansas dairymen. "Furthermore, one-third more barely pay for the feed and labor involved, while it remains for the other third to produce enough to uphold the reputation of dairy cattle for efficient, economical and profitable production," he added.

"In spite of the low average yearly production, dairy farming is rapidly growing in favor," Mr. Kildee stated. He brought out the following factors which determine the profitability of a dairy herd: quantity of milk, quality of milk, cost of production, and price obtained for the product.

"The building up of a profitable herd depends not only upon the factors mentioned thus far, but also upon the proper rearing and development of the heifers from birth to the time of production. They should be fed judiciously, and should be furnished proper shelter from both heat and cold."

Inspect Home Ec Building

The Iowa legislature has appropriated one-half million dollars for a new home economics building at the Iowa State college, Ames. Dean Anna E. Richardson of the division of home economics, and Mrs. Pauline Lewelling Devitt of the State Board of Education, spent last Friday at the college inspecting the home economics work offered here, and obtaining ideas for the new building at Ames. Conferences were held with President Jardine, Doctor Justin, and various department heads.

Miss Grace Lyness, '21, who is teaching home economics at Belleville, and Miss Hazel Lyness, '22, who is teaching home economics at Winchester, attended the district meeting of the State Home Economics association held at the college last Saturday.

Walter Avery of Wakefield visited his daughter and son, Madeline and Dustin, who are students here, last week end.

Mme. Elly Ney

Mme. Elly Ney presented a most unusual program at her recital in the college auditorium last evening, the salient feature of which was the Chopin Sonata in B flat minor; in fact Mme. Ney proved that she is exceptionally fond of Chopin, for both of her first two groups were interpretations of his works. In recitals in New York she has devoted an entire evening's recital to either Chopin or Brahms and her ability to secure variety from a list of seven preludes to many in the audience was the most pleasing art of the concert.

Mme. Ney's love of contrast and her unusual ability in expressing it were well put forward in the two MacDowell pieces, a Polonaise and the Valse Triste, in the former of which she unchained vast batteries of sound, characteristic of Polish music of this type, and the thunderbolts of volume reached the audience in a quality of tone that only a Rachmaninoff adherent could produce; in the latter she played a quiet mellifluous line of melody of great beauty.

An audience always welcomes the number with which it is familiar, and this seemed to be the atmosphere when she played Marche Militaire by Schubert, after interpreting Moment Musical and Rondo in D major by the same composer. Liszt's Rhapsodie No. 3 brought the program to a close, and this must be a favorite of the artist's for she uses it as her concluding number in practically every recital.

She plays Chopin with a little inclination to the tempo as set by Godowsky, yet in every phrase of her music she expresses individuality, whether the music is that of Beethoven, Liszt, or one of the modern composers whom she honored.

As encores Mme. Ney played the Revolutionary Etude and the Polish Dance, both by Beethoven, and the Spring Song and the Spinning Song, both by Mendelssohn. In these numbers, as well as in all the others, she proved that she is eminently worthy of the title which critics have given her—"The greatest woman pianist in the world." After the concert she told several of us that the audience here was especially fine and that she had appreciated playing for us; may I say that her art will long be remembered by her Manhattan friends as something to be cherished along with the art of Paderewski, Rachmaninoff, Grainger, and Hofman.

Discusses Bargain Sales

"It is the duty of every woman to spend thought in her planning, since upon her thrift depends the homing of the family and the future ideals of the young folk," said Miss Emma Fecht, instructor in clothing, in a lecture to Farm and Home week visitors. Her topic was "Bargain Sales" as they pertain to getting value for money spent for clothing.

"When the budget is completed, ways and means of doing shopping may be planned and sales days for the best bargains carefully studied," Miss Fecht continued. "When women ask for and accept only labeled goods, undesirable material will be improved or will vanish from the market."

By means of lantern slides, Miss Fecht illustrated various designs and weaves in fabrics, showing how these affect economical purchasing.

AGGIES MAY END SEASON AT .500

MUST WIN FINAL TWO GAMES TO FINISH EVEN

Bunker Stars on Successful Road Trip: Wildcats End Season with Games Tuesday and Saturday

Fresh from a pair of road victories over Missouri and Washington, the Kansas Aggie Wildcats play their next-to-the-last home game of the season in Nichols gym tomorrow night against Ames. The Aggies again will be at home Tuesday night, when they wind up the Valley season against Drake. A victory in both games will give the team a percentage of .500 for the season, with victories in half the home games and half the road games.

Successful on Road Trip
As the matter now stands, it would seem that Coach Corsaut would do well to schedule all of next year's games away from home. Witness the trip concluded Wednesday night when Washington was defeated 33 to 30, after the Pikers had taken a close game here 28 to 24. Witness the defeat of Missouri, conquerors of Oklahoma, 23 to 15. Witness also the Iowa trip, when the Aggies won two out of three games.

Bunker seems to have been the "big man" in both the recent road games, despite his diminutive size. In the Tiger combat he came through with 5 goals and 4 free throws for a total of 14 points, and against Washington he again "fired" on field goals and chalked up six free throws, bringing his total for the trip to 30 points. Tebow also got the range in St. Louis for four baskets, and Wann followed with three, while Seago, who made life miserable for the Aggie guards here last Saturday night, was held to three goals.

Aggies Upset Missouri Program
The Jayhawkers, incidentally, took ways been "bad medicine" for Missouri. In 1920 and 1921, when the Tigers swept the Valley clean in every game but the last, it was the Wildcats who marred their chances at an ever-victorious season by a victory in the final game, and 1924 again finds the Aggies messing up the Tiger after Missouri had turned back Oklahoma, which in turn conquered Kansas.

The Jayhawkers, incidentally, took the championship for the second consecutive season by defeating both Grinnell and Washington. K. U. now has a two game lead over Oklahoma with only Missouri remaining to be disposed of.

AGGIE MARKSMEN PLACE SECOND IN RIFLE MATCH

North Dakota State Is First with 3,655—Clark Is High Point Man for K. S. A. C.

North Dakota State college won from the Aggies with a score of 3,655 while four schools went down to defeat before the marksmanship of the K. S. A. C. rifle team, in the second telegraphic rifle shoot held last week. The Aggie team made a score of 3,645 out of a possible 4,000. Syracuse university made 3,515, Texas A. and M. 3,624, while the Iowa university team did not complete its score and Fairmount college forfeited by not turning in any score at all.

A. W. Clark was high point man with 375. P. A. Shepherd placed second with 371 while W. S. Mayden was a close third with 369.

The shooting of the team is steadily improving as is shown by the fact that this week's score so far has averaged five points more than last week's. Two of the teams have not yet completed their score. E. E. Howard and Ernest Miller are tied for high point honors with a score of 373. J. K. McWilliams is second with 371, and P. A. Shepherd trails in third place with 369. I. K. McWilliams and V. C. Hill made 100 out of a possible 100 from the prone position. Ernest Miller also made a perfect score from the sitting position. The schools with which the Aggies compete this week are Northwestern university and Nebraska university. The team is composed of A. W. Clark, P. A. Shepherd, W. S. Mayden, D. C. Taylor, E. E. Howard, V. S. Hill, D. E. Lathrop, Ernest Miller, I. K. McWilliams, and A. W. Marshall.

adopted, "Never let pleasures interfere with business or women with studies." This exceptional young economics rest room.

"Probably no other American writer since Poe has contributed as much to the field of criticism as Mencken," said Professor Faulkner, "and certainly no other American writer has done so much to lift criticism from the academic plane to the higher level of literary art."

"As a critic of life and letters, as a journalist, as a magazine editor, and as a humorist, Mencken is an outstanding figure in contemporary American literature."

"Mencken has ruthlessly struck at pet idols of American sentimentality and false ideals of democracy; as an intelligent critic he has proved a stimulating and cleansing influence upon the younger generation of American writers; he has added a lasting value to American wit and humor, and raised them from the regimen of slipshodness."

Professor Faulkner read selections from Mencken's "Prefaces," "Prejudices," "In Defense of Women," "Burlesques," "Damn," and "The American Language."

PROFESSOR PRATT HONORED

Elected Head Kansas State Music Teachers' Association

Professor Ira Pratt, head of the K. S. A. C. department of music, was elected president of the Kansas State Music Teachers' association at the annual meeting of the association held Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of this week at Emporia.

Professor Pratt and Miss Elsie Smith represented K. S. A. C. at the meeting this week and each appeared on the program. Miss Smith played before the association Tuesday evening. Professor Pratt lead a discussion on voice teaching Tuesday morning, and sang Wednesday evening.

The 1925 convention of the association will be held in Ottawa.

At the sophomore class meeting Tuesday night the following nominations were made: president, Harold Shepherd and Harold Sappenfield; vice president, Jewel Ferguson and Elma Hendrickson; secretary, Marie Loop, Ruth Long, and Russell Good; treasurer, Joe Meek and Paul Brooks. The time of the election has not yet been announced.

SCULPTOR TO TALK MARCH 6

Horado Taft Explains Process of Creating Statues

A unique entertainment is offered to the students of K. S. A. C. by the American Association of University Women in the talk by Horado Taft to be given at the college auditorium Thursday, March 6. The subject is "A glimpse of a Sculptor's Studio," or "How Statues Are Made."

The artists studio is reproduced on the platform, and during the course of the lecture Mr. Taft goes through the entire process of evolving a statue, using modelling clay to illustrate the details.

Mr. Taft ranks among the greatest of American sculptors, and is undoubtedly the greatest in the middle west. He is best known for his group called "The Fountain of Time."

man is Ralph William Sherman of Burlington, senior in animal husbandry.

Ralph entered college with a past, but the past stayed behind him in the old home town. After a few six weeks exams had ripped things up a little for Mr. Sherman, he decided that it was impossible for a man to be engaged to a girl and his studies at the same time. So he dropped the girl. Since that time he has been able to slip by on conditional grades.

R. William Sherman is president of the Athenian literary society and this year he coached the championship Athenian intersociety debating team. Ralph is a member of Pi Kappa Delta and has participated in several college debates. He also has his name on the membership rolls of Alpha Zeta and Phi Kappa Phi, Block and Bridle, and various other organizations. Ralph has rather journalistic tendencies and is on the staff of the "Ag Student."

Ralph William's ambition is to be a farmer and wear overalls. He intends to start a sheep ranch and raise lots of nice wool for the coed's winter frocks. Perhaps he may even write poetry during his spare hours on, "The Shepherd to His Love."

Quill Club Announces Contest

Students who wish to try out for membership in the American Quill club are requested to submit their manuscripts to Prof. N. A. Crawford, chairman of the membership committee, before April 15, when the contest closes. Writings of any type may be submitted. A list of the material submitted and the name of the author should accompany the manuscripts, and should be sealed in a separate envelope. The name of the author should not be on the manuscript submitted.

WHOLE U. S. INTERESTED IN COLLEGE OF THE AIR

K. S. A. C. Radio Courses Attract Attention of Farm Papers and of Other Schools

Nationwide attention is being attracted to the radio college courses sent out by K. S. A. C. Broadcasting college courses by radio was innovated here by Sam Pickard of the extension division and K. S. A. C. is the first school to put it into practice.

National magazines, especially radio magazines and farm periodicals, have been writing to the president of the college asking for stories about the "college of the air" and for pictures. Many articles have been sent out.

Other colleges and universities are taking up the idea. The University of California, it is said, is planning to start broadcasting radio courses in the near future.

Architects Hold Exhibit

There will be an exhibition in the galleries of the department of architecture, third floor of engineering building, February 25 to March 1, from 8 to 5, showing a representative collection of the etchings of Donald Shaw MacLaughlan, painter-etcher. Mr. MacLaughlan is America's foremost landscape etcher.

Hazford Bocaldo Is Latest Arrival At A H Department

Hazford Bocaldo 36th 1175401 is the impressive name accorded the newest and very prospective acquisition of the animal husbandry department. Hazford Bocaldo 36th is a splendid Hereford bull prospect and was donated to the Kansas State Agricultural college by Robert Hazlett of Eldorado.

The young bull represents the same line of breeding as most of the prize winners shown by Mr. Hazlett during recent years, including Hazford Tone, junior champion at the American Royal this year, and is a very valuable addition to the college herd.

According to Dr. C. W. McCampbell, of the animal husbandry department, one of the most difficult problems confronting animal husbandry departments of colleges is the one of securing herd sires to produce the kind of livestock a college is expected to bring forth. The scarcity and exceedingly high price of herd sires, and the limited funds available to colleges to acquire such animals, make Mr. Hazlett's gift even more valuable.

ANNOUNCES GALA WEEK PROGRAM

PRATT SECURES FIVE ARTISTS FOR SPRING FESTIVAL

Minneapolis Symphony Concert Is Feature of Week—Program Includes Eight Concerts

The complete program for the 1924 spring music festival was announced yesterday by Prof. Ira Pratt, head of the music department and director of the festival. Eight numbers two of which will be matinees, are scheduled for the week, May 5 to 10, inclusive.

Five Artists on Program

Five nationally known artists and the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra will appear on the week's program. The artists are Arthur Middleton, baritone; Ernest Davis, New York tenor; Mary Welch, contralto of the Chicago Civic Opera company; Leonore Sparks, soprano, of the Metropolitan Grand Opera company, and Hans Hesse, cellist.

The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra will appear in the two feature numbers of the week Saturday, May 10. In the afternoon, the great orchestra will play the score of Handel's oratorio, "Elijah," which is to be presented by the college chorus with the assistance of four visiting soloists: Arthur Middleton, Mary Welch, Leonore Sparks, and Ernest Davis. A symphony concert in the evening will bring the week to a close.

Glee Clubs Open Week

The week opens Monday evening with a joint concert by the K. S. A. C. glee clubs. Miss Gladys Warren and Mrs. Helen Colburn Ringo, pianists, Miss Edna Ellis, soprano, and Harry King Lamont, violinist, will appear as soloists. The program will conclude with a presentation of Gounod's sacred cantata, "Gallia."

On Tuesday evening the college orchestra will make its annual festival appearance. Hans Hesses will appear as soloist. In Wednesday evening's concert, the noted cellist will present his chamber trio, composed of violin, cello, and piano.

Purple Masque Play Thursday

The Purple Masque players have been allotted the Thursday evening date for their annual festival play.

The college band under the direction of H. P. Wheeler will give a campus concert on Friday afternoon. Friday evening Mary Welch, contralto, and Ernest Davis, tenor, will appear in a joint song recital.

Snap Shots Due Saturday

All snap shots should be turned into the royal Purple office by Saturday, March 1, according to Ray Yoder, snapshot editor.

"Representatives of organizations and all students who wish to make this year book the best, must get busy," Mr. Yoder says. "Dig up all the kodak pictures you have and turn 'in all the good ones."

GLAMMER ADDRESSES FORUM

Declares Unselfishness Is Solution of Problem

"The solution of all the industrial problems lies in unselfish action on the part of both capital and labor," declared Attorney George Clammer at the Y. M.-Y. W. forum Tuesday evening. Attorney Clammer presented the industrial question from the viewpoint of capital.

"Up until the last few years capital bought and sold labor, so to speak, without recognizing the human element," Mr. Clammer stated. "It was really in a deplorable condition. Now there are laws which limit the power of capital. An example of these is the law requiring dangerous machinery to be covered, and the laborers' compensation law."

"If labor would pay men to carry their troubles before the people and the legislatures instead of financing strikes and the criminal lawyers which are necessary for every strike, the money would do more good. It is a recognized fact that labor leaders would rather fight with the gun than obtain their legality in court."

At the end of the regular forum, Ralph Sherman gave a report on recent developments of the European student relief movement.

George Collins, traveling secretary for the Fellowship of Reconciliation, will talk to the students at the next forum, Tuesday, March 4, at 7 o'clock.

Wildcat vs. Jayhawk

Aggie graduates and former K. S. A. C. students living in Wamego will play basketball with K. U. grads and former students, Friday evening, February 29. The game will be played in the high school gym as a preliminary to a high school game.

Doll Figures Wink, Dance and Bark in Tony Sarg's Drama

Singing dragons, fish that talk, and tiny dogs that bark and scratch their ears will be seen at the two showings of Tony Sarg's Marionettes, which will be seen in "The Chinese Willow Plate Story" to be given in the college auditorium March 10. The doll figures in the colorful play are similar to the usual marionettes with the exception that they wink their eyes, move their feet and hands, talk and sing.

By distorting our sense of proportions Tony Sarg is able to convince us that what we see is really true; his fantastic and impossible plays seem not unusual.

The music was written by Victor Herbert and is played by a Chinese orchestra. A children's version of the play will be given in the afternoon and Mr. Sarg asks that only the little folks attend this performance.

AGGIE ORPHEUM APPEARS AT AUDITORIUM TONIGHT

Comedy of School Year Begins at 8:16—Debate by King and Hill Is Feature

This evening at 8:16 in the college auditorium will be staged one of the most humorous and entertaining productions of the school year, namely the Orpheum given under the auspices of the college Y. M. C. A.

According to Mike Ahearn, the actors appearing this evening are some of the nation's outstanding artists along certain lines. On such a recommendation the students of K. S. A. C. should not miss the opportunity of an entertainment such as the Orpheum.

The program for this evening is as follows: Overture, H. P. Wheeler's orchestra; Pathe News; "Hot Harmony Hounds," college quartet; "Isn't It a Nice Day," Holcombe's company; "A Few Kicks," Bolter and Walker; "A Novelty," Mrs. G. L. Tetrick's Dramatic Pupils; "Dixie Melody Boys," Phi Beta Sigma; "A Ragtime Meal," Pi Phi and company; "Hot and Sassy Serenaders," Dick is more uplighting than the whale of Hiram King and Howard Hill on whether the tail of a whale is more uplighting than the whale of a tale.

Admission for the program is 25 cents. Seats are not reserved.

ICE CREAM MEN CONVENE

Forty Manufacturers Attend Fourth Annual Demonstration

Forty ice cream manufacturers from over the state attended the short course and ice cream scoring held at the college Wednesday and Thursday. This is the fourth annual demonstration to be conducted by the dairy department.

Improved equipment which has been installed in the new dairy was available for this short course for the first time, and this aided in demonstrating many points to the visitors. Lectures and laboratory work was given on every detail in making the cream preparing the ingredients, the proper mixture, how to freeze, how long to let stand after freezing, and everything that is necessary in the process of manufacture.

W. H. Chappell, local ice cream manufacturer, arranged a banquet for the visitors which was held last night at the Pines cafeteria. The guests were entertained by a short program.

Each year more interest is being shown in this short course, both in Kansas and in adjoining states. Since the most up to date machinery and instruction are available at the college the manufacturers over the state feel that they are greatly benefited by making a short trip to the college to have the methods used by other dealers and receive first hand instruction from authorities who have specialized on the subject.

XIX PETITIONS MORTAR BOARD

ASKS FOR CHAPTER IN NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Membership of XIX and Scarab, Two Senior Organizations, Announced at Annual Dinner

The annual XIX-Scarab dinner and dance was held Wednesday evening at the Gillett hotel and Elks' hall, the members of the two senior organizations being announced at this time. Simultaneously with the publishing of the membership, announcement was made that XIX, composed of senior women, is petitioning for a chapter of Mortar Board, national honor society of college senior women.

Members Chosen in Junior Year

XIX was organized in 1915. The members are chosen at the end of their junior year by the active members of the chapter. The organization emphasizes scholarship, leadership, and constructive cooperation, and women are chosen who best express these three aims.

This year the presidents of Omicron Nu, Zeta Kappa Psi, Mu Phi Epsilon, Y. W. C. A., Girls' Loyalty league, W. A. A., and the senior class, treasurer of the Royal Purple, editor-in-chief of the Kansas State Collegian, and secretary and five committee chairmen of the S. S. G. A. have been members of XIX. In addition to filling these offices, members of XIX have held responsible positions in practically every honorary and professional organization, which is open to women at K. S. A. C. The members believe that their standards compare favorably with those of colleges and universities which have chapters of Mortar Board, and that they stand a good chance of being recognized by the national organization this spring.

XIX Elects Sponsors

Members of XIX, cooperating with the A. A. U. W., have charge of the ticket sale this month for the Lorado Taft lecture. Newly elected sponsors of the organization are Miss Emma Hyde, Miss Ruth Morris, and Miss Grace Derby. Meetings are held once a week.

The membership of the two organizations, announced Wednesday evening, is as follows: XIX—Lenore Berry, Marie Correll, Bernice Flemming, Josephine Hemphill, Ruth Leonard, Alice Marston, Doris Riddell, Lanora Russell, Margaret Ruffington, Polly Hedges, and Lavina Waugh, Scarab—G. C. Bartgis, H. C. Byran, F. E. Charles, V. O. Clements, C. E. Fogleman, S. P. Gatz, M. R. Getty, A. T. Heywood, C. C. Jolley, C. E. Kelhorn, R. C. Lane, J. M. Leonard, H. W. Retter, I. H. Riley, C. W. Roberts, J. H. Toole, V. L. Uhlund, P. A. Vohns, and M. M. Williams.

Getty Is Toastmaster

Scarab, which corresponds to similar organizations in other colleges and universities, was founded to promote the best interests of the senior class, politically, socially, and scholastically.

M. R. Getty was toastmaster at the dinner, and toasts were made by Doris Riddell, Josephine Hemphill, Alice Marston, C. C. Jolley, F. E. Charles, J. H. Toole, and H. W. Retter.

Special guests were Miss Derby, Miss Hyde, Muriel Shaver, Beulah Helstrom, Evelyn Colburn, Margaret Corby, Mildred Swenson, and Laurenda Thompson.

Y. W. ELECTS OFFICERS

Nominating Committee Report Accepted at Vespers Thursday

Nominations for Y. W. C. A. officers were announced and approved at Vespers last evening and election is being held today. Names proposed for the various officers are president, Phyllis Burits, Evelyn Colburn; vice president, Mildred Moore, Lois Richardson; secretary, Marie Insley, Betty Peairs; treasurer, Genevieve Lovejoy, Mary Dey; undergraduate representative, Dorothy Rosebrough, Charlotte Swanson.

Opportunity was given each girl in college to declare her choice through blanks sent out the first of the week, and from the names suggested the nominating committee composed of Margaret Ruffington, Marie Correll, and Doris Riddell selected the candidates.

A new organization is being introduced into the Y. W. C. A. this spring, whereby the official duties are to vary somewhat from those of former years; the cabinet members will probably be reduced in numbers, and the committees may not be permanent. The new cabinet is to be selected within the next two weeks.

THE ACTIVITY POINT SYSTEM

One of the most useless by-products of the organization mania in colleges is the activity point system. In common with most of its brethren it advocates and promotes mediocrity; it tends to suppress the competent and to superficially elevate the incompetent. Generally of course, it has not become harmful. As is the case at K. S. A. C. it usually accomplishes nothing except to provide another excuse for the existence of a student governing body.

The fundamental fallacy in the idea may not occur to every student, but certainly the fallacies and inefficiencies in the plan itself are evident. The system presupposes that all students have equal ability. It assumes that all students carry the same number of semester hours of virtually the same difficulty. It entirely overlooks outside work. It neglects many irregular positions which often require more labor than any secretary or treasurer ever does. It does not affect joiners, a group which certainly constitutes a greater evil than the few leaders who are really capable of doing what they undertake.

It is absurdly obvious that, other things being equal, a student carrying nine semester hours has more time than one carrying 18; that a student in rural commerce has more time than an electrical engineer carrying the same number of hours; that a man doing four hours outside work each day has less time than one doing no outside work; that a capable student might with perfect ease handle positions which entitle him to 20 points, while another might be unable to fulfill duties required in eight points worth of jobs. But not a one of these is more obviously absurd than the theory that an arbitrary limit applicable to every student can be placed on activities.

Adherents of the system will reply that it is flexible and that exceptions can be made. That is admitting, however, another fallacy. Why, if the system is unfair and inefficient, and exceptions have to be made, should the matter not be left to the student's dean, who after all is the logical person to determine whether or not a student has too much work, and who, in a crisis, would probably determine it anyway.

ON WITH THE DANCE

This appeal for the higher culture is taken from an editorial in the Manhattan Nationalist:

"Roughneck day at K. S. A. C. is soon to be taboed, according to an announcement made by members of the inner circle. The question which has arisen as the various organizations at college which have control over student affairs in general now look back upon Roughneck days of former years, is, 'What good has come from it?' Obviously the only answer is, 'None whatever.' If anything at all, it is a system towards retrogression and can be compared quite favorably with the war dance of the Indian or a barbaric ceremony, where the individuals desired to create the most horrible scene by their dress and actions.

"The aim of a university is supposed to be in the direction of culture, education, and refinement, instead of such actions and scenes as are witnessed on Roughneck day. Whether there will be a Roughneck day at K. S. A. C. this year has not been learned by us, but we predict that if there is it will probably be the last one."

The Collegian wonders what the inner circle is. If organizations represent that elite body, then certainly Mr. Shellenbaum's remarks have some basis of fact. The organizations who are organizing Roughneck day to an inglorious organized demise, have undoubtedly been successful enough to justify his prediction.

If, however, the editor of the Nationalist drew his inferences from Collegian editorials—as seems probable—he misconstrued the sentiment. The Collegian believes Roughneck day one of the most glorious of Aggie institutions. Further, it is of the opinion that Roughneck day, if let alone, is of greater benefit than 99 per cent of K. S. A. C.'s traditional and institutional events.

The Collegian's preachment is against organization—against the spoliation of spontaneity and freedom. Roughneck day is the only day on which anything approaching legendary democracy can be realized. It offers the one opportunity to forget worries, release repressions, allow imagination full sway, and to defy convention. Coming once a year such an event is an invaluable contributor to the general student balance.

Again the Collegian appeals to all right thinking and high minded students to prevent the organized strangulation of K. S. A. C.'s only distinctive holiday.

I'd like to live in Borneo,
Or on a Fiji coast,
Because the native cannibals
Have never heard of toast.
—Alphodella.

The truce between Mr. M. R. Getty and Campus Echoes has been called off.

Wednesday evening we gave a toast at the same banquet at which Mr. Getty presided as toastmaster. (Attention: Society Editor). After we and three prominent politicians of the senior class had made our speeches and sat down, flushed and triumphant with the loud and continued applause which greeted our efforts, Mr. Getty, in the inimitable manner, which is undeniably his own, made this gracious announcement:

"Perhaps you wonder why I have been allowing men to do all the talking tonight, and have not yet called on any LADIES."

With the exception of being called by the mid-Victorian "lady," there is nothing which upsets us more than an intimation that we are not a lady. Such an insinuation from Mr. Getty, made in public, was just too much. Until he makes suitable reparation for his slander, our dealings with Mr. Getty will consist of frigidly polite greetings as we stride haughtily past the Royal Purple window.

In order to make it plain that our actions are not motivated by malice, and that it hurts us far more than Mr. Getty, we will state here that he was the best toastmaster we ever had the pleasure of listening to.

We reserve the next shovel full till next time.

The editor in chief of the college news sheet has asked us to announce the fact that, contrary to popular opinion, the art lecture by Lorado Taft, famous sculptor, is not a movie.

We feel flattered at the editor's request. It proves what we have always contended, that the column is the only part of the paper which is read.

At 11 o'clock this morning 14 persons, by actual count, have asked us reproachfully if Grace, the studious looking girl on page 10 of the Brown Bull, "is anybody in this here college." And we reply for the fourteenth time, No!

After this we will stick to cold hard fact, and not let our sense of the artistic get the better of our common sense. Grace's prototype is a youngish girl we met in Saskatchewan, Canada, at the time of the earthquake. Her real name was Tabitha Toothaker. She ran the Ladies' Aid society and the Shakespeare club, organized a society to put woolen stockings on all homeless cats and dogs in the winter months, and at the time we knew her, was an active worker in the Anti-Gum Chewers league. "We'll Outwit Wrigley," and "Saskatchewan Shall Not Sell Her Soul to Spearmint," were two of her favorite slogans. She was very fond of alliteration.

We explain all this in detail so that our sleep will not be disturbed tonight by students who want to know if we were throwing stones at any one in Manhattan.

Just as if any member of the journalism department would stoop to such a low form of ridicule.

It's about time, as the lady said when she wrapped her grey kimono around the eight day clock, it's about time that the journalism department at K. S. A. C. is recognized for its true worth.

They Actually Said It

Prof. Ira Pratt, in choral rehearsal—I'm the brains of this organization, if there are any.

Garnett Kastner—I truly don't think your old Brown Bull is worth a quarter, but just to be loyal I'll buy one.

Oley W. Weaver—I don't want any publicity on my resignation. People won't pay any attention to me if they know I've quit.

Maxine Ransom — The "Three Fates from the Parthenon" may be art, but I've seen a straw stack just as pretty as that. Haven't you, now?

N. S. Spangler—You may not believe me, but I'm not making a cent on this.

FANS TURN TO BASEBALL AS CAGERS' SEASON ENDS

Three Letter Pitchers Out for Practice—Prospects Look Bright for Aggies

With the closing of the basketball season here Monday night, Aggie sport lovers will eagerly watch the development of a baseball machine under the direction of Coach Corsaut, who handled the most victorious basketball team the Wildcats have had for three years.

Opinions expressed by various Aggie followers of the national pastime are that the Aggie team will be a strong valley contender and may head the percentage column at the end of the season. With the amount of new material out, and the spirit and interest displayed by last year's letter men, it is practically assured that the Aggies have at least a chance for the Valley title.

With the nice weather prevailing the first of the week the ball tossers left the gymnasium for the warmth of the outdoors and have been limbering up their arms where they will not hit anything except old Mother earth.

With three pitchers back this year, all of whom are letter men, the hurling staff should not prove so great a problem as in former years.

There are also three of last year's letter men back who played in the infield and two men who made letters in the outfield. With these men and others who are showing good early season form a well balanced team will no doubt result.

HUNCHBACK OF NOTRE DAME AT WAREHAM NEXT WEEK

Has Just Finished Three Weeks Run in Kansas City

Announcement of more than usual interest to the Aggies is the coming of "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" at the Wareham theater on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, March 5-6-7. This will mark the first showing of this big picture outside of the larger cities and it is expected that a new attendance record will be hung up during the engagement of this, the greatest production of all times. "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" just finished an engagement of three weeks at the Liberty theater Kansas City where $10 prices were charged for the opening night and through sheer bull-dog tenacity was Manager Wareham was able to sign contracts with the New York office of the Universal Film company for the showing of the picture here. Daily matinees will be given and only one performance nightly at 8:10. An augmented orchestra will render a special musical score.

FIVE GIRLS ENTER ANNUAL CONTEST

STUNTS AND MUSIC GIVE VARIETY TO PROGRAM

Hill Coaches Orators for Event Saturday Evening—Eight Societies Are Represented

Orations will not be the only attraction of the oratorical contest Saturday night in the auditorium. Special features and stunts by the various societies promise to add spice, if not actual enlightenment, to the entertainment. The orations themselves, according to Dr. H. T. Hill, give evidence of being exceptionally interesting.

Societies Present Four Stunts

"Courtship Under Difficulties," will be the title of a stunt given by the Athenian and Browning literary societies. "After the Feast is Over" will be presented by the Alpha Betas and Fraternities. "Eight Flights Up," by the Ionians and Hamiltons should be a hit. A Chalk Talk by Don Lathrop is the stunt to be presented by the Eudorophians and Websters.

Other features of the program will be a cornet solo by Lucille Heath, a baritone solo by Harold Flamm, and a piano solo by Charles Stratton. These numbers will be interspersed between the orations.

Five Girls Compete

Of the eight orators who will compete Saturday, five are girls. "This is not a fact to be surprised at," said Doctor Hill. "It is a known fact that women like to talk better than men. The heart rending thing about the affair is that all the men cannot be given the last word for once." The rules forbid such an arrangement as societies follow a regular order year after year.

The orators in the order of their appearance are Helen Correll, Ionian; Orpha Russell, Eudorophian; Grace Currin, Browning; Jessie Newcomb, Alpha Beta; Martin Fritz, Athenian; George Corbet, Webster; Lenora Doll, Franklin, and Water Daly, Hamilton.

Four Orations on World Peace

Four of the orations deal with some phase of international peace. One of the orations, written by a girl, contains sizzling hot criticisms of modern art, music, and poetry. America's system of education also comes in for discussion. Agriculture is made the subject of one oration.

All of the societies on the hill, eight in number, are represented in the contest this year. Last year there were only seven, the Fraternities not entering the contest.

Hill Coaches Orators

All the orators are working hard, according to Doctor Hill, who is coaching the contestants. He meets the orators four hours a day for six days of the week.

The judges who have been secured are P. H. Ritchie, professor of public speaking at Ottawa University; D. L. McEachron, vice president of Washburn college; E. C. Buehler, head of the department of public speaking at Washburn, and H. G. Ingham, head of the extension division at K. U. The other judge has not yet been secured.

TWO TEAMS TO TOUR STATE

Male Quartet and Play Cast Visit High Schools

Two "go to college" teams left Sunday for a tour of the high schools of the state. These tours are conducted by the extension committee of the Y. M. C. A. in cooperation with the departments of music and public speaking. So successful was the experiment last year that the tours are to be made annually.

The first of these teams is made up of the college male quartet, whose personnel is Albert A. Goering, first tenor; Harry Wilson, second tenor; Floyd Strong, bass; and Ralph Blackledge, baritone. This team will appear in the following towns during the week: Monday in Atchison, Tuesday in Kansas City, Kan., Wednesday, Fort Scott and Girard; Thursday, Parsons, and Cherryvale; Friday, Coffeyville and Independence. Saturday night they will give an evening's entertainment at Moundridge.

The other team is composed of the cast of the one act play that was presented in the Aggie Orpheum, Harold Sappenfeld, Abilene; Jack Kennedy, Wichita; and John Young, Hutchinson. They will take the play, "Isn't it a Nice Day," written by Prof. Ray E. Holcombe, to the following schools during the week: Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to eight high schools in Saline county; Thursday they will appear at Ellis-worth, and Friday at Holsington, Great Bend, and Lyons.

The chief object of these teams is to interest the high school students in a college education. The secondary purpose is to indicate some of the opportunities at K. S. A. C. and to invite to this college those students who are especially interested in any particular department or course offered here.

The programs are conducted by students carefully coached and prepared by the departments of music and public speaking. In addition to the program they give short talks concerning the college.

NEBRASKA TAKES FIRST IN THIRD RIFLE MATCH

Aggies Defeat Northwestern With Score of 3701-3391—Lathrop Is High Point Man for Aggies

By shooting the exceptionally high score of 3761 the University of Nebraska rifle team won from the Aggies last week by sixty points. The Aggies score was 3701 out of a possible 4000. At the same time the K. S. A. C. team won from Northwestern university by a score of 3701 to 3391.

D. E. Lathrop took high point honors with a score of 378. E. P. Howard and Ernest Miller tied for second with 373. The other members of the team and their scores are O. K. Correll 371; I. K. McWilliams 371; P. A. Shepherd 369; V. C. Hill 368; W. S. Mayden 367; D. C. Taylor 367; A. W. Clark 364.

This week the K. S. A. C. team will compete with Minnesota university. The corp area match will also be fired during the next few days. This is a match between the schools of the seventh corp area. The winners of this shoot will represent their corp area in the national intercollegiate match later in the year. The targets must be in the hands of the judges by March 12.

The score of 3701 is a large improvement over the previous scores. It is better than most schools make and a team which shoots such a score is considered to be in championship form. If the team keeps on improving it should rank high in the following matches.

TOWN BOYS TO HOLD TRACK MEET AT STADIUM MAY 25

Eight Graders to Compete on New Speedway

The annual track meet for the grade school boys of Manhattan will be held May 25 and 26 at the college stadium. The new track will be in shape by that time and the town youngsters will get a chance to do their stuff on the new cinder speedway.

The track meet is being backed by the Y. M. C. A., together with several of the business men of Manhattan, and various church organizations.

The boys will be divided up into classes according to their ages and the meet run off in this manner: There will be short sprints, handicap races, relays, jumping contests, sack races, potato races, and every kind of a contest which is dear to the heart of the school boy. Awards will be made to the winners of the different events. What the awards will be has not been decided as yet.

The track meet is an extension of the boys' work being done by the Y. M. C. A. under the direction of R. E. Ewing. At present the Y is sponsoring the Sunday school basketball league.

Barker to Address Assembly

Dr. F. D. Barker, dean of the freshmen premedics at the University of Nebraska will be the speaker at student assembly March 5, at 10:15. He will speak on the subject, "The Relation of Biology to Medicine."

AGGIES WIN SWIM MEET

Defeat Ames 42-26, Taking Six of Eight Events

By winning first in six of the eight scheduled events, the Aggie swimming team defeated Ames Friday in the college pool by a score of 42-26. In none of the events except the 160-yard relay, the first event, of the meet, which was won by the Aggies in one minute, 36 4-5 seconds, was there keen competition for first place.

Colburn, Aggie swimmer, was the star of the meet with first in the 40 and 100 yard dashes, and the 220 yard free style. In the 100 yard dash he proved the class of the field and won easily by nearly a tank length. Miller, Aggie, won first in the fancy diving and the 150 yard back stroke.

The summary follows:

160-yard relay—won by Kansas Aggies (Miller, Stuenkel, Carter, Mackay). Time, 1 minute, 36 4-5 seconds.

Fancy diving—won by Miller, Kansas Aggies; Reck, Ames, second; Carter, Kansas Aggies, third.

40-yard dash—won by Colburn, Kansas Aggies; Mackay, Kansas Aggies, second; Blaisdell, Ames, third. Time, 25 seconds.

200-yard breast stroke—won by Wright, Ames; Miller, Ames, second; Mackay, Kansas Aggies, third. Time, 3 minutes, 32 4-5 seconds.

220-yard free style—won by Colburn, Kansas Aggies; Carter, Kansas Aggies, second; Nolkemper, Ames, third. Time, 3 min., 7 3-5 seconds.

Plunge for distance—won by Summers, Ames; Harter, Kansas Aggies, second; Benner, Ames, third. Distance, 51 feet.

150-yard back stroke—won by Miller, Kansas Aggies; Vandervelde, Ames, second; Miller, Ames, third. Time, 2 minutes, 19 2-5 seconds.

100-yard dash—won by Colburn, Kansas Aggies; Nolkemper, Ames, second; Stuenkel, Kansas Aggies, third. Time, 1 minute, 9 3-5 seconds.

AGGIES TAKE TWO THIRD PLACES AT I. U. RELAYS

Erwin and Kimport in Fast, Close Races—Both Entered in M. V. Meet Saturday

Both Aggie tracksters who were entered in the Illinois relays at Urbana last Saturday, captured places in their events.

Captain L. E. Erwin won third place in the 75 yard dash which was run in the fast time of 7 4-5 seconds. This race was exceptionally close and the judges took some time in deciding the places which were finally awarded as follows: Wittman, of Ohio State university, first; Ayres, Illinois university second; Erwin, Aggies, third; and Kyle, Illinois university, fourth. The first three men were all within a foot of each other at the tape.

In the 1500 meter run R. E. Kimport placed third. He was beaten by Brown, Minnesota, and Beirbaum of Iowa State. The race was fast throughout and was run in 4 minutes, 8 2-5 seconds, a new carnival record.

These two men have been entered in the Annual Indoor Missouri Valley track meet which is to be held in Convention hall, Kansas City, Mo., March 8. Erwin will run the dashes and act as anchor man in the mile relay while Kimport will probably run both the mile and the half mile. Other Aggie entries have not yet been decided upon but a large squad will make the trip.

Talks to Chamber of Commerce

President Jardine will address a meeting of the chamber of commerce at Oskaloosa on March 11.

Vacant Hours and Loafing in Halls Tabooed in 1900

When Father and Mother went to college the rules and regulations were strict. There wasn't any postoffice mob or Recreation jam in Anderson hall in those days. Everyone, we are led to believe, was virtuous and attended to business.

Loitering in the halls was frowned upon during the school years of 1899 and 1900, in President Will's administration. In a chapel speech, in what is now Recreation center, the president advocated "keeping to the right" so that there would be no opportunity for conversations and wasting time between classes.

On one occasion a number of students formed an ellipse and marched endlessly in Anderson hall between classes, thereby "keeping to the right," in accordance with the president's wishes. The idea was not a faculty ruling, however, and soon died out, although on some of the old schedules a note at the bottom of the schedule advocated no more vacant hours for students during the day than was necessary.

In the possession of Doctor Willard, dean of the division of general science, who was a professor of chemistry in 1900, are several schedules of 1899 and 1900. These schedules show the three term system, fall winter, and spring terms, and the courses offered in those days, agriculture, domestic science, general science, mechanical engineering, and electrical engineering.

In 1900 there were 51 actual teachers on the faculty, and their subjects were given five times a week in most courses.

Donald A. Shields was called to his home in Burlington Thursday by the serious illness of his mother. He arrived home just before her death.

EVELYN COLBURN TO HEAD Y. W.

IS FORTIETH PRESIDENT OF ORGANIZATION AT K. S. A. C.

Lois Richardson, Marie Insley, Mary Dey, and Dorothy Rosebrough Fill Other Offices

Evelyn Colburn, Manhattan, junior in home economics, was elected president of the Y. W. C. A., at the election last Friday. She succeeds Polly Hedges. Other officers elected are vice president, Lois Richardson, Manhattan, junior in home economics; secretary, Marie Insley, Junction City, freshmen in home economics; treasurer, Mary Dey, Wellington, junior in home economics; undergraduate representative, Dorothy Rosebrough, Topeka, sophomore in home economics.

New Officers Well Qualified

Miss Colburn will be the fortieth president of the Y. W. C. A. at K. S. A. C., the organization having been founded here in 1885. She has been a Big Sister Captain for the past two years and is a member of the second Y. W. C. A. cabinet this year. She is also president of Kappa Phi and a member of the interracial commission.

The new officers are all, through their interest and experience in the Y. W. C. A. and other similar organizations, well qualified for the positions to which they have been elected. Most of them were delegates to the Student Volunteer convention held at Indianapolis.

Eliminate Superfluous Organization

Lois Richardson has been a member of the cabinet for the past year as chairman of the membership committee. Marie Insley, though only a freshman, has proved herself a real leader through her work as president of freshmen commission this year. Dorothy Rosebrough was president of freshmen commission for 1922-23 and has been a Big Sister captain this year. Mary Dey has been a member of the second cabinet for the past two years and has shown an active interest in Y. W. work.

In speaking of plans for the coming year, Miss Colburn says, "We shall endeavor to make the Y. W. C. A. a really valuable organization not necessarily in numbers but in influence. To do this we shall probably eliminate some of the superfluous organization which exists and try to give more girls a chance to participate in its activities."

A training retreat of the new and old officers and cabinets will be held in about two weeks.

HIGH JUDGING CONTEST MAY 1

65 Teams Entered Competition Last Year

The state high school judging contest conducted by the animal husbandry department will be held at K. S. A. C. May 1 and 2. In the contest, judging has been placed in four parts—grain, poultry, dairy, and animal husbandry. Team prizes and individual prizes will be given for the highest score in the entire contest, and in each of the four divisions.

Last year 65 teams attended the contest, which was won by Frankfort high school, and a larger number is expected this year. In the judging last year the first seven teams were coached by men who had majored in the animal husbandry department of the college.

Prexy Addresses Graduates

President Jardine will address the graduates of the two year short course at the University of Wisconsin at Madison on March 14. He will stop at Kansas City on the way to Madison to give a talk before the chamber of commerce.

FRED BENZ OF GRINNELL IS HIGH POINT MAN OF VALLEY

McBride of Oklahoma Ranks Second in Scoring

University of Oklahoma, March 3 (M. V. I. N. S.)—Fred Benz, captain and forward of the Grinnell basketball team, leads the Missouri Valley in scoring with a total of 147 points to his credit. He passed Floyd McBride, Sooner scoring ace, who has led the Valley for the past month, by adding seven points to his total in the Oklahoma-Grinnell game here, Wednesday. McBride registered only a free throw.

With one more game to play, Benz promises to increase his lead over McBride who wound up the season with a total of 146 points.

Miss Dorothy Brown and Miss Annabelle Garvey were in Topeka and Lawrence over the week end.

Special Rates Hold No Attraction for Sophisticated Grads

When K. S. A. C. has the largest graduate school in the valley and only half a dozen of the graduates seem willing to acknowledge the fact, one wonders what is wrong.

The Royal Purple is offering special rates of $1.50 to graduate students to induce them to have their pictures taken so there can be a graduate section in the 1924 annual. Only five or six graduates so far have come to the Royal Purple office to pay this assessment. The time is growing short and Pat Getty, business manager of the book, wants every graduate student to appear in the Royal Purple, so a sudden rush to the business office, opposite the post office, would be appreciated. Pictures are being taken at the Wolf studio.

LORADO TAFT TO TALK ON SCULPTURE THURSDAY

Famous Artist and Lecturer to Give Demonstration—Brought to Manhattan by A. A. U. W.

Lorado Taft, lecturer and instructor at the Art Institute of Chicago, and the foremost sculptor of the middle west, will give a demonstrated lecture on "A Glimpse of a Sculptor's Studio," Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the college auditorium. He is brought here by the American Association of University Women.

Mr. Taft, after studying sculpture in Paris, established himself in Chicago where he has been connected with the Art Institute for over 30 years. He is not only an instructor in the Art Institute but is also one of the most interesting lecturers on sculpture of this day. Mr. Taft has lectured in France as well as in the United States. His summer is devoted to lecturing in the summer schools of Chicago.

K. S. A. C. is fortunate in having a man of such high renown as Mr. Taft. Many of the faculty members and students have heard him and feel that he not only is instructive but also witty and interesting. Miss Ina Holroyd, mathematics instructor, says that she has heard Lorado Taft six times and wouldn't miss hearing him again. Among the many other faculty members who have had the opportunity of hearing Mr. Taft are Misses Emma Hyde, Araminta Holman, Louise Everhardy, Professors Walter Burr, W. H. Andrews, Paul Weigel, and Dr. R. K. Nabours.

The prices of admission are 50 cents, 75 cents and $1.00. Miss Ada Rice, chairman of the ticket committee, announces a price reduction. A number of the 75 cent seats may be had for 50 cents, and most of the balcony seats are now selling for 50 cents. Also all seats under the balcony from the sixth row back will be 50 cents.

HELL WEEK PROVES COSTLY AT UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA

College Sleuths on Trail of Practical Jokers

University of Okla., Mar. 3.—By M. V. I. N. S.)—The most costly practical joke at the University of Oklahoma was pulled the eve of Washington's birthday when a cow was tied in the new home of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority. Damage to the extent of $200 was done by the cow before it was removed from the house.

Other expensive stunts of the night were the placing of a goose in the Delta Gamma house and the wholesale removal of pennants from the first floor of the Alpha Gamma Delta house.

Announcements from the president's office after the affair were to the effect that efforts would be made to find the parties responsible for the "practical jokes" and to make them pay for the damage incurred. Investigators of the stunts express the opinion that some fraternity ordered its pledges to do the work as a Hell week duty.

TIE FOR FOURTH PLACE AT STAKE

WIN TONIGHT WILL PUT AGGIES EVEN WITH PIKERS

Both Drake and Aggies Have Hit Stride—Game Should be Another Battle Royal

Missouri Valley Standing
	W. L.	Pct.
Kansas	14 1	.933
Oklahoma	13 3	.813
Nebraska	9 5	.644
Washington	8 8	.500
Kansas Aggies	7 8	.466
Drake	5 7	.417
Grinnell	4 10	.286
Missouri	4 12	.250
Ames	2 12	.143

A tie for fourth place in final Valley standing is at stake tonight when the Aggie Wildcats and the Drake Bulldogs wind up the season in Nichols gym. An Aggie victory assures a tie for fourth place with Washington, while a defeat may shove the team as low as sixth place in the final reckoning.

Drake Has Strengthened Team

Drake, like Ames, lost to the Aggies by only one point at home. The Bulldogs are much stronger than at the first of the season, second semester "eligibilities" bolstering up their squad. With the Aggies playing the type of game that has made them the sensation of the Valley during the past two weeks, a battle royal similar to the Ames game is expected.

Already the Aggies are being talked of as "title contenders" for 1924. Captain Webber alone plays his final game tonight. Doolan has another year of Valley competition ahead of him, and the other regulars are earning their first letters.

Bunker on Scoring Spree

Bunker ran his scoring total for the past four games up to 50 points against Ames, and with good luck tonight stands a chance of finishing in the first five of the Valley.

Tonight's game is billed, as usual, for seven thirty. E. C. Quigley of St. Mary's will referee. The college band will be there, and every Aggie and his (or her) brother is expected in the stands. Rumor even hath it that perhaps "silent Charley" Corsaut may be prevailed on to talk, although he may decide to let the team do it for him.

Drake Has Three More Games

Drake plays four Valley games this week, the last Valley fray of the season being slated between Drake and Ames in Des Moines Friday night.

Kansas is "in" as champions for a second season with 14 wins and one defeat. Oklahoma has second place with 13 victories and 3 defeats, and Nebraska is third with 9 wins, 5 losses, and 2 remaining games.

NOTES OF THE AMES GAME

"A good time was had by all" with the possible exception of the Ames team. Numerous Aggie fans were nearly nervous wrecks after the tension of the last few minutes of play.

At last the Aggie team showed the home crowd the type of basketball it has been playing on the road all year. Ames was "right" the first half, but no team in the Valley could have beaten the Aggies by more than a couple of points.

Captain Webber seldom scores, but his baskets are opportune. He put the Aggies ahead of Nebraska in the last half minute of play with a side shot, and tied the score in the Ames game with a one-handed flip from the free throw line.

The Aggie guards, Webber, Doolan, and Koch, shone as never before, against Ames. The Cyclones made only one basket during the entire second half. Their first-half baskets were unearthly heaves that even Webber would have needed a step ladder or wings to block.

The lead changed six times during the game, and twice the teams were tied in the last half. When the score reached twenty all only three minutes of play remained. Tebow's basket won the game, and Bunker made it doubly sure with a pair of free throws.

Koch played for the first time in a month, and his bandaged arm did not keep him from flipping in a basket.

Bunker led the scoring with ten points, his three baskets coming each time just when needed to tie the score.

ABOUT THE S. S. G. A.

If students at K. S. A. C. were interested in student politics, self government, et al—which thank God they aren't—the S. S. G. A. would undoubtedly be a storm center at the present time. As it is, the students who do occasionally give the matter a thought, dismiss it with the mental or verbal remark that the association is all right fundamentally, but that it has never done anything.

The Collegian, confessedly, is included in that group. It assumes with the rest that a student self governing association is probably a beneficial institution. On the other hand it has no quarrel with the S. S. G. A. because of the S. S. G. A.'s activities, for the reason that no important activities have been launched. Actually the association likely does much more than the student mass realizes. It has ever shied at publicity.

It is undoubtedly true that the S. S. G. A. has not reached the heights dreamed of by its founders. Nothing of great moment has been accomplished. No drastic rulings have been foisted on the student body, and no great contributions have been made to governmental red tape. It is also certain that the student body as a whole has not audible voice in the S. S. G. A., and it is probably true that faculty influence is still dominant.

For these reasons, which constitute the most common complaints made against the S. S. G. A., the Collegian would fight to preserve the present status of government. In the first place, as a result of these methods, factionalism and silly political hocus-pocus are less prevalent at K. S. A. C. than at most major institutions, and anything that tends to lessen interest in student politics is surely commendable.

In the second place, why should the S. S. G. A. do anything? What is there to do? The few rulings it has inaugurated have for the most part, been useless absurdities—example, the point system. The cases of schools where the governing body is regarded seriously, show that nine-tenths of the legislation and other whim wham made into rulings they are done for: first, political purposes; second, to be doing something; third, to satisfy the ambitious ideas of some student moron. In many cases, it all amounts to nothing. In most cases it merely adds to the red tape.

Back of much of the dissatisfaction and back of the foolish attempts of the S. S. G. A. to create interest in itself, is the common delusion that in a democracy everyone must have an active voice in government. Such a thing of course is impossible, and if it were possible, would wreck any government within a week. It is nevertheless, one of the most ancient and most successful vote-getting devices employed by American political yodlers.

The function of the S. S. G. A., as the Collegian sees it, is to attend to routine matters and to act as an emergency buffer between students and faculty. The Collegian believes that thus far the S. S. G. A. has been a success. Its chief affliction is an inferiority complex. If it can realize its own success, and discard the illusion that it should do something monumental, it may remain successful.

He sat across the aisle from us, and aired his views on everything from the Teapot Dome scandal to the modern system of education, and college students.

"They are sophisticated," he said. "And hard. Watch them smile superciliously when church and Sunday school are mentioned. Young people's meetings and Christian Endeavor are all right at home, but the college student has to rest on Sunday and recuperate from the dance of the night before. They tell him that's all right—he must have some time for rest."

"He laughs at the traditions and customs for which his parents have the most respect. As for religion—he hasn't any. He believes the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. are obsolescent institutions which have served their day."

"They are not altogether to blame. They've been taught that the earth is theirs, and the fullness thereof, and a college degree is the open sesame to certain success. We have efficiency experts who visit the high school students and tell them in actual figures just how much money a college education is worth. They make money their goal, and they mean to get it by the work of their brains alone."

"I've got a kid of my own at—university. Third year, smug, self-satisfied, and intolerant. Right now he's like a sponge. Absorbs just what his teachers tell him to learn, never does a bit of original thinking, except to cultivate a line that keeps us guessing when he comes home."

The Brown Bull

Viscount James Bryce probably knew our America better than we Americans know it ourselves. For nearly 30 years, as English Ambassador to the United States, it was his official business to study America in detail—her likes, dislikes, mannerisms, tastes, foibles and one of the things that impressed him forcibly was the American sense of fun. Although his "American Commonwealth" is primarily a study of constitutional government, Bryce often halts the progress of the exposition to comment on extraneous phases of American life that have interested him. On one of these digressions he writes: "All the world knows that they (Americans) are a humorous people. They are as conspicuously the purveyors of humor to the nineteenth century as the French were the purveyors of wit to the eighteenth. Nor is this sense of the ludicrous side of things confined to a few brilliant writers; it colors their ordinary life, and gives to their talk that distinctively new flavor which a European palate enjoys."

Our sense of humor is doubtless our redeeming feature. We have little else to recommend us—no heritage of age and tradition, little architecture, scarcely any art, and a meager literature; and the thing that probably saves us from being crude and boorish is our refusal to take anything seriously. No phase of our life is so sacred as to be spared the barbs of the cartoonist, the columnist and the paragrapher. Every phase of American life is humorous—to an American. Even the grave business of becoming educated may have its moments of levity.

The college comic magazine is a distinct type of American humor; and our contribution to this phase of American life ranks in the upper quartile. Entered in the show ring of the chromatic menagerie against the Orange Owl, the Purple Cow, the White Mule, the Black and Blue Jay, the Flamingo, the Purple Parrot, our own Brown Bull regularly wins honors; and the Leap Year rampage of this Brunette Gentleman of the Genus Bos is of special note. Rarely in a single issue of a college comic magazine does one find such a wide variety of humorous appeal. In this issue situation, word-play, incident, puns, incongruity, suggestion, double meaning, parody, practical joke cynicism, doggerel verse and cartoon all find a place; yet little of it is copied, and most of it is typical of the raciest moments of college life.

The only feature of this issue that one might be inclined to find fault with is the page entitled "The Hall of Fame." This section is inappropriate for three reasons: the idea is a direct plagiarism from "Vanity Fair," and as such is not in keeping with the original character of the rest of the paper; the material is not intentionally comic; and the subject-matter properly belongs to the dedicatory page of the "Royal Purple," not to the pages of the "Brown Bull."

A smart wag of the last generation in speaking of the relative merits of Mark Twain and Bill Nye, said that a funny man acting natural was a humorist; and that a natural man acting funny was that particular band of fool which we usually spell with a dash. Mark Twain, of course, was the humorist because he was natural; and if naturalness is the touchstone, then the "Brown Bull" wins the bucket of brandy mash. Miss Josephine Hemphill and her staff of editors have sensibly avoided aping the professional comic magazines, and have given us a genuine expression of college humor—racy, original, spontaneous. The editorials on "Repealing Leap Year" and "Declaring War on the Hackneyed Joke" are real editorials; the cartoons by John Post and Dorothy Rice are real cartoons; most of the comic copy is

No mind in America is more sensitive to humor in all its forms than is the undergraduate mind; and if American college humor has one identifying feature, that characteristic must be its infinite variety. The average undergraduate mind finds no "tongues in trees, books in running brooks, sermons in stones, and good in everything"—it finds humor in everything. And who would change it?

NATIONAL Y. W. SECRETARY ON TOUR OF KANSAS SCHOOLS

Speaks on "Denials of Christ" at Vespers Thursday

"Denials of Christ" was the subject presented by Miss Juanita Saddle, national Y. W. C. A. secretary, at vespers Thursday afternoon. Miss Saddle analyzed the causes of inter-race, international, interclass and interdenominational conflicts, and pointed out the similarity between them. Various remedies were suggested for the betterment of conditions, chief among them being to feel some responsibility for the improvement of world conditions.

Miss Saddle is making a two week's tour of Kansas schools. She comes here from Washburn and Kansas university, and will go to Emporia and Pittsburg. Miss Mildred Inskeep, traveling secretary for the Rocky Mountain district, is accompanying her.

Chester Hassler spent the week end at his home south of Chapman.

"As I look back over my college days," said the old grad, "it strikes me that there were more men playing Blind Man's Buff than all other games combined. I understand this is still the case.

"Get me straight, it was no child's play. What we were groping around for was pretty serious business. Nothing less than a career.

"Too many students are in the dark as to what they will do after graduation. Either they neglect to specialize in anything, or hastily select a major which they afterwards regret.

"I know I would have been considerably ahead in business, if back at college I had sat down for a few hours' earnest thought to find out just what work I liked best—and then gone in for it heart and soul.

"Pick the thing that appeals to you, and don't let them tell you that particular line is overcrowded. Talk this over with graduates you know. Talk it over with your Professor. Most of all, talk it over with yourself.

"The main thing is to get on the right track and keep going. There is no fun in being 'it' in the game of life with every chance of fate ready to push you off at an uncertain course."

MICHAEL FARADAY
1791-1867
Apprentice to an English book-binder. Attracted the attention of Sir Humphrey Davy, becoming his assistant. "The greatest experimentalist of all times," says one biographer. The electrical unit Farad was named for him.

"What's the use of it?"

Michael Faraday saw the real beginning of the age of electricity nearly a century ago when he thrust a bar magnet into a coil of wire connected with a galvanometer and made the needle swing.

Gladstone, watching Faraday at work in his laboratory, asked, "What's the use of it?" The experimenter jestingly replied, "There is every probability that you will soon be able to tax it." The world-wide use of electricity that has followed the Faraday discovery abundantly justifies the retort to Gladstone.

Faraday's theory of lines of force is constantly applied in the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company in devising new electrical apparatus of which Faraday never dreamed. Every generator and motor is an elaboration of the simple instruments with which he first discovered and explained induction.

AGGIE ORPHEUM PRIZE WON BY PI BETA PHIS

Audience Gives "A Ragtime Meal" Most Applause—Tetrick's Dramatic Pupils Win with "A Novelty"

"A Ragtime Meal" presented by Pi Phi and Company was awarded the $25 prize offered for the best college stunt presented at the Aggie Orpheum, Friday evening. "A Novelty" given by Mrs. G. L. Tetrick's dramatic pupils won the $15 prize for the best down town stunt.

The college orchestra, under the direction of Professor Wheeler opened the Orpheum with an overture, "Pathe News" followed in regular Orpheum style. Six vaudeville acts were given as follows: "Musical History," by Phi Beta Sigma; "Dan Deever as the Mad Magician," "A Novelty," by Mrs. Tetrick's pupils; "Hot Harmony Hounds," by the college quartette; "Isn't it a Nice Day?," by Holcombe and company, and "A Ragtime Meal," by Pi Phi and company. Dr. H. T. Hill conducted the judging which was determined by the applause of the audience. Other town acts forfeited the prize to Mrs. Tetrick's pupils by failing to present their stunts.

DEBATERS DEFEAT K. U.

Men's Squad Wins First Contest from Jayhawkers

In the first men's debate ever held between the two schools, K. S. A. C. won unanimously from the University of Kansas men's debate team at Lawrence Saturday night.

The question debated was the entry of the United States into the world court. The Aggie squad upheld the affirmative. The Aggie representatives were Randall Hill, B. J. Miller, and John S. Fuller.

The debate Friday night marked the third consecutive victory for the Aggie men's team this year. From now on until late in April the squad has a number of contests, arranged, and indications are excellent for a clean sweep of the entire series.

Prof. H. B. Summers and Prof. H. A. Shinn are coaching debate at the college this year.

Dean of Agriculture Urges Less Artificial Standards

"Everyone of us is ashamed of something. Persons' names, their home towns, their occupations, all are subjects of shame. Some of us are even ashamed to try to be correct in speech and manner." These remarks were included in an address by F. D. Farrell, dean of agriculture, at student assembly Tuesday.

"There is little necessary relation between what a man does for a living and what he is," said Dean Farrell. "Our sense of values is distorted. We have a habit of evaluating persons on their occupations."

Dean Farrell urged his hearers to be less artificial in their judgment of others and themselves.

Addresses Mass Meeting of Christian Endeavor Society

About 200 students attended the mass meeting of Christian Endeavor at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening. A social hour preceded the regular meeting. C. C. Hamilton, national secretary, and Miss Madeline Carter, state secretary, spoke during the regular meeting.

"What we need today and what we must look to Christian Endeavor to supply is consecrated Christian leadership," declared Mr. Hamilton. "The opportunities for students to do a wonderful work for Christ along with their daily tasks is unlimited."

Mr. Hamilton then outlined briefly the growth of Christian Endeavor.

DANCES AND STUNTS ARE ORDER OF DAY

Vincent Bates, Roughneck Manager,
Predicts Lively Time at the Annual Frolic

Considerable disappointment has been evidenced by the students because Roughneck day, the only distinctive Kansas Aggie holiday, falls this year on Saturday. However, plans which are being made by Vincent Bates, general manager for the day, will help to alleviate this misfortune.

Hob Nails Are Tabooed

The program is similar to that carried out on Roughneck day last year. Classes will be attended regularly the first two hours. After 10 o'clock students will be free to try to dance in recreation center. A tip given out by the manager is that only those who wear good smooth soled shoes will be allowed to dance. Hob nails will not be worn. At 11:15 a special Roughneck chapel is scheduled.

The freshmen-sophomore olympics, a scheme inaugurated last year to determine whether the freshmen will wear their frosh caps during the spring baseball season, will be held again this year. The olympics will start early in the afternoon and will be followed by a matinee dance at Harrison's from 3 to 5:30.

Day to Be Well Organized

The Roughneck day manager represents the Wampus Cats who have complete supervision of the holiday. They have arranged for two dances at night. At the Roughneck dance at the gym prizes will be given for the best costumed individuals. For the elite of the student body there will be a high brow highbrow dance at Harrison's.

According to Mr. Bates, there will be a Roughneck day next year provided the day is well rganized this year, and no damage is done to college property.

WOULD TERMINATE WAR

George Collins Expounds Doctrine of Superresistance

"War today is a menace to civilization. You can have war if you like it. You can have civilization, if you prefer it. The day is past when you can have both," said George Collins, secretary of the fellowship of reconciliation, in a talk to the Y. M. and Y. W. forum, in home economics rest room, Monday afternoon.

"War will never stop war," he continued. "Today war is made more effective but shows no indication of stopping itself. The last war has made democracy the laughing stock of the world. War stands out as a profound challenge to so called civilization."

"The moral standards in the countries where the war was waged have dropped to levels inconceivable by one who has not been there," Mr. Collins stated. "Thousands are dead or dying from disease and starvation as a direct result of the war."

"There are two ways of resistance. One is the way of fear, of war, of preparedness. The other is the way of superresistance, the way of Christ, the way of the cross. It is a dangerous way. No one knows where it leads. That way leads to the light and it is the only way that holds hope."

"You ask 'what of an invasion?' Friends, the cause of an invasion is long standing injustice. The way to protect is by consistent and impartial justice."

In closing Mr. Collins explained that the Fellowship of Reconciliation is an organization binding the students of any color race or creed who believe in the principles of Jesus Christ and are willing to stand up for them. These people place loyalty to Christ and humanity above loyalty to state.

R. W. CONOVER LECTURES ON ANATOLE FRANCE WEDNESDAY

Modern French Writer Is an Individualist

"He has avoided tragedy and has taken the attitude of indifference to life. The works of Anatole France will be remembered, for he has depicted the surface of the life of his times," said Professor Conover in his lecture on the life and works of Anatole France, modern French writer, at the home economics rest room Wednesday afternoon.

"He is best known for his satirical, skeptical works. He was skeptical of everything, the church, the state, political forms, even of the

Students Walked Primrose Path in 1900---There were No Deans

Can the student at K. S. A. C. in 1924, emerging from the registration strife in Nichols gymnasium on assignment days, imagine himself under a system in which there is no gymnasium, no closed classes, no bothersome checking, and in fact none of the trials and troubles which he now undergoes? The average student's imagination would have to be stretched indeed, to visualize such a happy condition, but as a matter of fact 25 years ago just such a system prevailed.

In 1900 assignments at K. S. A. C. were made in the assigners' offices, and the student had only to go to that office and take out his work. There were no deans in the college and the president's signature was necessary on each assignment. No divisions had appeared as yet. For special requests, such as changes of assignment, the committee on assignments met once each week and considered the desired changes.

When a new student entered school there was more delay than there is at the present time. For the committee on admission was to be seen first, then the committee on advanced credit, and finally the student was sent to his assigner. Inasmuch as all of these committees were usually in different buildings, exercise played a prominent part in the first few days of the new student's college life. Aside from the fact that the school has grown from 1094 students in 1900 to 3,700 at the present time, there were some disadvantages in the old registration system, which, combined with the growth in enrollment, made it impossible ever to return to it. Since there was no check on classes, the assigner had no means of knowing what classes were filled and what ones were not. Consequently many of the classes were greatly overcrowded and others had but few in attendance. This condition made the creation of new classes necessary, any many reassignments resulted. Although the system required a much smaller amount of time than the one in existence now, it became imperative that there be a checking system to tally all the students and handle closed classes. From this start the present system of registration evolved.

According to members of the faculty who were here 25 years ago, the present system of registration has many advantages over the old one, and makes registration easier in the long run for all concerned. But as one present-day student expressed it, "No deans, no registration in the gym, no closed classes! Say! This sure used to be an easy place to live in."

history of civilization. France repudiated the church at 21, and turned to science and democracy as the hope of the world. Then, disillusioned by the virtues of democracy, he turned to communism. He is now an individualist, not, however, a complete skeptic."

Professor Conover gave his own translation from the preface to "La Vie Litteraire" and from "Le Jardin d'Epicule." In the preface to "La Vie Litteraire," France says, "I have learned life, not through contact with man, but through contact with books."

Professor Conover also read from France's "Penguin Island," "At the Sign of the Queen Pedagogue," which contains one of his most delightful characters, and "The Crime of Sylvester Bonnard," which is one of his most enjoyable early books.

"Politics Begins at Home" Says Coed G. O. P. Delegate

"Good politics, like charity, should begin in the home precinct," says Dany Barnett, who has recently been elected delegate to the state Republican convention which will be held at Topeka, March 11. Miss Barnett is interested in politics not as a professional, but as a citizen. Her choice for president is Calvin Coolidge, "because he counts ten before he speaks."

Miss Barnett is a senior in industrial journalism, and takes an unusual interest in school affairs. She is president of the local chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, chancellor of the Manhattan chapter of the American College Quill club, a member of the Ionia literary society, and of the Phi Omega Pi social sorority. Last year she won junior honors because of her high scholastic standing. In addition to her school work, Miss Barnett finds time to take an active part as a member of the Eastern Star and of the P. E. O. Sisterhood.

She is the daughter of Prof. and Mrs. R. R. Barnett of Manhattan, both of whom are graduates of K. S. A. C. with the class of '95, and the granddaughter of Charles Day, prominent farmer and stockman of Pottawatomie county.

ORGANIZE CHURCH SORORITY

Presbyterian Girls Found Chapter of Theta Tau

A new sorority, Theta Tau, has recently been organized by the girls of the Presbyterian church. This is the first group of the sort ever founded in a Presbyterian church in the United States and it was largely through the efforts of Rev. W. U. Guerrant, student pastor of the church, that the present organization has been effected. It is hoped that the success of the organization will be great enough that it will in time become the Alpha chapter of a national organization.

Officers of Theta Tau are president, Ruth Long; secretary, Alice Fisher; treasurer, Josephine Brooks; marshal, Ruth Larsen. Other members are Ruth Robertson, Victorine Fry, Bella Robertson, Mable Kennedy, Bessie Smith, Ethel Nelson, Sue Burris, Jennetta Shields, Sylvia Shields, Helen Batchelor, Sarah Morris, and Helen VanGilder.

LIFE SIZED DOLLS GIVE WILLOW PLATE STORY

Tony Sarg's Marionettes Present Old Chinese Tale—Music Composed by Victor Herbert

Life size dolls, capable of every sort of human movement, will enact the Chinese Willow Plate story, a representation of the story seen in the pictures on Chinese willowware, at the Auditorium, Monday evening. Tony Sarg, internationally known cartoonist and illustrator, and Victor Herbert, well known composer, have combined their efforts to make this the greatest Marionette production in the world. Every detail is so carefully worked out as to make it far superior to the old type of marionettes.

A complete Chinese stage and setting will be erected on the auditorium stage and from a scaffolding above, the strings controlling the actions of the dolls will be operated. There is a human character for each marionette, who controls as many as 26 strings used in the movement of the character. He is also able, by means of a megaphone, to speak and sing for it.

The characters are a rich mandarin, Kong Shee; his daughter, Shang; his secretary, Duke Ta Jin; the matchmaker, a Pekinese dog, the faithful maid, lantern bearers, musicians, warriors, and fishes. A Chinese orchestra of piano, cello, oboe, drums, and tympany will play music composed by Victor Herbert, to fit the play.

A children's version of the story will be given in the afternoon. College students will not be allowed to attend this performance.

Whether Tony Sarg will be present in person has not yet been ascertained. If he is here, he will lecture in home economics rest room at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. If he is not able to come to Manhattan, Richard Condon will speak at this time. Mr. Condon will also give a brief talk before the faculty meeting Monday.

If the appreciation of the Marionettes is great enough, the public speaking department is planning to bring Tony Sarg's latest production, "Treasurer Island," to the college next year.

COLLEGE TREE TRANSPLANTER MAKES TRIP TO FORT RILEY

Machine Moves Tree Weighing 2,500 Pounds

The college tree transplanter took its first long trip last week when a 14 year pin oak tree was transplanted to Fort Riley. Considerable planting has been done in Manhattan with this machine but never before had a trip of over three miles been attempted.

The tree stood 35 feet tall and was raised and carried with the tree transplanter owned by the campus department. A ball of earth weighing over 2,500 pounds was removed with the roots allowing very little air to reach them. The weight of the transplanter and tree together was over four tons. Four horses were used to draw the machine from the college to Fort Riley.

S. S. G. A. INTO THE LIMELIGHT

FACULTY MEMBERS DISCUSS IT AND SUGGEST ALTERATIONS

Professor Englund Offers Plan of Reorganization — Says Present System is Topheavy

"I believe the S. S. G. A. would function more satisfactorily if three things were done:

"1. Elimination of much unnecessary machinery by revision of the constitution.

"2. More specific definitions of what the S. S. G. A. can do and what it cannot do.

"3. Less faculty paternalism and the adoption of a 'sink or swim' policy."—Prof. Eric Englund, in discussion of S. S. G. A. before the general science faculty Tuesday.

The S. S. G. A. was the target at a meeting of the general science division faculty Tuesday evening. It was presented pro and con by different faculty members and one complete new plan of reorganization and several compromise plans were offered for consideration.

Englund Presents Plan of Revision

Prof. Eric Englund, of the department of agricultural economics, presented the plan for revision. (An outline of the plan is printed on page 2.)

"I am not an optimistic concerning the future of the S. S. G. A. as are those who speak in its behalf," Mr. Englund said. "During the two years and a half that I have served as a member of the faculty council on student affairs, I have become convinced that there are fundamental weaknesses in the present organization of the Student Self Governing association which doom it to perpetual ineffectiveness."

"Although the S. S. G. A. is functioning better this year than previously because of the good work of its president, Mr. Bartgis, I believe that it falls far short of the possibilities of student self-government."

Present System Cumbersome

"The fundamental reason for the weakness of the S. S. G. A.," declared Professor Englund, "lies in the cumbersome nature of the organization under its present constitution and in the complicated connection between the S. S. G. A. and the faculty. The whole system is top heavy with administrative machinery. Its actions are cumbersome and responsibility decentralized. In the S. S. G. A. there appears to be too much reliance on machinery and not enough on administration."

"It appears as though the S. S. G. A. had a committee for every thought and a faculty adviser for every committee. We—the faculty—exercise too much paternalism over student affairs in the S. S. G. A. We now have a faculty adviser for the senior class, which if it means anything, must mean that we do not believe that the seniors can look after their class affairs without the ever present faculty adviser."

Representation Too Far Removed

The greatest change advocated by Mr. Englund was a revision in the membership of the executive council, which would reduce the number of members to five.

"Under the present constitution," he said, "students are represented through the various fraternal, athletic, literary, social, and religious organizations. Students are also represented through the various classes. In fact the individual student is represented as many times as he is a joiner of organizations. Here, I believe is a real cause of the lack of interest in the S. S. G. A. Members of a fraternity vote for their representative on the Panhellenic council. That council elects one to serve on the S. S. G. A. This council elects one to serve on the S. S. G. A. council. This council in turn elects a committee and the committee presumably goes out to do the work of self-government. The individual student is removed four steps from the job and three steps from the committee that is supposed to do it. This removes the students government so far from him that he has little incentive to take an interest in it. Very few students know who the officers are."

Holton Endorses New Plan

Dean E. L. Holton, of the department of education, spoke in hearty endorsement of Mr. Englund's remarks. He declared himself as being strongly in favor of a students' governing association, but that he believed the present system needed revision.

Miss Grace Derby explained that much of student apathy toward the S. S. G. A. was due to a lack of publicity. She stated that much more real work was accomplished than was generally realized, and she believed one of the association's needs was more newspaper space. Miss Derby explained that she did not defend the S. S. G. A. as being perfect but merely wanted to give its officers due credit for the really good work they have accomplished so far.

STAGE SET FOR ANNUAL INTER-SOCIETY CONTEST

Eight Orations, Stunts, and Music
Will Be Included on Program
Saturday Evening

Everything is in readiness for the twenty-fourth annual intersociety oratorical contest to be held in the auditorium tomorrow evening at 7:30. Eight orators representing the eight literary societies of the college will compete. Stunts and special features will add entertainment to the program.

The oratorical contest is one of the big events of the year in literary circles. It is looked forward to and worked on for weeks in advance in the effort to give a finished program to the audience.

Stunts will be presented between the orations by the various societies. The complete program is as follows:

At 7:30 the societies march across the stage and down to their seats; at 8 o'clock, oration, "By-products of Progress," Helen Correll, Ionia; cornet solo, Lucile Heath; "The New Commandment," Orpha Russell, Eurodelphian; stunt, "Eight Flights Up," Ionia and Hamiltons; "The Measure of Success," Grace Currin, Brownings; solo, Harold Flamm; "The Anglo-American Handclasp," Jessie Newcomb, Alpha Beta; A Chalk Talk, by Don Lathrop, Eurodelphian and Websters; "War Abolished," Martin Fritz, Athenian; piano solo, Charles Stratton; "A Choice," George Corbet, Webster; "After the Feast is Over," by Alpha Betas and Franklins; "The Undertow," Lenora Doll, Franklin; "Courtship under Difficulties," Athenian and Brownings; "Cooperation in Agriculture," Walter Daly, Hamilton; demonstrations by literary societies in charge of Dr. H. H. King; decision of judges and awarding of prizes by President Jardine.

The prizes will be $25 in gold and a gold medal for first place; $15 in gold and a silver medal for second place; and $10 and a bronze medal for third place.

DOCTORS DISCUSS GLANDS

McFarland and Burt Address Science Club Meeting

"The haphazard use of glandular applications is not only unsuccessful but dangerous," warned Dr. L. E. McFarland, a Manhattan physician, in speaking upon the subject, "Regeneration by the Transplantation of Glands," before the Science club of the Kansas State Agricultural college Monday night. "Many successful operations have been performed by surgical doctors who knew the work and worked scientifically. But there are many quacks in the business who move from one place to another and doctor until they lose their reputation and then go on."

"As the public becomes informed and legislation is passed, quacking puts on a new coat and continues to prosper and will continue to prosper until proper legislation is passed whereby everybody concerned with the treatment of the sick is forced to have proper training in the fundamentals of medicine or surgery."

Dr. J. H. Burt, professor of anatomy and physiology in the college, contributed to the discussion of glands and their action upon the body.

"Perfect health is the perfect functioning of the many glands of the body according to the theory of therapeutic doctors," stated Doctor Burt. "The absence or removal of certain glands from the body produces characteristic effects. Some are harmful and some desirable. The effects produced by the removal of the testes of poultry, which results in the capons, has been a most successful and profitable experiment. If these glands are removed from carnivorous animals the results are practically the same."

"The thyroid glands of the neck are very important in the regulation of the proper functioning of the body. The thyroid glands are the most important in their relation to mental development. Lack of thyroid glands causes cretinism or

BACHMAN ENTERS 16 IN K. C. MEET

HOPES TO SECURE SEVERAL COUNTERS IN VALLEY CONTEST

Dope Points to Missouri as Winner of Meet—Kansas Also Has Strong Team

Head Coach Bachman has entered 16 Aggies thinly-clad in the annual Missouri Valley indoor track meet to be held in Convention hall, Kansas City, next Saturday night. With this squad, Bachman hopes to annex a fair number of points and to get an idea of the strength of his team.

Should Gain Several Counters

While the squad is not well balanced enough to secure points in a majority of the events, the team in all probability will gather a goodly number of counters in the races. However, in the field events few places are counted on.

Captain L. E. Erwin in the 50 yard dash is the class of Valley flyers and is almost sure of first place in that event. It is probable that R. E. Kimport who won the mile at the K. C. A. C. will repeat his performance, although he was beaten by Bierbaum of Ames, in the 1500 meter race at the Illinois relays. He will also run either the half or the two mile run. In the two mile run, A. I. Balzer, who won second at the meet last year, and R. P. Aikman, winner of the two mile in the intramural meet here, will test their "legs and lungs" against other valley distance men. K. Knouse in the 40 yard dash and H. A. Brockway in the half mile will also have to be reckoned with.

Missouri Slated to Win

Missouri university, with the strongest and best balanced team they have had for years, is slated to win the meet. It is generally conceded that they will gather first place in four events—high hurdles, low hurdles, shot put, and half mile run.

Although the Kansas university team, which has won the meet for the last two seasons, is not so dangerous as in former years, it has a fair chance of placing well up in the meet.

The events in which the Aggie tracksters have been entered and the entries follow:

50 yard dash—L. E. Erwin and K. Knouse.
High Jump—C. A. Logan.
Mile run—R. E. Kimport, W. Mathias, Charles Wells, A. I. Balzer, and R. P. Aikman.
50 yard high hurdles—J. T. Roberts.
440 yard dash—K. Knouse, H. A. Brockway, R. M. Karns, and L. E. Erwin.
Shot put—Lyle Munn and F. Brunkan.
Pole vault—P. R. Carter.
800 yard dash—R. E. Kimport, H. A. Brockway, F. L. Coleman, and M. H. Johnson.
50 yard low hurdles—C. A. Logan and J. L. Roberts.
Two mile run—A. I. Balzer, R. E. Kimport, and R. P. Aikman.
One mile relay—L. E. Erwin, R. M. Karns, H. A. Brockway, K. Knouse, and R. E. Kimport.

HAND WOVEN MATERIALS ON DISPLAY AT ART DEPARTMENT

Textiles Made by Mountaineers of Kentucky

An exhibit of community hand loom weaving from Berea, Ky., will be on display in the applied art department, room 68, Anderson hall, from March 6 to 14.

The articles in the exhibit are made from handspun and handwoven linen and wool, and are made in the homes among the mountains of Kentucky by the mothers and children. In some instances, weaving is the only source of income for the family. There are coverlets of colonial designs, table covers, luncheon sets, cushions, handbags, scarfs, and even dress goods. Many of the old colonial patterns are reproduced and are designs that have been handed down from mother to daughter for generations. The dyes are made from roots, barks, leaves, and flowers of mountain vegetation.

Miss Holman, head of the department of applied art, says that all of the articles in the exhibit are for sale.

"GIVE US LIBERTY, OR—"

"There will be a Roughneck day next year provided the day this year is well organized, and no damage is done to college property."—Ultimatum delivered by Manager Bates, godfather of the 1924 celebration.

Mr. Bates is right. There will be no real Roughneck day this year, next year, or any other year, if the day is well organized.

Proposed Changes in S. S. G. A. Constitution

Following is a brief outline of the plan presented by Professor Englund:

"As a remedy for the situation, I would suggest the following major changes in the constitution: All undergraduate students taking collegiate work should become members upon registration. No student should be deprived of membership by reason of being exempted from paying the varsity activity fee. In civil government no person exempted from taxation is for that reason denied citizenship.

"At the present time the S. S. G. A. council consists of twenty-two members. I would suggest that the council be reduced to five, all of whom should be chosen by the student body at general election. Election should take place before the close of the college year, and officers installed before commencement. The president should be elected from those who will be in the senior class the year following, the first vice president from those who will be in the junior class, the second vice president from those who will be the sophomore class, and the secretary and the treasurer from those who will be either juniors or seniors. This would reduce the committee to a workable size.

"The S. S. G. A. now has too many standing committees. Half of them should be abolished. When there is special work to do, special committees could be appointed for that purpose and discharged after their work is done.

"The student committee on discipline should consist of the president and the two vice presidents of the S. S. G. A. and the four class presidents, all of whom could be ex-officio members of this 'court of justice' of seven members.

"The committee on school spirit should remain a standing committee, and should have a working relationship with such organizations as the Wampus Cats and the Girls' Loyalty League.

"If a special 'police force' were needed to enforce recognized college traditions, a vigilance committee could be organized, consisting of probably seven juniors and eight sophomores. They should be able to develop a rather high degree of esprit de corps. This committee would be responsible to the executive council.

"The duties assigned to the committees on calendar, social affairs, points, and finance could be performed by the executive council or by special committees.

"As I have already suggested, the constitution should state specifically what the S. S. G. A. can do and what it can not do. It should be given a more definite scope than it now has. This would enable students to grasp more fully the true meaning of student self government. If my judgment is correct, certain difficulties that have arisen in the past were due to a misunderstanding on the part of students as to the real meaning of student self government. Many of them have failed to realize that all the authority a student association of this kind has or could have is delegated to it by the administration of the college, which in turn is responsible to the people of the state. The S. S. G. A. could have no legal standing. It is only an organization to which the administration delegates certain responsibilities. It could be no more than that. This misunderstanding was the basis of the controversy over paddling a year and a half ago. At that time the students did not seem to grasp the fact that the faculty cannot sanction anything that is contrary to state law, or which would be detrimental to the reputation for orderliness which the institution is determined to maintain.

Campus Echoes draws back into the shadows this week to allow the full glare of publicity to shine forth on two prominent and well known members of the freshman class, Miss Alice Nichols and Miss Mary Marcine Kimball, two students who have dared to defy convention and the rules of polite society—who have become pioneers, as it were, in the great task remaining before them—who have come out boldly for reform in the art of eating sandwiches.

"The Ancient Order of Anti-Sandwich Breakers fills a long felt want," said Miss Nichols, when being interviewed, "and I predict that by the end of the week students will be clamoring for membership.

"How did we begin? Listen here—did you ever try to break a sandwich into genteel halves, and have one portion of the cold ham get from under cover and be exposed to the vulgar rabble? Did you ever try to break a toasted cheese sandwich and have the elastic contents snap back and kick you in the face? I say, did you ever eat a piece of sandwich, with a corsage bouquet of green foliage and salad dressing waving from one end? I say, did—Excuse me, while I relax. Doctor Siever says that unless I can go into this crusade in a calmer manner, I may be a mental wreck by spring. But it would be worth it—yes, it would be worth it."

After she became quiet, we ventured a remark. "What would Emily Post—"

"Emily Post!" I SCORN to have anything to do with Emily Post. She has done more to ruin—"

"All right," we assured her hastily. "Do you have officers and pins, just like other organizations?"

"Yes. I am president and treasurer and Mary Marcine is vice president and secretary. We believe that as soon as the public is educated to the idea, the use of lettuce as a catchall for meats, fruits, nuts, and whatnot will be abandoned. But we must educate the public—we must teach them, we must educate—"

"Yes, yes, of course, but your pins?"

"Our pin is a quaint little emblem, a tiny set of false teeth imbedded firmly in a small sandwich of peanut butter. After we have educated the public—"

"You bet. And your colors?"

"Lettuce green and dried beef red. We believe that if the public—"

"The public be disregarded for the nonce. Do you have any penalties for breaking the rules?"

"The Lookout committee sees to that. Any member of the organization found guilty of breaking his oath and his sandwich is fined 25 cents, and sentenced to a week's diet of stewed prunes and malted milk. We are quite sure that as soon as the public—"

"Certainly. Do you have any social affairs in connection with this great and worthy enterprise?"

"We have not neglected that side of it. Next month we will have our first annual Founders' Day banquet at the Tip Top Luncheonette. Toasts will be made by the founders. Anything you can do for us in the way of helping to educate the public—"

She had that wild, erratic look in her eyes, and we left, as quietly as possible.

COLE'S

CAGERS END YEAR

TIED FOR FOURTH

AGGIES FINISH SEASON WITH STANDING OF .500

Basketball Takes New Hope under Coursant—Prospects Bright for Next Year

A fighting Aggie basketball team swept through to victory and a tie for fourth place in the Missouri Valley standings by defeating Drake 20 to 25, in the final game of the season Tuesday evening. The win gave the Wildcats a percentage of .500, and concluded a victory string of "four straights."

Looked Hopeless in September
When Coach C. W. Coursant took over the Aggie basketball team last September it was about the most hopeless looking aggregation ever assembled as an Aggie squad. Five letter men could scarcely be distinguished from the scrubs. They could "pass not, neither could they shoot."

Intensive drill on the short pass and basket shooting soon showed results, and the Wildcats electrified a local crowd by taking a game from Nebraska. Improvement was steady, and after losing every game on the first two road trips the team won from Drake, Ames, Washington, and Missouri on the road, losing to Kansas, Grinnell, Nebraska, and Oklahoma.

Webber Plays Last Game
Captain Howard "Hank" Webber, Dodge City, is the only member of the team who will not be back next season, the remainder of the squad, excepting Doolen, being composed of men making their first letter.

Webber got away to a slow start, but wound up the season playing an excellent defensive game with now and then a basket in a tight game.

Kerney Bunker, forward, Kansas City, and Eric Tebow, center, Scandia, ran a close race in scoring throughout the season and finished among the first ten of the Valley. Bunker traveled at a dizzy pace. In the last five games, and is a prospective all valley forward if he can keep up the pace in 1925.

Wann Makes Good Showing
Gil Wann, forward, Hays, was a good match for the diminutive Bunker, and had an uncanny habit of snatching the tip off out of the hands of men a foot taller.

Art Doolen, guard, the fighting, smiling, always trying member of the team, had his ups and downs but never quit trying in the most discouraging game. Fritz Koch earned a letter as general utility man, starring in any position which he was called on to play. An injury forced him out of the game when he was playing in top form. Jerry Harris, guard, and Mike Widenbach, forward, subbed in several games, together with Charles "Chis" Long, Lou Grothusen, L. M. Staley, E. A. Miller, and Perle Rumold.

Coursant to Revive Old Days
Coach C. W. Coursant apparently has come to K. S. A. C. with his eyes set on a revival of the days when Aggie basketball was the class of the conference. With most of the veterans eligible for two more years and a wealth of new material coming on, that day may not be so far distant.

AGGIES OF REPUBLICAN FAITH PLAN EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN

Fred Volland Elected President of
G. O. P. Club

The Republicans of the college are making plans for opening an educational campaign concerning the Republican party, and will also shortly start a membership drive, it was announced by the club president today. It is expected that over a thousand Aggies will be secured for the Republican club of K. S. A. C.

A meeting was called on Monday evening by M. S. Eisenhower, who is acting as a representative for the political party in this section. Fred Volland was elected president of the K. S. A. C. club and Alan Dailey was elected secretary.

Within the next few weeks a banquet is to be held at the Gillett hotel when Fred Volland Sr. of Topeka, who has recently returned from Washington where he worked for a number of months under Herbert Hoover, will address the Republican students and the membership drive will be formally opened.

The members of the local committee are Helen Correll, Maxine Ransom, Alan Dailey, Fred Volland, Wayne Rogler, M. R. Getty, M. S. Eisenhower, and Robert Shideler.

SPECIMENS OF ORES AND ROCKS ADDED TO MUSEUM

Smithsonian Institute Donates Valuable Collection

The department of zoology has recently received a large collection of valuable specimens of ores and rocks from the Smithsonian Institute of Washington, D. C. The ores include copper, magnetite, chromite, tungsten, and many rare metals. They were collected from Germany, Japan, Brazil.

The rocks are representative of the rocks found in different portions of the United States. Prof. A. B. Sperry made an extensive collection of native rocks last summer, and these, together with the collection sent from the Smithsonian Institute, will be placed in the K. S. A. C. museum.

Three of the five Aggie basketball "regulars" received mention among the outstanding players of the conference in the All Valley selections announced Sunday by the Kansas City Journal-Post and the Kansas City Star. The selections of the two papers usually are regarded as official "all" teams.

Webber on Third Team

Captain Howard Webber was awarded the guard position on the Star's third team, while Kirby Bunker, forward, and Eric Tebow, center, received honorable mention. Both Tebow and Bunker were put in the honorable mention class by the Journal-Post.

To Oklahoma and Kansas University, runners up and champions respectively, were awarded the first five positions. Black, K. U. captain and guard, was given the captaincy of the quintet. Mosby, K. U., guard, Ackerman, K. U., center, and McBride and Wallace, Oklahoma, forwards, completed the selections.

Webber Plays Last Valley Game

Election of the 1925 Aggie captain by the letter men will be run off soon, according to Coach Corsaut. It is probable that the number of letters awarded will be limited to six. Webber, Doolen, Tebow, Wann, Bunker and Koch being the lucky men. Webber alone of the sextet has played his last in the Valley.

At present the varsity squad is taking a much desired rest, both from practice and training rules. Both varsity and freshman practice probably will be continued for a while in modified form.

The race for high scoring honors ended with Bunker still in the lead with 122 points, though Tebow reduced the gap by pushing his total up 18 points in the final game. Both Bunker and Tebow finished in the first ten Valley scorers.

K. U. Is Valley Champion

Drake came back with a vengeance in their last three games, which left Washington, the Aggies, and the Des Moines school in a triple tie for fourth place.

The University of Kansas, Oklahoma, and Nebraska finished in the order named, while Grinnell, Ames, and Missouri trailed in fifth, sixth, and seventh positions.

MAY 3 IS DATE SET FOR ANNUAL AG FAIR

Site Changed to Tract South of Waters Hall—Several New Features Planned

Saturday, May 3, has been selected as the date for the Ag Fair, according to the announcement of Tex Magee, manager for the 1924 fair, at a recent meeting in the Ag association. Plans for the fair were presented to the association at this meeting.

The location of the fair for this year has been changed from the east campus to the large tract just south of Water's hall. By using this site it will be possible to take advantage of the buildings in the vicinity of the fair grounds.

Contrary to fairs of previous years, there will be but one tent show, and that will be the Minstrels. The stock judging pavilion, with a seating capacity of 500 people, will house the follies. A new feature is being presented this year, the Hickville Music Box Revue, which will be in the veterinary amphitheater. Instead of the usual outside platform dance, the first floor of the farm machinery hall will be utilized.

The side shows, concessions, and other grafts without which no fair is complete, will line the Pike, at the lower end of which will be located the Rodeo, a feature introduced last year.

More importance will be devoted to educational exhibits this year than in any previous fairs, and from advance indications, more departments will take part in this phase of the work than heretofore.

As usual, the high school judging contest will be held the two days preceding the fair.

FOODS TRIP IS MARCH 17

Classes to Inspect Institutions of Kansas City

The foods and institutional management classes will go to Kansas City March 17, on an inspection tour. The classes will be accompanied by Martha S. Pittman and Katherine Hudson of the department of food economics and nutrition, and Elsie May Carp of the college cafeteria. Thirty students have already signed up for the trip.

These classes go to Kansas City each year for two or three days to visit various institutions engaged in handling, manufacturing, and storing food. They also visit commercial restaurants and tea rooms and factory cafeterias, and study in detail the equipment as to efficiency in placing labor saving devices, and methods of handling food.

Once a Refugee, He Raises Flowers at College Greenhouse

"It couldn't be any better," said Alexander Van Pelt when asked how he liked America. "Alex" as he is called by every one who has found out how American he is, finds K. S. A. C. very interesting. Whether it was his ability to grin or his ability to speak English that caused the Y. M. C. A. secretary at Antwerp to take an interest in the little Belgian boy is difficult to decide. At any rate he did find him interesting, and for that reason Alexander found himself on his way to America in the care of this big hearted American.

"When we got to the judge Ellis Island they almost sent me back because I wasn't old enough, but he had a big heart and so they let me come in," said Alex when telling of his first impression of America.

During the war Alex with his mother and two sisters wandered as refugees up into northern Holland and later to England where he learned the English language. Alex doesn't think of Germans, war or refugees now but spends his time at the pleasant occupation of learning how to grow flowers at the college greenhouse. Although he is only a freshman he is ambitious to grow flowers all his own and have a big glass house clear full of them.

Alexander is not a naturalized citizen yet for the law considers him too young but when he gets old enough he is going to be an American.

tion of snake charmer in the museum. He has been known to create considerable consternation among the girls and also a few boys, by pulling rattlesnakes from his coat pocket. Howard doesn't mind them in the least and says the fiercest of Texas rattlers can be tamed to do tricks. He has several of his pets on exhibition at the museum along with two alligators, a turtle and two opossums.

Mr. Gloyd is assistant curator at the museum and spends most of his spare time in following that occupation. He does most of his work in stuffing birds and animals and is well known as a taxidermist. At the present time he is making a complete study of hawks and is preparing a paper on their habits and benefits to man. He is also aiding in an experiment with a group of 40 snakes from the results of which will be published a bulletin telling of the benefits of certain snakes to Kansas farmers.

Howard comes to K. S. A. C. from Ottawa university which he attended for three years. He is a member of the Kansas Academy of Science, the American Ornithologist union, and also belongs to the American Society of Mammologists. He is a member of the Omega Tau Epsilon fraternity.

K. C. LITTLE SYMPHONY TO GIVE CONCERT APRIL 1

Organization Has Made Tour of Pacific Coast Since Appearance in Manhattan Last Spring

The Kansas City Little Symphony orchestra will make its second appearance in Manhattan Tuesday, April 1, according to an announcement by M. F. Ahearn, chairman of a Kiwanis club committee. Kiwanians are bringing the distinguished Kansas City organization here both to furnish Manhattan a musical treat and to financially benefit the Camp Fire girls, to whom the net proceeds will be given.

Two concerts will be presented, a program for children being scheduled for the afternoon. Both the matinee and the principal evening performance will be given in the college auditorium.

During the past year the Little Symphony has added considerable to its own quality and to its prestige, according to press reports. Two pieces have been added, making a total of 21, and several changes in personnel have occurred. N. De Rubertis, who is largely responsible for the growth of the orchestra, still is its director.

Highly successful tour of the Pacific coast, and numerous tours through the Middle west, have given the musicians an enviable reputation. Those who heard the excellent concert given by the organization last winter may, according to Prof. Ira Pratt, head of the K. S. A. C. music department, expect to hear one of even greater excellence this spring.

LIVESTOCK FEEDERS WILL MEET AT COLLEGE IN MAY

National Speakers Already Secured for Convention

The date for the Livestock Feeders' convention has been set for Saturday, May 24, according to an announcement from the department of animal husbandry. Plans for the meeting are already well under way, and Charles E. Herrick, president of the American Institute of Meat Packers has been secured as one of the principal speakers. Part of the program will be devoted to reports on the experimental work of the year, conducted by the animal husbandry department.

PROFESSOR ROCKEY TO TALK ON HUGH WALPOLE TUESDAY

Lecture Is Tenth in Series on Modern Writers

Prof. N. W. Rockey will talk on the life and works of Hugh Walpole at the tenth of the series of addresses on representative modern writers next Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the home economics rest room.

Hugh Walpole has a peculiar interest for American readers because he is one of the very few English writers who sympathize with American thought. Mr. Walpole also outranks most of his contemporaries in the promise he gives of development into more than ordinary greatness. He has already attained fame as a reviewer, essayist, and novelist.

CHICAGO TROUPE TO APPEAR HERE

COFFER - MILLER PLAYERS SCHEDULED FOR MARCH 19-20

Company Specializes in Staging of Classics—Will Present "Androcles and the Lion" and "The Rivals"

"Androcles and the Lion" by George Bernard Shaw and "The Rivals" by Sheridan will be presented in the college auditorium, March 19 and 20, by the Coffey-Miller players of Chicago.

Carries Unique Setting This company specializes in the staging of the classics and is the best traveling company of players which the public speaking department was able to secure. It carries a unique setting of the newer type, as well as its own lighting system.

"Androcles and the Lion" is the story of the Roman persecution of a band of Christians who are about to be thrown to the lions for the edification of coliseum throngs. The part of Androcles, a little Roman tailor, is played by Jess Coffey.

"The Rivals" depicts the rivalry of three men for the love of one woman. Throughout the scenes, the character of Mrs. Malaprop, who persistently uses the right word in the wrong place, plays a most ludicrous part.

Tours Middle West

The company is making a tour of the universities and colleges of the middle west, filling return engagements in many places. Speaking of the players as he saw them at Kansas university last year Professor Shinn says, "It was one of the best productions which came to K. U. during the year in spite of the fact that we had several more expensive ones."

Reserved seats are soon to be placed on sale at $1.00 and $1.50 for the two nights. Tickets for one night only will be 75 cents and $1.00.

AGGIES PLACE FIFTH IN MISSOURI VALLEY MEET

Missouri Is Easy Winner with 39½ Points—Erwin Takes 50 Yard Dash

Missouri university was an easy winner in the annual Missouri valley indoor track meet held at Convention hall, Kansas City, Mo., Saturday night, when they scored 39½ points. The Aggies at the end of the meet stood at fifth place with a total of 11½ points.

The Aggie scores were secured by a first in the 50 yard dash, second in the two mile run, third in the mile run, and a tie for second in the pole vault with three other schools.

In the finals of the 50 yard dash Captain L. E. Erwin breastst the tape a few inches ahead of Lake, the Nebraska university flash. The time was 5 5-10 seconds. A. E. Balzer duplicated his feat of last year and won second in the two mile run. R. E. Kimport set a fast pace in the mile but was passed on the last lap by Pittenger of Missouri and Bierbaum, of Ames. The race was exceptionally fast and the time of 4 minutes 28 1-10 seconds set a new indoor valley record. P. R. Carter broke into the limelight of Aggie athletics when he tied with three other entries for second place in the pole vault.

SPEAKERS SECURED FOR FORUM

March 21-23 to Be Red Letter Days of Y. M.

Several speakers of note have been secured for the Y. M. World forum to be held March 21, 22, and 23. Plans are being made to make it the best and most instructive forum ever held at K. S. A. C.

The speakers so far secured are C. M. McConnell, brother of Bishop McConnell, representative of the board of home missions, and church executive on the commission of life service; Miss Muriel Day, personal secretary of women's home missionary society; Mrs. Clyde Collison, personal secretary of the women's foreign missionary society; Dr. Y. Y. Tsu, secretary Chinese Christian association in America; Chancellor Harper of Denver university; and Miss Margaret E. Lewis, representative of the Presbyterian church. Other arrangements are being made and will be announced in the near future.

Eva Leland, '22, who is teaching home economics at Maize, spent Saturday and Sunday at the Klix house. Erma Jean Huckstead of Junction City, spent the week end visiting friends in Manhattan.

Applications Due Saturday

Applications for the position of managing editor of the Kansas State Collegian for the second nine-weeks term, should be in the hands of Prof. N. A. Crawford, head of the department of journalism, by Saturday, March 15. References in writing should accompany applications. The Collegian executive board will hold election Monday, March 17.

CORBET, WEBSTER, TAKES $25 PRIZE IN ORATORICAL

Orpha Russell, Eurodelphian, Wins Second, and Leonora Doll, Franklin, Third

George Corbet, Webster, was awarded first prize by a unanimous decision of the judges in the twenty-fourth intersociety oratorical contest Saturday evening. The subject of his oration was "A Choice." Orpha Russell, Eurodelphian, won second place with an oration entitled "The New Commandment." "The Undertow," by Leonora Doll, Franklin, was awarded third prize.

There were two ties in the contest which necessitated the awards being worked out on a percentage basis. Orpha Russell and Leonora Doll tied for second place, Miss Russell winning by five per cent. Jessie Newcomb and Walter Daly tied for fifth place. Miss Newcomb received fifth by one point.

The order in which the other orators placed is Martin Fritz, Athenian, fourth; Jessie Newcomb, Alpha Beta, fifth; Walter Daly, Hamilton, sixth; Helen Correll, Ionian, seventh; Grace Curran, Browning, eighth.

The prizes were $25 in gold and a gold medal for first place; for second, $15 and a silver medal; and for third, $10 and a bronze medal.

The judges were R. H. Ritchie, professor of public speaking at Ottumwa; D. L. McEchron, vice-president of Washburn university; and E. C. Buehler, head of the department of public speaking at Washburn university. The other two judges were unable to be here.

President Jardine presided over the contest and Dr. H. H. King had charge of the demonstrations.

With this year's victory the Websters have won first place four times since 1906. They have won the last two years in succession. The Athenians have placed first five times, the Ionians five times, the Hamiltons five times, the Alpha Betas four times, and the Franklins once.

The committee in charge of the contest was L. R. Combs, chairman; Hilda Black, program, and R. L. Stover, judges and awards.

PERSIAN, WHO HAS RECENTLY VISITED HOMELAND, TO SPEAK

Dr. Isaac M. Yonan Will Talk in Chapel

Dr. Isaac M. Yonan, prominent theologian, fighter, refugee, and lecturer of Urumia, Persia, will speak in chapel Wednesday, March 12, on the subject, "Post War Problems of the Near East." Doctor Yonan is traveling throughout the United States lecturing in behalf of his unfortunate countrymen. He has just returned from a few months' visit to his homeland where he made a survey of conditions.

TO INVESTIGATE COLLEGE MORALS

OVER 100 SUMMONED TO APPEAR BEFORE COMMITTEE

Business Men, Students, and Faculty Members Named—Hearing at Branding Iron, April 22

Summonses to appear before the Branding Iron investigating committee have been sent to approximately 125 prominent students, faculty members, and business men, it was authoritatively stated yesterday evening by a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, which is instigating the "cleaner morals" campaign. It was rumored in semi-official circles that the hearing was to be held Tuesday April 22 in the college cafeteria, but those in high places were silent on the matter.

The identity of the indicted men is being guarded with the greatest secrecy. Every feature of the occasion will be cloaked in mystery until each defendant is safely seated in the Branding pavilion, according to a statement handed representatives of the press yesterday by the chief doorkeeper to the Imperial Brander. The ease of arranging to be out of town at the last minute was given as the reason for the ban on disclosures.

A Sigma Delta Chi closely in touch with the office of the Imperial Brander, did, however give an inkling of the nature of the principal charges. From his remarks it is adjudged the three most serious offenses to be investigated are idleness, egotism, and bashfulness. A year's sleuthing has yielded enough evidence to convict at least 100 of Manhattan's male elite on one of the three counts, it is reported.

OSCAR JACOBSON TO SPEAK AT OPENING OF ART GALLERY

Will Give Lectures Thursday Afternoon and Evening

Oscar Jacobson, director of the art school at the University of Oklahoma, will give an address on "Art and Nationality" at the formal opening of the art gallery in the cafeteria building, Thursday at 7:30. He will address another group on "Modernism in Art" in A 68, Thursday afternoon at 4:30.

Mr. Jacobson was graduated from the art school of Bethany college in 1903, and studied two years at the Yale art school. He has taught art at Washington State college, and the University of Oklahoma. He was the principal speaker at the fifteenth annual convention of the American Federation of Arts, held recently in St. Louis.

W. A. A. ELECTS GIRLS TO GO TO CONVENTION

Laureda Thompson and Phyllis Burtis Will Attend Semi-Annual Conclave at Berkeley, Cal.

Laureda Thompson and Phyllis Burtis were elected at the regular meeting of the Woman's Athletic association Thursday, to attend the semi-annual convention of the association to be held in Berkeley, Cal., April 9-14. The expenses of this trip will be paid from the W. A. A. treasury plus the $100 given the association from the athletic appropriation by "Mike" Ahearn.

Other matters take up at the business meeting were the election and installation of Ethyl Danielson as archery manager, and Genevieve Tracy as track manager. Nominations for officers for next year were also made. The election of the officers will be at the next meeting, Thursday, April 4, at 5 p. m. in the K room.

BY THE WATCH

The music department has, thank God, established a precedent which everyone may feel is a compliment to those who have sufficient consideration of performers to be always on time. The Elly Ney concert Monday night started exactly at 8:15—as it was advertised—and this is generally true of all events given under the supervision of Professor Pratt.

As usual, however, there were the customary number of persons who had to have a drink at the fountain, or had to give another dab of the powder puff, another dash of rouge, or had to kiss the baby just once more before coming to the auditorium. They kept dragging in during the first half hour of the concert.

Thank heaven for the day when a premium will be placed on the person who goes by the time of the watch, and does not follow the old time custom of being late—whether it is for the sorority date or the faculty recital. If everyone would arrive on time the pleasure and satisfaction secured by listeners from the concert, play, speech, or recital would be increased as the square of their good intentions, multiplied by the number of minutes they arrived ahead of schedule.

PLEASANT RIDGE ITEMS
In the Social Whirl

One of the most notable events that has ever taken place in our little city was the women's convention held here last Friday. Great plans had been made for the meeting, and the visitors were royally entertained at our new hotel. Toasts were made, and a general good time was had by all who didn't have to make toasts.

Much comment was evoked because one of the delegates carried a swagger stick. We hope we are too broad minded to consider such a thing immoral, but we do hope that none of the younger set of Pleasant Valley will take up the practice. We want to keep our little city free from even a suggestion of "savoir faire."

Politics

The political pot is seething this week, and it is expected that before the next few days are over every loyal citizen of Pleasant Valley will be a member of the G. O. P. club, which is composed of our most enterprising citizens. They have already elected officers and arranged for a banquet at the hotel.

"Good politics, like charity, should begin in the home precinct."

These startling words, uttered by one of Pleasant Ridge's most prominent club women, created a furor of excitement at the state Republican convention held this week in the capital city. It is said that after our delegate had finished her speech, in which she told with much feeling how politics can never be cleaned up unless the women nobly take up the burden, there was not a dry eye in the house.

We used to be opposed to women taking part in politics, but most of the big city papers seem to be for it now, and if that is the only way to save the country from ruin, we will

EDITOR'S LIFE IS THREATENED!

The editor missed death by only a hair's breath last Saturday when we were almost assaulted by Miss A. Nichols, who met us at the door of our sanctum with a pair of shears, a pastepot, and a bottle of India ink. Miss Nichols alleges that the paper misrepresented her last week, and that she didn't know we were going to print that interview, or she would have had a picture to go with it. If it hadn't been for a lavender umbrella which some one left in the office a year ago (owner can have same by paying for this notice), we might now be sleeping beneath the sod.

We want it understood right now that we print the news while it is news, and not even death itself can keep us from doing our duty. All we say is, if anything untoward happens to us, let the dark finger of suspicion be levelled at Miss Nichols.

POETRY

Miss Laurella Johns, Pleasant Ridge's poet, has sent us the following, which we think it better than some of the poems we have read in real Poetry magazines:

I love the Spring.
Its gentle breezes
Make up for Winter's Fearsome freezes.

LORADO TAFT

Lorado Taft, widely known as a sculptor, lecturer, and author, gave a lecture in the college auditorium Thursday evening to what was probably one of the smallest audiences he has ever addressed.

Mr. Taft is a recognized artist. He has recently finished the colossal and magnificent "Fountain of Time." Others of his works are "The Spirit of the Lakes," the Washington monument at Seattle; a military group at Jackson, Mich.; the Columbus memorial fountain at Washington; "The Blind," inspired by Waterlinck's drama; "Solitude of the Soul," and the statue of Black Hawk on the Rock river in Illinois.

"His sculpture is well composed with a happy combination of ideal and realistic tendencies," says one critic, "but he is somewhat lacking in strength."

The lecture Thursday was a popular one, in the modern sense of the term. He explained in detail how statues are made from death masks, how half an hour with a living person is worth more than many months with a lifeless mask.

"The sculptor models the human figure," said Mr. Taft. "That is his job, and he must know it by heart. Every living intelligent face is interesting to the artist." By means of a few skilful touches with clay, the sculptor's medium of metamorphosis, he changed a smiling young girl to a melancholy old woman. He has the expert's knowledge of facial expression and the anatomy of the human body.

Mr. Taft says that the American

Parsons, Doctors, Bachelors—
a Young Girl Can't Trust Them

No, the chaperon did not die with the war. She is still in the ring, advertising for a position. One finds her again in a new book of etiquette called "The Gracious Hostess," by Della Thompson Lutes (Bobbs, Merrill). The author has taken cognizance of the trend of the times; she knows that young people are much more independent than they were formerly. But of self-reliance—not a word. On the contrary she raises an admonitory finger. Young people cannot control themselves like their elders. Their feelings may run away with them. Consequently—the chaperon. Thus Mrs. Lutes:

Mothers no longer expect to sit in the parlor during the entire time of a young man's evening call, but no mother should go to bed herself until young men callers have left the house. Youth needs to be protected against itself. Moreover to leave one's young daughter unguarded is to show a lack of proper regard for her good.

The author also recognizes that what was known in the old days as "spoonying" has now become "petting." She is again all that sort of thing. She writes:

Taking motor rides at night without some older person along places a young woman in a doubtful position, and lays her liable to unfavorable comment if to no greater evil.

As for the following warning it makes us wonder whether Mrs. Lutes has any inside information on the characteristics of the two professions named, or whether she is merely playing safe:

A young girl should not visit her doctor or her minister without the accompanying presence of her mother, sister or some older woman. Of course, we agree with her on bachelors—they're unsafe, always have been:

The bachelor, giving a party of any kind, always invites a sprinkling of married people or a chaperon. The chaperon must arrive before the guests and leave with or after the last.

But why give away the whole show? Didn't the author know the following is the only way to get around the rules?

The very young married woman is hardly a suitable chaperon, especially for a young people's or a bachelor's dinner party or to a college man's rooms.

Finally we add the author's idea of a chaperon. It isn't our idea, but it may be yours:

The ideal chaperon is a woman of rather mature years who understands and loves youth. One who is quick to see the trend of instinct, the direction of thought and deed, and to lead impetuosity and enthusiasm into more harmless preserves.

Ah, youth! Youth!—Ex.

IT'S THE CUT OF YOUR CLOTHES THAT COUNTS

Selection

As you walk through a men's store usually you see some things you like and a great many that you don't care for. That's natural, when you consider the great diversity of tastes such a store must please.

It's a problem, selecting the right thing from the thousands of articles that are offered. In this respect we have been singularly successful, and we believe it is because we have made our selections with a particular kind of customer in mind.

We have chosen Society Brand Clothes because we are perfectly certain that nothing else will satisfy our customers nearly as well. In cut, in fabric and in tailoring there is nothing to equal them.

You won't fumble this cap!

Professional jugglers could handle the old-style shaving cream caps and never once drop one down the drain or under the bath tub. But for most of us, this new Williams Hinge-Cap puts an end to an ancient nuisance.

Williams Shaving Cream is just as much pleasanter to use as is the Hinge-Cap. It softens the beard with uncanny speed. The thicker lather holds the moisture in against the skin where it is needed. This lather lubricates the skin, too, so that painful razor friction is eliminated. And when your shave is done, that famous ingredient in Williams which helps the skin, leaves your face cool, soothed and refreshed. No coloring matter is used in Williams—it is a pure, natural-white shaving cream.

Dinner guests at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house Sunday were Prof. and Mrs. J. O. Faulkner, Mr. and Mrs. Butcher and family of Solomon, Miss Charlotte Richards of Manhattan, Miss Ruth Dean of Blue Rapids, Miss LaVone Osene of Clay Center, and Mrs. V. E. Barger of Smith Center.

Tobasco entertained with a dance Saturday night at Harrison's hall. Jenks Isenhardt's orchestra from Lawrence furnished the music. Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Spangler chaperoned.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity celebrated its sixty-eighth anniversary with a Founders' Day banquet and dance, Friday evening, March 7. The banquet was held at the chapter house, with 70 guests and active members in attendance. A novel feature at the dance, held at Harrison's hall, was the broadcasting of the entire party, including solo numbers by the S. A. E. quartet, a special entertainer from Kansas City, jazz numbers by the orchestra, and several special piano duets. The wall decorations were carried out in cubist effect, including the background for the orchestra, with trees and shrubs around the room. The ceiling was covered with hanging paper moss. Mrs. Emma Pasmore chaperoned. Special guests, besides the active members were: Prof. and Mrs. H. R. Guilbert, Manhattan; Prof. and Mrs. G. H. Joseph, Manhattan; Joe Williams, Clay Center; L. L. Jester, Lawrence; J. L. Wodhouse, Sharon Springs; Alan Hartman, Frankfort; Mr. and Mrs. Tod Cordts, Topeka; John R. McClung, and Hile Rannels, Manhattan; Paul Jeffcoat and L. R. Wolf, Abilene; Floyd Cole, Ellis; Mr. and Mrs. George Holland, Trenton, Mo., and over a dozen other alumni of the local chapter.

The social committee of the Y. W. C. A. composed of Ruth Bachelier, chairman, Louise Schneider, Genevieve Lovejoy, Jewell Ferguson, Lanora Russell, Margaret Avery, Katherine Hugen, Emma Rehman and Lucia Biltz entertained the senior high school girls, the college Y. W. cabinet and several faculty members at a short social hour after Vespers Thursday afternoon.

Mu chapter of Theta Sigma Phi gave a dinner Friday evening at the Gillett hotel in honor of the visiting chapter from Kansas university. Miss Josephine Hemphill was toastmistress and the toasts were responded to by Miss Laura Cowderly of Lawrence, Miss Dany Barnett, Miss Alice Paddleford, Miss Mary Aber of Lawrence, and Miss Grace Justin.

Alpha Xi Delta sorority gave its annual spring party in Elk's hall Friday evening. The hall was decorated with spring flowers. Music was furnished by the A. T. O. orchestra from Lawrence. The out of town guests were: Miss Ruth Akors, Ellsworth; Miss Achsa Johnson, Aurora, Nebr.; Miss Bernice Coleman and Miss Helen Holliday, Lawrence; Miss Mary Helse and Miss Helen Clarey, Topeka.

AVERAGE AMERICAN KNOWS NOTHING OF ART, SAYS TAFT

Noted Sculptor Addresses Sociology Class Thursday Afternoon

"While working with the dough boys in France, I discovered that the average American has no knowledge of art," said Lorado Taft, in a talk to Prof. Walter Burr's classes in rural sociology, Thursday afternoon. "People in general have enough taste, but lack conscience. They fail to see the opportunities of beautifying the things about them."

"The favorite excuse for the unkempt appearance of the average farm home is that the place is farmed by renters, therefore it would be uneconomical to improve another's property. Art may be applied to the farm home and its surroundings as well as to city parks, and in place of the cast iron statue of an animal guarding the front gate, may I suggest appropriate shubbery or flowers."

K. S. A. C. Profs Judge Debate
Prof. H. W. Davis and Prof. J. O. Faulkner of the English Department, Prof. H. B. Summers, of the public speaking department, and Prof. P. P. Brainard of the education department, acted as judges in the dual debates between Kansas State Teachers' college and the College of Emporia at Emporia on Tuesday evening, March 5.

The Brown Bull

In expressing an opinion as to a humorous magazine it would perhaps be well to understand just what humor is. According to Webster it is wit or merriment. If the articles in such a magazine express wit and merriment then they are humorous.

The latest issue of the Brown Bull is a real humorous magazine containing material that appeals to all types of persons. In laugh-producing cartoons and jokes it ranks high among the various similar publications in colleges and universities throughout the country.

The cover design for the Leap Year number was excellently done and is an unusual example of realism in the cartoonist's art. Other cartoons that are worthy of mention as being in the unusual class are the border designs for the leap year poem, the illustration for "Oh Lord, Gimme Power," and that for "Aggravatin' Papa."

The new feature of the number, the hall of Fame page, adds a certain degree of intellectual tone to the humor of the publication.

There are a few articles in the magazine that are too representative of what is known as "highbrow humor" for college students. Such humor is recognized only by those who write it or by those who think they are intellectual by pretending to appreciate it. The two most glaring skits of this type were the "Outline of Etiquette" and "Dameron." However "Dameron" is the less faulty of the two.—G. G.

MISS RUBY GIVES LECTURE AT CHAPMAN FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Conducts Demonstration on Table Service

Pearle E. Ruby of the department of food economics and nutrition, gave a lecture at the farmers' institute held recently at the Rhinehart church near Chapman on "Feeding of Children."

In the afternoon, Miss Ruby conducted a demonstration on table service. She showed the correct placing of silver and china on the table and explained rules of personal etiquette. She chose host, hostess, and guest from her audience, and she took the part of the daughter of the family and demonstrated the serving of the entire meal.

Bethany Circle Initiates

The following girls were initiated: Frances Converse, Clara Miller, Doris Dwelly, Ruth Faulconer, Helena Viers, Ruth King, Mrs. Belle Durham, Elizabeth Sorenson, Mary Herthal, Gertrude Hamilton, Thelma Sharp, Mary Belle Logan, Helen Clark, Lena Simpson, and Ruth Peck.

MRS. JARDINE LEADS SECOND MEETING OF "MYSELF" SERIES

Speaks at Vespers Thursday Afternoon

Mrs. W. M. Jardine spoke at vespers Thursday afternoon, on the subject, "Myself and My Friends." She discussed the college girls' relationship to those about her and the tests of friendship. This was the second of a series of Myself talks. The third, "Myself and My Future" will be discussed at the vesper hour this week by Dr. Margaret Justin, dean of home economics. She will describe professions open to women and point out the basis on which a girl should choose a vocation.

Attends Hereford Convention

Dr. C. W. McCampbell, head of the animal husbandry department, was in Kansas City March 3, studying livestock marketing conditions and attending the convention of the American Hereford Cattle association. From Kansas City Doctor McCampbell went to southern Kansas for a two days' investigation and study of cattle feeding problems in that region, and on his return trip to Manhattan spent a day in Topeka checking over livestock classification for the Kansas free fair.

TANQUARY TO NORTH DAKOTA

Former K. S. A. C. Entomologist Becomes Commercial Beekeeper

M. C. Tanquary, who resigned his position as associate professor of entomology in this college in 1920 to become chief of entomology at Texas State Agricultural college and also Texas state entomologist, will go this spring to Fargo, N. D. to enter commercial beekeeping.

Mr. Tanquary was connected with the entomology department of the college from 1912 to 1920 with the exception of the years 1913 and 1914 when he was granted a leave of absence to become zoologist for the Crocker Land Polar expedition. He collected some very valuable scientific data on this Arctic trip.

Mr. Tanquary is well known in the scientific world, being a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, first vice-president of the American Association of Economic Entomologists, and a charter member of the Entomological Society of America. He is a graduate of Vincennes university and the University of Illinois, and has studied at Harvard.

WILSON DISCUSSES PURE FEED AT KLOD AND KERNEL MEETING

Swanson Spoke on Cereal Crop Investigation

To produce pure feed is the aim of B. S. Wilson of Keats, who told the members of Klod and Kernel Klub about his feed business, at a recent meeting of the organization. Mr. Wilson is the owner of a 2,200 acre farm between Manhattan and Keats. The farm is electrically equipped with automatic cleaning devices.

A. F. Swanson, '19, of the Hays experiment station spoke on the cereal crop investigation. Swanson is employed by the United States department of agriculture in the office of cereal investigation. He is just returned from Washington, D. C., where he has spent the winter in working out data on his experiments. Mr. Swanson returned to Hays to take up his spring work.

INOCULATION FOR TYPHOID IS FREE AT HEALTH OFFICE

Typhoid Danger Is Present—One Case in Hospital

Wise students should be inoculated against typhoid fever, according to Dr. C. M. Siever, head of the department of student health. At the present time there is one case of this disease in the college hospital. Typhoid germs are carried in milk, water, and foods and in a college town there is ample opportunity for the typhoid bacteria to flourish. Students desiring inoculation will be given the serum free of charge at the student health office.

Spends Month at Home

The month of February, 1924, was a red-letter period for Dr. C. W. McCampbell, head of the animal husbandry department at K. S. A. C. During the 10 years in which he has been connected with this department, Doctor McCampbell has never spent an entire month in Manhattan until February of the current year.

The activities of the animal husbandry department extend over all the state, and even to other states. According to Doctor McCampbell, the department takes charge of feeding and rationing of 175,000 cattle. From this one item, the extent and scope of the department can be estimated and since Doctor McCampbell is in charge of all departmental activities, he is necessarily called out of town on many occasions.

Next week he plans a trip to Abilene and a later one to Fort Worth, Tex., where he will judge beef cattle at the Southwestern exposition and Fat Stock show.

FIFTY KANSAS CITIES PLAN FLOWER SHOWS THIS YEAR

Interest in Enterprise Stimulated by Wiedorn's Circular

Fifty cities in Kansas will present flower shows this year, according to W. S. Wiedorn, assistant professor of landscape gardening at the Kansas State Agricultural college, who is author of a circular, "The Community Flower Show," published recently by the extension division of the college. Professor Wiedorn is credited with being principally responsible for the success of the community autumn flower show at Manhattan last year, and he has given practical suggestions in connection with a number of flower shows in other Kansas communities.

The circular gives details of how the exhibits may be displayed and includes a list of spring and autumn classifications. It also affords suggestions as to the housing of the show, the selection of judges and prizes, publicity, and children's exhibits.

Copies of the circular may be had upon application to the extension division of the college.

RIFLE TEAM SCORES 362

No Report From Other Schools—Shepherd Elected Captain

The scores made by the K. S. A. C. rifle team last week in the shoot with Minnesota university, North Dakota university, and Missouri university were lower than usual, owing to the fact that the corps area match was also being fired and each member had to fire twice as much as usual. W. S. Mayden was high with 377. D. C. Taylor placed second with 373, and E. E. Howard third with 370. The team average was 362. Scores from the other schools have not yet been received.

P. A. Shepherd was elected captain of the team at an election held last week. Shepherd is now in his third year of competition for the Aggies.

Next week the Aggies will compete with Illinois university, North Dakota university, and Washington university.

The Hearst Trophy match will be fired next week also. This is a match between all the senior R. O. T. C. corps of the United States. A cup is given the winner by William Randolph Hearst.

A pistol match has been arranged with Culver Military academy for the week ending April 16. A 10 man team will enter this contest.

"SYMBOL OF UNION" IS TITLE OF SUMMER SCHOOL PAGEANT

Oceola Burr Writes and Directs 1924 Production

"The Symbol of Union, the Story of the Great West" is the title of the 1924 summer session pageant of the Kansas State Agricultural college. Oceola Burr, director of pageantry, announced recently to a committee composed of persons representing college and Manhattan groups. The pageant will be presented on the campus of the college on the night of July 4.

"The Kansas State Agricultural college is the only institution in the middle west that offers courses in pageantry and has a tradition of an annual patriotic fourth of July pageant," said Miss Burr in making the announcement.

Next summer's pageant will be the second of a trilogy which was planned by Miss Burr. The first pageant, produced originally in 1922 and repeated last summer, recited the history of America from Columbus through the Revolution. "The Symbol of Union" will continue the story through the Civil war. The last of the trilogy, which probably will be the 1925 summer session pageant, will bring the story of America up to the present time.

SERMONS OF DOCTOR SLADE ARE BROADCAST BY KFKB

School of Air to Be Continued Five Weeks

Religion has been added to the curriculum of the K. S. A. C. school of the air, according to an announcement by Sam Pickard, extension editor and originator of the radio courses. The new course was launched Sunday when the sermons "Religious Autobiography," and "Man, Woman, and God," by Dr. Wm. F. Slade, were broadcast from the Milford station.

Approximately 1000 persons have now enrolled in the air school, according to Mr. Pickard. Letters are streaming into the extension office each day from radio fans in all parts of the middle west, asking for enrollment blanks and expressing their appreciation of the courses. Two Michigan "students" stated they didn't know there was an agricultural college in Kansas until they tuned in on KFKB.

The course will be continued for at least another five weeks, it was decided last week.

HISAW PUBLISHES ARTICLE IN AMERICAN NATURALIST

Experiments on Effects of Ovarian Extracts

Prof. F. L. Hisaw of the zoology department, who will take his doctor's degree at the University of Wisconsin in June, has recently published a preliminary article in the American Naturalist describing his work on the effects of ovarian extract on the bones of mammals. It has long been observed that it was necessary for certain bones of female gophers to disappear before they could give birth to their offspring.

Professor Hisaw has proved definitely that the disappearance of these bones was due to ovarian secretion. He has even been able to make the corresponding bones in males disappear. This opens up a very important field which is receiving a great deal of attention in medical circles.

Shipman Winter, '23, and Jack Hill, f. s., of Lecompton, visited the college recently.

NEBRASKA LOSES TO AGGIES 37-30

CORNHUSKERS DEFEATED IN THIRD CONSECUTIVE MEET

Take Plunge for Distance, 200 Yard Breast Stroke, and Relay—Aggies Secure Five Firsts

The Aggie swimming team defeated Nebraska university last night 37 to 30 in a closely contested meet in Nichols gym pool. It was the third straight Aggie victory in three years of swimming competition with Nebraska.

Nebraska Takes Plunge for Distance

Nebraska took the plunge for distance, 200 yard breast stroke, and relay, losing the 40 yard dash only when the Nebraska man went outside his lane, though he beat Colburn, Aggie captain, to the mark by a foot. The Aggies won the back stroke, and fancy diving easily. Burton Colburn, Aggie captain, won firsts in the 100, 40, and 220 yard dashes, while Miller took the fancy diving and back stroke.

Aggies Take Five Firsts

The summary of the events follows:

160-yard relay—Won by Nebraska (Plate, Schildneck, Kirbride, Hutton). Time, 1 minute, 32 4-5 seconds.

40-yard free style—Won by Colburn, Kansas Aggies; Mackay, Kansas Aggies, second; Kirkbridge, Nebraska, third. Time, 22 3-5 seconds.

200-yard breast stroke—Won by Plate, Nebraska; Mackey, Kansas Aggies, second; only two entered. Time, 3 minutes 7 4-5 seconds.

220-yard free style—Won by Colburn, Kansas Aggies; Kirkbridge, Nebraska, second; Carter, Kansas Aggies, third. Time 3 minutes.

Plunge for distance—Won by Campbell, Nebraska; Plate, Nebraska, second; Schemm, Kansas Aggies, third. Distance 56 feet, 4 inches.

50-yard back stroke—Won by Miller, Kansas Aggies; Brainard, Nebraska, second; Shaal, Kansas Aggies, third. Time, 2 minutes 24 4-5 seconds.

Fancy diving—Won by Miller, Kansas Aggies; Carter, Kansas Aggies, second; Brainard, Nebraska, third.

100-yard free style—Won by Colburn, Kansas Aggies; Hutton, Nebraska, second; Campbell, Nebraska, third. Time, 1 minute 8 1-5 seconds.

WALPOLE HAS AMERICAN POINT OF VIEW, SAYS N. W. ROCKEY

Promises to Become Truly Great Writer

"Hugh Walpole gives promise of becoming one of the truly great literary men of today," said Prof. N. W. Rockey in his talk last Tuesday afternoon at the home economics rest room. "He has not been carried away by any of the so called modern movements."

Professor Rockey pointed out that Mr. Walpole has gained fame as a reviewer, novelist, and critic. Although he is not yet 40, he has produced quite a large number of novels.

Hugh Walpole is one of the very few English literary men of today who is sympathetic with the American viewpoint. His recent visit and lecture tour in the U. S. was a very successful one and gave him a great interest in Americans as well as Americans an interest in him.

TO BROADCAST LIT PROGRAMS

School of Air Is Continued for Five Weeks

Beginning Saturday evening, the programs of the various literary societies will be broadcast by KFKB according to the announcement of Sam Pickard, extension editor. In planning the programs an effort will be made to interest the entire family. Mr. Pickard stated. The programs will consist of short plays, debates, and music.

The following schedule has been arranged for the societies: March 22, Athenian-Browning; March 29, Hamilton-Ionian; April 5, Webster-Eurodelphian; April 12, Alpha Beta-Franklin.

Numerous letters of inquiry have been received by the extension division, attesting the value of the radio agricultural courses. Magazines and newspapers, too, have shown considerable interest in the project. One Indiana farmer in writing in for an enrolment blank enclosed an editorial, clipped from the "Farmer's Guide." The editorial said in part:

"The Kansas State Agricultural college at Manhattan arranged for a radio course in agriculture and the plan is novel, not to say sensational

Classes Will Be Held on Ides of March in Usual Ruffneck Fashion

Beware of the Ides of March! Way back before the days of bobbed hair and matinee dances lived a Chesterfield boy by the name of Julius Sizer, who in order to perpetuate his name, founded a socksfullof-holes day at K. S. A. C.

Since that time the fifteenth of March has been turning out a group of noble sons and daughters of the soil that would do justice to any Mah Jong tribe on the Congo. Jerry takes Frank's new felt hat, punches it full of holes and appears on the hill as a starving school professor looking for work in the expression department. At the same time Freddy borrows the La Goofa Pi's door mat and is seen later, toddling the hula in Respiration center. So it goes from bad to worse and back again.

But Kansas always was a bold state. It started things back in the pre-civil war days, and it contributed Prohibition and Mrs. Nation to a later cause. It is known as bleeding, dry, windy, grasshopper ridden, and sunflower decorated. When it comes to advertising, Kansas has historic glory, but apparently it is not overlooking any of the advantages of the present. May she be untroubled with static."

The second semester of the school of the air will begin March 17, and will continue five weeks. In order to better accommodate the farmers, the programs will begin at 8 o'clock after this week.

FORUM LEADERS AT CHAPEL

Noted Speakers Appear at Y. M.-Y. W. Conference March 21-23

A world forum for the benefit of college students, faculty members, and townspeople will be held at the college March 21, 22, and 23, under the auspices of the Indianapolis convention delegates. Such speakers as Dr. Y. Y. Tsu, Christian association of ese Students Christian association of America, Dr. C. M. McConnell, representing church extension of the Methodist church, Chancellor Harper of Denver university, and Miss Twilla Lytton, former instructor in the Woman's Christian college of Tokyo, will be here. They will speak at assembly and Y. W. C. A. vespers on Friday, at the various literary societies on Saturday, and fill the pulpits of the local churches on Sunday. Mass meetings of various groups will also be held.

The purpose of the forum is to more thoroughly acquaint the public with world conditions as seen by travelers in foreign countries.

MARCH 17 IS FINAL DATE TO ENTER BASEBALL TOURNAMENT

Intramural Contest Will Begin Next Week

Entries for the intramural baseball tournament will not be accepted after next Monday, March 17, according to E. A. Knoth, director of physical education. Weather permitting tournament play will start the latter part of next week.

Approximately 30 entries are expected. All games are to be played on the city park diamond, as only one varsity field will be in shape for play this spring, and Coach Corsaut's squad is to have sole possession of that.

Graduate Club Entertains

The Graduate club will give a party in Recreation hall, Friday, March 14, at 8:15. All graduate students are invited to come and bring their friends.

Bethany Elects Officers

Officers for next year were elected at the regular meeting of Bethany circle, held at the Christian church, Tuesday evening. The following officers were elected: president, Laura Thompson; vice president, Avis Wickham; treasurer, Mary Lowe; secretary, Ruth Faulconer; Corresponding secretary Mrs. Belle Durham. Dinner was served after which Miss Jean Dobbs spoke on "Nursing as a Profession."

Applications Due Saturday

Applications for the position of managing editor of the Kansas State Collegian for the second nine-weeks term, should be in the hands of Prof. N. A. Crawford, head of the department of journalism, by Saturday, March 15. References in writing should accompany applications. The Collegian executive board will hold election Monday, March 17.

Tomorrow will see the student body in its natural habitat. The costumes will be expressive. School will start as usual and end at it usually does on Ruffneck day. For the first two periods some unfortunate students will find hard work in sitting down inside a barrel or other improvised dress suit. The rest of the time will be taken up in wondering how Mary Whiffenit, that quiet, dignified girl, could be making such an unreserved fool of herself.

But it has to happen once a year and so the sooner the quicker. Ruffnecks will be ruffnecks. A turbulent day of classes, dancing, assembly, olympics, tea-parties, more dancing and foolishness. Yea, Julius, a day of honor in their name. Beware the Ides of March!

EDITORS CALL FOR COPY FOR "NICE" BROWN BULL

Cartoons and Jokes Will Be Rigidly Censored for Benefit of Puritanical

The "Nice" number of the Brown Bull will be published the latter part of next month, and the editors, Josephine Hemphill and Alice Paddelford, are striving to make this last number of the school year all that the name implies, and then some.

There must be nothing in this number which would shock the sensibilities of the most puritanical member of the faculty, or cause a single freshman to go astray.

Even the cover suggestions are being rigidly censored, and the only one which is being considered at all is a picture of a group of angelic figures, playing on celestial harps. The disappointing detail about this picture is that one member of the angel throng has bobbed hair, and unless the artist can paint in a hair net, it is feared that another drawing must be made.

The editors would like to have cartoons submitted for the "Nice" number within the next week or two, and in order that all the cartoons may be reduced according to the same scale, cartoonists are being asked to cut out this list of measurements and paste them on their memo pads: a drawing for a cut one column wide should be 4 1/2 inches wide; a quarter page drawing should be 4 1/2 inches wide by 6 1/2 inches high; a half page drawing should be 10 1/2 inches wide by 7 inches high; and a page drawing should be 10 1/2 inches by 13 1/2 inches.

All copy and cartoons should be in the hands of the editors before the first week of April.

SALE OF CAMPUS PICTURES IS SPONSORED BY ALUMNI BOARD

Doctor Grimes Reports on Mill Tax at Recent Meeting

The sale of the campus pictures which are still on hand will be the major activity of the alumni association from now until commencement, according to a decision made at a recent meeting of the board of directors. It was decided that Dr. W. E. Grimes, secretary of the board, should look after the duties of the executive secretary until someone is appointed to fill the position left vacant by the resignation of Oley Weaver. The board will meet March 17 to consider filling the position.

A report on the mill tax question was made by Dr. W. E. Grimes, chairman of the committee on the mill tax. For many years the state institutions have been attempting to put a bill through the legislature by which the institution would be supported by a direct tax instead of by appropriations. Four years ago the amendment to the constitution which would make this tax legal was passed, but the necessary laws have never been made. Doctor Grimes was instructed to send the report to the alumni association at Kansas university.

THREE AGGIE BOXERS ENTER K. C. ATHLETIC CLUB MATCH

Winners May Make American Olympic Team

Three Kansas Aggie boxers will go to Kansas City March 22 to take part in an invitation tournament sponsored by the Kansas City Athletic club. Prospective material for the American Olympic team will be selected from the winners in each class. Only the best boxers from each Valley school are invited.

Paul Schopflin is entered in the light heavy weight class, C. F. Hoelzel in the 145 pound class, and F. T. Rose in the 135 pound class.

BAN IS PLACED ON WHITE MULE

AGGIES WILL BE GENTLEMEN ROUGHNECKS TOMORROW

Highbrow Hobos Cannot Dance Rough Shod—Vaudeville Stunts and Olympic on Day's Program

Although the ban has been placed on leading white mules into Anderson hall, although Aggie dancers cannot trip rough shod over the smooth floor in Recreation center—in spite of these serious drawbacks the Aggie Brotherhood of Highbrow Roughnecks will revert to the primitive tomorrow, and get rid of all the inhibitions they have been practicing for seven months.

"Baby Symphony" Will Play

The "Baby Symphony Orchestra of New York" will assist at the chapel program, which will include vaudeville stunts which would make Sophie Tucker and Al Jolson hang their heads in shame. At 1 o'clock the freshman-sophomore olympics, on the results of which hangs the fate of the frosh caps, will be held on the athletic field west of the home economics building. If the weather is unfavorable, the contest will take place in the gym.

The worst dressed couple will have a picture taken in the morning for the Royal Purple, and prizes for the tackiest dressed couple and individuals will be presented at the annual Roughneck dance held at the gym in the evening.

CHAPMAN ADDRESSES FORUM

Speaks to Student Group on Causes of War

"Four things have caused war in the past," said Major Charles A. Chapman to the student forum Tuesday evening. These causes are oppression, desire for conquest and gain, religious purposes, and extension of commercial interests. Only the latter is of any great importance today," he continued. "The last war was fought for commercial gain by most of the nations."

"If you will go into the details of wars you will find that most of them were fought first and justified afterwards," Major Chapman explained. "Both sides are usually to blame, but they put the blame on the other nation. The commercial interest of the nation itself causes the war, and it is absurd to put the blame on individual people or concerns."

"The schools and the churches must be the factors in reducing the chances of war. It is an educational process and one of evolution. Abolition of war cannot be achieved in a day. Someday, probably, we can hope to have a warless world but not immediately."

The R. O. T. C., Major Chapman explained in answer to a question, does not foster a war spirit but trains men so that when they are pushed into war they will have a fifty-fifty chance of coming out alive.

Rev. William Guarrant will lead the student forum discussion in home economics rest room next Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock on the subject of the student friendship relief work.

HIGH SCHOOL SCHOLARSHIP CONTEST SET FOR MAY 14

Prizes Offered in Third Meet Amount to $300

The third annual high school scholarship contest is to be held at the Kansas State Agricultural college Saturday, May 10. Silver loving cups, gold, silver and bronze medals, and scholarships amounting to $300 will be given as prizes to the winners.

This contest was inaugurated two years ago to encourage scholarship among the high schools of Kansas. The poor preparation shown by many of the students coming from Kansas high schools to the college indicated that stimulation was needed along scholarship lines.

There are state athletic contests, state stock and grain judging contests, state music contests, state canning contests, state poultry contests, but there had been no scholarship contests until they were started by the department of education at the Kansas State Agricultural college.

Any four year high school in the state is entitled to enter a contesting team. The teams consist of three members from the senior class, usually selected for their high scholastic standing. All high schools are expected to enter teams are expected to notify Prof. V. L. Strickland, who is in charge, by May 1.

Mrs. Vinny (Drake) Ackers was a dinner guest of Miss Effie May Carp last Tuesday evening.

Announce Poster Contest

Prizes of $1 each will be awarded for the three most effective posters advertising the World Forum to be held at the college next Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. Specimens must be submitted to the art department in Anderson hall by Monday, March 17. All posters will become the property of the publicity committee for use in advertising either on the campus or downtown.

Member Who Advocates Leniency Ejected from Senate Committee Room

Although nothing but cold stares can be obtained from members of the Branding Iron Senatorial Investigating committee, something out of the ordinary took place behind the closed doors of the committee room Thursday. The frequent calls for ice water by the sergeant-at-arms, and the rumored forcible ejection of one member from the room, have given rise to much and varied conjecture among those on the outside. The identity of the ejected member could not be learned, but it is on the authority of the doorkeeper that the man's advocacy of lenient dealing with defendants caused the violent display of disapproval.

The second official statement issued since the news of the investigation leaked out was given representatives of the press yesterday. It merely announced that over 100 witnesses has been subpoenaed and that several phases of the scandals were yet to be probed. Rumor has it that an additional 50 persons including a number of prominent state and national figures would be subpoenaed before the investigation is completed.

Only those persons who testified before the 1923 court, or those who presented sufficient excuses for absence will be given a chance to vindicate themselves and their friends this year. The action of the others has, in the eyes of the court, convicted them finally, and they were sentenced last April to be forever ignored.

CROWD CONDUCT DISCUSSED BY A. T. BURCH AT SEMINAR

Psychology of Public Opinion Is Analyzed

"The Psychology of Public Opinion" was the subject of the talk made at journalism seminar Monday afternoon, by Prof. A. T. Burch, head of the journalism department of Washburn college.

He analyzed opinion as having three elements—intellectual, emotional, and volitional and showed their function in group conduct as well as individual isolation.

"Even accidental assemblages tend to become psychological groups under certain conditions, such as having a common enemy or leader," Professor Burch stated. "Crowd conduct can also occur among individuals widely separated by space. I take it that political parties, schools of art, thought and literature can be united in psychological thought. The standard by which crowd conduct should be judged is—Does it or does it not tend toward the survival of the race?" The conscience of the individuals is by no means a safe guide as to whether the conduct of the crowd is a true or false adaptation to this standard."

ANNOUNCES CAST OF SOCIETY PLAY

LEONE BACON TO TAKE LEAD AND TITLE ROLE

"Miss Lulu Bett" Is Play Chosen—Will Be Presented Friday, March 28

Leone Bacon, Browning, will play the leading part, which is also the title role in the intersociety play, "Miss Lulu Bett," to be given at the auditorium, Friday evening, March 28. The remainder of the cast announced by Prof. Ray E. Holcombe of the public speaking department includes Dwight Deacon, Paul Pfeutze, Hamilton; Ina Deacon, Helen Reinhardt, Ionian; Mombona Deacon, Fern Fairchild, Ionian; Bobby Larkin, Milton Kerr, Hamilton; Diana Deacon, Inez Howard, Browning; Mrs. Bett, Carrie Justice Alpha Beta; Neil Cornish, Alvin Ritts, Webster; Ninian Deacon, W. C. Kerr, Hamilton.

Play Wins Pulitzer Prize

The play, a comedy in three acts, is a dramatization of the novel of the same name, written by Zona Gale. The book was awarded the Pulitzer prize of $1,000 in 1921. It is by far the most entertaining play attempted by an intersociety cast for several years, according to Professor Holcombe.

One hundred seventy-five students tried out for the play this year. Contrary to the usual rule in intersociety plays, more women than men take part in this production, there being five women and four men.

LARGE COMPANIES SEND MEN TO ADDRESS AGGIE STUDENTS

Arrange Interviews with Engineering Seniors

Representatives of the General Electric company, the Western Electric company, American Telephone and Telegraph company, and Bell Telephone company will be in Manhattan March 13 to 15. A representative of the companies spoke in seminar yesterday, and interviews were arranged with a number of students. The meetings are held particularly for men in engineering who expect to be graduated in June or August, 1924, or in February, 1925.

The object of these representatives is to hire 1,100 college graduates in engineering. However, on a preliminary visit to the college last month, a number of general science students were interviewed and offered employment. As many men will be needed by these companies as were employed last year according to the leader of the group.

1400 STUDENTS EXPECTED FOR 1924 SUMMER TERM

Increased Enrolment of 400 Predicted as Result of New Kansas Law

An increase of 400 students is expected in the 1924 summer school at Kansas State Agricultural college, according to E. L. Holton, dean of summer school.

The increase will come as a result of a newly enacted Kansas law, permitting high school graduates who have attended an accredited high school and who have taken eight hours of residence work in an accredited college, to receive a one year teacher's certificate. The certificate can be renewed by an additional eight hours of college credit earned in residence during the year immediately preceding the year for which the certificate is issued.

The eight hours of college work should include Psychology A and elementary methods, and applicants for the renewal of such a one year certificate should take school management and methods of teaching. Normal schools have already issued these certificates and the law was passed to put all colleges on the same basis.

Enrolment in the 1920 summer school was 604; in 1921, 820; in 1922, 884; and in 1923 about 986. There has been a steady increase each year and the high mark will probably be reached this year with an approximate enrolment of 1,400.

Distributes 168 Building Plans

The month of February, 1924, was the record month for the distribution of farm building plans, 168 plans being sent out from the office of Prof. W. G. Ward, rural architect for the department of agricultural engineering. This month's distribution is the highest for four years past, according to Professor Ward.

DRIVERS

Driving from the back seat is not confined to motor cars or to women. Its modern parallel is found in the group of cage stars who play from the gallery at every basketball game.

Owing to this helpful, kindly spirit, the Aggies are earning the name of being the best sportsmen in the Valley. Another year of such splendid cooperation and the other schools in the middle west will line up, eagerly awaiting their turn to schedule a game with K. S. A. C.

A list of subjects and speakers furnished by K. S. A. C. for the spring harvest of high school students was submitted to us this week, and after a careful perusal of the list, we have awarded 10 prizes, the following titles being included in the "Big Ten" because of their striking originality:

"The Aristocracy of Brains," "Is Education Worth While?" "Entering into Life," "Unconquerable Youth," "Why Go to College?" "The Things Most Worth While," "Preparation for Life in a Changing World," "The Heresy of Youth," "Economic Extravagance," "The Open Book and the Open Mind"

There were other good ones, of course. One member of the English department sent in four subjects: "Educating for Social Efficiency," "An Educational Objective," "Why Go to College," and "The May Harvest." We wouldn't accuse this professor of quadrupletty for the world, but we realize how much easier it is to write a title, or four titles, than one speech.

"The Go Getter," by the student pastor who hails from the land of fast horses and fair women, appealed to us strongly, and "Synthetic Living," was rejected only because of the unfortunate word synthetic. One can't be too careful nowadays.

"The Press—Democracy's Hope or Democracy's Traitor," was also very good, and received honorable mention, as did also "The Overflow," and "Creative Thinking."

"How a Man Is Made" almost won first place, but through the vast recesses of our brain there flashed a picture of "From Jellyfish to Uncle Frederick," and we were afraid to risk this speech on the plastic minds of youth.

"Beyond the Horizon" was another which took our fancy. It reminded us so much of "Beyond the Alps Lies Italy," a subject in vogue when we were graduated.

In fact, all the titles suggested are very good, and we hope all who did not win a prize this time will try again next year. "If you don't succeed the first time—"

Even at that—there may be standing room.

Tony Sarg's Marionettes

The Chinese Willow Plate Story, produced by shadowgraph last Monday evening in the college auditorium under the inviting captions, "Play by Tony Sarg, music by Victor Herbert, and first staged by David Belasco," proved, frankly, to be a disappointment to a large part of the audience. There were redeeming features of course, and at times one felt that the manufactured figures did come close to portraying artistically a simple story in a pleasing manner. The scenes of the Mandarin's Garden, the Wedding Procession, and Chang's Little House on an Island in the Yellow Sea were entertaining indeed and produced an exotic atmosphere as delightful as one had been led to expect—by advance advertising—all would be. The entire story was typical of the oriental customs, legends, etc., and the theme of the willow plate story was authentic—thanks to Tony Sarg.

But there were times when the tragedies of mechanical defect reduced the exotic atmosphere to pure accidental bunc, and made one feel anything but elated for having reserved a seat to see toy characters hop around. There were physical imperfections to the point of exasperation when the little ship on the Yellow Sea floated through thin atmosphere; when terrible Mandarin and Duke Ta Jin sat, apparently, four feet in front of a table from which they were supposed to secure vlands; when the puppet strings appeared as large as the figures themselves; and when the puppets tried an oriental atmospheric dance in attempting to cross the bridge in the garden.

To me, the two features which stood out as the most glaring faults in the production were the untrained and unpleasant voices of the puppet representatives, and the unwarranted appearance of Chung Lee. As to the voices, none could be complimented, and after hearing Kong Shee sing off pitch several times, with absolutely no quality of tone, one was glad to listen to her talk. Each of

The most cherished possessions in many Kansas homes are the characters was more acceptable in the pantomime scenes when the flaws of ordinary dramatic speech were covered up by a welcome silence. Certain voices were eloquent—especially Kong Shee's—but certainly not suited to dramatic production. As for Chung Lee with his "Honorable audience" propaganda, his American-Chinese lingo grated on one's nerves to the point of desperation, and one's pride was given a negative impetus to be forced to listen to his chatter which was seemingly intended for entertainment for a moron or two who might have slipped by the doorkeeper.

In defense of Victor Herbert, however, it must be said that the music was splendid, filled with charming and characteristic melodies, a feature always true of his scores, and the distinct exotic touch created the proper atmosphere; the orchestra which played his music did creditably well.

Surely Tony Sarg's own presentation in David Belasco's theatre was better than this and surely Sarg didn't put a Lee Mason in front of the curtain to act the part of marauder of human intelligence. But we glimpsed just enough of the possibilities of the production to realize how splendid it might have been, and, in defense of the public speaking department, it is certain that Doctor Hill and others were as disappointed as any of us. This single blot on the many productions which this department has brought to K. S. A. C. will not cause any lack of confidence in the quality of future engagements which the public speaking department makes for us.—M. S. E.

Music Is Received at Cape Cod Station

Numerous replies have been received by the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity concerning the radio program which was broadcast March 7 from Harrison's hall through KFKB at Milford. The most distant reception, as known so far, was at Cape Cod where the entire program "came in as clear as a bell."

Letters have come from Boston, from New York, numerous ones from Detroit, Idaho, California, and over 50 other places and each tells how clearly the program came in. Nearly every communication complimented the announcer, G. E. Buck, for his splendid voice. Practically every letter said that the orchestra, quartet, and applause, "recalled former college days."

RILEY IN CHARGE OF TRACK SQUAD

COACH BACHMAN BUSY WITH FOOTBALL PRACTICE

Work on Outdoor Track Being Pushed—Is Already in Condition for Practice Work

Ivan Riley, former Aggie hurdler and dash man, has been secured by the athletic department to take complete charge of the outdoor track squad while Head Coach Bachman is busy with next year's football material in spring practice.

With the indoor track meets over and the weather permitting, outdoor track practice will start immediately.

Cinder Track to Be Used

The new cinder track on Ahearn field, while not yet completely finished, is in a good enough condition to be used and tracksters will not be under the handicap of last year, that of not having a track upon which to run. Work is being pushed in order to get the track finished as soon as possible.

The first outdoor meet in which the Aggies are to be represented is the Kansas relays at Lawrence, April 19. It is possible that a medley relay team and Gartner in the discus throw will be entered. Three dual meets have been scheduled: Kansas university at Manhattan, Missouri university at Manhattan, and Nebraska university at Lincoln. The first two meets here will be held on Saturday but on account of the interscholastic meet which is to be held here May 17, the meet with Nebraska will probably be run off the Friday before. There are also other meets in which athletes have been entered. The complete schedule follows:

CHAPTER OF AMERICAN RED CROSS LIFE SAVING HERE

Twenty Swimmers Practice to Pass
Necessary Tests

An American Red Cross life savers' chapter will be installed at K. S. A. C. this spring if the efforts of E. A. Knott, director of physical education, and 20 Aggie swimmers are successful. Instruction in the Red Cross tests is being given Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons to the 20 men.

Preliminary work will continue until the latter part of May, when the membership tests will be given by Captain Law of the Red Cross. The association will install a chapter if enough men pass the tests to justify it.

MEDICINE ON TRIPOD OF SCIENCE, SAYS BARKER

Dean of Nebraska Premedics Is Assembly Speaker

"More than half the disease that is common to the human race is functional, due to the state of mind of the individual, rather than organic. These functional disorders must be treated by sympathetic suggestion," declared Dr. F. D. Barker, dean of freshman premedics at Nebraska university, in an address at assembly Wednesday on the subject "The Relation of Biology to Medicine."

"The science of medicine rests on a tripod of sciences," stated Doctor Barker, "biology, chemistry, and physics. Modern biology is based on the theory that the cell is the unit of structure and function."

Doctor Barker discussed briefly William James, freshman in industrial journalism, has withdrawn from school and returned to his home in Junction City.

Edward Fiegel, general science special, has returned to his home in Concordia for the semester.

"THE CAT AND THE CANARY" GIVEN AT MARSHALL MONDAY

Play Had 36 Week Run at the Princess in Chicago

If you were alone in the musty bedchamber of a haunted house— And preparing to spend the night in the bed in which your grandfather had died—

And none of the furniture had been touched for 20 years— And you had been warned of ghosts and of a homicidal lunatic loose in the neighborhood— And you had been hearing funny noises— And just as you dropped off to sleep— An icy hand— The thrills of "The Cat and the Canary" are better experienced than read but they multiply as the show proceeds. The company coming to the Marshall theatre for one night only, Monday March 24, played at the Princess theatre, Chicago, for 36 weeks last season.

WORLD FORUM BEGINS FRIDAY

MEETING IS SPONSORED BY INDIANAPOLIS DELEGATES

Noted Speakers Are Secured for Program—Will Address Literary Societies Saturday

Through the efforts of the students who went as delegates to the Indianapolis convention in December, a world forum is to be held at K. S. A. C. next Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. The forum will begin with the assembly address on Friday morning and close with a union church service in the college auditorium Sunday evening. Students, faculty members, and townspeople are urged to participate in the meetings.

Well Known Speakers Secured
A number of eminent speakers who are authorities on their subjects have been secured. Dr. Y. W. Tsu, general secretary of the Chinese Students' Christian Association in North America, will be present. He was one of the speakers at the Indianapolis convention and was well liked by the students.

Dr. C. M. McConnell represents the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist church and is a worker in social and industrial fields. He is a brother of Francis J. McConnell who spoke at the college last year.

Will Discuss European Conditions
Chancellor Harper of Denver university, a member of the American seminar in Europe last summer, will speak on European conditions and the student movement.

Miss Twila Lytton is from the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church. She was formerly Y. W. C. A. secretary at Ohio Wesleyan university and has lately been an instructor in the Woman's Christian college of Tokyo, Japan, returning to this country just prior to the earthquake.

Makes Tour of Colleges
Miss Margaret Lewis, student secretary of the Woman's Board of Missions of the Presbyterian church making a tour of colleges and universities of the United States.

The program is as follows:

Friday, March 21

9:40—High school assembly talk by Dr. C. M. McConnell.

10:15—Assembly talks by Chancellor Harper and Dr. Y. W. Tsu.

4:00—Y. W. C. A. vespers—Miss Lewis and Miss Lytton speakers.

7:30—Addresses at college auditorium by Doctor Tsu, and Doctor McConnell.

Saturday, March 22

Talks will be given at joint meetings of literary societies at 3 o'clock.

Eurolaphian-Webster by Dr. Y. W. Tsu.

Athenian-Browning by Chancellor Harper.

Hamilton-Ionian by Dr. C. M. McConnell.

7:30—Mass meeting at Methodist church—Dr. C. M. McConnell.

Sunday, March 23

All local churches will have at least one of these speakers for some part of the morning service.

3:30—Women's mass meeting at Presbyterian church, Miss Lytton and Miss Lewis speakers.

3:30—Men's mass meeting at Baptist church, Doctor Tsu and Dr. McConnell speakers.

8:00 Union church service at the college auditorium. Chancellor Harper speaker.

RIFLE TEAM LOSES MATCH

Defeated by Missouri and Minnesota—Lathrop Scores 380

The K. S. A. C. rifle team dropped the match for the week ending March 8 to Missouri university and Minnesota university with a score of 3,625. Missouri turned in a score of 3,740 while Minnesota topped the list with 3,820.

Last week matches were fired with Illinois university and North Dakota university, against whom a score of 3,673 was made, and against Washington State college in which match a score of 3,730 was made. Reports from these schools have not been received.

D. E. Lathrop was high point man for the Aggies with a score of 380. This is the highest score that has ever been made at this school. A. W. Marshall was second with 379 and Ernest Miller came in third with 375.

The national Hearst Trophy match will be fired this week. A six man team will be used but only the highest five scores will count. This is a match for the senior R. O. T. C. units of the United States. A cup is given to the winner by William Randolph Hearst. The men who will fire are E. E. Howard, O. K. Correll, D. C. Taylor, D. E. Lathrop, P. A. Shepherd, and Ernest Miller.

Next week the match with the University of Wisconsin will complete the firing on the indoor range. The gallery is now closed to all but team members. Firing on the open range will commence in the near future.

RELY MORE ON WEIGHT IN FOOTBALL NEXT YEAR

Loss of Eight Regulars Necessitates Building of New Backfield—Signal Practice Held in Gym

With a wealth of good men from the freshman team out for practice, spring football is giving Coach Bachman an excellent idea of the material he will have for next year's machine and is enabling him to place the men in their proper positions.

The loss of eight regulars who played their last game for the Aggies at Nebraska, Thanksgiving day, necessitates the building of a complete backfield and half of a line. With the exception of Clements, fullback, two year varsity man who graduates this spring, each of the octette has been in valley competition three years and their loss will be severely felt. In the line the places left vacant by Nichols, left tackle, Schindler, left guard; Webber, left end; and Steiner, right guard, will not be easy to fill and it is almost too much to expect that a backfield that will take the place of the Swartz, Stark, Axline, and Clements combination can be molded in one year.

With an entirely new backfield it may result that Bachman's aerial offensive will suffer somewhat for it is hardly to be hoped that a worthy successor to the one last year which was conceded to be among the most effective in the United States can be developed. However, the material out at present indicates that the 1924 backfield will be heavier and faster than last year's and a ground attack may be the main offensive. The line also will be heavier and although it will not have the football experience of last year's forward wall the advantage in weight will in a measure compensate for the difference.

Due to the heavy snow Sunday, signal practice for the first part of the week will be held in the gymnasium, but as soon as the snow leaves the ground the men will go outside. It may be that scrimmage will be held the first of next week.

Of last year's freshman team the men who are showing up well are: Ends—A. Ehrlich, S. B. Griswold, and K. G. Hawkins; tackles—G. T. Anderson, F. F. Scott, M. W. Reed, J. C. Krysal, and R. E. Hamler; guards—S. J. Tombaugh, E. L. Stone, O. F. Armantrout, J. A. Hanna; centers—J. E. Smith, and C. C. Alexander; halfbacks—R. A. Hoffman, K. Whitfield, R. L. Helmreich, C. W. Brion, H. J. Dayhoff; fullbacks—E. E. Feather, C. L. Randall and L. P. Lapaille; quarterbacks—O. L. Cochrane, C. W. Havelly, T. Anderson, and R. A. Hoffman.

In O. L. Cochrane, quarter, the Aggies have the first consistent punter and kicker since Dewey Houston.

EARL HERRICK, CAVE MAN, WINS ROUGHNECK PRIZE

Dorothy Ross, Arthur Bauerfind, and June West Take Other Prizes

That the cave man is the type that appeals, is evidenced by the fact that Earl Herrick, who wore the realistic cave man costume on Roughneck day, received the prize awarded for the cleverest man's costume at the Roughneck dance Saturday evening. Dorothy Ross, who was a bewitching gypsy, took the woman's prize. The Devil and his wife, Arthur Bauerfind and June West, were the prize winning couple.

Mr. Herrick received the inspiration, which secured for him a half-pound box of chocolates, through his work as taxidermist in the zoology department. He was dressed in a bear skin, wore canoe shaped skin shoes and carried a horned cave man's club. Miss Ross was the kind of gypsy we imagine—not the kind that rides in a covered wagon pulled by bony nags—but the kind to whom one would naturally give chocolates. The Devil and his wife won the prize extraordinary, a pound box of chocolates. The Devil wore the conventional red, while his wife was dressed in green to carry out the gala color scheme.

Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Spangler and Professor Brainard were judges.

OTHER COLLEGES PRAISE COFFER-MILLER PLAYERS

Wires from Wisconsin and Illinois Universities Applaud Work of Chicago Dramatic Company

Martha Miller and Jess Coffey and company will present "Androcles and the Lion" and "The Rivals" in the college auditorium Wednesday and Thursday nights respectively. In order to ascertain the true value of the company as viewed by people who have seen the productions, Dr. H. T. Hill and Prof. R. E. Holcombe wired a number of the leading colleges and universities in the country and the editors of the large papers in the cities in which the company has performed, to get their frank opinion of the show as they saw it.

Most favorable reports were received from the one who answered the wires. The Wisconsin State Journal at Madison reports that the Coffey-Miller Players have made several appearances at the Music hall before the student body of the University of Wisconsin with increasing attendance. The dramatic critic of the Wisconsin State Journal states that this company is as good as any which has appeared at that city. Prof. C. H. Woolbert, of the University of Illinois, in his telegram says that the Coffey-Miller players have presented six or more plays at Champaign, Ill., with very satisfactory results. He adds that they have a fine sense of dramatics.

Mike Attends Rules Committee Meet
Prof. M. F. Ahearn, head of the department of physical education, left Friday for New York where he will attend the annual meeting of the national football rules committee. No radical changes in the rules have been proposed by any of the schools in the district which he represents. Mike stated.

LAUNCH NEAR EAST DRIVE

C. R. Marlowe Appeals to Students to Give Money and Clothing

The drive for funds for the Near East relief began yesterday morning, and boxes may be found in the restaurants where contributions may be placed. Contributions may also be given to Doctor Holtz.

C. R. Marlowe, who has charge of the drive, has issued the following statement in behalf of the committee: "There is no need to say more about the work of America with the orphans of the Near East to students and faculty members of K. S. A. C., for all have heard of the work. It is up to the college to do the best possible. Several groups are adopting orphans. The P. I. Phis, who are the first, are supporting twins.

"Next to cash and food, the great need is for clothing and shoes. The present plans are to send groups of boys over the town and collect the garments. The committee will appreciate it is persons will have such articles ready, Saturday morning, March 22."

Attends National Research Institute

President Jardine will leave for Palo Alto, Cal. Thursday, to attend a meeting of the advisory council of the National Food Research Institute, to be held at Leland Stanford university, March 24.

S. S. G. A. TO BE REORGANIZED

SPECIAL COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO DRAFT NEW CONSTITUTION

Report to Be Considered at Mass Meeting in April—Students Asked to Send in Suggestions

The constitution of the Students Self Governing association will probably be revised this spring. Guy C. Bartgis, president of the association announced yesterday that a special committee was to begin an investigation immediately with a view to recommending changes, and that the committee's report would be presented to the student body at a general mass meeting next month.

Ask Suggestions from Students

The members of the committee are M. M. Williamson, Robina Manley, and Harold Gillman, with Mr. Bartgis acting as chairman, ex-officio.

The investigators are particularly anxious to get student opinion on various phases of the S. S. G. A.'s work and to receive suggestions for revision. All communications may be addressed to the S. S. G. A. college.

Revision Seems Advisable

One change that seems practically certain to be adopted provides for the election of officers and council members in April. It seems advisable, therefore, that the amendments adopted at the general meeting shall be put into effect under the present administration, so that the new council may start life free from the inherited cumbersomeness of the old system.

The advisability of amending the original constitution has been felt by active workers in the association for some time. The matter was also rather intensively considered at a recent faculty meeting, and the general opinion seems to be that the present system can be bettered.

RILEY IS WORLD RECORD HOLDER FOR NINE DAYS

Former Aggie Defeats Christensen in Five Contests out of Seven—Runs Again Wednesday

To break the world's record in the 60-yard high hurdles which had stood on the books for 18 years, and to hold it for nine days only to have it broken again, was the fate of Ivan Riley, former Aggie track star who is running under the colors of Illinois Athletic club at the present time.

On March 1, Riley won the 60-yard high hurdle race at Cincinnati in 7 4-5 seconds, breaking the American record of 8 2-5 seconds and the world's record of 8 seconds flat. Nine days later Carl Christensen, running for the Newark Athletic club broke Riley's record by clearing the hurdles in 7 3-5 seconds.

At the National Indoor meet, held March 5 at Philadelphia, Riley placed third in the 70-yard high hurdles. He was beaten by Christensen and Myers, both of the Newark Athletic club.

The following night at an invitation meet in New York City, Riley captured second place in the 70-yard high hurdles. Christensen took first honors.

At an invitation meet held by the Philadelphia Athletic club at that city Riley carried away first honors in the 45-yard high hurdles, tying the world's record of 6 seconds flat. In this race he beat both Christensen and Myers.

During the past year Riley and Christensen have met seven times, and Riley has won five of the seven contests.

The former Aggie star's next race will be at Chicago Wednesday when the Central Championship Indoor meet will be held. Riley is entered in the 70-yard high hurdle event.

Stages Exclusive Party

The Purple Masque dramatic fraternity will have as its spring party a formal dance to be held on April 19 at recreation center. The dance will take the place of the annual spring banquet and plans are being made to make the party the acme of the school's social life. All guests must be approved by the managing committee and other steps are taken to make it the most exclusive dance of the year.

A seven piece orchestra is to be imported for the event and everything is being done to make the formal a success.

Harry Wilson, E. R. Lord, Arthur Doolen, and Homer Hutchinson drove to Kansas City Sunday morning, returning Monday.

Fox and Geese Team to Compete with Schools on Coast

Life is now to the army officer, the baseball enthusiast, the tennis hound and the spring football candidate, just one bloomin' rain and snow after another. Since Sunday's little contribution in the way of a Hudson Bay Blizzard, the army officials and the athletic directors are thinking seriously of making a few changes.

In the R. O. T. C. rifles are to be abandoned and snowshoes to be issued. Demerit points will be given if snowshoes are not polished at each drill. Companies will assemble as usual and march to the east campus grounds where they will be instructed in the science of snowballing. Each spring on May 6, the crack marksmen of the companies will compete with other Missouri Valley schools in the annual "Snowball Shying Contest," judging to be done by E. C. Oulley.

Varsity baseball is to be discontinued but members are eligible for positions on the varsity fox and geese team. Practice will be held on the new baseball field and the overflow of candidates will be sent to the city park. A full schedule of games is being arranged, including matches with some of the big ten schools and two on the Pacific coast. Spring football practice will consist of a thorough training in the making of snow men. This exercise is excellent for all players. The backfield will do most of the rolling while the line-men will practice charging on the completed figures. The annual Aggie "army and navy" game will take place in the form of a face washing contest by two picked teams.

These changes which are under consideration are intended to do away with the gloom which is pervading the camp of those interested in outdoor athletics and it may not be long until the students will see the Wildcat track men running the 440 on skis.

Talk Today Closes Series on Modern Writers

Dorothy Canfield is the writer to be discussed this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the home economics rest room. Miss Katherine Bower of the English department will deliver the lecture.

This is the last number of the series of talks on representative modern writers given by members of the English department. Many townspeople as well as students and faculty members have taken advantage of these lectures.

PROCEEDS FROM LITTLE SYMPHONY TO CAMPFIRE

Kansas City Orchestra Adds Prestige by Pacific Tour—To Appear April 1

The proceeds from the two concerts to be presented by the Kansas City Little symphony on April 1, will be turned over to the Manhattan Campfire Girls' organization, according to the plans of the Kiwanis club committee of which M. F. Ahearn is chairman. The Campfire girls will cooperate by handling the ticket sale, both for the special children's performance in the afternoon and for the regular evening program.

The distinguished Kansas City organization has undergone considerable change since it first appeared here last spring, according to newspaper musical critics. Several rearrangements has been made, and the orchestra has been steadily augmenting its accomplishments. A tour to the Pacific coast and an extended trip over the middle west added greatly to the prestige of the Kansas Cityans and definitely established the Little Symphony as one of the best in this country.

GIVES BONUS OF $816 TO STADIUM

MAJOR GENERAL HARBORD ADDS TO MEMORIAL FUND

Famous Aggie Grad Retired from Army Last Year to Head American Radio Corporation

Major General James J. Harbord has given his Kansas bonus of $816 to the Memorial Stadium fund of the Kansas State Agricultural college. A letter transmitting the check has just been received by President W. M. Jardine.

Graduated with the Class of '86

General Harbord, who retired from the army to become president of the Radio Corporation of America last year, was graduated from the Kansas State Agricultural college with the class of '86. In 1920 he received the honorary degree of doctor of laws from the college.

Recognition and honor have come frequently to General Harbord since his graduation from K. S. A. C. For a short time he was assistant in telegraphy at the college, but he aspired to a military career. Failing to secure an appointment to West Point, he enlisted as a private in the regular army. It was not long before he had passed through the noncommissioned grades and was commissioned second lieutenant. Previous to the entry of the United States into the world war he had seen service in Cuba, along the Mexican border, and in the Philippines.

Appointed Chief of Staff

It was in the Great War, however, that he really achieved distinction. He was in command of the marines when they smashed the German drive on Paris in June, 1918. Shortly after that he was put in command of the second division which he led in the Marne-Champagne counter offensive that started the Prussians on their return trip to the Fatherland.

General Harbord was then appointed chief of staff and given complete supervision of the service of supplies. His work in directing and reorganizing the huge machinery of the S. O. S. won the praise of all allied military experts and played an essential part in the success of the American forces. It also won for him a distinguished service medal.

Granted Doctor of Laws Degree

In 1920, the degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon General Harbord by the Kansas State Agricultural college. Two other distinguished soldier alumni received the degree at the same time. They were Major General Eli A. Helmick and Major General Frank W. Coe.

Last year General Harbord gave up his military career to become president of the American Radio corporation, an international business concern.

ELECT CONVENTION DELEGATES

S. S. G. A. to Send Two Representatives to Nashville

At a recent meeting of the S. S. G. A. executive board, Harold Gillman and G. R. Dowd were elected to represent K. S. A. C. at the Midwest Student conference, which will be held in Nashville, Tenn., May 2, 3, and 4, to discuss problems of the student self governing associations of the midwest.

Delegates from all of the larger schools of the Mississippi valley are expected to attend this conference. Harold Gillman of Salina is vice president of the S. S. G. A., and G. R. Dowd of San Francisco, Cal., is treasurer.

WHO SHALL HELP?

It is quite the thing for the self-appointed spokesmen of farmers to deprecate assistance that may be proffered agriculture by business and industry in other lines. The theory seems to be that unless one is a farmer, he cannot know anything about farming, much less can he have a sympathetic interest with those who are engaged in it. This position is untenable and unwarranted. Men who are not engaged in farming, indeed, those who are engaged in the biggest business enterprises in the country, are just as anxious to see the farmer get out of the ditch as the farmer is himself. Their motives may be selfish, but usually they are not ulterior. Every thoughtful business man realizes how unwise it would be to kill the goose that lays the golden egg.

True enough, the farmer primarily must look out for his own interests. He must see to it that other interests are not permitted to prey upon him. All society is interested in this. But to decline the proffer of friendly counsel and assistance simply because one does not happen to be engaged in the same business as we are is to ignore one of the first principles of progress. A friendly word is far to be preferred to an act of scorn or indifference, and a helping hand is the property of a righteous individual. — Nebraska Farmer.

Foods Trip Revue

Kansas City, Mo., March 17—The students who came down to increase their knowledge about the manufacture of food products are having a perfectly wonderful time.

The shops are full of beautiful creations, and as Jessie remarked, it isn't that things are cheaper here, but there's so much more variety. To date Jessie has looked at 279 hats, and has tried on 97. Her choice lies between an orchid silk-and-straw, and a blue silk covered with forgetmenots. The strain of deciding between the two is already beginning to tell on her, and she may be unable to accompany the rest of us on the H. D. Lee tour.

We can hardly get Helen away from the 10 cent store, where a lady with a poker face was playing all the latest song hits while a tenor in a salt and pepper suit sang the choruses and made the sales.

The pianist played everything from "My Radio Man" to "Marcheta" for the music hungry crowd which clustered around and munched hot dogs while their souls were filled with jazz.

"Play 'Dancin' Out,'" said Salt-and-Pepper. "Dan-cin' out, dan-cin' out, is all I want to do, think-in' bout, think-in' bout, a step-pin' out with you—for twen-tee five cents!"

He sold five "Dancin' Outs" and then Poker Face played "Marcheta" for a large lady with two extra chins.

"Mar-keet-a, Mar-keet-a, I lu-uve you, I do-in three keys, for thir-tee cents!"

The tenor sang with so much feeling that the overweight lady almost choked on her sandwich, and she bought two copies of the song.

What interested us most at the 10 cent store was a little boy who was lost. We told Jessie we'd like to write a human interest story about him for one of the city papers, but she wouldn't hear to it.

"You're provincial," she said. "Don't you know kids get lost every day in Kansas City?"

"Yes, but he looks so forlorn. See his grubby little knee sticking out, all scratched—"

"And bleeding, I suppose."

"And see how his lips quiver, I'd like to—"

"No you wouldn't either. There's his mother now, buying 'The One I Love Belongs to Somebody Else' for 25 cents. Let's get out of here."

Saturday afternoon we spent at the Orpheum, where Espe and Dutton, world famous comedians, entertained us with some standard old line jokes. We remember two of them.

Espe—I can go seven miles on a gallon.

Dutton—Thass nothing. I can go to heaven on a pint.

Espe—Con you play in A flat?

Dutton—Boy, if I had the key I could play in any flat!

This evening we will see Al Johnson at the Schubert. When we return to Manhattan we intend to consult Miss Melton as to the advisability of having these food trips listed in the general science curriculum as "required, once a month."

They Actually Didn't Say It

Marie Correll: I'm carrying only nine hours this semester and I hope to make passing grades in at least five.

Harold Sappenfeld: I don't think I'll ever amount to much on the stage, but then—you never can tell.

Skete Williamson: I'm always happy when I wear a full dress suit. They give one such an air of culture.

Alice Nichols: I guess I've got the artistic temperament all right. I'd rather look at the etchings in the architecture building than eat peanuts in journalism seminar.

Doctor King: I don't want to seem conceited, but wasn't that a darling picture?

Judge for Yourself

I was surprised to read an article in the Collegian in which a student reporter voiced the opinion that Lorado Taft talked down to his audience. Perhaps the writer was a victim of the idea that prosaic literateness of expression and an ex cathedra manner are the symptoms of intellectuality. From my limited acquaintance with noted people, however, I notice that in their own intimate circles of intellectual friends they descend to humor and even to puns. The subject matter of Lorado Taft's lecture, I think all will agree, did not insult our intelligence. He should hardly be censured for talking down to us because he used the same mode of expression he might employ among his art associates. — L. J.

The recent agitation which has to do with the breaking down of an Aggie tradition, that of not smoking on the campus, is a matter that should be well thought out before any action is taken. A good tradition is a beautiful thing, and tearing one down savors of desecration. We of this college can point back over a long period of years and state that smoking on the campus has not been indulged in to any great extent. Every school has its traditions and just because ours are a little different, why should we tear them down because someone is dissatisfied? A tradition is something that cannot be built in a short time, and should therefore be jealously guarded. — F. N.

WHY we chose the name
Campus Togs for our clothes

Despite the fact that for twenty-five years we made our clothes and sold them under the label, Chas. Kaufman & Bros., we chose the name Campus Togs as significant of the new spirit in clothes for men of all ages.

For the past ten years we have featured Campus Togs as the trade label for our clothes. It seemed to us significant as a name that would indicate clothes designed and proportioned to please discriminating men. It also signifies in dress the breeze and smartness that the young man or college boy who travels the campus has, and which puts him in the envied class, at least from the standpoint of being youthful and making the most of his age in his appearance.

To also put youthful appearance into clothes for older men, was the new feature for our designing department to work out successfully, and in its achievement we confidently present clothes to the world, for all men, which measure up to the significance of the trade name we have chosen.

We guarantee our clothes

JACOBSON LECTURES ON ART

Speaks at Formal Opening of Art Gallery Thursday

"Art of today forbodes an international social upheaval," said Oscar Jacobson, head of the art department of Oklahoma university, in a talk on "Nationality in Art" at the opening of the art gallery on Thursday evening. "For the most part artists today have joined the league of nations and their products are cosmopolitan in nature. In my estimation this is to be regretted for a lack of definite character, of individuality, has resulted.

"No person today can tell the work of a Spaniard from his contemporary, or of an Italian from an American. It is possibly desirable that such a subordination of national traits occur in order that international harmony in politics shall be gained, but art will inevitably lose in the process much of its strength and power. It is to be regretted I say that the artists have so promptly abandoned their national character to assume an international position.

"America today has no national art, and it is to be hoped that she never will have. Our land is too complex. We need local art, characteristically American.

"Art is not a luxury, it is a necessity as much as food and clothing. It is one of man's primal instincts and it is expressed in satisfaction of spiritual need," Professor Jacobson stated. "Yet the first requisite for an artistic nation is that its people have leisure time."

After the lecture, the audience was given an opportunity to see the objects which are to form the nucleus for the K. S. A. C. art gallery. The display includes oil paintings, original block prints, water color prints, American glassware and pottery, Indian pottery, a case of Chinese art work, embroidery and bronzes, reproductions of sixteenth century paintings, Copley prints of leading American paintings, and modern designs in textiles from Piolet studio, Paris.

Professor Jacobson also addressed a group of students and faculty members in the afternoon on the subject "Modernism in Art."

In shaving, too, Williams has just as noticeable improvements: Williams lather is heavier and more closely woven. It holds the water in against the beard. Result: quicker softening. Williams lather lubricates—no irritating friction. Last, Williams is decidedly helpful to the skin. It keeps your face comfortable no matter how heavy your beard and how tender your skin. There's no coloring matter in Williams—it is a natural white, absolutely pure. Say "Williams Hinge-Cap" to your dealer.

K. S. A. C. PLANS HIGH SCHOOL FORENSIC MEET

Students to Compete May 16 in Reading, Oratory, Extemporaneous Speaking, and Debate

A contest in the various types of public speaking will be held at K. S. A. C. for the Kansas high schools May 16, the day preceding the annual Missouri Valley Interscholastic Relay carnival. The announcement was made Saturday by the department of public speaking, the contest being under the direction of Prof. H. B. Summers of that department.

Reading, original oration, extempore speaking, and debate are the divisions of the contest. Suitable awards will be made to the high school students placing highest in each division, and school trophies also will be given.

Gold, silver, and bronze medals will be given to the first, second, and third place competitors respectively in the reading, extempore speaking, and oratorical contests. The school participating in all three of these contests and making the best showing in the whole group will receive a silver loving cup. A cup also will be awarded to the school winning first place in debate, and gold medals will be given to the members of the winning debate team and silver medals to the second place team.

Preliminary contests will be held in reading, oratory, and extempore speech on the morning of May 16. Students receiving highest rank will participate in the finals in the afternoon.

The debate contest will follow an elimination system, the two teams victorious in their respective sections meeting in the final contest. Debate preliminaries for section winners will be held on May 15 and the final the following afternoon.

Courses in Geology Grow

Geology courses which four years ago were limited to one class every year or two, with an enrolment of from five to 10 students have an enrolment this semester of 185. Geology is required of agricultural and engineering students and many students in general science are electing the subject. Advanced courses have been placed in the curriculum and it is now possible to major in geology. Eleven students are taking advanced courses in geology this semester.

TEAM VISITS 14 SCHOOLS

90 Per Cent of Students State Intention of Entering College

That high school students are interested in securing a college education is clearly proved by statistics secured by a go to college team sent out recently by the extension division.

On this trip programs were given at 14 high schools. Approximately 90 per cent of the seniors in these schools stated their intention of going to some college or university after they were graduated. Out of this group, nearly every student had a definite idea as to the course he wished to take.

Engineering seemed to be a favorite course with the boys, agriculture ranked second, with general science a close third. A number of inquiries were received concerning the journalism department. Home economics seems to appeal to the girls although the general science course is attracting a great many. Music seems to be a very popular course and should grow considerably next year.

The team that made this trip was composed entirely of boys—Harold Sappenfield, Fredonia; John Wray Young, Hutchinson; and Jack Kennedy, Wichita. The program included

Y. M. ADOPTS NEW BY-LAWS

REORGANIZATION EFFECTED AT MEETING TUESDAY EVENING

Number of Standing Committees Reduced to Four—Election Is April 1

A reorganization of the Y. M. C. A. was effected at the meeting Tuesday evening at which a new set of by-laws to the constitution were adopted.

Only Four Standing Committees As in the past, members of the Y. M. C. A. will elect a president, vice president, and secretary, who in consultation with Dr. A. A. Holtz, will choose the 12 members of the cabinet.

Each member of the cabinet was formerly chairman of a committee for the entire year, but under the new plan, there will be only four standing committees. These committees are the S. S. G. A. committee, the gospel team committee, the extension committee, and the freshman committee.

Election Held April 1

Other standing committees will be dispensed with, but special committees will be appointed to do particular pieces of work. Officers for the coming year will be elected April 1.

JEROME TO HEAD MIER HERD AT AGUASCALIENTES, MEXICO

Young Holstein Bull Begins 1,500 Mile Journey

Sir Korndyke Jerome, a young Holstein bull from the K. S. A. C. herd, left Manhattan last week on the first lap of a 1,500 mile journey. "Jerome," as he is called, was selected by Joe Mier, senior in dairy husbandry, to head his father's dairy herd at Aguascalientes, Mexico. The Mier herd is one of the largest in the state of Aguascalientes.

Although the college dairy herd has furnished herd sires to 64 counties of Kansas, and to 11 states, this is the first one to go to Mexico and is therefore worthy of special mention.

Jerome was bred at the college having Canary Paul Josephine as a dam. She is one of the best type cows in the college Holstein herd, having been a first prize winner at the 1923 Kansas State fair. She is also a good producer, making 13,191 pounds of milk and 393.4 pounds of butterfat in a year as a two-year-old. "Jerome's" sire, Campus Sir Korndyke Quad, is strongly bred for production.

EIGHT LETTER MEN IN DAILY WORKOUT

Baseball Prospects Bright for Corsaut's Men—1924 Schedule Contains 16 Games

Prospects for Coach C. W. Corsaut's first venture into Missouri Valley baseball circles are far from dark, although a waist deep snow over "home plate" on the Aggie, baseball diamond is confining the squad to Nichols gymnasium for their daily work outs.

Eight letter men, including the two varsity pitchers of last year, are back on duty for 1924. The pitching "ace" of the 1924 staff probably will be Henry Karns of Ada, a senior returning to school after an absence of a year or so.

Lyle "Red" Ernst, third baseman, L. M. Staley, second base, and Ralph Karns, short stop, all veterans, will give a good accounting from the infield when the opening guns of the season are fired.

Captain Glenn Atkins of Manhattan, and N. S. "Squirrel" Barth have two of the three outfield places clinched. Atkins is a corking good left fielder and Barth handles center field with enough speed and "pepper" to make up for his lack of size.

Right field and the catching position alone lack veterans, but enough good material is in the 30 man squad to leave little doubt as to finding a player to fill both berths.

Burr Swartz, football quarter back and two letter baseball man, is back for his third season at first base. Swartz performed so well last season that good authority has it he was offered a trial with the Kansas City Blues, but declined.

Edward Cunningham and Bernard Conroy, of Manhattan, are the two regular pitchers left over from last year. Both men had an "up and down" season in 1923.

Corsaut plans to carry the entire squad all season at home, and take as many men as possible on the road trips in order to give the youngsters experience for next year, as most of the eight regulars who are back are playing their third and last season. The Aggie schedule for 1924 includes 16 Valley games, eight at home and eight away. Games also are scheduled with the Haskell Indians, here, and St. Marys, there.

The schedule follows:
April 5—St. Marys at St. Marys
April 11-12—Oklahoma at Norman
April 14-15—Missouri at Columbia
April 25-26—Kansas at Manhattan
May 2-3—Nebraska at Lincoln
May 9-10—Nebraska at Manhattan
May 12-13—Open
May 15—Haskell at Manhattan
May 19-20—Missouri at Manhattan
May 23-24—Oklahoma at Manhattan
May 26-27—Kansas at Lawrence

FOODS CLASSES MAKE TRIP TO KANSAS CITY

Inspect Institutions Engaged in Handling, Manufacturing, and Storing Food Products

The class in foods and institutional management accompanied by Martha S. Pittman, Katherine Hudson, and Effie Mae Carp spent Monday and Tuesday of this week in Kansas City visiting various institutions engaged in handling, manufacturing, and storing food products. The companies visited were Corn Products Refining company, H. D. Lee Mercantile company, National Biscuit company, Loose-Wiles company, Swift Packing plant, and Wolfman's where fancy groceries were inspected.

Members of the foods class who made the inspection trip were May Conrow, Esther Babcock, Penelope Burtis, Mary Jane Clark, Ehyll Danielson, Myrtle Divilbiss, Gertrude Fulton, Beatrice Gaitner, Dorothy Girtan, Florence Haines, Wilda Hay, Mary Herthel, Constance Hoefer, Julia Jennings, Bernice Johnson, Della Justice, Marie Lamson, Thelma McBride, Eloise Monroe, Christine Pelton, Alma Petrasek, Gladys Renfro, Mayetta Roper, Faith Strayer, Wilma Wentz, Kathryn Whitten, Susanna Whitten, Jessie Winder, Jessie Campbell, Josephine Hemphill, Merle Ford, Virgiline Wieman, Jessie Newcomb, Bernice McKee, and Elizabeth Elledge.

The members of the institutional management class who made the trip are Medrith Droll, Helen Blair, Edith Grundmeier, Ruth Luginbill, Elmira King, Mabel Herr, Grace Steininger, Mary Katherine Russell, Julia Smith, and Jennie Horner.

Virginia Watson, junior in home economics last year, who is now lecturer and demonstrator for the Rogers and Baldwin hardware company, Springfield, Mo., joined the group at Kansas City. Miss Watson's expenses were paid by the firm employing her, and she was also promised a $25 increase in salary for making the inspection trip.

Enlow Wins 10 Out of 14 Games

Answers Due Saturday

The Sigma Delta Chi probe committee has finally completed its work of investigation, it was announced yesterday at Branding Iron headquarters in Kedzie hall. The committee secretary issued a formal statement in which he said that all witnesses—about 200—had been subpoenaed, and that nothing remained to be done but to get evidence in shape for presentation when the court convenes on the evening of April 22.

The secretary called special attention to the fact that all answers must be filed by 6 o'clock Saturday, March 22, and that none can legally be accepted after that date. Contempt of court proceedings will be instituted against the laggards, and the usual sentence of ignorance will be pronounced.

PREP SCHOOLS ENTER TOURNNEY

Kansas Catholic High Schools Decide Basketball Championship

Eight teams have entered the state basketball tournament for Catholic prep schools which will be held at Nichols gymnasium Saturday, March 22.

The schools which have signified their intentions of taking part in the tournament are Wichita, Kansas City, Hutchinson, Junction City, Topeka, Aurora, Blaine, Hays, Salina, and Manhattan. The tournament will begin at 1 o'clock Saturday in Nichols gymnasium.

Today at the college gym, the basketball championship for the Northeast Kansas Catholic High School conference will be decided. Topeka and Aurora are tied for first place and they have arranged to settle the claim by playing two games on Friday, one in the afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, and the other in the evening at 8 o'clock.

CREDITS MUST BE COMPLETE BY MAY 25 UNDER NEW RULE

Candidacy of Seniors Not Considered After Faculty Meeting

No longer will the senior sit up the night before commencement to finish three hours of correspondence work in order to get his degree. No longer can he rush in at the eleventh hour and demand his third examination in American government.

Hereafter the faculty will refuse to consider the candidacy of any senior whose credits are not complete at the time of the regular faculty meeting, held for the purpose of recommending the candidates for degree. This was the ruling made at the faculty meeting on May 28, to become effective at the next commencement.

In the past, any seniors who were deficient because of unfinished work were given until nine o'clock the day before commencement to complete the work, and get the report to the registrar's office. Under the new ruling, work must be completed by Monday, May 25.

Announce Short Story Contest

The American College Quill club short story contest is now open. Manuscripts from 2,500 to 7,000 words in length, must be submitted to Prof. Ada Rice by April 15. The stories must be typed, double spaced, and three copies should be sent; the author's name should not be on the manuscript, but should be enclosed in a separate envelope which should also contain the title of the story. The prize to be awarded is $10.

HEAD OF PHI KAPPA PHI ADDRESSES ENGINEERS

Dr. Edwin E. Sparks Visits K. S. A. C. in Interests of National Scholastic Fraternity

"You are cheating yourself when you think you're working and you're not, and you are passing up your greatest opportunity in life," said Dr. Edwin E. Sparks, in speaking to the engineering students in general seminar at the college yesterday afternoon. Doctor Sparks was formerly president of Pennsylvania State college and is now Regent General of Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary scholastic fraternity. His visit to the college was in the interests of the national scholastic fraternity and he is visiting about 50 of the chapters throughout the United States.

The salient point which Doctor Sparks emphasized throughout his address was that the college student must secure a definite objective to work toward if he is to succeed. In establishing or choosing one's objective the man who starts with small finances, with large hindrances blocking his way, and with little encouragement from others, is the man who really achieves the greatest success. Doctor Sparks said, for as he put it, "the man who starts at the top has only one way to go—down!"

In supplementing this idea he told of the experiences of Horace Greeley, who later became one of the world's greatest editors; of Herbert Hoover, one of the leading economists today; and of Enrico Caruso, history's greatest tenor—all of whom started with single objectives and, under great obstacles, attained the goals for which they started.

"Some people throw away the opportunities of the future for an artificial present," Doctor Sparks declared, "and after these artificials have worn away where do they find themselves? Failures! If you don't have an objective in life, get one now."

AGGIES COMPETE IN SWIM MEET

WASHINGTON CONCEDED FIRST PLACE BY DOPESTERS

Coach Knott Hopes for Second or Third—Aggies Meet Iowa March 28

Eight Aggie swimmers are in St. Louis today going through the trial heats of the first annual Missouri Valley conference swimming meet. The finals will be tomorrow afternoon in the Washington university gymnasium.

Dope Favors Pikers

Although the Washington Pikers are conceded the championship by virtue of having cleaned up everything in sight in the way of dual meets, Coach E. A. Knott hopes to wind up in second or third place. Seven valley schools have entered.

Captain Burton Colburn of the Aggie squad won every race he entered in the Nebraska and Ames dual meets this spring. Against Washington, Colburn was forced to be content with seconds, and will be out for revenge tomorrow. Colburn and J. T. Mackay, Kansas City, have twice won second places in the 220 yard dashes of the National Junior championships at Omaha.

Miller Expected to Place

L. C. Miller, Norton, is expected to come through with a place in the fancy diving with P. R. Carter, Bradford. Miller also specializes in the back stroke while Carter teams with Colburn on the 220 yard free style. L. A. Schaaf, Zeandale, will enter the back stroke races, and Paul Stuenkel, Lenora, the free style dashes.

Aggie entries in the plunge for distance are Bernard Harter, El Dorado, football center, and C. W. Schem, Wakeeney. Both men are among the best in the valley in practice but have yet to win out in competition.

Enters Two Contests Next Week

Following the Valley meet the Aggie team goes to Ames for a return contest with Iowa State college March 28. The next day, March 29, the entire squad will be entered in the Kansas City Athletic club Western A. A. U. meet in Kansas City.

TO PI KAPPA DELTA MEET

Ralph Sherman to Represent Debat- ing Fraternity at Convention

Ralph W. Sherman, Athenian, won the Pi Kappa Delta oratorical tryouts held in recreation last Friday. This entitles him to represent that organization at the fifth national convention to be held in Peoria, Ill., April 1 to 3.

Those who tried out are Austin Stover, Webster; George Corbet, Webster, and Ralph W. Sherman, Athenian.

The judges were Dr. H. T. Hill, Prof. H. A. Shinn, Dr. J. E. Kammer, R. P. Evans, and Attorney George Clammer.

WIN FROM WASHINGTON— LOSE TO NORTH DAKOTA

Aggie Shooters Break Even on Week's Contests

One won and one lost is the record of the K. S. A. C. rifle team for the week ended March 15. The Aggies lost to North Dakota State college by a score of 3,725 to 3,673. Washington State, however, was defeated by a score of 3,730 to 3,355. No word has been received from Illinois university, the other school in the match, and it is probable that the contest will be forfeited to the Aggies.

Next week the University of Wisconsin will be the Aggies' only opponent. This match will be the last indoor shoot of the season, the rest being fired on the open range.

LONGSTRETH CHAPEL SPEAKER

Editor of New Art Magazine to Ad- dress Assembly

Edward Longstreth, editor of the New Art Magazine, will address student assembly Wednesday, March 26, on "Independence in American Art." He will also address the Journalism seminar Monday, on "The Manuscript from the Writer's Standpoint."

Mr. Longstreth is bringing with him an exhibit of prints, woodcuts, and paintings, the work of contemporary American artists, which he will exhibit in A 67 and 68. He will also talk to several of the art classes on the work of modern American artists.

Work in Harvest Inspires Burt to Write Prize Essay

Many a famous author has battered the editorial doors of the Saturday Evening Post with manuscripts, to have them returned with a little white card, reading, "The enclosed is not suitable for publication in the Post. Please do not expect individual criticism on the manuscript." But it remained for a general science student of the college to gain the attention of the Post's plutocrats and get a slip of paper in return—this one, however, was not a return card, but a check for $25.

While working in the harvest fields last summer, Charles E. Burt of Hadam became interested in the inefficiency of fibre belts and the many accidents caused by them. So when the Saturday Evening Post announced a contest on the subject of leather, he saw that opportunity had rattled his latchkey.

Mr. Burt submitted an essay entitled, "Nothing Takes the Place of Leather," and when the judging was done, the Aggie contestant found himself in the $25 winner class. In speaking of his article, Burt said "The many accidents due to fibre belts convinced me that the title of my masterpiece was true to fact."

Many a student has tried to win prizes in the Fleischman yeast contest on "How Yeast Preserves Beauty," and many have written in reply to calls for copy from the Advertising Clubs of America, but this is the first time that a student of the college has broken into the columns of the Post. For verification of these facts, see page 89 of the March 1 issue under the heading "$25 prizes," which is to be found just below the halftone of a leather-soled shoe.

MICHIGAN AGGIES MAKE 7,000 MILE DEBATE TRIP

Contest with 12 Schools on Tour— Will Meet K. S. A. C. Team on World Court Question Saturday

Randall Hill, C. W. Claybaugh, and B. J. Miller constitute the K. S. A. C. affirmative debate team which will meet the Michigan Aggies Saturday, March 22, on the question, "Resolved: That the United States Should Enter the World Court." The debate will be held at Recreation center at 7 o'clock.

The members of the Michigan Aggie team are on a trip which will cover 7,000 miles of territory. On this trip they will debate 12 schools including Michigan university, Decatur, Ill.; Iowa State college, Ames, Iowa; Yankton college, Yankton, S. D.; Kansas State Agricultural college, Manhattan; North Dakota Agricultural college, Fargo, N. D.; Denver university, Denver, Col.; Colorado Agricultural college, Fort Collins, Col.; Utah Agricultural college, Logan, Utah; College of Puget Sound, Tacoma, Wash.; Willamette university, Salem, Ore.; College of the Pacific, San Jose, Cal.; Pasadena university, Pasadena, Cal. They plan to return to their college in East Lansing, Mich., about the middle of April.

Last winter the Michigan Aggie debaters made a similar trip, going as far east as the New England states, and losing only one debate. Two years ago they took a trip into Colorado, North Dakota, and Minnesota and a majority of the decisions were in their favor. This shows the strength of the Michigan team. That the Kansas Aggies are also well prepared is evidenced by the recent victory over the K. U. team on the same subject.

Prof. H. A. Shinn of the public speaking department is coaching the Kansas Aggie team.

DEBATERS DEFEAT WINFIELD

Win Fourth Victory in Contest Mon- day Evening

The Kansas State Agricultural college men's debating team won its fourth victory of the season at Winfield Monday night by defeating the Southwestern college team. The members of the Aggie team, undefeated thus far this season, are Cecil Walt, Gove; Richard Elliott, Newton, and Forest Whan, Manhattan.

The Aggies have previously defeated teams from the Iowa State college twice, and Kansas university once.

Monday evening in Recreation center, the Aggie team will meet the debaters from Oklahoma university on the question "Resolved: That France Is Justified in Occupying the Ruhr."

Charles Anthony Frankenhoff, '16, divisional sales manager of the Celite Products company of Philadelphia, was a recent guest at the Phi Kappa house.

WORLD FORUM BEGINS TODAY

Five Prominent Speakers Secured for Three Day Meeting

Students and faculty members who are interested in world problems will be given an opportunity to gain first hand information on conditions, at the World Forum which begins with the assembly address this morning.

For the past three years the Y. M. and Y. W. have jointly conducted such forums, and the committee in charge this year has stated that the programs arranged for Friday, Saturday, and Sunday will be the most interesting and instructive yet given.

Among the speakers who have been secured are Dr. Y. Y. Tsu, Dr. C. M. McConnell, Chancellor Harper, Miss Margaret Lewis, and Miss Twila Lytton.

Homer Bryson, '22, who was obliged to give up his work at Ames, Iowa on account of ill health, is now recuperating at Cragmor sanitarium, Colorado Springs, Col.

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

The Collegian departs from its usual line of comment to urge serious and interested consideration by every student of the plans for S. S. G. A. reorganization. The move to revise the constitution offers to all who have thrown bricks at the association an opportunity to make their aim effective.

Officers of the S. S. G. A. are obviously making an earnest effort to construct the most satisfactory organization possible. If there is any lack of interest now, the knockers must forever after hold their peace.

A NEW SLUSH FUND

We recommend to the building and repair department that it request President Jardine to ask the plenipotentiary to appropriate funds to build a permanent concrete bridge over the slush of mud south of Nichols gymnasium.

Four times a day fully a third of the campus inhabitants draggle through the mud bath that every small rain or snow accommodates. The slush is carried to class rooms at the cost of 1,200 shines.

Yesterday one professor lost his rubber in a sea of slush in the aforementioned district; per chance he will catch pneumonia and die. But aside from all casual considerations, it is a quite popular opinion that a little concrete sprinkled over the mud of the gymnasium neighborhood would save $3,600 every month in shines.

LET GEORGE DO IT

Drives, like the poor, we have with us always. This week the call has gone out to all organizations to subscribe 100 per cent to Near East Relief.

Perhaps through pure selfishness, perhaps because so many students at K. S. A. C. are self supporting and really need all the money they can earn, or possibly because the time worn argument of 100 percentism palls, the cause has not proved exceedingly popular.

The chief excuse offered by the unpatriotic souls who refuse to contribute is that too much of the money is expended in advertising the campaign, in paying for speakers, and in all the expenses which result from superorganization. The mere fact that such accusations are unfounded, has little influence on the general belief.

We were told, in the impassioned appeal presented at assembly recently, that it was up to the American people to care for the destitute people in the Near East. Just why America was selected for this honor was not pointed out. Even if America is elected as the big brother to mankind, one wonders why colleges are continually solicited for funds.

If the student is self supporting, he hasn't the money to support the needy of the world. If he is using papa's money, why not let papa make the gift?

FOODS TRIP REVUE (Concluded)

We arrived in Manhattan Tuesday night, all 50 of us, including Elizabeth, too tired to care whether Wednesday's lessons were ever prepared or not. After one has climbed 39,000 steps, walked 20 miles, and been the middle layer in a street car piled three deep, a mere French lesson is—very mere.

Old Kansas City, accustomed as it is to big conventions and crowds of people, smiled at us from the shop windows, and waved from the doorways. A white haired baker in at Wolfersman's, waiting unsuspectingly for the elevator, stumbled back when he saw the gang in the elevator, with a surprised "Oh, Lord!"

Sunday evening we ate supper at the Blue Lantern, and as Al Jolson said, if one had two years to wait, it would be a fine place to eat.

Monday evening we had dinner at the Hotel Baltimore cabaret—orchestra, dancing, solicitous waiters who said "Feeneesh?" after every course—a woman in a tan dress who smoked six cigarettes without stopping. We were in Missouri.

The H. D. Lee Mercantile Co. gave us a St. Patrick's day luncheon, "correct in all its appointments." And we saw H. D. himself, the H. D. Lee who started out with only a few cents—three, if we remember correctly, and now he has workmen who cut out 12 miles of blue denim a day, to keep the world in overalls.

Sturgeon, the courteous guide who acted as host at our table, put himself out to entertain the crowd. Asked about our football team, what year it was we beat K. U., and so on.

Anabel discomfited him though. She couldn't resist the temptation, while he was chanting the praises of Lee products, to ask him if all the vitamins in the canned goods were killed.

"Yes, ma'am!" said Sturgeon. "We always kill every one of those things!" Not knowing much about the wily vitamins ourselves, we felt sorry for him, almost ashamed of the hard looks the home economics students gave him.

Next year Sturgeon will be prepared. We saw him writing the unfortunate word in his notebook. He was sure a nice guide, anyway, as Jessie says.

The candy department of Loose-Wiles, where Miss Hudson almost got lost, was a veritable child's garden of delight. Chocolates, bonbons, jaw-breakers, beans, you know what we mean. The chocolate dipping process was fascinating—but watching the candy strikers put the stripes on the giant sticks of candy was really thrilling.

We went out to Swift's Tuesday morning, in time to see four policemen, armed with forty-fivers, get in an open Ford and go for the mail. Thirty-eight girls flocked to the windows to see them come in, dragging the hold robbers who were frustrated in their attempt to get away with the payroll. Much to our disappointment, there was no holdup, no murder, no excitement at all.

We spent quite a while in the "albatross," as one admirer of Coleridge insisted on calling it.

Not a pretty sight—the killing room. Shut your eyes if you're subject to fainting, and turn away from the slaughter of the innocents. It takes only a fraction of a second—then lifeless forms struggling in vain—men wading in warm blood—it's for a worthy cause, Virgilene reminded us.

Al Jolson at the Shubert. Same old Al—same eyes, same inimitable gestures—probably some of the same old jokes he's been handing out for years—but they satisfy, because he's Al Jolson.

We tried one of his jokes on Mildred yesterday at the Green Bowl, while we were waiting for Herbert to bring us a menu.

"Want to know how to make an Englishman happy in his old age?" we asked. "Then tell him a joke while he's young."

She didn't show much interest then, but during the dessert course a gleam of understanding came into her bright blue eyes.

"I think you're just horrid!" she exclaimed.

squad either in exceptional performances or in mediocre performances.

The trackmen have been coached by Charles Bachman who is also head football coach. And while Bachman has been spending a great deal of his time during the winter planning football and lecturing it, he has also devoted part of his time to the runners. The success of the team, in so far as it has gone, can be attributed to the greatness of a few stars rather than a well balanced team.

The outdoor track season will begin in a few weeks, on April 19 to be exact, and Bachman is devoting all of his time during the afternoons to spring football practice. The coach was hired to coach both football and track, both of which are major sports, and one is receiving all his time. It is not fair to the institution or to the men who are out for track to neglect its improvement.

If the coach can produce an average team with little or no coaching he could work wonders with the material he has groomed in the right manner. It is his duty to the college to do so.—F. G.

criticisms of local writers.

Too much is a plenty. Every one on the hill is covering up his deeds of the past year so as to escape inspection, either by the inquisitive journalists or the know-it-all auth-

The annual banquet of the Quill will be held at the Gillett hotel on Thursday evening, April 3, at 7 o'clock and the banquet manager has promised that there will be none of the conventional toasts and intended however, be plenty of real humor.

Very little information is being ly 50 invitations are being mailed to Quill club members and to special guests.

THIRD GO TO COLLEGE TEAM ON TOUR OF HIGH SCHOOLS

One Act Play, Talks, and Music on Program

The third go to college team left Sunday for the southern part of the state where a short entertainment will be given at some of the leading high schools. The program will consist of a one-act play, "Poor Old Jim," piano solos, and talks on the advantages of going to college.

Two schools will be visited each day. Monday the team visited the high schools of Newton and Elorence; Tuesday Eldorado and Augusta; Wednesday, Winfield and Arkansas City; Thursday, Wellington and Harper; and Friday, Anthony and Kingman.

The students who comprise the team are Fred Voland, Lillian Kam-meyer, and George Fuller.

To Go on Chautauqua

Harry Wilson has accepted a position with Redpath-Horner chautauqua circuit. He is to accompany a comedienne who in previous years has presented her performance alone.
Wilson's trip will take him south into Oklahoma, Texas, and New Mexico.

Farnsworth Visits College

Major General Charles F. Farnsworth, chief of United States infantry, will be a visitor at this college next week. Arriving sometime Wednesday, March 26, he will visit the college for two days. He will consult with the infantry officers of this college in regard to their work.

Gretchen Rugh, '23, who is teaching home economics in the Chapman high school, visited the college recently.

JUNIORS ARE AHEAD IN WOMEN'S CLASS GAMES

Defeat Seniors 26-24—Freshmen and Sophomores Tie 13-13 in First Game

A tie score of 13-13 was the result of the basketball game between the freshman and sophomore girls at the girls' gymnasium, Tuesday evening. This was the first game of the interclass tournament which is being played off this week and next.

The juniors defeated the seniors 26-24 in the second tournament game, played Wednesday evening. The seniors, however, will have another chance at the juniors next week as each class plays every other class twice during the tournament.

The ranking of class teams since the first two games is first, juniors; second, freshmen and sophomores; third, seniors.

The line-ups for the four classes in the games played were freshman, Inez Jones, captain; guards, Marie Farmer and Inez Jones; forwards, Merle Nelson and Helen Batchelor; centers, Mary Haise and Kathryn Kimble.

Sophomore: Genevieve Tracy, captain; guards, Merle Grinstead and Thelma Sharp; forwards, Lucille Miller and Louise Wann; centers, Mildred Meyers and Genevieve Tracy. Emma Jehlcek was substituted in last quarter for Louise Wann.

Junior: Catherine Bernhisel, captain; guards, Florence Haines and Catherine Bernhisel; forwards, Ethyl Danielson and Grace Davison; centers, Inga Ross and Ida Conroy. Hilda Frost Dunlap was substituted for Inga Ross in second half.

Senior: Lanora Russel, captain; guards, Alice Marston and Leonora Doll; forwards, Ruth Leonard and Amy Conroy; centers, Eleanor Davis and Mary Roesener. Lucia Biltz was substituted for Leonora Doll in second half.

TALK ON DOROTHY CANFIELD CLOSES SERIES OF LECTURES

Miss Bower Reviews Work of Modern Writer

The last number in the series of lectures given by members of the English department on representative modern writers was the lecture Tuesday afternoon on Dorothy Canfield by Miss Katherine Bower.

"Dorothy Canfield is the author of some 20 books," Miss Bower stated. "Her short stories and novels are her most widely read works. Most of her novels are classed as 'best sellers,' not because they are sentimental and cheap; but because they are written in an entertaining manner, and in a style so simple that anyone can understand it," Miss Bower explained.

"Dorothy Canfield has a number of pet questions which she usually manages to bring into the story in some way," Miss Bower stated. Selections were read from "Hillsboro," "The Brimming Cup," and "The Bent Twig."

"MODERNISM IN ART" IS EXPLAINED BY JACOBSON

Well Known Painter Explains Impressionism and Cubism

"The true measure of greatness is best expressed in a people's art," said Prof. Oscar Jacobson, head of the art department at the University of Oklahoma in a recent address on "Modernism in Art." "There is a very intimate relation between art and life—economic and political."

Art was divided by Professor Jacobson into "pure art" and "representative" art, and in his talk the elements of the fine arts—words, sound, form, movement, and color—were classified under these two headings. The underlying principles and the aims of impressionism and cubism were brought out in the discussion.

Professor Jacobson is a painter as well as a teacher. He paints southwestern motifs successfully, both figure and landscape.

MANY CONTRIBUTE TO DRIVE

Near East Committee Asks Cooperation on Bundle Day

The following statement from C. R. Marlowe who is in charge of the Near East Relief drive shows the progress of the drive on the hill:

"K. S. A. C. is responding in a most noble way with cash and pledges to the orphans of the Near East, and the committee desires to thank all those who in any way are helping in this worthy cause. Contributions will still be received by Doctor Holtz, James Parker, or any member of the committee."

"Remember Saturday is Bundle day, so gather up your old clothes and shoes and have them in a bundle or sack on your front porch by Saturday morning."

"Place them where the boys can see them. Spring will soon be here and you will not need some of your clothes any longer. This is a chance for you to give your old away and get new."

Addresses Hort Club

Dean F. D. Farrell was the speaker at the regular meeting of the Hort club, Tuesday evening. The subject of Dean Farrell's address was "The Story of a Successful Farmer."

Judges High School Debate

Wayne McKibben was in Marysville Wednesday, judging a high school debate.

Coffer-Miller Players

The paltry few who attended the Coffer-Miller production of George Bernard Shaw's Androcles and the Lion Wednesday evening were also a fortunate few, for they had the privilege of enjoying sparkling, pungent comedy artistically done.

The Coffer-Miller production is one of those very few that grow more and more satisfactory as you think them over. Jess Coffer's work as Androcles of course lost not a second in getting across the footlights. It needed no recollection, not even reflection, to make it an entirely satisfying thing. But it is in memory mainly that one fully appreciates the distinctness of the other highly individual "types" of Christian and Roman patrician.

The sets for the play added not a little to the finish of the production. They were simple, devoid of detail, and peculiarly harmonious with the moods and foreshadowing of the lines. Particularly did the red back drop used during the first act aid in arousing the mood of expectancy of martyrdom. The sets were a curious combination of the modern and the conventional of a long time ago, most pleasing in that they exerted power without ostentation.

Jess Coffer is particularly happy in the role of Androcles. As the meek and milk-mild humanitarian and humane type of Christian he had the mood of the audience entirely at his command every minute he was on the stage. When he chose to make people smile, they smiled; if he wanted a giggle, he got it; a snicker was his for the slightest blinking of his eyes; and when it was time for uproarious laughter, it was he who released that laughter. His characterization of the spouse-ridden husband was realistic to a deplorable degree.

Martha Miller, as Lavinia, had a very difficult task. She had to overcome and made believable Shaw's anachronism of twentieth-century free-thinker and early Christian martyr combination. There was something of the perfume lady about her that hardly allowed the beholder to fit her into the group easily. Her acting was excellent, however, and her voice more than excellent.

The supporting cast was well selected and served as a picturesque and effective background for the work of Androcles. There is possibly one exception, that of Megara, the wife of the lion-tamer. Miss Louise Sawyer, who took the role, is hardly big enough, even with her excellently sharp voice, to make her husband's submission seem just the thing, for a while yet, at least. The necessary transfer of Androcles' line, "I'm rather stringy and tough," to "You're rather stringy and tough," when they were considering their order of entrance into the lion, was more necessary than successful.

But art, of course, cannot be expected to wait on avoidupois, or the lack of it. It was a good show, artistically done, and the unanimous consent of the audience was easily obtained for the motion that it was the most delightful thing Manhattan has seen for a long time.—H. W. D.

"Cat and Canary" Monday

The internationally known "Cat and Canary" will pay its first visit to the Marshall Theatre for one night only, Monday, March 24. The company engaged in this spooky thriller is the one which played for 36 weeks last season at the Princess theatre, Chicago, while an Eastern company was completing a second season in New York. John Willard's hair raising drama has yet many cities on its calling list in this country but has already had runs in England and Australia and has been played through the Orient by T. Daniel Frawley's celebrated traveling repertoire company.

Kilbourn Gordon, Inc. presents "The Cat and the Canary" with scrupulous care and with this exceptional cast: Emily Taft, Louis Kimball, John C. King, Anne Suth-

GRAIN JUDGERS MEET SATURDAY

$125 IN PRIZES FOR WINNERS IN ANNUAL CONTEST

Klod and Kernel Klub Also Offers Awards to High Freshmen—Ribbons for Each Placing

The sixth annual students' grain judging contest, under the auspices of the Klod and Kernel Klub is to be held Saturday afternoon, March 29.

Four Prizes in Each Class

Prizes amounting in value to over $125 will be given to the winners, it has been announced. For first place in the entire contest in the senior division a cash prize of $18 will be given, for second place $12, third place $8, and fourth place $5. In the junior division a cash prize of $12 is offered for first place, $8 for second, $5 for third and $3 for fourth.

The Klod and Kernel Klub offers $5 in cash to the third highest ranking freshman, $3 to the second and $2 to the third. First, second, and third prizes will also be given in each division of the contest—identification, grading and judging small grain, and judging corn, alfalfa and sorghums. Ribbons will also be given for each of the placings mentioned above.

Three Divisions in Contest

Of special interest to competitors in the contest this year is the division into junior and senior divisions. Students who have had the course in grain grading and judging will compete in the senior division; all others will be in the junior division.

The contest is divided into three sections. The first will consist of identification of about 100 samples of farm crop varieties and damages. This work will include varieties of corn, sorghums, wheat, oats, rye, flax, buckwheat, spelt, emmer, and rice. Commercial grading of wheat and oats, and judging hard red winter wheat constitutes the second class. The third class is an exercise in judging corn, grain sorghums, and alfalfa.

Prizes Are Contributed

Prizes have been contributed by the following: Armour Fertilizer works, Goffe and Carner Grain company, Cudahy Packing company, Barteldes Seed company, D. O. Coe Seed company, Hays City Flour Mills, Kansas Crop Improvement association, Better Farming association, Breeder's Gazette, Weekly Kansas City Star, Capper Farm Press, Farm and Fireside, Successful Farming.

MISS LEAZENBY INJURED IN RECENT ROCK ISLAND WRECK

Now Recovering at Charlotte Swift Hospital

Prof. Amy Jane Leazenby is at the Charlotte Swift hospital recovering from injuries resulting from the Rock Island wreck near Zeandale last Thursday morning, where she received fractured ribs and severe bruises. She expects to return to her duties at the college the last of this week.

Professor Leazenby was enroute to Wichita to attend the state convention of the League of Women voters when the wreck occurred.

THREE DAY DISCUSSION MEETING CLOSES SUNDAY

Indianapolis Delegates, Y. M., Y. W., and College Pastors Sponsor World Forum

The world forum opened Friday morning with a talk in assembly by Chancellor Harper of Denver university. Throughout Friday and the two following days meetings of an educational or inspirational nature were held with people of national or international note as leaders.

According to Dr. A. H. Holtz the forum was very satisfactory. The largest crowd attended the meeting Sunday evening in which Chancellor Harper spoke on "A Warless World." Hubert Herring of Wichita, who took Dr. C. M. McConnel's place, also spoke.

Dr. Y. Y. Tsu, head of the Chinese Christian movement in America, spoke Friday evening on the "Effect of Western Civilization on China." A meeting for women and girls was held in Recreation Friday afternoon with Margaret Lewis and Twila Lytton as speakers. A number of people took advantage of the opportunities for personal interviews with the forum speakers Saturday morning.

At the Eurodelphian-Webster literary societies Saturday afternoon Dr. Y. Y. Tsu spoke about the "Chinese Youth Movement," while Chancellor Harper spoke at the Athenian-Browning meeting on "European Youth Movements." Hubert Herring spoke to the Ionians and Hamiltons.

At the different churches Sunday morning the forum speakers talked on various phases of the subjects being discussed in the world forum. In the evening, the speakers visited the various young people's societies of the churches.

Student discussion groups and forums will be held each Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock for the next few weeks to give the students a chance to discuss further the problems and questions which were raised in the world forum.

The college pastors, the Y. M. and Y. W., and the delegates who attended Indianapolis are sponsoring these forums and some plans are being made for some interesting meetings during the next few weeks.

MARGARITA SELINSKY IS FEATURED BY SYMPHONY

Famous Violinist to Appear on Orchestra Program—Vocal Soloist Also Accompanies Kansas Citizens

A feature of the concerts to be presented in the auditorium next Tuesday by the Kansas City Little Symphony orchestra will be the appearance of Madame Margarita Selinsky, violin soloist, it has been announced by the Kiwanis club committee in charge of arrangements. A vocal soloist also accompanies the orchestra.

Madame Selinsky's coming is of particular interest because stories of her career have become so universally known. She comes from an old and extremely musical family in which music had been cultivated through generations, and she began playing in public at a very tender age. Her career, from her first sensational appearance in her home town, Riga, was filled with experiences that took her into every country in Europe where she participated in many famous happenings of war times.

At the age of 10 she went to Berlin to study and did not appear in public again until 15 years old, when she played as soloist with the Warsaw Philharmonic orchestra during its summer season near Riga. The war interrupted her studies at the Academy of Music in Berlin under Prof. Willy Hess, and forced her to go back to Russia where she completed her musical education under Professor Auer in St. Petersburg.

The famine of 1917 compelled her to leave the Russian capital. In Moscow she gave a concert on February 28, 1917, the historic day that the Czar abdicated his throne. Later on account of disturbed conditions she returned to Berlin, appearing there repeatedly with the Philharmonic orchestra, as well as in recital.

After her marriage to Max Selinsky, noted violinist, in 1920, she devoted her time to joint appearances with her husband. The couple won high recognition in London, New York, Philadelphia, Kansas City, and other places. Lately Madame Selinsky has resumed her solo career.

Modern Dance Like Child's Game Says Oklahoma Teacher

University of Oklahoma, Mar. 21.—(By M. V. I. N. S.)—"Flea hopping" is a game for 14 year old children to play at a birthday party, Miss Stella Redding, instructor in aesthetic dancing, stated in commenting on the latest dance craze in Soonerland.

The flea hop is just like a child's game, she says. There is lots of jumping and frolicking in it but it is absurd as the expression of the dignity and grace in Soonerland.

"Just to have fun there is nothing better than current jazz dancing," Miss Redding declared. "It is exactly like a bunch of old southern darkies rabbit-hopping and jigging at a big celebration."

Carney Addresses Club Women

A. B. Carney, chairman of the state board of administration, discussed the question, "Shall We Make Our State Institutions Self Supporting?" Monday afternoon in Recreation center. He appeared under the auspices of the Manhattan council of women's clubs.

DINNER WORK BEGINS MONDAY

Dietetics Class Will Serve Meals Each Day

The dietetics class will serve meals in the home economics dining room in the regular dinner work practice beginning Monday, March 31. The noon meal will be served each week day for four weeks, at a charge of 35 cents. Reservations can be arranged with Professor Pittman of the food economics and nutrition department.

SOONER ATHLETES TO ADOPT STUDENT MANAGER SYSTEM

Letters and Sweaters to Be Given Senior Managers

University of Oklahoma, Mar. 24.—(By M. V. I. N. S.)—Sooner athletics will be handled under the student manager system, according to the new constitution adopted by the athletic council, subject to the approval of the president of the university.

The new plan provides that a student manager be selected in each of the major sports. In the freshman year, as many as wish may try for the position. From the freshman managers, three will be chosen to be sophomore managers. Two sophomore managers becoming junior managers, and one of these two is chosen as a senior manager with full authority over the other managers, subject to the supervision of the general manager of the athletic council and the coach of the sport.

Managers will be chosen by the athletic council according to their ability, personality, industry and thoroughness. The senior managers will receive letters and sweaters in the sport which they represent.

Hold Clothing Exhibit

An exhibit of garments made in the clothing classes will be on display in the department of clothing and textiles, on the second floor of the home economics building, Wednesday from 8 to 5. The exhibit will include middles, wool dresses, and hats made by students in the department.

ONE FIRST IN BOXING BOUT

Aggies Make Creditable Showing in K. C. A. C. Contest

One bout was won and a creditable showing made in several other bouts by Aggie fistic artists who represented the college in the boxing classic, sponsored by the Kansas City Athletic club, at Kansas City, last Saturday evening.

O. E. Walgren won the referee's decision over his opponent in the 115 pound class by outpointing his man in every round. This is Walgren's first year at this school and his first competition for the Aggies. He is a junior in veterinary medicine having spent two years at the Colorado college where he won his letter in both boxing and wrestling.

In the 135 pound class P. A. Shepherd and F. T. Rose lost the referee's decision at the end of the third bout. Paul Schafflin fighting in the heavy weight class took the count of ten when Clincher of Ames connected with a straight right to the face.

C. F. Hoelzel lost the decision in the light weight class after the bout went an extra round. The crowd thought that the Aggie representative had the better of the bout but the decision was given to his opponent.

Teams from Ames, Kansas university, Oklahoma university, Kansas City A. C., Omaha A. C., and Illinois A. C. were entered in the bouts. Dr. H. H. King and Coach Regnier accompanied the team.

Vet Medical Association Meets

Dr. G. H. Burt was the speaker at the meeting of the Veterinary Medical association, held in the veterinary hall Friday. Following the talk, a short business meeting was held, and Thursday, April 17, was set as the date for the annual Veterinary Medical association banquet. Definite plans were made for the part which the veterinary division will have in the Ag fair.

DEBATORS WIN FIFTH CONSECUTIVE VICTORY

Men's Team Defeats Michigan Aggies on World Court Question by Unanimous Decision

The fifth consecutive victory for the K. S. A. C. men's debate team was registered Saturday night when the Aggies defeated the Michigan agricultural college team. The question debated was the entrance of the United States into the World Court, and the Aggie debaters upheld the affirmative. They won a unanimous decision.

Members of the K. S. A. C. team were Charles Claybaugh, Pretty Prairie; B. J. Miller, Piedmont; and Randall C. Hill, Manhattan. The Michigan Aggie debaters were G. J. Dobben, H. F. Hallenbach, and E. H. Bristol. Judges of the debate were Dean E. L. McEachern of Washburn college; R. H. Ritchie, Ottawa college, and M. L. Holcomb, Bethany.

The Michigan team went from here to Denver, Col., where they debated the University of Denver Monday evening.

Mable A. Howard, '22, is teaching in the grade school at Haigler, Nebr.

FRITZ IS SECOND VALLEY ORATOR

OKLAHOMA UNIVERSITY PLACES FIRST AND WASHINGTON THIRD

Aggies Take One First, Two Seconds, and One Third in Last Four Contests

Martin Fritz of Manhattan took second in the seventh annual Missouri Valley Oratorical contest held at Washington university Friday. Charles Fair of the University of Oklahoma placed first and Milton Yawitz of Washington university third.

Speaks on "War Abolished" Fair spoke on the Ruhr situation; Fritz subject was "War Abolished," and Yawitz talked on "The Call of Political Vision."

The other colleges represented were the University of Nebraska, the University of Missouri and Drake university. The University of Kansas and Ames did not send representatives this year. The winning schools have been leaders in the valley for four years. In that time the Kansas Aggies have taken one first place, two seconds and one third; Oklahoma, two first, one second and one sixth, and Washington one first and three thirds.

Doctor Hill Trains Fritz

Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the department of public speaking at K. S. A. C., trained Fritz and accompanied him to St. Louis.

STUDENTS IN DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC GIVE RECITAL MONDAY

Nine Undergraduates Appear on Yesterday's Program

Nine undergraduates in the department of music appeared in student recital at the auditorium, Monday at 4 o'clock. The program was evenly divided between piano and voice numbers. The following students appeared on the program: Helena Viers, Bernice Rogers, Laurene Kuns, Mildred Michener, Dorothy Sanders, Bertha Lapham, Jessie Burgwin, Mildred Reasoner, and Madge Riekey.

GIRLS INSPECT K. C. CAFES

Institutional Management Class Visits Wholesale Houses

The classes in institutional economics which were in Kansas City last Monday and Tuesday followed a route different from that of the foods classes. Monday morning they visited the Swift Packing company and later they were taken in autos to the Ridenour Baker plant. The girls then went through St. Joseph's hospital and studied its organization.

A representative of the National Restaurant association joined the girls Tuesday morning and went with them through the kitchen and dining units of the Mehlbach hotel and through Myron Green's cafeteria, the largest in Kansas City. The class was shown through the Kansas City club house where the French chef gave the girls an insight into a dining unit in control of a chef.

The class lunched at a unique little English tearoom called "The Tavern" whose manager was a former actor. Tuesday afternoon the class visited the Zahner wholesale equipment house and the Fred Harvey organization at the union station.

The following girls made the trip: Medrith Droll, Helen Blair, Edice Grundmeyer, Ruth Luginbill, Elmira King, Mabel Herr, Grace Steininger, Mary Katherine Russell, Julia Smith, Jennie Horner. Miss Effie May Carp accompanied the girls.

Coaches Winning Team

Dewey Wolgast, f. s., is athletic coach at Marysville and is giving excellent satisfaction, having produced a winning basketball team this year.

R. S. Beaver, '23, is practicing veterinary medicine at Shelby, Iowa.

Presence of Parson Proves Embarrassing to Miss Lulu Bett

Did you ever play at getting married?

Mock marriages might be huge fun in Kansas and some states, but in the particular state which forms the setting of the play, "Miss Lulu Bett" they occasionally ended tragically.

An instance is contained in the play, which is to be presented by the intersociety actors, Friday, April 4. Miss Lulu Bett and Minian act as the victims in a just-for-fun ceremony. After they have promised to love and obey for better or worse, etc., and the party is breaking up, someone points out a minister who came in during the services. Under the laws of the state the presence of a parson was the only factor necessary to make the oath binding. Minian and Lulu found themselves legally and actually man and wife.

The name of the state is purposely withheld by the play management. They feared to assume responsibility for a rush of designing goldiggers to that part of the Union.

AGGIES PLACE SECOND IN M. V. SWIMMING MEET

Washington University Scores High—Knoth's Water Athletes Meet Ames This Week

Second place in the first annual Missouri Valley swimming meet in St. Louis Saturday was won by the Kansas Aggie swimmers with 20 points. Washington university of St. Louis ran away with first place, scoring 63 points, and Iowa State college finished third with 18 points, Drake fourth with 6, and Kansas university fifth with 3.

The Aggies scored their first points by taking second in the 200 yard relay. Captain Burton Colburn finished second in the 220 yard swim, third in the 100 yard dash, and fourth in the 50 yard dash. P. R. Carter, Bradford, was third in fancy diving and fourth in the 220 yard swim. L. C. Miller of Norton won third in the back stroke. Other Aggie entries did not place.

Captain Helbing, Washington, broke the western inter-collegiate record in the 50 yard dash by swimming it in 25.25 seconds.

Coach E. A. Knoth and the eight men who entered the Washington meet will go to Ames Thursday night for a return meet with Iowa State college. Saturday will see them in Kansas City competing in the Kansas City Athletic club A. A. U. meet.

The present season has been one of the best in the history of the Wildcat swimming. The Aggies have won meets from Nebraska and Ames, losing a dual meet and the Valley meet to Washington.

Award Letters in Minor Sports

University of Oklahoma, March 24.—(By M. V. I. N. S.)—Letter awards in rifle, pistol, polo, and swimming, in addition to the regular sports, will be made at the University of Oklahoma, according to the new constitution adopted by the athletic council.

A red "O" on a white diamond will be awarded in these special sports. Requirements have not yet been worked out.

FESTIVAL COMMITTEES NAMED

Chamber of Commerce to Back K. S. A. C. Gala Week

Appointment of two committees to cooperate with the college music department in managing the 1924 Spring Music festival was announced yesterday by S. A. Bardwell, president of the chamber of commerce. The committees, one on publicity and one on ticket sales, will handle the business end, thus leaving Prof. Ira Pratt, director, free to devote his attention to the program.

The members of the publicity committee are: S. C. Charlson, chairman, Water Burr, Morse Salisbury, C. A. Kimball, Ed Shellenbaum, Fred Boone, and R. P. Evans. F. D. Farrell is chairman of the ticket sale committee. The other members are E. J. Wilson, Fred Sanders, Walter E. Moore, and Frank Emmons.

The Iota chapter of the society of Sigma Xi, at Kansas university held initiation, Thursday, March 29, for Howard W. B. Brubaker, professor of chemistry, and Francis D. Farrell, dean of agriculture and director of the experiment station of K. S. A. C. Dean R. A. Seaton of this college was to have been initiated but was unavoidably detained.

Mildred M. Baer, '23, is teaching home economics in the Union high school at Yuma, Ariz.

APRIL 25 IS DATE OF JUNIOR-SENIOR

MUSIC FOR PROM FURNISHED BY BRICK ENGLISH ORCHESTRA

Manager Plans to Exclude Freshmen and Sophomores—Tickets on Sale March 28

Complete arrangements have been made for the Junior-Senior prom which will be held in Nichols gymnasium, April 25. "Brick" English and his eight piece orchestra from Lawrence will furnish the music.

Among the out of town guests to be invited are Governor Davis and his staff, and Chancellor Lindley from Kansas university. The plan is to make the prom this year exclusively a junior-senior affair, and special rules have been made which will have a tendency to make it such.

Junior Assessments Reduced

The junior assessment for the prom has been reduced from $3.00 to $2.50. Seniors, who did not pay last year's assessment, will be required to pay $2.00. Juniors or seniors with freshmen or sophomore dates must, in addition to their own assessment, pay $1.10. In this way it is hoped that underclassmen will be excluded.

Tickets on Sale March 28

It has also been ruled that no one will be admitted to the dance without a ticket, and no tickets will be sold at the door. The only place that tickets can be obtained will be at the Royal Purple office, and the sale will begin Friday, March 28.

G. M. Reed is the manager of this year's prom.

ZOE O'LEARY LEAVES SCHOOL TO TEACH AT U. OF WYOMING

Instructs Classes in Sewing and Millinery

Zoe O'Leary of Phillipsburg, senior in home economics, left Thursday for Laramie, Wyo., where she will fill a vacancy in the University of Wyoming for the remainder of the school year. She will teach classes in sewing and millinery. Miss O'Leary stopped over in Denver to buy supplies for the class in millinery.

Miss O'Leary will complete the requirements for the bachelor's degree from K. S. A. C. after she finishes her teaching at the university. She is a member of Omicron Nu, honorary home economics organization, and of Phi Omega Pi social sorority.

Elizabeth J. McKittick, who received the master's degree in home economics from K. S. A. C. in 1922, is head of the home economics department at the University of Wyoming. Miss McKittick formerly taught mathematics at this college.

WIN THIRD IN CORPS AREA

Rifle Team Makes a Total Score of 7,503

The K. S. A. C. rifle team won third place in the Corps Area rifle match fired two weeks ago. A misunderstanding, due to no fault of the military department here, concerning the date when the targets had to be in, caused the Aggies to get their scores in late. For this reason they will not be allowed to compete in the national shoot which right they have won by placing third in the Corps Area match.

The Aggies' score was 7,503 out of a possible 8,000. Missouri won first with a score of 7,720, while Minnesota placed second with 7,632. Fifteen colleges and universities competed. K. S. A. C. won over several schools to which she had previously lost in individual matches. Among these are North Dakota state, South Dakota state, Nebraska, South Dakota university, and North Dakota university.

The results of the Hearst match fired last week have not yet been obtained. The average for the Aggie team was 372. P. A. Shepherd was high with 379. A five man team was used. According to Captain Waltz 372 is a good score but can hardly be expected to take the Hearst trophy.

FRESHMEN LEAD IN GIRLS' BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

Seniors Hold Cellar Position in Interclass Match

The freshman girls' basketball team stands undefeated in the interclass basketball tournament, at the close of the first series of games. The senior team ranks lowest, having lost every game. The final games for championship of the tournament will be played off this week.

Scores for games to date follow: freshmen 29, seniors 16; juniors 45, sophomores 19; freshmen 10, juniors 11; sophomores 28, seniors 16.

TRACK— AND FOOTBALL

The accusation made by a writer in the last issue of the Collegian that track was suffering at the expense of football, is quite evidently not without foundation. Football has for several seasons been regarded as having a sort of divine right, or sacred priority. Last year and the year before, basketball was the goat. This year, according to the writer, it is track.

Considerable might be said in justification of this policy—certainly much more importance and interest attaches to football than to any other major sport. At any rate the writer was somewhat hasty and abrupt in his conclusions. The responsibility, it seems to the Collegian, rests with the athletic department rather than with the head coach, who was made the subject of the criticism.

Coach Bachman was hired primarily to coach football and from that point of view, it appears fair that he should devote only his spare time to track. It seems obvious therefore that the greatest need is not for the more equal division of the time of the present coach, but for the employment of another coach who can devote his entire attention to track.

Coffer-Miller Players

A comparatively small crowd witnessed the second appearance of the Coffer-Miller players at the auditorium Thursday evening. While the play was well presented, it did not measure up to the high standard set the night before in the presentation of "Androcles and the Lion."

Perhaps it was the contrast between the subtlety of Shaw's play and the broad humor of "The Rivals," which made the latter suffer in consequence.

The beauty of the costumes and the simplicity and harmony of the stage setting added not a little to one's enjoyment of the production. Jess Miller in the role of Bob Acres, and Martha Miller as Mrs. Malaprop did particularly commendable and finished work.—M. M.

"Watch Our Windows"

(Because of the great number of letters received recently, we have decided to publish an "advice" column once a month. It may be said that these letters have no value except as they afford an emotional outlet for the writers. But we disagree. These communications are LIFE, the great, throbbing, pulsating, unnamable SOMETHING—love, hate, happiness, sorrow—which makes the world go 'round. If we smile at these letters, and we sometimes do, it is a sympathetic smile. Each letter receives prompt attention, and on receipt of a two cent stamp will be answered by mail.)

Campus Echoes: Don't you think that a student is going a little bit too far when he dares to criticize a member of the K. S. A. C. faculty through the columns of the college paper?—C. W. B.

Very much too far. But the students are not altogether to blame. Such a deplorable state of affairs as now exists among the younger generation is a result of the war, and will gradually disappear as we reach a state of probono publico.

Dear Campus Echoes: I have just finished my list of activities for the Royal Purple, but the list is only four inches long. Can you suggest anything to add at least half an inch or more? I am a journalism student (senior).—J.

Add president and general manager Aggie Press association, vice-president and secretary pro tem American Association of Journalists, and Most Exalted Keeper of the Royal Ballot Box of Theta Sigma Phi. It seems to us that your request is a little foolish. Does education mean nothing more to you than a list of empty offices?

Dear Campus Echoes: I have been reading your column for a long, long time, and think it is the best thing, and the only feature worth reading, in the paper. My husband and I are living on a ranch in Colorado, and we have been blessed with four beautiful children, all of them loyal Aggies. Harry, the oldest, is in the fourth grade, and is already saving his pennies so he can go to school at K. S. A. C. Every night he prays that he may be made captain of the good old Aggie football team. And HE WILL DO IT! I am not bragging, but his teacher and others have told me that he is an exceptional child. With best wishes for your future success.—Julia M. '16.

We are pleased with your flattering remarks about our column. Of course your son will be a success. "Sooner or later the man who wins is the man who thinks he can," and we are sure your little son is in this class.

Dear Campus Echoes: I am engaged to a man who is now teaching in a college not far from here. He wrote to me two weeks ago, saying he had met a "dear little girl" with bobbed hair, dimples, and who has a "clever line." He has not mentioned the girl since. Do you think that is a bad sign?

P. S. I have bobbed hair, my friends tell me I am real pretty, and I am quite intelligent looking. Do you think I need to worry?—M.

My dear child, would that we could quiet your fears, and tell you they are unfounded, but men are fickle, and "Absence makes the heart grow fonder"—for somebody else. Can't you find time to make your fiancé a visit this week end?

Dear Campus Echoes: Do you think I have an inferiority complex?—H. C.

No, not to speak of.

Dear Campus Echoes: I have a very dear friend who has a birthday next month. Would like to give him some little token of remembrance. Do you think a pair of embroidered suspenders would be all right? He doesn't wear them, but I am going to crochet these in purple and white, and work the Aggie seal on them. Can you compose a little verse to go with them?—Doris.

I hate to discourage you, Doris, but are you quite sure the gift will be appreciated as much as a plain leather belt? Of course you will say it is the work of your own hands that your friend wants, and perhaps you are correct. If you decide to send

Damon—
"What was the matter with Professor Henry this morning? I've never seen him so peeved. He seemed to be boiling over."

Pythias—
"Boiling over is good. He was. Didn't you notice why? The old boy had mislaid his Eldorado pencil."

the suspenders, here is a verse you might use:

A token these of my sweet regard,
And when you wear these galluses
Remember, dear, that because of them
My hands are covered with callouses.

Dear Campus Echoes: Would you welcome a breath of fresh air from out where the West begins? I like your column fine, and I think you are doing a good work. Tell the coeds at K. S. A. C. that real men don't like the bobbed haired, flapper type of girl. What we want is the womanly type, and we don't give a continental whether she's got the baby stare or can dance the Salamander Snuggle, so long as she's hep to the culinary art.—Lochinvar.

We are always glad to have new members join our happy circle of readers. Come again, Lochinvar.

CHANGE THE GAME

The first semester is so full of vacation days that it is sometimes wondered whether there is not more vacation than school. Then comes the second semester. Long, tiresome, and with never a break. True, there is rough neck day. One day of rollicking fun for perhaps half the students; while the other half go to their rooms, enjoying as best they can the short let up from work and worry.

But for the past two years, even those who take part in the festivities of roughneck day have been loosing pep. Why not change the game?

Founders' day of Gamma Phi Delta was celebrated Saturday evening with a dinner at the Pines. Miss Margaret Raffington was toastmistress and toasts were given by Miss Luella Sherman, Miss Marion Harrison, and Miss Donna Silkett. Gold and green, the sorority colors, were used in decorating. The out of town guests were Miss Agnes Ayres, Topeka; Miss Leola Ash, Esbon; Miss Mary Braddock, Kinsley; and Mrs. Ruth Peck Knostman, Wamego.

Greenwich Village was brought to Manhattan Friday evening when the members of Alpha Delta Pi sorority entertained with their annual spring party at Harrison's hall. An Apache dance was given as a feature by Miss Jessie Hulse and Ned Woodman. Music for the dancing was furnished by the Dee Atherton orchestra from Beatrice, Neb. Out of town guests included Miss Mildred Wright, Washington; Miss Dorothy Neely, Abilene; Miss Helen Swope, Miss Marguerite Kellerstraus, Miss Josephine Sullivan, Miss Gladys Newton, Miss Helen Hutchins, and Miss Nina Burgess, of Kansas City, Mo., and Miss Vivian Peak, Lincoln, Neb.

The members of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity entertained Friday evening with their spring party at the Elk's hall. The hall was decorated with the fraternity colors, magenta and silver. Two numbers, sung by the fraternity sextette, were the features of the evening. Coon-Chaquette's orchestra from Kansas City furnished the music. The guests from out of town were Miss Sara Carpenter, Coffeyville; F. Smith, Osborne; S. Sherman, Council Grove; and Earl Griffith, Coffeyville.

Flowers, plants, and a drop ceiling of red and white formed the attractive decorations at Elk's hall Saturday evening, when the members of the Delta Zeta sorority entertained with their spring party. The program of the evening was broadcast over KFKB, at Milford. The out of town guests were Miss Renna Rosenthal, Topeka; Miss Ella Wilson, Paxico; Miss Hazel Wilson and Miss Hazel Allison, Culver; Miss Louis Benjamin, Miss Esther Webb, and Miss Dorothy Kreider, Kansas City, Mo.; Miss Irene Hall, Pittsburg; Miss Ida Knight, Miss Barbara Ehrsam, and Miss Hortense Ehrsam, Enterprise; Miss Pauline Wynick, Miss Helen Peppard, and Miss Irene Williams, Wellington; Miss Esther Marie Lyle, Wathena; Miss Rowena Lockridge, and Miss Margaret Watson, Wakefield; Miss Sara Carpenter, and Miss Betty Ruth Smith, Neosho Falls; Miss Mabel Blossom, Holton; and Miss Verna Smith, Langdon.

Dean Mary P. Van Zile was a dinner guest Sunday at the Kappa Delta house.

HARPER TALKS AT ASSEMBLY

Calls for Sympathetic Attitude on Part of Students

A plea for a sympathetic attitude and an attempt at a more intelligent understanding of the condition of European peoples on the part of the students was made by Chancellor Harper of Denver university in his address at student assembly Friday, March 21. The subject of the address was "Some Aspects of the European situation." Chancellor Harper was a member of the American seminar that studied conditions in Europe last summer.

Chancellor Harper reviewed the situation by citing examples of the hardship and suffering prevalent in the various countries of Europe last summer. He declared that recent statistics show that there are 2,000,000 men in England without employment.

"The food of the German people consists of black bread, coffee, and potatoes," he said. "Forty-seven percent of the German children who were old enough to start to school last fall were rejected by the school authorities because they were physically weak from undernourishment."

"America can take one of two attitudes," Chancellor Harper stated. "She may befriend broken and bleeding Europe, or she may draw aside and pay no attention to the suffering of these people."

During vacation—what?

Conant made $15.00 a day!

Neil R. Conant was a student at Bates College. He decided that he would take up some selling proposition during his summer vacation. One of the Fuller Brush Company's college representatives, Mr. Ray Smith, happened to call at Bates College, and Mr. Conant got in touch with him. Mr. Smith told him of the opportunities for a college man to sell Fuller Brushes during summer vacation; that he would be given the same thorough training in salesmanship that all Fuller Men receive; that he would have a chance to earn all the while he was learning; and, that the future was limitless, determined only by the man himself.

Mr. Conant saw that this was a real opportunity, and accepted the proposition. He sums up his experience with the Fuller Organization as follows:—"The Fuller Brush Company stands for the new spirit which will soon pervade most other organizations in the future. Mr. Fuller has had the foresight to lead in this spirit. It is upon such a foundation that every man is anxious to help his brother salesman and to see him succeed. A man succeeds by his own efforts, rather than by unearned efforts. Every man who joins the Fuller organization is absolutely assured of a square deal, and a chance to become a success in life."

"I had various offers from as many organizations. None of them offered me more than $30.00 a week. But during my two months of vacation I earned, selling Fuller Brushes, an average of $15.00 a day." Conant's case is typical, as the average earnings of college men, last summer, were $1.35 an hour.

If you are looking for remunerative occupation during this coming July and August, you can get a complete outline of what the Fuller Brush Company offers to college men from

DR. TSU TALKS TO FORUMDescribes Chinese Conditions in Address Friday Evening

"China today is fighting an industrial war," said Dr. Y. Y. Tsu in an address at the auditorium Friday evening. "She is fighting for better conditions and laws. Many elements enter to retard proper development. Up to the time Commodore Perry opened the east, China was going by the ideals and traditions established by the old philosophers," Doctor Tsu explained. "China at first refused the western civilization. Then she realized that she must meet competition. Now China is attempting to 'westernize' herself."

Doctor Tsu said in part: "The church is exerting a powerful influence in China in the midst of an agricultural country. They are drawing the children and women from the country to work in the factories."

"There they work about 12 hours a day beside machinery on which the dangerous parts are not covered. Only 20 minutes is allowed at noon. The wages are low. This ability to earn extra wages for the family is keeping the laborer content for the present."

"China may go on for awhile in the same way. But conditions are sure to improve. There are many enlightened people in China among all classes."

"The church is exerting a powerful influence in that country. Just having started, it is free from traditions and money interests. It is still close to Christ's Christianity and working for the best interests of the country. Chinese employers are willing to accept new laws and rules. It is the foreign element which causes the trouble. Americans and others, due to the law of extra territoriality, are not affected by local law and are not reached by the laws of their home countries."

Kansas City Wins Tourney

Kansas City, Kan., won the state Catholic high school basketball tournament which was held in Nichols gymnasium Saturday. The Topeka team placed second. The eight church prep schools which entered were Junction City, Manhattan, Topeka, Aurora, Kansas City, Wichita, Hutchinson, and Hays. Manhattan was eliminated in the first round of the tournament by a 20-18 defeat from the Junction City team.

JAPANESE POINT OF VIEW IS CHANGING, SAYS TWILA LYTTON

Former Missionary Talks at Methodist church

"A new life has come to Japan," declared Miss Twila Lytton, for many years a missionary in that country, in a World Forum address at the Methodist church Sunday night. "Conditions are changing rapidly. At the present time a great new liberal movement is on foot that promises to bring with it widespread reforms in political, social, and economic circles."

Miss Lytton stressed the fact that the imperialistic, militaristic idea on which the old government of Japan was founded is losing ground rapidly under the pressure of the developing new public opinion. The result of the world war in which the Japanese militarists "saw the handwriting on the wall," did much to change public sentiment, and to intensify the belief that the country had been pursuing the wrong path.

WORLD FORUM SPEAKER IS LEADER AT VESPER SERVICE

Miss Twila Lytton Discusses "Myself and My Religion"

Vespers service last week was postponed from Thursday to Friday that it might be a part of the world forum program. The speaker was Miss Twila Lytton who talked on "Myself and My Religion." From her experience as a Y. W. C. A. secretary and an instructor in the Woman's Christian College of Tokyo, Japan, she presented her philosophy of religion.

"The whole purpose of human history has been to discover the characteristics and nature of that fundamental mind back of the universe. I believe that religion is not myself and others but—myself, God, and others. Great courage, great love and great joy in every day living are what a religious life can mean," Miss Lytton said.

BE A NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENT

Would you like to earn money evenings and in other spare time corresponding for newspapers?

With a definite working plan that enabled me to earn more than $2,000 a year when I was a very young newspaper man, I will show you how to do the work, and you may begin at once. This will involve no canvassing—no waiting on customers—no drudgery. Subjects will be suggested, if desired; and if you possess an aptitude for this vocation, you may earn while you learn.

With the plan I mention I have made more than $300 in a single week, and I should like to tell you more about it.

V. D. Ringwald, one of my boys in Texas, writes: "I have made $30 the very first day. I am 22 years of age and earning about $400 a month."

Arthur H. Steward, Illinois, writes, "I have made more money in spare time than I have been able to earn in my regular position and I am now going to devote all my time to this work."

There is money in newspaper correspondence if one knows what the big newspapers want.

An interesting booklet, "A Straight Talk to Prospective Newspaper Correspondents," will be mailed to you immediately upon request. Ask for Booklet No.
10.

Write me today, and send your letter in this evening's mail. It will receive prompt attention and may lead to an important turning point in your life.

ALTER RULES TO SPEED UP GAME

FOOTBALL COMMITTEE MAKES FOUR IMPORTANT CHANGES

Abolish Artificial Tees—Move Kick-off Line to Center of Field—Increase Penalty for Stalling

Four radical changes in the football playing code, all intended to speed up the game and increase its versatility, were adopted by the national intercollegiate rules committee at its annual meeting in New York. According to M. F. Ahearn, director of athletics, who is one of the 12 committeemen, all the rules are practical and will save a great deal of playing time.

Artificial Tees Abolished

The abolition of all mud or artificial kicking tees, the advancement of the kickoff from the 40-yard line to the center of the field, an increase from two to five yards of the penalty for excessive time out, and a try for point from the three instead of the five yard line are the most important measures approved. A number of other rules often misinterpreted were clarified.

The elimination of tees will place a greater premium on kickers and will speed up the game as it will not take so much time as was formerly used in making the tee. "Heeling" the ground to make a groove for the ball will be permitted. In the opinion of Director Ahearn many coaches will resort to the old method of having one player hold the ball on the kickoff, as is often done in making a place kick.

Kickoff from Center

Because it was thought that the ball could not be kicked as far from the ground as from the tee the kickoff was moved to the center of the field. To prevent teams from stalling the penalty for excessive time out was raised from two to five yards. Putting the ball on the three yard line instead of the five yard line for a try for extra point was done to encourage line bucks.

A complete list of changes and additions made by the rules committee follows:

1. Abolition of all mud or artificial kicking tees.
2. Advancement of the kickoff from the 40 to the 50-yard line.
3. Decision to place the ball on the 3-yard line instead of the 5-yard line for attempt to score point after touchdown.
4. Granting of power to referee to refuse to take time out when delaying the game is apparent.
5. Increase of penalty for more than three times out in each half from two to five yards.
6. Recommendation that gun be fired at end of each quarter.
7. Clarification of rule against on-side kick.
8. Warning to players forming passive interference for screen pass.
9. Provision for declining of penalty when forward pass touches ineligible player and is recovered by eligible man.
10. General tendency for speeding up the game and encouragement of use of run or pass to convert point after touchdown.

DEBATERS ENTER TWO NO DECISION CONTESTS

Woman's Team Will Meet Colorado Aggies Friday Evening

Aggie debaters without previous intercollegiate debate experience participated in two no decision debates Wednesday evening. The men's team upheld the negative of the world court question against the Bethany freshman team at Lindsborg. This team consisted of Raymond Davis, Frank Morris, and Z. L. Pearson. It was coached by J. C. Wilkins.

The woman's team upheld the affirmative of the same question against a Washburn team, at Topeka. Those making the trip were Mildred Pound, Helen Van Gilder, and Edna Striegel. Randall Hill coached the team.

Bethany is one of the stronger schools in debate in Kansas, her regular team having recently won the championship of the northern division of the Kansas Intercollegiate Debate league.

Friday evening the Aggie woman's debate team will meet the Colorado Aggies here. This team is composed of Bernice Flemming, Charlotte Swanson, and Helen Correll. Two years ago the Colorado team won on its trip here, but last year the K. S. A. C. men's team won from Colorado on its western trip.

Judges for the debate this evening are Professor Miller of Salina Wesleyan, Superintendent Bright of Leavenworth, and Professor Hallen of Kansas university.

Authority on Aggie Idiosyncrasies Gives Rewards for Merit

Practically every day 2,000 students pass in review before William Alexander Harris. For years he has watched the coeds trip by. Some students he has known for five or six years while others have barely made his acquaintance before buying tickets home.

Each fall Harris sees many new and childlike faces with the same timid look that has always identified a freshman. Winter comes and for a week at Christmas time he is forsaken. But this is a much needed rest for he will be obliged to keep his eyes open when spring comes. January and February are rather dull, but March winds are a diversion to this keen observer as anyone will vouch who has seen a coed go up the south steps of Anderson on a windy day.

Then spring comes, hats and coats are discarded, and classes forgotten. About this time William Harris begins his annual calculations and soon knows how many pins are out, how many are going out, and how many are being called in. Every year he awards two prizes—one for the girl who has worn the most pins, and one for the girl who has worn the least.

He has never spoken to a boy or smiled at a girl, for he is only the bust that stands enthroned in front of Fairchild hall.

SWIMMERS IN TWO MEETS

Enter Ames Match Today and K. C. A. C. Contest Saturday

Two meets in two days are in store for the Aggie swimmers, who left last night for Ames, where they will take on the Iowa Aggies this afternoon. The Wildcats won their first meet with Ames here 42 to 26, and should repeat this victory without much trouble.

Following the Ames meet the team goes to Kansas City for the Western A. A. U. meet conducted by the Kansas City Athletic club. The following men made the Ames trip: Captain Colburn, Mackay, Carter, Schemm, Miller, Harter, Schaal, and Steunkel.

LAY PLANS FOR MISSOURI VALLEY DEBATE LEAGUE

Professor Summers on Committee to Arrange Details—Organization to Function by Next Year

The Missouri Valley Oratorical association held its annual meeting in connection with the Missouri valley oratorical contests at St. Louis, Friday, March 21. Dr. Howard T. Hill represented K. S. A. C. At this meeting plans were considered for the formation of a debate league. Each year proposals have been made for the formation of a league which will make the same rules and regulations for debate that the present oratorical association does for oratorical contests.

Prof. J. K. Horner of the public speaking department of Oklahoma university and Prof. H. B. Summers of K. S. A. C. were appointed as a committee to arrange details for the proposed league. Two plans are now under consideration, and the one favored by the committee will be submitted to the members of the association in the near future.

Although plans for the league are still in process of development, it is expected to function next year, according to Professor Summers, and he is certain that the subjects for the debates will be chosen, the debates will be held, and the championship announced next year through the new league.

KERR WINS IN TRYOUT

Will Represent Aggies in Oratorical with Montana

William Kerr of Manhattan, sophomore in architecture, won in the tryouts held Tuesday evening, and will consequently represent K. S. A. C. in the oratorical contest to be held with Montana State college. Mr. Kerr's subject was "A Plea for Nationality." Orpha Russell was chosen alternate for Mr. Kerr.

Those who tried out were George Corbet, Leonora Doll, William Kerr, Clara Shaw, Ralph Sherman, Orpha Russell, Martin Fritz, and Walter Daly. The judges were Prof. Eric Englund, Rev. B. A. Rogers, Rev. W. Guernant, and Dr. H. T. Hill.

The contest will be held April 1 at Manhattan in connection with the debate with Montana State. The custom of having an oratorical and debate with Montana was started last year, largely through the efforts of J. Wheeler Barger, '22, who is the Montana debate coach.

PI KAPPA DELTA SENDS SIX DELEGATES TO CONVENTION

Enters Members in Oratorical and Extempo Contests

Six delegates from the local Pi Kappa Delta chapter will leave Sunday for the national convention of that organization at Peori, Ill. The Aggies will debate with Centre college the evening before the opening of the convention. The men representing K. S. A. C. on this debate will be Cecil Walt, and Richard Elliott or M. L. Baker.

Ralph Sherman will represent the local chapter in the oratorical contest, and M. L. Baker has been entered in the extemporaneous speaking contest. Professors Shinn and Summers will attend as representatives of the K. S. A. C. public speaking department.

About 300 delegates are expected to attend this convention representing at least 80 of the 92 chapters of Pi Kappa Delta. There will probably be more than 20 debates held between schools located from Maine to Florida, and to date there are 50 entries in the oratorical and extempo contests.

Each of the Kansas schools having chapters of Pi Kappa Delta will send from two to six delegates.

K. S. A. C. TO COOPERATE IN NATIONAL "BIRD WEEK"

Doctor Jewell Sponsors Anti-Cat Campaign to Protect Birds

The zoology department of K. S. A. C. will cooperate with the various ornithological organizations of the country in the observance of "Bird Week," the first week in April. As planned by Dr. Minna E. Jewell, the college will help save the birds by putting on an anti-cat campaign.

Letters have been sent to various schools in this vicinity offering 25 cents for each adult cat which the students can bring in. The cats will not be mistreated but will be killed; either by gas or will be used in the zoological laboratory work. A member of the faculty will give an illustrated talk on "Birds Useful to Farmers," or a similar subject to any school collecting 25 or more cats, and a large framed picture of the college and campus will be sent to any school which collects 50.

Cats are leading factors in bird destruction. Doctor Jewell says that it has been estimated that a cat will kill 52 birds each year. A cat which is not regularly fed will kill more useful birds and chickens than any other animal. H. K. Gloyd of the museum suggests the common bull snake as a substitute for cats in catching mice. Mr. Gloyd says the snake will crawl in the holes and penetrate places which the cat is unable to reach.

EWING AND THOMPSON UP FOR Y. M. PRESIDENT

Ballots Sent to Each Member and Voting Begins April 1—Named for Vice President

Nominations for Y. M. officers have been made and election will be held beginning April 1. Ballots will be sent to all members.

Ralph Ewing and Norris Thompson were nominated for the office of president. The other nominations are vice president, Ralph Blackledge and Lyle Reed; secretary, H. H. Brown, Paul Pfeutze, and F. M. Shideler; student board, M. R. Buck, Lloyd Gates, Joe Haines, B. C. Harter, Harry Jung, George Montgomery, John Moyer, Wayne Rogier, Alvin Ritts, Christian Rugh. From this list five will be chosen. The members of the board of directors up for reelection are Dr. H. H. King, Dr. H. T. Hill, Prof. Hugh Durham, Dean R. A. Seaton, Prof. Ira Pratt, Dr. R. H. Burt, H. D. Hayden, and Jerry Wilson.

A. A. U. W. HERE IN STATE MEETING

UNIVERSITY WOMEN HOLD FOURTH ANNUAL CONCLAVE

Convention Held in Home Economics Building Friday and Saturday—National Officers Present

The fourth annual state convention of the American Association of University Women meets in Manhattan on Friday and Saturday, March 28 and 29. The meetings will be held in the women's rest room of the home economics building.

National Officers Here

Mrs. Roscoe Anderson of St. Louis, sectional director, will assist in discussions and advise in matters of business. Mrs. A. Ross Hill, Kansas City, national treasurer, will also be present at the convention. The state officers who will attend are Mrs. Vincent Hiesch, Wichita; Helen Stevens, Independence; Theresa Ryan, Teachers' college, Emporia; and Mrs. E. L. Holton, Manhattan.

Enrolment of delegates will begin at 8 o'clock Friday morning. The address of welcome will be given by Dr. Margaret M. Justin at 9 o'clock, followed by appointment of committees, recommendations from committees, and reports from the various branches represented.

Discussion Meeting Friday

Friday afternoon will be devoted to round table discussions. All members of the A. A. U. W., both national and local are especially urged to attend this meeting, beginning at 2 o'clock.

An auto ride has been provided for the visiting delegates Friday afternoon and the Manhattan branch will entertain with a dinner at the college cafeteria at 6:30, Friday evening, followed by a reception at the home of Mrs. W. M. Jardine.

Many Delegates Present

Among the delegates to the state convention are Mrs. G. H. Bretnall, Miss Annabel Newton of Baldwin; Mrs. J. W. Babb, Mrs. Hiesch, Miss Mignon Schell, Miss Grace Wilkie, and Dr. Hazel Branch of Wichita; Miss Lillian Dudley, Mrs. John R. Wilkie, Miss Beulah Carey, Miss Ellen Meador, Miss Teresa Ryan, and Mrs. Bertha D. Lord of Emporia; Mrs. W. F. Bowen, Mrs. W. E. Esterly, Mrs. W. C. Stephenson, Mrs. Frank West, Mrs. T. F. Doran, and Dean Guild of Independence; and Miss Helen K. Stevens and Mrs. Hott of Independence.

TO JUDGE GRAINS SATURDAY

Klod and Kernel Klub Sponsors Sixth Annual Contest

One hundred and twenty-five dollars in prizes have been offered to the winners of the sixth annual grain judging contest, to be held Saturday, March 29, under the auspices of the Klod and Kernel Klub.

The contest has been divided into a senior division for the students who have had the course in grain grading and judging, and the junior division for all other students. For first place in the senior division a prize of $18 has been offered, and $12 will be given to the high point man in the junior division.

The judging will be divided into the following groups: (1) identification, (2) grading and judging small grains, (3) judging corn, alfalfa, and sorghums.

In addition to the prizes offered to juniors and seniors, prizes are offered to the highest ranking freshman, and for first, second, and third place in each of the three sections of the contest.

E. C. LEWELLEN, OF NEWTON, IS NEW DAIRY COMMISSIONER

Appointment Effective April 1—Has Had Wide Experience

Emerson C. Lewellen of Newton has been appointed state dairy commissioner to succeed H. M. Jones who has held the office for the last 11 years. The appointment becomes effective April 1, according to the announcement by the state board of administration.

The following account of Mr. Lewellen's career taken from the Newton Kansan-Republican, indicates that he is well qualified to fill his new position:

"He has been connected with the dairy business for 30 years. He began with the old Heston Creamery company years ago as buttermaker, and while making butter won the sweepstakes blue ribbon for the best butter made in Kansas. He later became manager and owner of the creamery and knows that part of the dairy business thoroughly. After selling the Newton creamery he established and operated a dairy farm until he recently sold out to Mr. Lantis. The Kansan congratulates him and at the same time feels that congratulations are also coming to Governor Davis in finding such a man for the service."

Angry Mob Storms Kedzie in Search of Exam Blanks

"Is this where you get quiz paper?" a trembling freshman asked.

For the nine hundred eighty-seventh time the patient Collegian staff directed the wandering student to the office "straight ahead as you come in." The student backed out apologetically and proceeded to the proper office where he laid down his nickel for the little package of quiz blanks.

During quiz week the crowd that mobs Kedzie hall is fierce and merciless.

"Give us quiz paper or give us death," is their motto. "Death preferred," adds the weary student after a night of cramming and half an hour waiting for the office to open in time for an 8 o'clock class.

The printing office pulls in the coin at a shameless rate. They sold over $15.00 worth of quiz paper in one day during exams. It's a matter for investigation by the authorities.

To see the rush on the printing office one might think:

"How the students love their studies. See how they rush to get quiz paper, so they can take examinations."

But ask the stude who owns some.

GENERAL FARNSWORTH REVIEWS CADET CORPS

R. O. T. C. Parade Wednesday Afternoon Followed by Talk of Infantry Chief

General Charles Farnsworth, chief of United States infantry, was a visitor at K. S. A. C. Wednesday and Thursday. General Farnsworth has his headquarters in Washington and at the present time is visiting several schools in the Missouri Valley.

A parade in which all the cadets of the college participated was held Wednesday afternoon in order to give the general a chance to review the corps. Afterwards General Farnsworth made a short talk to the men telling them the purpose of the R. O. T. C. and what it aims to accomplish.

Thursday he visited classes and conferred with the instructors regarding the work here.

Cover for "Nice" Number Must Be 100 Per Cent Pure

The members of the Brown Bull staff had a frightful awakening recently, when they started to write a Nice number. They thought they would have no trouble at all in finding bright, cheerful, uplifting material for the Nice number, and in getting happily inspired cartoons for it.

But they were doomed to disappointment. Take for example the cover. The star Brown Bull cartoonists began sending in their designs by the score. Every morning the staff eagerly opened its mail; every morning a fresh disappointment greeted it. Clever covers were there, but the worldly element was far too prominent. These covers were not nice enough.

The latest cover that has come in is still under consideration. It pictures a chorus of angels surrounding the heavenly throne, playing up on their harps while St. Peter ushers through the golden gates all those noble souls who have earned a starry crown. But even in this celestial picture there is an evil suggestion that causes the staff to hesitate. The picture shows Saint Peter turning away the poor souls who are doomed to the lower regions. The mere idea is too cruel, too suggestive for the Nice number, it is feared.

Another cover that was submitted was a beautiful picture of a bar of Ivory soap. This too is under consideration. But even here, where it is 99.94 per cent pure, the staff fears the degrading effect of the other .06 per cent.

The insides of the Bull are coming on better, however. Some very nice copy has been received. The Brown Bull box is still waiting in Anderson opposite the post office for contributions. Verses, epigrams, jokes and other short original material is especially desired. Copy must be in by Saturday, April 5.

Queenie Hart, who has been teaching in Cleburne high school since Christmas, visited in Manhattan Monday evening.

Lois Welch spent the week end at her home in Glen Elder.

FRESHMEN WIN GIRLS' TOURNEY

DEFEAT SENIORS 22-5 IN LAST BASKETBALL GAME OF SEASON

Sophomores Win from Juniors 28-24—Varsity Team to Be Picked Soon

The freshman girls' basketball squad, an undefeated team, won the interclass tournament which was played off during the past two weeks in the girl's gymnasium. The final games of the tournament were played Thursday evening between the freshmen and seniors, and the sophomores and juniors. The freshmen defeated the seniors with a score of 22-5 and the sophomores defeated the juniors by a score of 28-24. The teams rank as follows: freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior.

Varsity Not Yet Picked

Each year an honorary varsity team is chosen from the members of all the class teams. Six girls who are considered to be the best players in the six positions are selected. A position on this team gives each member 50 points in V. A. A.

The team has not as yet been picked. Without a doubt the forwards chosen will be two of the three star cagers of the tournament who are Lucille Miller, sophomore; Merle Nelson, freshman; and Grace Davison, junior. Lucille Miller is high point player with a record of having shot 43 field goals and 14 free goals. Merle Nelson ranks second with a record of 41 field and 10 free goals. Competition for the positions of center and guards is much stronger as most of the girls have shown up exceptionally well during the tournament.

Members of Class Teams

Members of the class teams are: freshman—Inez Jones, captain; guards, Inez Jones and Marie Farmer; forwards, Merle Nelson and Lella Segrist; centers, Mary Halse and Katherine Kimble.

Sophomore—Genevieve Tracy, captain; guards, Thelma Sharp, Merle Grinstead, Emma Jelick and Vera Alderman; forwards, Mary J. Hethel, Lucille Miller, and Louise Wann; centers, Mildred Meyer, Thelma Coffin and Genevieve Tracy.

Junior—Catherine Bernhisel, captain; guards, Florence Haines and Catherine Bernhisel; forwards, Ethyl Danielson and Grace Davison; centers, Ida Conroy, Inga Ross and Hilda Dunlap.

Senior—Lanora Russell, captain; guards, Alice Marston, Lucia Biltz, and Leonora Doll; forwards, Elmina King, Lanora Russell, Ruth Leonard, and Amy Conroy; center, Eleanor Davis and Mary Reosener.

FIVE LETTER MEN BACK

Fifteen Men Report to Track Coach Ivan Riley

Fifteen men reported for outdoor track practice to Coach Ivan R. Riley, former Aggie hurdler, now running under Illinois Athletic club colors, who has been secured to take charge of track while Head Coach Charles Bachman is busily engaged coaching next year's football material in spring practice. Riley, who has had three successful years of Missouri valley track will be graduated in architecture this spring.

Only five men of last year's track squad are back, which means that a practically new team will represent the Wildcats in one of the best track schedules the Aggies have had for years.

The letter men who are back this year are Captain L. E. Erwin, K. Knouse, A. E. Balzer, F. J. Gartner, and Charles Weels.

STAFF MEMBERS NAMED

Collegian Board Approves Appointments for Last Half of Semester

Staff members for the last nine weeks of the semester were approved at a meeting of the Collegian executive board held Wednesday afternoon.

The newly appointed staff members are Maxine Ransom, assistant managing editor; R. J. Shideler and F. E. Charles, associate editors; R. I. Thackrey, sport editor; Harold Sappinfield, assistant sports editor; Alice Paddleford, feature editor; Muriel Shaver, society editor.

Reporters for the remainder of the semester are Dorothy Greve, Mary Elva Crockett, L. R. Combs, Genevieve Tracy, C. W. Claybaugh, Velma Lockridge, C. W. Roberts, Miriam Dexter, Ruth Bachelder, Ralph Blackledge, Lucille Potter, Alice Nichols, H. P. Quinn, Jeanne Lingenfelter, and C. B. Wisecup.

A "CLEAN UP" WEEK

Having faithfully observed the rites of Hello day, Better English week, et al, and having successfully saved the Near East for a few more weeks, and having only the ornithologists on the program for rescue during the coming month, the Collegian believes that one day in April might profitably be set aside for cleaning up the campus.

It has been suggested that Festival week visitors might contract a more favorable impression of the college if the buildings and grounds themselves reflected more of the gala spirit of the occasion. The suggestion appears feasible. The Collegian believes the results of a few hours' work would more than justify a holiday.

Getting all students to work may seem difficult but the problem has been rather successfully solved at other schools, which observe the occasion. It is one day on which organization may reign unfettered.

MORE ABOUT THE S. S. G. A.

The meeting at which changes in the S. S. G. A. will be considered and adopted, is less than a month off.

The special student committee is at work investigating proposed and possible revisions. Faculty members are aiding with suggestions and with ideas. The meeting, however, cannot be successful unless students themselves take a real interest in making their government satisfactory.

For the benefit of that great majority which chronically knocks the association on general principles, the three main points on which reform seems universally desired, are listed. They are: red tape and unnecessary machinery; relations with the faculty; and definitions of what S. S. G. A. should and should not be empowered to do.

The present movement for change offers a final opportunity for the singers of the old chant "It ain't never done nothin'" to make their kicks. Unless students exhibit some active interest now, they have no legitimate cause to rail at any future results of the adopted system.

Royal Purple must be ordered now.

SAVING THE SHADOW

No better illustration has recently occurred of the common human desire to save the shadow while abandoning the substance than the decision of the Persians not to establish a republic. They have decided they must have a shah as supreme ruler. The present shah, however, has taken too much upon him, and so his loyal subjects have deposed him and chosen his son, who is still a baby, to succeed him. Thus there will be a shah, but the real rulers will be politicians, just as in any republic.

The same tendency is present everywhere in human life. The clergyman insists on sticking to the church whose doctrines he has abandoned. There are reactionaries who call themselves liberals, and liberals who insist that they are the only true conservatives. One meets daily college graduates who talk glibly about education, when all that they mean is football, their fraternity, and new buildings.

The fetish of names is upon all of them. It is upon everybody. None of us is free from it. When everybody is free from it, facts will be seen more clearly, more objectively—and we shall act on the basis of facts instead of names.

"Jessie," we said to our roommate last night, "Jessie, are you going to kill a cat tomorrow?"

"Am I going to—what?"

"Now don't get excited. Didn't you know that next week is 'Bird Week' and that the zoology department at K. S. A. C. is going to kill all the cats in Kansas? It's a very worth while—"

"They'd better not kill my Louie. He's the smartest—"

"Jessie, do be calm. I'll read you the letter from Doctor Jewell: 'Among the most destructive enemies of songbirds have been listed the small boy—'

"If they kill—"

"Oh, you don't understand. Listen here: 'A single cat has been known to kill as many as 57 song birds in one season.' Just think of that! And the zoology department is offering 25 cents for cats."

"I don't care. I wouldn't let them have my Louie for $25.00. He's the smartest thing! The way he purrs! One time—"

"But listen here, Jessie. 'Any school which collects 50 or more cats gets a picture of the college and campus, framed and ready to hang on the wall.' Haven't you got any loyalty?"

"I will always be loyal to Louie." "Don't be stubborn, Jessie. It wouldn't hurt him to be killed. This letter says they're anesthetized, and 'simply drop off to sleep.' It would be a beautiful passing on—no pain, no heartache, no farewell—Can't you just imagine, a glorious sunset—"

"And evening star," I suppose. Louie's too young to die."

"But that's just the point! If he's young now, say he lives 10 years, and kills 57 birds every year. Or say 56, if one should get away—"

"They never get away from Louie!"

"—from him. That's 560 feathered songsters. Say he lives 20 years, that would be over a thousand. Say he lives 30 years—"

"Louie's a cat, not an elephant."

"Well, anyway, Doctor Jewell says 'free the vicinity from superfluous cats before the little songbirds leave their nests, or the little chicks their brooders.' Why, that's poetry! E'er the little songbirds leave their nests."

Or the little chicks their brooders. Let's kill the sly, barbarian cats. Te tum, te tum, te ooders."

"Doesn't sound like poetry to me."

"Don't interrupt. This letter also says 'It has been estimated that in many Kansas villages there are more cats than children.'"

"What's that got to do with it?"

"Why, I don't know. But any school which collects 25 or more cats will have a member of the faculty come and give them an illustrated talk, free of charge. I guess that's loyalty. You ought to be willing to make a little sacrifice yourself."

"Not if Louie—"

"You are selfish. 'One need not hesitate to send even a very nice cat for there will be no mistreatment or suffering.' Is Louie a very nice cat?"

"IS he! I've had Louie ever since he was a little helpless kitten, and home wouldn't be the same without him. Why, one time—"

"You're old fashioned. H. K. Gloyd, curator of the museum, says you should cultivate bullsnakes instead of cats, nowadays."

"Get a bullsnake instead of Louie?"

"Oh, no," we said, with elaborate sarcasm, "there never was a bullsnake that could compare with 'Louie.' Let's get our lessons."

THE COLLEGE NEWSPAPER

During the last few years, more especially the last two, the Collegian has been looked upon as a sort of a joke by many students in the college, outside of the journalism department. At the beginning of this semester, a new constitution was adopted with the hope of improving the paper. While it is a little early to pass final judgment upon the new plan, all indications are that the paper is not gaining the respect of the student body as a whole.

The criticism that most students offer is that the paper is not representative of the college. They are, to a great extent, correct in making this assumption. Other departments feel that the journalism department gets the bulk of the space devoted to the news of the college. It does not take a very thorough analysis of the columns to discover that these criticisms are justified. The engineering and agricultural divisions do get less space than does the journalism department and either of these divisions has more than double the enrollment of the department of journalism.

The new plan provided for each division to elect an editor to "tip off" the Collegian for news but it has not increased the news from these departments to any great extent. Of course this is the fault of the division editors and should not be held against the department of journalism. All of the reporters and editors of the paper are journalism students and it is only natural that they should write what they know most about. Being so closely connected with the department, they are bound to know more concerning it. But other students explain this by saying that these reporters are too lazy to get away from Kedzie hall.

A truly representative college news paper should contain news that will interest the whole student body and it is a fact that very few outsiders care more for the news of the journalism department than they do for the news that comes from their own department.

The new plan is in theory, a solution of the problem, but in practice it is very little, if any better than the former plan.—J. S.

The final contestants will go to Washington, D. C., where the winner will be awarded $3,500. A district contest will be held in Manhattan in the near future.

DOCTOR PAYNE SPEAKS ON "SELECTION IN EVOLUTION"

Talks at Seminars of Zoology, Entomology, and Genetics

Dr. Fernandus Payne, professor of zoology in the University of Indiana, visited the college last week end. Doctor Payne spoke on "Selection in Evolution" at a luncheon given in his honor last Saturday at the cafeteria by the combined seminars of zoology, entomology, and genetics. His conclusion was that the role of selection in evolution is to select the mutations, small or large, as they occur.

Doctor Payne visited the college especially to study the inheritance work in grasshoppers carried on by Dr. R. K. Nabours of the zoology department. He secured some stock which he will undertake to breed in his laboratory in Indiana. Doctor Payne will also cooperate with Dr. Mary Harman of the zoology department in the cytological study of the grasshopper.

WARLESS WORLD IS SUBJECT AT AUDITORIUM SUNDAY NIGHT

Chancellor Harper Talks on World Forum Question

"Are we breaking faith with those who died thinking that they were helping make this a warless world?" This was the question raised by Chancellor Harper of Denver university in his talk on "A Warless World" at the auditorium Sunday evening.

Pointing out the effects and causes of War, Chancellor Harper showed that the causes must be taken away before we can hope to have a warless world. He pointed out the horrors of war and described what war in the future would mean.

"We find our challenge for a warless world in the voices of millions of dead and of millions yet unborn," he explained. "The present generation must take up the challenge if our hopes are ever to be realized."

BEDE TALKS TO REPUBLICANS

College G. O. P. Club Will Hold Meeting April 8

The Republican club of K. S. A. C. commenced its active membership drive today when members of the executive committee started circulating petitions for membership in the organization. At the same time the club announced that it has secured J. Adam Bede, former congressman from Minnesota, to speak at the community house down town at an open Republican meeting on Monday evening, March 31, at 8 o'clock. The speaker is being brought here under the auspices of the college Republican club and the county organization. All who are interested are invited to attend.

J. Adam Bede is a noted lecturer and authority on questions of economy. He is one of three nationally known persons who will come to Manhattan this year at the request of the Republican club of the college.

On April 8 the college club will have a meeting for college students and faculty members at the community house: Fred Volland Sr., who until recently worked with Herbert Hoover at Washington, D. C., and who last year was a candidate for the United States senate, will address the students and faculty members after which the membership drive will be continued.

"The Republican club hopes that the Democrats will organize at the college since the two clubs would have increased interest in that way," said M. S. Eisenhower, member of the Republican executive committee.

"President Jardine has consented to let us use the auditorium for all joint political meetings; it would be interesting to have mock conventions with balloting, and also it would be helpful to have a debate between the Republicans and Democrats on questions which are most likely to come up in the approaching campaign."

MEN'S DEBATE TEAM IS DEFEATED BY OKLAHOMA

Win by Unanimous Decision in Contest Monday

The members of the Oklahoma university debate team undoubtedly put up the strongest argument that the Aggies have had to meet this year when the two contested in recreation center Monday night. The Oklahoma team upheld the negative of the question "Resolved, that France is justified in Occupying the Ruhr Valley." They were awarded a unanimous decision.

EDITOR TALKS ON ART

Longstreth Believes that Idea of Mysticism Dulls Appreciation

"There is no reason why every work of art should be interesting to everyone. We are not all attracted by the same ideas," said Edward Longstreth, editor of the Art News, Philadelphia, in a chapel address Wednesday morning.

The decided lack of appreciation of Americans for art, Mr. Longstreth believes, is partly due to the prevalent idea that there is something mystic about it. The fact that the observer of a piece of art is invariably looking for something that is not there dulls his appreciation. He urged his hearers to try to receive the impression that the artist wishes to give and not to criticize the work for lacking something that was never meant to be there.

Mr. Longstreth described the production of the lithograph and the wood cut. He spoke of the work of Benjamin West, America's first artist, and his contributions to art. He said that the popular foreign criticism of American art was that it is lacking in passion and emotion. But Mr. Longstreth reminded his hearers that the display of emotion in Greek art marked its decline rather than the height of its power.

BE A NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENT

Would you like to earn money evenings and in other spare time corresponding for newspapers?

With a definite working plan that enabled me to earn more than $2,000 a year when I was a very young newspaper man, I will show you how to do the work, and you may begin at once. This will involve no canvassing—no waiting on customers—no drudgery. Subjects will be suggested, if desired; and if you possess an aptitude for this vocation, you may earn while you learn.

With the plan I mention I have made more than $300 in a single week, and I should like to tell you more about it.

V. D. Ringwald, one of my boys in Texas, writes: "I have made $30 the very first day. I am 22 years of age and earning about $400 a month."

Arthur H. Steward, Illinois, writes, "I have made more money in spare time than I have been able to earn in my regular position and I am now going to devote all my time to this work."

There is money in newspaper correspondence if one knows what the big newspapers want.

An interesting booklet, "A Straight Talk to Prospective Newspaper Correspondents," will be mailed to you immediately upon request. Ask for Booklet No. 10.

Write me today, and send your letter in this evening's mail. It will receive prompt attention and may lead to an important turning point in your life.

AGGIES TO CLEAN HOUSE APRIL 30

NO CLASSES TO MEET ON CAMPUS DAY

Program Includes Dandelion Digging in Morning, Luncheon at Noon, and Holiday in Afternoon

Simultaneously with the official arrival of spring, gentle spring, comes the announcement that a new Aggie holiday will be added to the school calendar. President Jardine has given his permission, and Wednesday, April 30, has been selected as campus day, when the Aggie students will assemble at the college, under the supervision of a committee appointed for the occasion, and clean up the campus so that everything will be spick and span for the spring festival, and incidentally so that K. S. A. C. will not lose her reputation of having one of the most beautiful campuses in the United States.

No Classes Held Campus Day

Fearing that the arduous task of digging dandelions might be too strenuous for the students who are used to nothing but mental labor, those in charge of the plans are making preparations for a lunch to be served at noon. The institutional management class will cooperate in preparing the lunch according to Dean Justin. No classes will be held on campus day.

Professor Dickens, cooperating with the committee, has suggested that the vines on the buildings should be trimmed, paths sodded, Bermuda grass sown south of the engineering building and around the cafeteria, that all trash should be picked up, and that the ever present dandelion should be completely eradicated. Pearing knives will be at a premium on campus day.

Hold Clean Ups at Other Schools

Nothing just like the spring clean up has ever been staged at the college before with the exception of a field day which was held December 7, 1916. On this day about 1,500 members of the student body and faculty were organized into shovel gangs and the "football" field was drained and sodded. Such days have been held at Pullman, Wash., and at other schools, however, with a great deal of success.

The members of the clean-up committee are as follows: V. O. Clements, C. M. Leonard, G. C. Bartgis, Jerry Dowd, Ruth Leonard, Bernice Fleming, Penelope Burtis, M. R. Getty, Paul Vohs, Marie Correll, Doris Riddell, Mary Katherine Russell, Lanora Russell, Kenneth Yandall, and G. F. Ellis.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN URGE ERECTION OF DORMITORY

Resolution Favoring Construction Is Feature of Closing Session of A. U. W. Convention

The passing of a resolution urging the construction of a dormitory at K. S. A. C. was the feature of the closing session of the fourth annual conference of the American Association of University Women which met in Manhattan Friday and Saturday of last week. After the adoption of the resolution, it was slated that the women plan to use their influence throughout the state to secure what they believe is a great need at the college.

Mrs. Roscoe Anderson of St. Louis, sectional director, and Mrs. A. Ross Hill of Kansas City, national treasurer, were present at all of the meetings. There were 25 representatives from six chapters in the state.

Enrollment of delegates began at 8 o'clock Friday morning and was immediately followed by the address of welcome from Dr. Margaret M. Justin. The remainder of the morning was devoted to appointment of committees, recommendations from the committees, and reports from the various branches represented.

Friday afternoon was given over to round table discussions. Matters discussed included serious purposes and aims of the A. U. W., social possibilities and advantages, ways and means of obtaining money, and the project for a national clubhouse at Washington, D. C.

Members of the local chapter were hostesses at a dinner at the college cafeteria Friday evening. Toasts were given by Mrs. V. F. Hiesbach, state president; Lillian Dudley, past president; Teresa Ryan, state secretary; and Mrs. Roscoe Anderson, sectional director. Following the dinner, a reception was held at the home of Mrs. W. M. Jardine. Teresa Ryan of the Kansas State Teachers' college, Emporia, was ley if he hadn't been laid up so long," one of his team mates said. Verne Clements is not a boastful person. He doesn't bubble with self enthusiasm. Consequently not much information could be wrested from him, but some of his friends were persuaded to tell what they know about him.

Star Fullback Likes to Fish—Prefers Engineering to Farming

"He's a mighty fine fellow," the football men say of V. O. Clements.

He originated near Havensville, Kan., a little town up northeast of here somewhere. He started life as a farmer, but he didn't like farming, so he came to K. S. A. C. to learn electrical engineering. He makes a pretty good engineer, it seems, for he is a member of Sigma Tau, honorary in engineering.

Next to engineering, football is his favorite course of study. He's played on the team three years and won two letters.

He spends his summers at home harvesting wheat, he said—with time off occasionally for fishing. He claimed fishing for his hobby.

When he graduates this June he expects to go into engineering work, perhaps with one of the large eastern electric companies.

FESTIVAL WEEK PLAY SELECTED

PRESENTED BY PURPLE MASQUE PLAYERS MAY 8

"The Admirable Mr. Crichton" Chosen by Prof. R. E. Holcombe—Cast of 17 Characters

The annual festival week play to be presented by the Purple Masque Players on May 8, has been chosen by Prof. R. E. Holcombe, director of dramatics. The name of the production is "The Admirable Mr. Crichton" by James M. Barrie.

Play Shown in Movies

The cast includes 17 characters, nine men and eight women. The play has been shown in moving pictures under the name of "Male and Female." In the movie version the part of Crichton was played by Thomas Meighan, Lord Loam was played by Theodore Roberts, Lila Lee played the part of Tweeny and Lady Manners, the noted English actress, starred as Lady Mary.

Professor Shinn of the public speaking department witnessed the play when it was produced at Kansas university two years ago and he said it was one of the largest undertakings which their dramatic club had put on.

Tryouts Start This Week

It is a play that requires a great amount of work and should prove to be one of the best that has ever been attempted by the Purple Masque. Special scenery is to be imported for the occasion and will help to make it a play that is different from the usual line of college plays.

Tryouts will begin this week and will run until the right material has been found for the places on the cast.

Discuss Klan at Next Forum

The Ku Klux Klan will be the subject of the discussion at the student forum in home economics rest room at 7 o'clock this evening. These forums are intended for the entire student body. They are primarily for the purposes of further discussing questions raised during the recent World forum.

COMMITTEE OUTLINES POLICY

Will Schedule Only One Closed Night Each Month

Only one closed night, or two at the most, will be scheduled in any one month according to the recently formulated policy of the calendar committee of the S. S. G. A. Permission for closed nights must be applied for at least two weeks in advance.

The jurisdiction of the committee does not extend to such events as debates, departmental activities, athletic events and other events controlled entirely by the departments or divisions of the college. Jurisdiction does extend, however, to debate rallies, glee club parties, mixers, or any social event sponsored by students. The committee requests that all events outside of its jurisdiction should be listed on the calendar, in order that there may be no conflicts.

The duties of the committee as outlined by the formal statement are to keep a calendar of school events, to embody in this calendar the departmental activities of the college, and to give permission for the dates of student affairs.

WOODCUTS BY ESHERICK ON DISPLAY AT ART DEPARTMENT

Collection Is Part of Longstreth's Exhibit

The department of applied art has on display in A 67 a small collection of wood cuts by Wharton Harris Esherick. This is a part of Mr. Longstreth's exhibit which was delayed in coming.

Mr. Jacobson, director of art at the University of Oklahoma, who spoke at the opening of the art gallery in the cafeteria building, said that American artists must be ashamed of work as very few used such subjects for their pictures. Mr. Esherick is one American artist who finds artistic beauty in the everyday tasks of the people. He thinks such common subjects as "September Corn," "The Woodmen," "Breaking a Young Colt," and "April Plowing" are worthy of portrayal, and woodcuts of these pictures are in the display.

These woodcuts are for sale and will be on exhibition for only a few days.

Miss Effie May Carp spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Zattie Carp Moody, in Topeka.

SYMPHONY GIVES CONCERT TONIGHT

KANSAS CITY MUSICIANS MAKE APPEARANCE TODAY

Give Free Concert for School Children in Afternoon—No Seats Reserved for Evening Performance

The Kansas City Little Symphony orchestra makes its second K. S. A. C. appearance this evening at 8:15 o'clock in the auditorium. This afternoon it is under the auspices of the Manhattan Kiwanis club, giving a free concert for all children of the public schools.

No Seats Reserved

Preparations have been made to cope with an expected rush for seats tonight. The house has been largely sold out and no seats are reserved, so the Kiwanians are advising everyone to come early. The selling campaign staged by the Campfire girls and the members of the Kiwanis club was highly successful and it was capped off by a clean-up drive made by special committees yesterday. The proceeds from the concert will be turned over to the Manhattan Campfire girls' organization.

The Little Symphony's afternoon program is arranged to fit in with the music memory work in the public schools. It will be of a heavier nature than the concert this evening. Tickets are good for the matinee if any extra seats are available.

Soloist at Both Concerts

Both the matinee and evening concerts have as a special feature, solo numbers. Marie Roselli, harpist, is the soloist this afternoon, and Madame Margarita Selinsky, famous woman violinist, will appear with the orchestra tonight.

Since its appearance at K. S. A. C. last year, the Kansas City Little Symphony has added to its personnel and has taken several extensive tours over the country. During the past year it has come to be recognized as the leading small orchestra of the west, and as one of the foremost in the country.

FINISHED ACTING SEEN IN "MISS LULU BETT"

Only Intersociety Members in Play Friday

The Intersociety play, "Miss Lulu Bett," which is being given at the college auditorium on Friday evening, April 4, has a cast which is composed entirely of intersociety students outside of Purple Masque. The finished acting in the rehearsals indicate that the dramatic organization will soon have a much larger membership.

The story takes place in a typical mid-western town, and is centered about the family of Dwight Deacon, a selfish, bigoted, self-centered man who has a tyrannical hold over the entire family, including his wife's sister, Miss Lulu Bett. Things follow the usual routine until the coming of Dwight's brother, Ninian, who makes Miss Lulu realize that she is being imposed upon and regarded as a servant by the rest of the family. A romance develops between Lulu and Ninian, which culminates in their marriage. The first act has very quick action, and ends with this marriage.

Lulu deserts her husband and returns home upon finding that he had formerly been married, but has lost track of his first wife. She has just decided that her lot is unbearable and is preparing to leave again, when—but one must see it for himself on Friday evening.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT TO GIVE CHAPEL THURSDAY

Students Will Give Vocal and Instrumental Numbers

A program by students of the department of music will be the feature of student assembly Thursday, April 3, at 10:15. The program will consist of vocal selections, piano, violin, flute, and oboe solos. The following students will appear on the program: Harold Flamm, Georgia May Daniels, Dorothy Hall, Orpha Russell, Charles Stratton, Lawrence Woodman, Laura Russell, Elizabeth Van Ness, Eunice Anderson, Blanch Berry, Myron Russell, Francis Allison, and Mrs. William T. Miller.

"There is no such thing as cussing in Mohammedan," observes the Kansas City Kansan. "But those people don't ever have to change tires, play a ball out of the rough, or see an American musical comedy. Why should they want to cuss?"

Student Meeting April 16

The student mass meeting at which changes in the S. S. G. A. constitution will be considered and voted on, will be held Wednesday, April 16, at 4 o'clock in the college auditorium. G. C. Bartgis, president of the S. S. G. A. announced yesterday.

Mumps Descends on Camp of Aggie Diamond Artists

Dire catastrophe in the form of mumps overtook the Aggie baseball squad Saturday with the announcement that N. S. "Squirrel" Barth, two letter man and center fielder, has contracted the disease and probably will be absent from the lineup in the first five games of the season.

Two other regulars, Ralph and Henry Karns, pitcher and shortstop, were called home last week by sickness in the family and may be out of school indefinitely. Coach C. W. Corsaut said, Ralph Karns is perhaps the best of the four candidates for places on the pitching staff, while his brother is an experienced shortstop, although he has yet to make an Aggie letter.

Squad members are said to be looking askance at each other and placing bets on who will be next in line for the mumps. Regular practice games were started Friday with a four inning battle. Practice games will continue throughout the week, weather permitting. The Aggies play their first game Saturday afternoon with St. Marys at St. Marys. A week later the team starts on its first road trip, playing Oklahoma at Norman April 12-13, and Missouri at Columbia April 15-16.

TRACK TEAM TO ENTER K. C. RELAYS APRIL 19

Red Erwin and Gat Gartner Only Sure Entries—18 Men Now Reporting for Practice

An Aggie track team will be sent to the K. U. relays April 19, Ivan Riley, now in charge of outdoor track, announced today. Entries are problematical, Captain L. E. Erwin in the 100 yard dash and John Gartner in the discus being the only men who now seem sure of going. N. L. Roberts, Manhattan, may be entered in the high hurdles, Riley said.

Other probable entries are F. Brunkau, Ellinwood, javelin, and P. R. Carter, Bradford, pole vault.

Every effort is being made to develop a relay team to enter in three events, the 2 mile, 4 mile, and 1-7-8 mile medley relays. Ralph Kimport, Norton, A. I. Balzer, Inman, Charles Wells, Chanute, K. G. Knouse, Valley Falls, and Captain Erwin are the probable members of the relay teams.

Increased interest is being shown in outdoor track with the completion of the oval on stadium field, according to Riley. Eighteen men were reporting regularly for practice at the end of last week, with new candidates coming out nearly every night. The freshman track outlook is the best in several years.

TWO SECONDS FALL TO AGGIES IN SWIM MEET

Burton Places in 220 and Miller in 50 Yard—Relay Team Runner-up to Washington

The Wildcat swimming team annexed two seconds and a third in the annual Western A. A. U. swimming meet held in the Kansas City Athletic club pool Saturday night.

Burton Colburn, Aggie captain, finished second in the race for the 220 yard junior title, Joe Smith-offer, Omaha A. C., taking the crown.

The Aggie relay team was runner-up to Washington university in the 200 yard relay, nosing out the K. C. A. C. team. L. C. Miller placed third in the 50 yard back stroke.

A new Western plunge for distance mark was set at 73.1-2 feet by R. J. Gaupel, St. Louis.

INCENTIVES

The editor of the Collegian has never been overly fond of cats. Back fence opera and even everyday meowing do not charm him. More over, most cats of his acquaintance have a sizzling, dirty, hungry, appearance that does not strike his fancy.

To murder a cat, however—or to be an accessory to the murder—merely to acquire two-bits, seems to him a bit cold blooded. In the same way, to bag 25 cats and have to sit through an illustrated lecture by a faculty member strikes him as foolish, to say the least. And to be given a picture as a reminder of a pile of 50 cold feline carcasses—that is too much.

STUDENT "HONOR"

Cribbing has become so universal at K. S. A. C. that now it is not even deemed necessary to condone it. It is generally accepted—almost in the same spirit as no smoking on the campus, and hats off in Anderson hall. Anyone who refuses to give information, and anyone who refuses to take it when in need, is regarded as queer.

The Collegian believes the time has come for the establishment of an honor system. It is sometimes argued that before an honor system can be made successful the student body must be educated up to it. The tendency at K. S. A. C. however, is in the other direction, and the best educational remedy seems to be the system itself. It probably would not be wholly successful for a long period, but it would undoubtedly reduce the amount of cribbing immensely.

The eventual beneficial effects of the honor system are unquestionable, and the present seems an auspicious time to launch it.

this season. Bribery, misappropriation of funds, land and oil frauds, and corruption in office of all sorts, have been very popular among our prominent political figures for the past month or so. Almost everyone worth mentioning has been involved in some such charge.

But forgery is a little different—a new note in the somewhat monotonous medley. And then too, Mr. Anderson's conviction gives him an added distinction—not many people are being convicted this season, either. He is to be congratulated.—K. U. Daily Kansan.

EACH NATION HAS ITS HOKUM
SAYS DAVIS IN TALK MONDAYCaricature of Soul Life of People
Washburn Professor Explains

"Every race and group has developed a characteristic hokum which is a caricature of the soul life of that people," said Prof. Elrick B. Davis of Washburn college, addressing the students of the department of industrial journalism Monday afternoon. "American hokum is as different from English hokum as English hokum from German, or German from Jewish."

"America is and always has been a land to which men have resorted when the old world disappointed them and consequently the typical American hero of fiction is a young man of poor but honest parents who rises above his illiterate associates to become the leader of industry or the captain of noble and moral armies," declared the speaker. "Always the hero's phenomenal success is due to no superior ability. The hero's strength is as the strength of 10 because his heart is pure."

"Hokum among all peoples is the result of carrying over the day dreams of adolescence through life," Professor Davis explained. "We have built galleries of portraits that we wish we were and named them heroes; we have built other galleries for our villains that represent the people we hope no one will ever find out we actually are. All the characters of hokum are the result of delusions of grandeur, the products of wish fantasies and projection."

Sport Briefs

A "convention" of Aggie football captains and former captains took place quite accidentally in the athletic office Saturday morning. As Captain Emmett Skinner, left end on the 1922 team, now a second lieutenant in the marine corps stationed at Quantico, Va., was talking over the situation with Coach Bachman and "Mike" Ahearn, Captain Ray Hahn, of the 1923 eleven strolled in. Greetings were scarcely exchanged when Captain R. M. Nichols, who led the Aggies to battle last fall, joined the reunion. Only captain-elect Lyle Munn, right end, was absent, but not far distant, as Munn was found "around the corner" in Nichols gymnasium warming up with a baseball.

Spirited basketball games are staged on the Nichols gym floor on Saturday afternoons by those who drop in for a little practice. One such last Saturday found Fritz Koch, varsity guard, aligned with the "east bounds" who soon piled up such a score as to make the game uninteresting, whereupon Koch "flooded" to the "west bounds" who promptly proceeded to even up the count.

"Run your high hurdles with the bar as tight as possible," is the advice Ivan Riley, American Intercollegiate champion, gives to his "beginners" in track practice. "Two skinned ankles will do a lot more toward making you 'go high' than all the advice in the world," Riley says.

Although tennis is rated as a minor sport in Valley athletics, it might well rank with the majors in the number of devotees it enjoys on the Aggie campus. Almost any afternoon finds the eight courts on Anderson avenue all occupied, with a half dozen or so "waiting their turn" on the bank.

Coach Bachman has installed a new device intended to make his backfield "mind their P's and Q's." After sidestepping through a maze of stakes and posts pounded firmly in the ground the young recruit is forced to dive head foremost into a pit of not too soft earth. "Teaches 'em to make every inch they can after being tackled," Bachman explains.

Lest the batter's eyes become dulled through lack of practice on rainy days, Coach C. W. Corsaut hauled out a big net Saturday afternoon, which was stretched across the east end of Nichols gym for the batters to knock the "hot ones" into.

AGGIES MAKE LOW SCORE IN LAST WEEK'S RIFLE MATCH

E. E. Howard Is High with 379—
No Reports from Other Schools

In the rifle match against Wisconsin university and Rhode Island State college last week the Aggies went below their usual score with 364. E. E. Howard was high point man with a score of 379. In actual points D. C. Taylor tied Howard, but was beaten by one point on the standing position which is the hardest one to fire, thus giving first honors to Howard.

A five man team fired against Virginia Polytechnic institute making a score of 376. These schools have not yet reported their scores.

TWO TEAMS TOUR STATE

Students Visit High Schools to Advise College

Two "Go to College" teams left Sunday for a tour of the high schools of the state. Katherine King, Dorothy Sanders, and Dave Herring made up one team, while Helen King, Ruth Stewart, and Charles Claybaugh formed the second.

One of the teams will visit Linwood, Olathe, Paola, Osawatomie, Ottawa, Osage City, Council Grove, Cottonwood Falls, Marion, and Peabody. The other team will visit the high schools at Galena, Cherokee, Columbus, Altamont, Neodesha, Fredonia, Chanute, Humboldt, Iola, and La Harpe.

At each of these towns the teams will put on a program consisting of a one act play, readings, musical numbers, and pep talks about K. S. A. C. At as many schools as possible the teams will meet with high school seniors and answer questions concerning the college.

Ella Wilson, Paxico, Renna Rosenthal, Topeka, and Bernice Williams, Wellington, were week end guests at the Delta Zeta house.

RELATION OF CLOTHING TO HEALTH TO BE DETERMINED

Survey Made by Physical Education and Clothing Departments

A survey to determine the relation of the weight of clothes worn to the health of individuals, particularly as to infection of the respiratory tract, is being carried on through the physical education and clothing and textiles departments at the college.

Body weights and the weight of clothing worn by close to 1,000 girl and boy students have been compiled by the physical education instructors and sent to the department of clothing and textiles. A circular letter has been sent to each student weighed with questions to be answered that will give his or her health record for the year. With these two groups of statistics it is hoped to compile valuable information showing how the amount of clothing worn affects health. Mary L. Callahan, of the college, is completing the work.

Why we advertise our quality Nationally

Our advertising efforts are on a large scale—as the number of cities in which we advertise emphasizes—from coast to coast, north to south.

Our window displays and magazine pages in color are other supplementary agencies of attractive publicity as are also the college dailies.

We have adopted the use of publications which have wide and general circulation, to acquaint as many men as possible with the high standard of our clothes and thereby win public confidence in the Campus Togs label which identifies our product. We recognize that with national distribution our customers represent a national audience and we want to apprise the public first hand of the security in buying clothes with our label sewn in the inside pocket.

We don't sell every merchant in the country, but neither can any other manufacturer have access to such service to the public, in view of the competitive condition surrounding the giving of confined sale to merchants in various localities.

There are a lot of clothing manufacturers, but only a few standard lines that establish the barometer of quality and value which identify them as feature lines. We are one of these standard lines and with thirty-five years of reputation behind us, our guarantee of satisfaction is a substantial fortification in the selection of clothes which measure high for genuine service and thorough satisfaction.

ATWOOD IS HIGH IN GRAIN JUDGING

STINSON TAKES SECOND PLACE IN CONTEST SATURDAY

Reed and Norton Rank Third and Fourth—Albert Watson Makes Highest Freshman Score

George S. Atwood of La Cygne, senior in agronomy, won first place in the senior division of the annual student grain judging contest, held Saturday under the auspices of the Kiod and Kernel Klub. Atwood scored 802 points out of a possible 1,000. His nearest competitor was T. B. Stinson, Manhattan, with 745 points. Glenn Reed, Galesburg, and J. E. Norton, Grainfield, were third and fourth with 710 and 714 points respectively.

Williamson High in Junior Division
Cash prizes of $18, $12, $8, and $5 were given for first, second, third, and fourth places in the contest.

In the junior division of the judging, in which were entered men who have not had a course in grain grading and judging, O. M. Williamson, senior in Ag economics, of Kansas City, Kan., won first with a score of 721 points. In this part of the contest prizes were offered of $12, $8, $5, and $3, for the first four places. The highest ranking freshman was Albert Watson, Osage City, with a score of 643 points. The Kiod and Kernel Klub offered $5, $3, and $2 for first, second and third winners among the freshmen participants.

$125 in Prizes Offered

The contest was sponsored by the Kiod and Kernel Klub, which, with the aid of various companies and publications interested in agriculture, furnished $125 in cash awards.

The complete list of the winners of all the departments in the judging follows:

Senior Division

Entire contest: G. S. Atwood, first, 802 points; T. B. Stinson, second, 745; Glenn Reed, third, 716, and J. E. Norton, fourth, 714.

occurred, the records show. These interesting facts, and many others, were told by Prof. E. C. Converse, in speaking of the purpose of the college weather bureau.

The first weather statistics at K. S. A. C. were taken in 1858 and they have been kept regularly since then. These figures show, for instance, that the wettest year up to 1922, was 1915 with a rainfall of 50.52 inches, which, by the way, is practically 20 inches greater than the average for this section. The driest year occurred in 1860 with an average rainfall of 16.72 inches.

The highest temperature ever reached in Manhattan was 115 degrees on July 9, 1860, and this is found to be 12 degrees higher than the average maximum temperature for this section. The coldest temperature occurred on February 12, 1899, when the mercury dropped to 32 degrees below zero. Records also show that the average yearly temperature for the past 58 years has been 53.69 degrees.

The daily forecast is received by the local weather bureau each morning by telegraph from Chicago and telephoned to the different Manhattan newspapers and business houses. The quadruple recorder, which is operated by electricity, records the wind velocity, time of sunshine, wind direction, and rainfall. The barograph is used to record air pressure.

Flags indicating the forecast are put above Anderson hall each morning. A white flag indicates fair weather, the black flag indicates rain or snow. A flag half white and half black indicates local rain or snow. A triangular black flag indicates temperature. A white flag with a black square in the center indicates a cold wave. A combination of these flags is nearly always used. For example, the black flag with the black triangular beneath it indicates rain or snow and colder. This flag display indicates the forecast extending from 8 o'clock at night to 8 o'clock the following night.

STUDES CAN LIVE ON 75 CENTS DAY

COST OF AVERAGE MEAL AT CAFETERIA IS 24 CENTS

College Hostelry Serves 800 Students Daily—Is Not Run for Profit

Approximately 800 students eat at the cafeteria daily, paying an average price of 24 cents a meal, according to Miss Effie May Carp, cafeteria director. The average student check is 16 cents for breakfast and 25 cents for dinner and supper. This indicates that the student who eats all three meals at the cafeteria spends less than 75 cents a day for food. Records show that student checks are higher during Christmas vacation and in September.

Not Run for Profit

The cafeteria is a self-sustaining institution, but it is not run for a profit. It makes just enough to pay for the necessary food, fuel, upkeep, and employees. Part time employment is furnished to 19 students who work from one to three hours. In addition to this there is a kitchen force of 14 persons who work full time.

"The statement has often been made that student labor is wasteful," Miss Carp said, "but our student labor is satisfactory in every sense of the word. We have students who began as freshmen and are planning to stay until they graduate."

Cafeteria Equipment Modern

The equipment is modern. Gas, coal, and electricity are used. The large range burns coal, the coffee urns are steam heated, and steam coils in water heat the counter. Gas heats the bake oven, one of the toasters, the emergency burner, and the pan cake baker. There is one electric toaster and steam cookers are used for vegetables and certain kinds of meat. The kitchen mixer, dish-washing machine, potato peeler, refrigerating machine, dumb waiter, and subveyors are run by electricity.

Food Purchased at Wholesale

As a matter of economy, food is purchased at wholesale. The cafeteria purchases 100 pounds of butter, 150 gallons of milk, 42 quarts of 20 per cent cream, 12 quarts of whipping cream, and from 60 to 70 gallons of ice cream from the college dairy each week. It also uses five crates of eggs a week, some of which are secured from the college poultry farm.

Fresh vegetable are bought in unbroken carriers, and canned goods by the case in large size cans. In an ordinary week, the cafeteria uses one-half beef, one-half veal, 25 pounds of breakfast bacon, four cured hams, four fresh skinned hams, one lamb, four pork loins, 50 pounds of chicken, 50 pounds of fresh fish, 2 gallons of fresh oysters, and various irregular minor cuts of meat. This meat is purchased at Kansas City and delivered twice a week.

Miss Mabel Ginter, '21, assistant in the department of household economics, has charge of the menus. Miss Effie May Carp, associate professor of household economics, is the director of the cafeteria. Miss Carp graduated from K. S. A. C. in 1915 and received her master of arts degree at the University of Chicago. Before coming to Manhattan, she had extensive experience as a teacher, and cafeteria, tearoom, and dormitory director. Miss Carp and Miss Ginter teach classes in institutional management in which 30 students are enrolled this semester.

SNOW DELAYS WORK ON EAST WING OF STADIUM

Wing to Be Complete Before Fall Games

Work on the east wing of the memorial stadium started Thursday, March 13, and will be resumed as soon as the weather is suitable. The wing will be ready to handle the crowds at the games next football season.

Pledges that have been made, if paid when due, will amount to enough to complete the entire west wing, according to J. V. Cortelyou, secretary of the memorial stadium corporation.

The Aggies will have one of the best playing fields in the valley next fall. An overhead sprinkler is to be installed on the field. This will provide sufficient moisture to insure a sod field by the date of the opening game here. The playing field will not be used for practice.

Emily Sheppard spent the week end in Lawrence.

Edwin Winkler, '21, is studying for his master's degree in agricultural economics at K. S. A. C. Last year he taught vocational agriculture in the St. George high school.

Mary Jensen, who was called home by the illness of her father, has re-entered school.

Edwin Winkler visited with friends at St. George Sunday.

F. F. Kimball spent Thursday in Topeka.

Bernice Rogers spent the week end at her home in Abilene.

Prof. N. A. Crawford visited in Topeka last week end.

DON'T SLEEP ON TRACK SAYS MIKE

TRACK WEEK LAUNCHED AT CHAPEL YESTERDAY

Twenty-six Men Now Out for Practice—Intersorority "Joker" Relay Held Next Month

"Talk track, think track, eat track, sleep track, but don't sleep on the track," was the advice given for Track week, which starts today, by M. F. Ahearn, director of athletics, in chapel yesterday. During the week which will close Saturday, April 12, all organizations are urged to take special interest in getting available men out for the coaches to look over, and individuals are urged to take the responsibility on their own shoulders.

Largest Squad in History

Twenty-five men are now out for practice, under Acting Coach Ivan Riley, the largest squad in the history of K. S. A. C. athletics. Seven of that number are freshmen. "The outlook is decidedly encouraging," Mike says, "but when one remembers that Nebraska, for example, has a squad of 350, the chance for improvement is apparent. The new quarter mile oval has room for several thousand runners at once, if need be."

Freshmen, sophomores, and juniors are especially urged to come out, Riley said. "You can't do much with a senior unless he has exceptional ability if he's new at the game, but you can do almost anything with a first or second year man if he's willing to work."

Men who come out next week will have a chance to get in shape by the time the team for the K. U. relays is picked, which will be two weeks from next Wednesday. Quarter, half, and mile men are especially desired for the medley events in the K. U. meet.

Institute Intersorority Joker Relay

An innovation in track meets will be introduced sometime next month, possibly at the Valley Interscholastic relays May 17, in the form of intersorority "joker" relays. Each sorority is allowed to pick its team from the entire male student population "Barcus being willing." This team will carry the sorority banner in the relays. The sorority represented by the winning team will receive a suitable trophy, probably a large loving cup. In eastern and Big Ten schools the sorority relays are the big feature of the track year, and the K. S. A. C. department expects them to take a like place in Aggie athletics.

Interorganization Relays May 17

The first annual interorganization relays were announced for May 17 by Ahearn. The events will be a part of the regular intramural schedule and will count points toward the intramural cup. A 1 7-8 mile relay probably will be the main event. Head Coach Bachman will be out looking over the organization team members for possible track material. Men for both track and field events are needed, Riley emphasized. The Aggie team this year has individual stars of the highest merit, but lacks balance so badly that it probably will equipment for any event; all that is the Valley meets unless some one comes to the rescue.

Twenty-five Men Out

The quarter mile track on stadium field with its 220 yard straightaway is unexcelled in the Valley. The athletic department has plenty of equipment for an event, all that is desired is the men to use the equipment.

The men now out for track are William Mathias, L. E. Erwin, John Gartner, Ralph Kimpfort, N. L. Roberts, Charles Wells, I. A. Balzer, M. L. Sallee, I. D. Wright, C. A. Logan, Glenn Stewart, E. E. Coleman, H. C. Elder, Ronald Wheatly, Dent Coffman, Harry Bird, Walter Axtell, Karl Wilson, F. Brunkau, J. E. Shindler, H. C. Lantis, H. A. Brockaway, J. Savage, C. C. Hassler, and M. M. Flack.

CONSTITUTION CHANGES CONSIDERED ON APRIL 19

S. S. G. A. Will Hold Student Mass Meeting to Discuss Faults of Present System

Provisions for the nomination of officers in April instead of in May, for the holding of a primary election not later than five days after nomination, for the election of organization and class representatives—except freshman class—within one week after the April meeting, and for the ex-officio service of the S. S. G. A. treasurer as chairman of the finance committee, constitute the principal changes in the S. S. G. A. constitution recommended by the special investigating committee which will present its report to the students at a mass meeting April 16.

Other changes proposed by students before the meeting will also be considered and presented for adoption. It is advisable, however, that all suggestions be sent in at once so that they may be published.

The constitution as changed by the proposed amendments, will read as follows:

Article II, Sec. 2.—A regular business meeting of the Association shall be held during the second week in April for the nomination of officers for the following year; to arrange for the time of election of president and vice president and to transact any other business that may lawfully come before the Association.

Article IV, Sec. 2.—The primary election shall be held not later than five days after the regular, April meeting of the Association, and not less than two days before the time fixed by the Association for the final election.

Article IV, Sec. 3.—The time for the election of the president and vice president of the association shall be fixed at the regular April meeting of the Association. These officers shall be chosen by vote of all members of the association at the general election at the time so fixed.

Article V, Sec. 1.—Membership: The executive council of the Student Self Governing Association shall consist of 22 members who shall hold office until their successors are elected and qualified. The membership shall be as follows: The president and vice president of the association. Two members from each of the college classes, two from the Literary Society Council; one from the Women's Panhellenic; one from the Men's Panhellenic; one from the "K" fraternity; one from the women's athletic association; one from the Y. M. C. A. cabinet; one from the Girl's Loyalty League; one from the Federation of Cooperative Clubs; and one from the Vocational School. All members above mentioned, except the president, vice president and the next year's freshmen shall be elected for the following year by the organizations which they represent within one week after the regular April meeting of the association. The freshmen shall elect their members at their regular election in the fall.

Article V, Sec. 2, (c)—The treasurer of the student association shall be selected by the executive council. He shall act as chairman of the finance committee and perform his duties as outlined by the executive council and shall make a report of the entire association at the regular mid-year and spring meetings.

Article VII, Sec. 8.—Insert "in the college" instead of "on the hill."

SENIORS TO GIVE ROBIN HOOD

Class Play to Be Presented Out of Doors—Tryouts Held Soon

The senior class has selected "Robin Hood" as the class play this year. The play will be given the latter part of May. The play this year will be presented out of doors on a specially built stage and amphitheater. The costumes will be designed by the class in dramatic costuming. Tryouts will be held in the near future.

FRESHMAN-SOPHOMORE HOP WILL BE APRIL 26

Plans Made to Exclude Upperclassmen from Dance—Ticket Sale Begins Monday

The annual freshman sophomore hop which will be held this year on April 26 at the gym, is to be made an exclusively underclass party, according to plans recently formulated by the hop committee. "Brick" English's eight piece orchestra will furnish the music, and a Kansas City novelty dancer, the college male quartet, and features by local talent will comprise the program.

"We hope to make this the best prom that has ever been staged," said E. R. Lord, chairman of the publicity committee, "since this is the only opportunity that is given to freshmen and sophomores to hold an exclusive entertainment."

The proverbial key, which has been handed down from class to class, will be entrusted by the sophomore class president, Harold Sheppard, to the freshman class representative. Whether the freshman class will be able to keep it will be decided that night.

The ticket sale will begin Monday April 7, at the Royal Purple office. Tickets will not be sold at the door on the evening of the hop. The tickets will sell for $1.75 per couple, and class dues will not be collected in connection with the ticket sale.

Joe Kent is manager of the hop.

Y. W. C. A. INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS AT VESPER SERVICE

Evelyn Colburn Is New President—Old Officers in Charge

Installation services were held for the new Y. W. C. A. cabinet and newly elected members of the advisory board yesterday afternoon at the regular vesper hour. Polly Hedges, retiring president, presided. Devotions were led by Marie Correll and Margaret Ralffington, members of the old cabinet. A short talk was given by Dean Van Zhe.

The new officers follow: Evelyn Colburn, Manhattan, president; Lois Richardson, Manhattan, vice president; Marie Insley, Junction City, secretary; Dorothy Rosebrough, Topeka, undergraduate representative; Mary Dey, Wellington, treasurer. The cabinet members are Betty Peairs, St. Francis; Ruth Long, Manhattan; Betty Bressler, Manhattan; Hilmarie Freeman, Courtland; Phyllis Burtis, Manhattan; Mildred Moore, Carthage, Mo.; Laureda Thompson, Manhattan; Florence Barnhisel, Wichita; Ruth Limbucker, Manhattan; Ruth Bachelder, Fredonia; Charlotte Swanson, Manhattan.

New members of the Y. W. C. A. advisory board are Miss Margaret Ahlborn, Mrs. A. E. White, and Mrs. R. K. Nabours.

"MISS LULU BETT" TO BE GIVEN THIS EVENING

Intersociety Play Presented at Auditorium at 8:15—Professor Holcombe Coaches Play

"Miss Lulu Bett," the intersociety play, will be presented this evening at 8:15 in the college auditorium. "Miss Lulu Bett" was first produced and staged in New York in 1920 and since has been given in many of the larger places in this country. Prof. Ray Holcombe of the public speaking department has coached the play.

The cast of characters includes members of the various literary societies on the campus. The cast follows: Nonona Deacon, Fern Fairchild; Dwight Herbert Deacon, Paul Pfeutze; Ina Deacon, Helen Reinhard; Lulu Bett, Leone Bacon; Bobby Larkin, Milton Kerr; Mrs. Bett, Carrie Justice; Neil Cornish, Alvin Ritts; Minian Deacon, William Kerr.

Tickets may be secured at the box office at the auditorium for 50 and 75 cents.

LITERARY SOCIETIES TO GIVE ALL COLLEGE MIXER SATURDAY

Program at Auditorium Followed by Program at Gym

An intersociety mixer will be held in the gymnasium Saturday evening at 7:45 o'clock. All the literary societies are cooperating in putting the affair over. A typical literary society program will be given in the auditorium.

After this the crowd will adjourn to the gymnasium where entertainment has been planned for everyone. All students are urged to attend, as the mixer is not intended for the societies alone but for the student body as a whole.

Speaks to Rotary Clubs

Dr. H. T. Hill spoke before a joint meeting of the Junction City and Abilene Rotary Clubs, at Junction City, Monday evening. The occasion was a dinner given by the Junction City club as the losers in an attendance contest with Abilene. About 200 Rotarians and Rotary Annes were present.

ANNOUNCE TENNIS MATCHES

Seven Contests to Be Played on Home Court

The entire Aggie dual tennis meet schedule thus far will be played at Manhattan, according to M. F. Ahearn, director of athletics. Seven home matches have been scheduled, the only trip being to the Valley meet at Nebraska, May 23-24.

The first contest of the year is less than a week off, Missouri coming to Manhattan April 11. It is probable that a tournament will be used to decide team members for the later matches, but the team for the first match probably will consist of Gil Wann, Hays, captain; E. A. Miller, Marysville; and W. C. Goodell, Independence.

Tennis letters are awarded to those placing one, two, or three in the Valley tournament.

The Aggie schedule is as follows: April 11—Missouri at Manhattan. April 15—Baker at Manhattan. April 25—Nebraska at Manhattan. May 3—Oklahoma at Manhattan. May 10—Kansas at Manhattan. May 14—Washington at Manhattan. May 20—Washburn at Manhattan.

EWING Y. M. C. A. HEAD NEXT YEAR

BLACKLEDGE IS VICE PRESIDENT AND PFUETZE IS SECRETARY

Election Was Held Tuesday—Retreat Will Be April 12 and 13 at Rotary Camp

The following officers were elected at the Y. M. C. A. election held April 1: President, Ralph Ewing; vice president, Ralph Blackledge, secretary, treasurer, Paul Pfeutze; the student members of the board of directors are M. R. Buck, B. C. Harter, George Montgomery, Wayne Rogler, and Alvin Ritts.

Board of Directors Re-elected

All members of the board of directors were re-elected, they are Dr. H. H. King, Dr. H. T. Hill, Prof. Hugh Durham, Dean R. A. Seaton, Ira Pratt, Dr. J. H. Burt, H. D. Hayden, and Jerry Wilson.

Ralph Ewing comes here from Olathe. He is enrolled in agricultural engineering, and is a member of the Hamilton literary society. Ewing has had charge of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. for the past two years.

Cherrington and West at Retreat

April 12 and 13 is the date set for the annual retreat of the old officers of the Y. M. C. A. and the newly elected officers. Saturday afternoon, April 12, the old and new officers will don their old clothes and go to the Rotary camp where they will prepare supper. After supper they will enjoy a meeting of talks and speeches around the campfire. The next morning they will be joined by the members of the Y. W. C. A. Ben Cherrington and Frank West, noted Y. M. C. A. officers, will be at the retreat.

STUDENTS APPEAR IN CHAPEL

Music Department Has Charge of Assembly Thursday

The program at student assembly Thursday morning consisted of a recital by students of the department of music. Each of the students showed the results of thorough training, and displayed a stage presence which is worthy of more experienced performers. That the program was appreciated by the audience was evidenced by the generous applause.

The program follows: "La Foire De Sorochintze" (Moussorgsky), orchestra; "Where E'er You Walk" and "Honor and Arms," (Handel), Harold Plamm, baritone; "Nocturne B flat Minor" (Chopin), Georgia May Daniels, soprano; "Scene de Ballet" (De Berti), Dorothy Hall, violin; "Orpheus with His Lute" (Sullivan), Orpha Russell, soprano; "From the Carnival Op. 19" (Grieg), Charles Stratton, piano; "Valse Caprice" (Howe), Lawrence Woodman, flute; "The Sun" (Curran), Laura Russell, soprano; "Chanson Louis XIII et Parvane" (Couperin-Kreisler), Elizabeth Van Ness, violin; "Intermezzi Op. 116, No. 4" (Brahms), Eunice Anderson, piano; "Birthday" (Woodman) and "Pierrot" (Rubner), Blanch Berry, soprano; "Passepied" (Delibes), Myron Russell, oboe; "La Zingara" (Donizetti), Mrs. William T. Miller, soprano.

LUNCH TO BE PROVIDED FOR DANDELION DIGGERS

Tour of Campus Is Included on Clean-up Day Program—Majority Favor Plan

The committee in charge of Campus day has started to work, and additions are fast being made to the original plans. The home economics students are taking up the little matter of feeding two or three thousand and hearty dandelion diggers and paper pickers. Beginning this week, letters will be sent to every organization on the hill, asking their cooperation.

It is hoped that in connection with the clean-up project, a tour of the campus may be arranged, so that the men may have an opportunity to see what cooking utensils and dressmaking forms look like, and so that the coeds may see what's in the new Ag building and the farm machinery hall, and look over the college prize stock. As one faculty member so scathingly remarked, "If the coeds didn't have a class in microbiology in the vet building, they wouldn't know there was such a place."

Various persons were interviewed on the Campus day proposition yesterday. The interviews follow: Dean Willard: I think that the campus day idea is a very good one. It is especially good because it will give students an opportunity to get acquainted with parts of the campus that they do not ordinarily see. I think it would be a fine thing if the people who cut across and make the paths could be the ones to dig them out and lay the sod.

Miss Ruth Morris: I think it is a fine thing. I have seen it worked out in other colleges and I don't see why it won't work here. It is very much worthwhile.

Alice Marston: I am in favor of it or I wouldn't be spending all the energy I am on it. As long as money isn't appropriated to take care of the campus I think we will have to do it, and the Aggies will be prouder of the campus after we put some work on it.

Maxine Ransom: As far as the holiday part of it is concerned, I think it is O. K. But somehow I can't picture 2,800 students scattered over the campus digging dandelions and picking up chewing gum wrappers.

J. M. Leonard: I think it is a most worthwhile undertaking and should be an annual event. It think every loyal Aggie should get behind this and do his bit.

Lanora Russell: I think it is the thing we should have. I think we should have containers around the campus to put trash in. Our campus is said to be the second best in the United States and we ought to take care of it.

Ralph Shideler: I think it is a good idea. The grass is getting so scarce that there isn't even enough to sit on any more.

STUDENTS IN DRAMATICS TO DIRECT TWO PLAYS

Performance Will Be Given April 26 at Auditorium—Lillian Kammeyer and Donna Greene in Charge

Two one act plays, "Wurzel Flummery," by Augustus Thomas and "The Wonder Hat," a fantasy by Percy Makaye, will be presented at the auditorium Saturday evening, April 26, under the auspices of the dramatic production class. Members of the class will direct the plays. Lillian Kammeyer will direct "Wurzel Flummery," and Donna Greene, "The Wonder Hat."

Novel lighting effects are to be used and the scenery will be designed by Patricia Smith, and Mary Jensen will design the costumes. There will be special numbers between acts. Velma Lockridge is general manager and Forest Whan has charge of publicity. Tryouts will begin this week and the cast will be chosen from members of the class of those eligible to purple Masque.

Wild Horses from Texas Are Imported for Ag Fair Rodeo

"Wild Horse" Phil Woodbury, "Cheyenne Kid" Ehrhardt, "Crow Creek" Drummond, "Tex" Brainard, "Riata" Wilson, and "Smoky" Stickley will thrill the Aggie studees with their fancy roping, broncho riding and bull fighting at the Ag Fair Rodeo, May 3.

A dozen wild horses from Texas will be shipped in for the Rodeo and anyone who has the courage and determination to risk his life on the back of one of them will have a chance to do it. The management will take no responsibility for lives lost or legs broken.

Steer riding will be one of the features put on by the outfit. Expert riding and bull-dogging will be shown by these experienced cow punchers. Riata Wilson's roping is another feature worth going miles to see. His fancy and trick roping is a marvel to all who behold.

The area east of the veterinary building will be used for the Rodeo this year. There will be seats for about 500 people.

Wayne Rogler is managing the publicity for the Rodeo.

OPEN SEASON AT ST. MARY'S

FIRST GAME TO BE PLAYED TOMORROW

Squad of 30 Has Been Whipped into Shape by Practice Games—Three Regulars Out

Although they have been handicapped this spring by bad weather and indoor work, the Aggie pill chasers are confident of winning their first game when on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock they invade the diamond of St. Mary's college for the opening of the baseball season.

"Squirrel" Barth Has Mumps

Notwithstanding the fact that three of the regulars are out of the line up, the team is functioning in an excellent manner. Henry Karns, one of the strongest assets on the twirling staff and Ralph Karns, who never meets any too hot at short, have been called home because of the sickness of their father. "Squirrel" Barth, who has been known to climb trees and gather in the high ones, will be missing in center field because of a case of mumps. However, good material is being put in from the reserves and a lot of snappy team work is being shown.

During the past two weeks practice games have been held each evening and the squad of 30 men have been worked around to fill the positions for which they are best fitted. The game at St. Mary's tomorrow is for the purpose of practice and a large number of players are to be used. This will give Coach Corsaut considerable dope on the nine, as St. Mary's has practically the same team it had last year when they defeated the Aggies.

Three On Pitching Staff

Conroy, Cunningham, and Vohs will be at the mound with Lutz and Beam receiving. Stark and Swartz will hang out at first while Staley will hold down second. Lyle Ernst will not have much competition at the hot corner while Hogan will probably start at short. In the outfield Glenn Atkins, captain, Lyle Munn, Bernard Harter, and Rex Huey will stop any that accidentally get by the basemen. Seven or eight others will probably make the trip.

SPECIAL SEMINAR FOR RURAL COMMERCE STUDENTS MONDAY

Charles A. Moore Will Be Principal Speaker

A special seminar for rural commerce students will be held in the home economics rest room, Monday, April 7, at 4 o'clock. Mr. Charles A. Moore, vice president and general manager of the Liberty Life Insurance company of Topeka, will be the principal speaker of this occasion.

The subject of the talk will be "The Business of Life Insurance for College Trained Men." This meeting is under the auspices of the Delta Phi Epsilon, professional commerce fraternity of the college, as a part of its extension program for this year. Dr. J. E. Kammeyer will be in charge of the meeting.

RIFLE TEAM ENDS SEASON WITH VICTORY AND LOSS

Sweaters Awarded to Ten Men—Mayden Is High

With a victory over Virginia Polytechnic institute and Wisconsin university and a loss to Rhode Island State college, the Kansas State Agricultural college rifle team completed the season this week.

The Aggies made a score of 1,880 against Virginia Polytechnic institute's 1,860. The 10 man team which fired against the other two schools made a score of 3,642. Wisconsin's score was 3,533 while Rhode Island state beat the Aggies with 3,701.

Considering the fact that the team was made up almost entirely of new men and that shooting facilities were not the best at the first of the season, the Aggies have had a successful year. Twelve matches were won and 10 lost. Third place was won in the corps area match. Results of Hearst trophy match have not been received.

The high point man for the year is W. F. Mayden with 2,612 points. He will be awarded a gold medal. D. C. Taylor takes second honors with 2,599 for which he will receive a silver medal. Third place and a bronze medal goes to E. E. Howard who ran a close race with Taylor with a score of 2,590.

The men who will be awarded sweaters besides the above three, and their respective rankings are Ernest Miller, P. A. Shepherd, I. K. McWilliams, V. C. Hill, D. E. Lathrop, A. W. Clark, and A. W. Marshall.

FRIDAY, APRIL 4, 1924

Two students at the University of Iowa recently played bridge continuously for 25 hours. And we thought college students were intelligent."—K. U. Daily Kansan.

And we thought everyone had got over the idea that college students are intelligent.

THE HONOR SYSTEM

Establishment of an honor system, the Collegian believes, should be considered at the student mass meeting April 16. In view of present conditions, a measure to lessen cribbing is probably the most vital question with which S. S. G. A. and students in general now have to deal. The situation presents an opportunity for the association to do something actually important.

The prevalence of cribbing is recognized by students and faculty members alike. In this connection attention is called to a communication from an agriculture student elsewhere in this issue. It is also recognized by most professors, however, that watchfulness and detective tactics on the part of instructors are not the proper corrective measures. Such a plan tends merely to increase the resourcefulness of students and makes the successful cribber more or less of a hero.

An honor system, even when strictly enforced, has never become successful immediately. But it does present the cribber in his true colors, and makes cheating the exception rather than the rule.

The Little Symphony

One of the largest crowds of the season heard the evening concert by the Kansas City Little Symphony orchestra Tuesday night, and the 1,000 persons were well repaid for attending.

Sound musicianship and the excellent taste of the conductor, N. De Rubertis and his players, made the program worthwhile and maintained the reputation established in the first appearance of the orchestra here, though not appreciably adding to it. The Little Symphony has been augmented in size since its first Manhattan concert, and has added two soloists who give variety and greater charm to its program.

Probably the best number on the evening's program was Saint Saens' "Second Symphony," which was substituted for the "Unfinished Symphony" of Schubert. The overture from "Merry Wives of Windsor," the closing number, was particularly well received by the audience. A rather disappointing feature of the concert was the almost complete revamping of the announced program and consequent substitution for some of the favorites, notably Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony."

Mme. Margarita Selinsky, violin soloist, was particularly good in Mendelssohn's "Concerto in E Minor." She did not, however, attain any great artistic heights and hardly measured up to the standard set for her in advance notices.

Wayne McKin of Lenora, was a week end guest at the Edgerton club.

HONOR AMONG STUDENTS

It is the purpose of this article to give some views upon the causes for the universal cheating among the Kansas Aggie students. "What ever you do, write plain—let's have a little cooperation." It's heard, laughed at, and enjoyed by most of the students on the hill. There are a few, I dare say not over two per cent, who never crib. Why don't they? Every one else seems to, at least there seems to be no moral stake in view for those who cheat, and yet they are considered to be high minded, high moral students on the hill. Are they? I should say no. It seems to be universally understood among the body that cribbing is to be carried on. Who promotes it? Is there no pride or honor among the students to prevent it; or do you say it is the fault of the professor?

True it is that some professors seem more conducive to it than others. In one class, our instructor, when putting our final exam questions on the board, said, "You have your books, I'm up here, and there is the man beside you—it looks like you ought to pass this exam." Another professor left the room, we laid our papers on his desk and left. Conducive to cheating—it was done. When in the class, assignments cover a certain portion of the book and the class discussion is never upon that work but the exam questions will be—then that rather encourages cribbing, doesn't it?

In some schools cribbing is disdained, down trodden, and not practiced by far the larger proportion of the student body. And it was not practiced at the other Kansas institution that I attended. My first semester here I stood in perfect awe of the bold talk and under-handed methods of cribbing here. Even the students who do not crib for their own grades, seldom refuse to let someone look on their paper or help them out.

What Parent, who cared about the moral atmosphere under which his son or daughter was placed, and knew anything of the conditions here on the hill would allow his children to attend this institution? Not only do students talk of it on the hill but at their homes, telling of how they, "sure slipped one over on that professor."—R. P.

Sap, Hero of Hour,
Averts Tragedy by Finding Cartoons

"Where are those Brown Bull cartoons?" The editor was stirring around in the drawer of Brown Bull copy hurriedly.

"Has anyone seen the Brown Bull cartoons?" A note of anxiety was evident in her voice. The stirring in the drawer increased in velocity and fury.

"Where on earth are those Brown Bull cartoons?" The drawer slammed shut and the editor looked about perplexed.

"Tomorrow's April first," someone cheerfully suggested. "Perhaps it's a joke."

"I'll bet Johnnie or Sap took them out to look at them," someone else said.

The editor went home to spend a sleepless night, worrying about those cartoons.

The next morning a haggard editor appeared at the Collegian office. Worry was beginning to tell upon her. Without the cartoons there could not be a Brown Bull. Without the Nice number of the Brown Bull the world would go to rack and ruin. The purity of this number was as desperately needed in a wicked world as Near East relief.

Sap and Johnnie denied all knowledge of the cartoons. The only hope that sustained the editor through the day was that the strange disappearance was a joke—but what a sad joke!

Late in the afternoon, when hope and patience were almost exhausted, the editor returned to the Collegian office. The last spark of hope was extinguished as she stuck her head in the door and the assistant editor wanted to know if the cartoons had been found. Weakly she staggered in and leaned against the wall, scarcely able to stand alone. Heavy black tragedy hung over the office. The staff began to look about for a piece of black crepe to hang over the Brown Bull desk.

Sap was pawing through his drawer, chasing papers over the back of it, down inside the desk. Frantically he clutched at them, missed, and saw them slip down into the unknown depths behind the drawer. Heroically he jerked out the drawer and went after them.

And among the debris he triumphantly drew out the large envelope of Brown Bull cartoons.

The editor was speechless with joy. The staff uttered varied exclamations of rejoicing. Sap was the hero of the day. The staff in its ecstasy even went so far as to take back all the mean things it had ever said to Sap. It was a day of great gladness.

And the Nice number will appear as scheduled, April 29.

CAMPUS ECHOES
BY
J. F. H.

We were wholly unprepared for the storm of protest which followed the publication of Tuesday's column, which, as everyone will recall, was clipped from humor magazines. Subscribers flocked into the Collegian office, threatening to "stop the paper;" the telephone rang repeatedly, anxious readers wanted to know what had become of Campus Echoes. One hefty student argued with the business manager for an hour, trying to get his money back.

In view of all this, we feel that our readers are entitled to an explanation, which they shall have even though it involves the reputation of one of our erstwhile trusted friends.

Tuesday morning, bright and early—we always begin our columns bright and early—we started to write. It was a good column—the best one that ever originated in our resourceful brain. The paragraphs were pithy and pointed, such paragraphs as might have come from the fluent pen of an H. W. D. or an E. E. Kelley. So much we remember. All else is lost in the "nuit de siecles." (French for "night of the centuries," not a Hudnut perfume.)

Tuesday was All Fools day. Serene and untrammelled we wended our way (we always wend our way, it sounds more poetical) to Kedzie—thinking of the childish pranks we had played many and many a year ago. Of the time we tugged at a pocketbook for 10 minutes, before discovering that it was nailed to the sidewalk. We will never forgive that hardware clerk. He had an evil expression—especially when he laughed.

We were musing on these and other pleasant things—dreaming of the advantages of being a senior at dear old K. S. A. C.—of how in just eight short weeks we would be educated—ready to put away childish things, and begin our life work.

Rosy greeted us affectionately, as is her wont when she wants something.

"Will your column be ready soon?" "Yes, dear," we responded, "in just an instant. We have an original idea today."

"How lovely! An idea is more than I expected, but an original one! Write it quick. I have a premonition that I'll never see it."

The idea was growing, when John sauntered in. John is his real name. We never realized before what a sinister sound the name has. He offered us some candy. We helped ourselves generously. Rosy, innocent, unsuspecting Rosy, who hadn't had any breakfast, took three pieces.

The following scene will also be buried in the nuits des siecles. (Same meaning as in paragraph 2). Rosy rushed to the vet hospital. We stayed by the column. Sink or swim, liverdie, survivor—

Earthly things grew dim—memory began to fail—we lost all sense of the present—there was nothing but rude and raucous laughter—fendish shrieks, rising and falling like a symphony of fire whistles—fire—flames—ptomaine poisoning.

We recovered our faculties, gradually, but the column, the first original child of our brain, was lost—irrevocably, irretrievably lost, and rather than fail our readers, we clipped a column from exchanges. We will never do it again.

"Timeo Danaos et dona ferentes," said a man named Vergil, which, translated—this is free, take 'one—means "Watch out for the Greek who brings you chocolate candy on April Fools day."

PLAY HOUSE TO TEST THEORIES

GIRLS GET PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE AT LODGE

Cooks Take Turn as Housekeeper, Waitress, and Cook—Course Requires Six Weeks

There is a cheery little six-room bungalow, artistically furnished, at 1844 Laramie street, Manhattan. The routine of this household is at all times as normal as any household in the state, yet it shelters neither father, mother, nor child. What manner of household is this?

At the present time it has four inhabitants, three college girls and a supervisor. The department of household economics of the Kansas State Agricultural college has rented it for use as a practice house in the course of household management. Its name, the Ellen Richards lodge, is in memory of Ellen Richards, a woman who contributed much to the field of home economics. The course requires six weeks and is open to juniors and seniors.

Girls Learn Each Job

The house can accommodate five, the supervisor, Miss Helen Bishop; housekeeper, hostess, waitress, and cook. At the present time only three girls are taking the course, hence the duties of housekeeper and hostess are combined. The girls occupy the job alternately and when there are only three, as at present, each girl occupies each job twice throughout the course.

The cook does just what her name implies and all the buying as well. Miss Bishop's joy dish washing is not included in her work. This occupation among the duties of the waitress who holds dominion over the dining room. The dainty dark haired girl filling the job as waitress now has only one complaint to make—there are of rather expensive make when she breaks one the remainder usually follow in compliance with the "break one break three" tradition. The housekeeper manages the remainder of the house and all the budgeting.

Spanish Steak Lacks Savor

One evening recently the air in the little house was filled with the savor of Spanish steak and dinner was served at the usual hour of six o'clock. The four sat down at the table and after the first course of fruit cocktail had been removed, the waitress brought in the steak, which was all anyone could desire for a delectable looking dish. The pretty blond cook, beaming at her successful appearing dish, watched the supervisor as she easily cut her first bite and placed it in her mouth.

But her countenance fell as a slight frown crossed the brow of Miss Bishop, who seemed to be puzzled as to the content of what was in her mouth. By this time the waitress and housekeeper also displayed puzzled expressions, and the flushed cook hastened to taste her portion. She, too, assumed a faintly incredulous look as her teeth came in contact with something that neither tasted nor smelled like an onion. What had she done? After the meal the cook and her associates went to the kitchen and sought the remainder of what she had used for an onion. They found it to be a hyacinth bulb.

No Practice Baby Here

In many of the other practice houses in the United States there is an added feature which the Ellen Richards Lodge does not have. This is a baby. Minnesota has three, but many are opposed to the plan and argue that it requires too much of the girls' time along with their other work, and also offers too narrow a view of child care.

Thus it is that girls learn to keep house by playing house. But the girls would probably tell you that, although they enjoy the work, there is not very much play about it.

CHILD HEALTH EXPERT WILL VISIT COLLEGE NEXT WEEK

Grace Schermerhorn to Address Home Economics Classes

Grace Schermerhorn, associate director of the health education division, American Child Health association, will spend next Monday, April 7, in conference with Doctor Justin and Professor Leazenby, of the household economics department.

Miss Schermerhorn will also talk to the classes in child welfare, home nursing, and special methods of home economics education. She is particularly interested in health for children and emphasizes the "joyousness" of health.

From Barn to Classroom or How Farm Machinery Hall Attained Fame

Numerous associations and events in the early history of Kansas State Agricultural college have centered about what is now farm machinery hall. This building was constructed for a barn in 1873 and was the first building erected by the college on the present campus.

The college at that time was located about one and one-half miles west of the present site. This new building was used as a barn for about two years after which it was remodeled to house all the branches of the Kansas State Agricultural college except the shopwork.

The Industrialist for August 21, 1875 carried a detailed account of the new building, illustrated with cuts of the floor plans for the benefit of those students who would enroll in the fall of 1875. A portion of the second floor served as the assembly room until 1882. Here were taught all the academic subjects including English, mathematics, chemistry, botany, horticulture, sewing, and agriculture.

In 1875 the building called the shops was erected to accommodate the manual arts and in 1876 the chemistry laboratory and the horticulture hall, now known as illustrations hall were built. To the chemistry laboratory, which is now chemistry annex number 1, was moved the chemistry and physics departments. The south room of the chemistry laboratory was used for a cooking laboratory.

Speaks Before Teachers' Association

Dr. H. T. Hill will speak this evening before the Abilene Rotary club. Tomorrow he goes to Topeka to speak before the Shawnee County Teachers' association meeting at Seaman rural high school. Wednesday he acted as one of the judges of the Riley county oratorical contest, held under the auspices of the Kansas City Star.

KANSAS EGG SHIPPERS MEET TO DISCUSS BUYING PROBLEMS

Propose Grading to Secure Better Product

The Kansas Egg Shippers' association met at the college yesterday, to determine what is to be done in relation to buying eggs on a grading basis. Heretofore dirty inferior eggs have commanded the same price on the market as have eggs of good quality. Farmers producing good products resent this kind of business as they get no more for producing good eggs than for inferior eggs. This problem has been a vital one to egg shippers this season, and already five states, Ohio, Indiana, Minnesota, Nebraska, and Iowa have voted to begin buying on the grade, April 1. Several Kansas shippers have been buying eggs under this plan for some time but the practice is not universal.

The meeting was addressed by Dean F. D. Farrell, and by L. F. Payne of the poultry husbandry department. Lost: Strand of pearls between campus and downtown during Farm and Home week. Notify Box 213, Reward. 50-4.

Following the erection of Anderson hall in 1878, most of the departments were transferred to it. During the year 1879 rooms on the second floor of the "old barn," as it was called by the students, were rented to girls and in the northeast room on the first floor, the literary societies met. For several years, rooms in this building were occupied as a residence by the professor of agriculture.

The building was again utilized for class purposes in 1883. Professor Kellerman, head of the botany and zoology department, taught on the second floor. These departments remained here until 1893 when they were transferred to the library building, now known as Fairchild hall.

From 1888 to 1908 the building housed the newly created department of veterinary medicine. Not until 1911 on the completion of the Nichols gymnasium was the armory moved. At that time the old hall was remodeled and given the name of farm machinery hall.

The meeting was addressed by Dean F. D. Farrell, and by L. F. Payne of the poultry husbandry department.

EDMUND HALLEY
1656-1742

Son of a London soap-boiler who became Astronomer-Royal. At the age of 20 headed an expedition to chart the stars of the Southern hemisphere. Financed and handled the printing of Newton's immortal Principia.

The comet came back

The great comet that was seen by William of Normandy returned to our skies in 1910 on its eleventh visit since the Conquest. Astronomers knew when it would appear, and the exact spot in the sky where it would first be visible.

Edmund Halley's mathematical calculation of the great orbit of this 76-year visitor—his scientific proof that comets are part of our solar system—was a brilliant application of the then unpublished Principia of his friend Sir Isaac Newton.

The laws of motion that Newton and Halley proved to govern the movements of a comet are used by scientists in the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company to determine the orbit of electrons in vacuum tubes.

As spectacular as a comet has been the world's electrical development. By continuous scientific research the General Electric Company has accelerated this development and has become a leader in the industry.

AGGIEVILLEBOOST, DON'T KNOCK. COOPERATION IS THE THING

It has been well said that "THE FINANCIAL RESOURCES OF A COMMUNITY IS THE BAROMETER OF ITS PROSPERITY" and that when you add to these resources you aid its progress but when you, in any way, are instrumental in subtracting or detracting from these resources, you proportionately obstruct progress.

And so it is, friends, that whenever you patronize some other community instead of your own, you do so to the benefit of that other community instead of your own, you do so to the detriment of that other community and to the detriment of your own. NOW WHY SHOULD YOU TRADE AT HOME? And we want you to remember that Manhattan is your Home Town while you are here, so we are going to talk to you, during this campaign, just as though you were a bona fide citizen of this town.

If you will just stop and think about it, you will admit that there is indeed a pleasing mutuality of interests brought about by the act of trading at home among your friends.

The contrast between this method and the one which involves an expenditure away from home and with strangers, is very great. THE HOME MERCHANT APPRECIATES YOUR PATRONAGE AS MUCH FOR THIS EVIDENCE OF YOUR FRIENDSHIP AS HE DOES FOR THE PROFITS ACCRUING FROM YOUR PURCHASE. On the other hand you very well know that the only interest the stranger you deal with has in you is brought about by the dollar you have to spend with him. That is the exact difference between a friendly trade and a cold-blooded business transaction.

There is no use contradicting the fact, folks, that we often do things on the impulse of the moment, things we would not do if we paused long enough to give the matter a little sober thought. For instance, we pick up a paper from the big city nearby and see an announcement of a "WONDERFUL BARGAIN SALE." Without stopping to consider the matter seriously, we send an order away to a stranger, when in all probability we could have bought the same goods right here in Manhattan at just as reasonable a price.

It has been said that, "KEEPING YOUR MONEY CIRCULATING AT HOME, PATRONIZING HOME TRADE, is the first step, and the main essential, in the building of a REAL CITY. This is indeed true. HOME LOYALTY MEANS COOPERATION AND IN COOPERATION WE HAVE POWER BEYOND COMPARE.

Someone has said that "Every Knock is a Boost." DON'T YOU BELIEVE IT. A "KNOCK" is always made up of some brand of poison, and even our friend optimist who carved that saying would side-step poison.

DON'T KNOCK, BOOST IS THE STUFF, and remember that the pathway is open to you if you desire to extend the cooperation you just owe to this wonderful community. Just as surely as you realize the beauty of the sentiment found in the Golden Rule, and endeavor to live up to it, just that surely must you realize that HOME LOYALTY PRACTICED is but another way of proving to your friends what sort of a citizen you really are.

NOW LET'S PUT THIS INTO PRACTICE. The next time you need merchandise or service, and the next and the next, BUY IT IN MANHATTAN. This is a simple procedure, easily followed, but the result is wonderful to contemplate. It keeps your money in circulation in your own community, banks it here and thus helps to build up and constantly add to the financial resources of the community.

On the other hand, sending your money away from here is a distinct loss to Manhattan and its people. You have side-tracked a substantial portion of your community's assets and transferred them to some other community. You have really done your Home Town and Merchants an injury and yourself no material good. MERCHANDISE AND SERVICE OF THE BEST ARE HERE IN ABUNDANCE. There isn't a business man in Manhattan today but who is ready to serve you to your satisfaction both as to quality, quantity, and price. We want you to look over the names of those who are responsible for this page and you will realize that this is true. And these are but a part of the number ready to serve you and treat you right.

THINK THIS OVER, FOLKS, AND IN THE FUTURE LET'S TRADE IN MANHATTAN.

All for a Dime

For a dime students may learn how to study effectively if they take advantage of the opportunity which is to be offered by Professor Brainard when he receives, next week, the copies of Whipple's "How to Study Effectively" which he has ordered. When the war closed the government had 60,000 copies of this book which were to be sent to the soldiers in France and now the price has been reduced from 40 cents to 10.

Elizabeth Van Ness spent the week end at her home in Topeka.

Inez Archer of Hiawatha was a week end guest at the Delta Delta house.

Phyllis Burt of Maple Hill was a week end guest at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house.

PLANS MEALS FOR KINDLY OLD GENTLEMEN AND TOUCY GIRLS

Zoe Wertman Is Cafeteria Director at Joplin, Mo.

There is more to the business of running a cafeteria than planning and serving meals, Zoe Wertman, '23, found out in her experience as director of the Y. W. cafeteria, Joplin, Mo. Helping customers select the food which they should eat has been one of Miss Wertman's duties.

Miss Wertman began advising on food selection upon the request of an old gentleman who brought his tray to her twice a day to see if he had the foods he should eat. Soon others welcomed the idea of help in food selection and before long Miss Wertman had many regular patrons, including one diabetic and four enemics whose dietaries she supervised each day.

The patrons most eager for suggestions as to proper foods were the 10 cent store clerks and other shop girls, who had little money to spend and who needed to choose wisely in order to get nourishing food at minimum cost. Cream soups, vegetables, and five-cent desserts were planned especially for their lunch and were placed at a separate counter until they learned what foods should be chosen.

"Most persons have no idea of a balanced meal, but think if they have meat and potatoes, bread and dessert, they have the essential foods," said Miss Wertman. The men, as a rule, knew that they didn't understand nutrition and did not know what they should eat. They welcomed advice heartily, but most of the women thought they knew what they should eat. Those who had more money to spend had less balanced meals.

This "free advice" bureau" conducted by Miss Wertman required the utmost patience, tact, and diplomacy in order that patrons would not think the cafeteria director was trying to increase sales, but the individual benefits gained were apparent to the customers.

Victor Englund, '23, who is working with the Union Pacific railroad at Evanston, Wyo., was a guest at Edgerton club last week end.

OSBORN TALKS TO SCIENCE CLUB

Declares Insects Are Contending with Man for Supremacy

"Insect Adaptation to Environment" was the subject of the address given before the Science club, Monday evening, by Prof. Herbert Osborn, eminent biologist and head of the department of zoology and entomology at Ohio State university.

In his talk he brought out the fact that insects are a group of animals seriously contending with man for supremacy. They are more numerous than all other groups of animals combined and have adapted themselves to all forms of environment.

He outlined several types of adaptation and showed how, by studying a series of specimens, one could observe along what lines adaptations occur. Slides were shown, illustrating specializations in insects for living under ground, in water, sharing human habitations, and for self preservation as in the spinning of silk for the pupal period.

Professor Osborn is known throughout the world for his work in economic entomology, as well as being a recognized authority on a particular group of insects known as "leaf hoppers." He was for a number of years connected with Iowa State college and the Iowa state experiment station. For the last 26 years he has been at Ohio State university as head of the department and now research professor of entomology and zoology. After spending the winter in California, he is visiting a number of colleges and universities on his return trip to Ohio.

Hort Club Meets

The Horticulture club met Tuesday evening at 7:30 in room 31 of the horticulture building. The program consisted of the reading of letters from alumni of the club.

Anona Edwards of Herington spent the week end in Manhattan.

Prof. K. M. Renner of the dairy department at the college visited creamery and dairy plants in Topeka Monday.

Fred Voiland, Topeka, spent the week end in Manhattan visiting his son, Ferdinand.

Miss Annabelle Garvey visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Garvey, in Topeka over the week end.

Mary Higenbotham and Eleanor Dempsey spent the week end in Kansas City.

27 TEAMS IN INTRAMURALS

BASEBALL TOURNAMENT BEGINS TOMORROW IN CITY PARK

Organizations Grouped into Two Leagues—Three Independent Divisions and Two Panhellenic

Twenty-seven teams will contest for honors in the intramural baseball tournament which opens tomorrow afternoon, on the two fields in the Manhattan city park. Twelve teams will get into action tomorrow, and the remainder will have played their first round by the end of next week.

Panells Play for Silver Baseball

The Panhellenic league has an even dozen entries who will contest for a cup in the form of a large silver baseball. The "Panhell's" are in two divisions of six teams each, the division winners to play for the cup.

Fifteen organizations are rated as Independents, and will play in that league, three divisions being made of five teams each. Each member of the team winning the play off between the three division winners will be given a gold baseball watch fob.

Winners of the Independent league will not play the Panhellenic winners, due to lack of time, E. A. Knoth, director of intramurals, said today.

City Park Fields Used

All postponed games are to be played off on the first possible open date. Field permits can be secured from Knoth. Field 1 is in front of the tennis courts in the city park. Field 2 is the regular city park diamond. Varsity field, west of the engineering building, will be used for a few games. Team managers are responsible for selection of officials.

Teams in Two Divisions

The divisions are as follows: Panhellenic, division A—Kappa Sigma, Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Nu, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Phi Delta Theta, farm house; division B—Pi Kappa Alpha, Delta Tau Delta, Acacia, Phi Tau Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Kappa Psi.

Independent, division A—Kanza club, Alpha Rho Chi, Veterinary Medical association, Argieville Athletic club, Edgerton club; division B—Triangulars, Phi Lambda Theta, Belmont club, Kappa Phi Alpha, Phi Sigma Kappa; division C—Elkhart club; Beta Pi Epsilon, Omega Tau Epsilon, Alpha Sigma Psi, Tri L.

Schedule for Games

The schedules follow:

Professors McGilliard, Lush, and Fitch, of the dairy husbandry department of the college, attended the Holstein association meeting in Topeka Monday.

NEW FOUR YEAR COURSE OFFERED

CHEMICAL ENGINEERING ADDED TO COLLEGE CURRICULA

New Department Will Be under Supervision of Doctor King and Dean Seaton

A new course, to be termed chemical engineering, will be included in the Kansas State Agricultural college curricula after the present school year. It will consist of a combination of chemistry subjects and studies in mechanical and electrical engineering.

No New Subjects Added

The course, which will be four years' duration and will lead to a degree in chemical engineering, will be under the direct supervision of Dr. H. H. King as head of the department of chemistry, and subject to the final control of R. A. Seaton, dean of the engineering division.

The organization of the new department will add no new subjects to the curricula, according to Dean Seaton, nor will it demand an increase in faculty numbers. It will merely be the assembling of related chemistry and engineering subjects under a convenient head and occasion the granting of a degree that indicates the graduate's preparation.

Former Students Make Good

By electing subjects in one of the two allied branches, students in mechanical engineering and industrial chemistry at this institution have received the same training that this course will give, but the college has not before been authorized to issue a degree in chemical engineering. Some of these former students are now numbered among the most illustrious alumni of the school.

"Probably one of the highest honored alumni of the college is James Howard Young," said Doctor King yesterday. "While he was here in school he helped me in some research work with paints. He carefully weighed hundreds of samples, becoming thoroughly interested in the work. After his graduation here he was studying at the Mellon institute of industrial research connected with the University of Pittsburgh, Pa., when certain manufacturing interests asked for the production of a paint that would adhere to grooved surfaces when they were fitted together and shipped. James Young manufactured such a paint for them and his financial future was secure. He is now director of research at this manufacturing concern at a salary of more than $10,000 a year."

Prepares Student for Practical

One of the greatest demands for the chemical engineer is in the smaller manufacturing concerns where one man is needed who has knowledge of both chemical and physical properties of the things with which he works, according to the bulletin of the Carnegie Institute of Technology. Such a man to be successful must understand the operation of the plant, the repair of worn and broken machinery, the designing and installation of new equipment, and must be able to do research work to determine methods of improving old processes and developing new ones. Such training is given in a course in chemical engineering.

All lines of manufacturing are the direct product of one of two influences, the Carnegie institute continues; the one is that spoken of in engineering circles as the "rule of thumb" in which the workers are governed entirely by observation of natural processes, and the other is the influence of scientific research. The manufacturing of synthetic products and also electrochemical and electrophysical products are examples of the latter type. The success of the industries based on scientific research has influenced the older industries to resort to that method in order to improve their efficiency.

The recovery of potash from the feldspars, the manufacture of nitrates from the nitrogen of the air, the discovery of an efficient substitute for linseed oil in the paint industry, the manufacture of an efficient coating for iron and steel structures, all are examples of industries yet to be developed by men with training in chemistry and engineering.

The building vacated by the dairy department last fall is being utilized now for a freshman engineering chemistry laboratory and will be further equipped to care for the assembled courses of the new department. The chemistry department of the engineering experiment station also will have headquarters there and, according to Doctor King, the intention is to make chemistry as vital a functioning power in connection with engineering as it has long been in relation to agriculture.

GROSSMAN'S

WILL ADDRESS REPUBLICANS

Colonel John S. Dean to Speak Before Aggie Politicians

Colonel John S. Dean, judge advocate for the United States army during the war and now a leading constitutional lawyer, will address an open Republican meeting at the community house on Tuesday evening, April 8. He is brought here under the auspices of the Republican club of K. S. A. C. and the meeting Tuesday evening is mainly for the purpose of organizing further and securing more members for the Aggie club.

However, Republicans and members of other political parties downtown are being invited to hear Colonel Dean.

The attendance at the community house last Monday to hear J. Adam Bede was large and the meeting was quite successful as the first Republican gathering this year. He too was brought here by the college Republican club in cooperation with the county organization.

An invitation is extended to all students and faculty, especially, and also to all others to hear Colonel Dean next Tuesday evening.

Charles Thresher, '22, and Josephine (Tredway) Thresher, f. s., are farming near Jetmore.

Tests Effects of Competition

Whether or not competition will tend to raise the students' grades is being tested by an experiment which is being conducted by Doctor Peterson, of the department of psychology. The boys and girls in each class are divided and the test grades of each person are posted in the order in which they come. As a person's grade is improved he progresses toward the "head." This gives the student individual and group competition.

Richard Door and Donald Motter of Wichita, Randle Womer of Osage City, and Jack Horner and William Grocer of Lawrence were week end guests at the Delta Tau Delta house.

Curtis C. Bost, '22, is living in New Albany.

AGGIES LOSE TO ST. MARY'S 3-2

BATTERIES WERE CONROY, CUNNINGHAM, AND BIEHN

Aggies Score in Third—Two Errors and a Hit in the Ninth Gave Catholics the Winning Run

Two errors and a hit in the last half of the ninth inning enabled St. Mary's to win from the Aggies 3 to 2 in the first baseball game of the season played last Saturday on the St. Mary's diamond. The game was closely contested throughout and only nine hits were made, five by the Catholics and four by the Aggies.

Aggies Score in Third
Conroy opened the game from the mound with Biehn receiving. The first two innings resulted in neither a hit nor a run. In the opening of the third, Staley singled and Ernst lined out a three bagger to center field, scoring Staley. Ernst then made the final score for the Aggies on a perfect bunt by Captain Alkins.

St. Mary's came back strong in the sixth and tied the count when they connected for a couple of hits together with two walks. Cunningham went in for Conroy in the seventh and held the Catholics scoreless until the ninth inning when because of a hit and three errors St. Mary's scored the winning run.

Karns Brothers Back in Lineup

The defeat has not discouraged any one in the least and the Aggies have an excellent chance of landing around the top in the Valley, according to Coach Corsaut. With Ralph and Henry Karns back in the lineup for the Oklahoma game Friday, the Aggies should be hard to stop. Nelson Barth will not get out for another week because of the mumps but will be in uniform for the first home game. This week's practice is being held to strengthen the weak points and to work up a strong scoring combination.

NEW GROUNDS FOR TENNIS AND HOCKEY THIS SPRING

Prevailing Overcrowded Conditions Necessitates Building of 10 Tennis Courts

Ten new tennis courts and a new women's hockey field costing a total of $4,000 are in the immediate program of the department of athletics. M. F. Ahearn, director of athletics, said yesterday, "The new tennis courts come as a result of the overcrowded condition of the seven courts now in use, and will be built directly west of the present courts.

Users of the seven courts will be within a few feet of the locker rooms and showers at the end of a hard match, Ahearn pointed out, making the courts doubly attractive.

The hockey field will be made north and west of the tennis courts, leaving the southeastern section of the campus free for use by the military department as a parade ground.

Work on the new project will start in the near future.

Address Tri-County Meeting

Prof. Arthur B. Sperry, instructor in geology, and Dr. Mina F. Jewell of the zoology department gave lectures on "The Classification of Game Birds" and "The Habits of Game Fish," at the meeting of the Tri-county Game Protective association last Friday evening. This association is composed of the sportsmen, farmers, and ranchmen of the three counties adjacent to Manhattan. It has for its purpose the propagation and protection of game and fish and the regulation of hunting and fishing with the idea of providing better sport.

Football Captain Becomes Engineer in South America

The twelfth day of April cannot come too soon for Ralph Nichols, captain of the 1923 football team. On that day he will leave for Venezuela, where he will be permanently employed by the Standard Oil company as engineer and surveyor. He will work in cooperation with his brother who has been there four years.

While in college, Ralph was well liked by the student body, and he was especially prominent in athletics, placing on the second Missouri valley football team last year, and on the third this season. He is a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

INTEREST OF STUDENTS ESSENTIAL IN ANY SPORT

Track Prospects Brighter as Result of Track Week

Track week is bringing results, but there is still room for improvement, according to Ivan Riley, who is handling the outdoor squad. A mere "week" of track will not be sufficient to bring the sport up to its proper place in the Aggie sun, Riley says, and an educational campaign will be conducted all the rest of the season.

Failure of the Aggies to have a home track meet in more than two years is the chief cause of lack of interest, according to Coach C. W. Bachman.

"Students won't come out through the mud to watch a practice," Bachman says, "and without interest of the students there can be no great wonders worked in any sport.

"With two home dual meets and the Missouri Valley Interscholastic meet here this spring, things will be looking up for next year's team, although the outlook for this season is far from as dark as it seemed for a time."

DIETETICS STUDENTS GET WORK IN SERVING MEALS

Prepare Family Meals on Budget System—Course Covers Four Weeks

As part of their required course in dietetics, home economics seniors are taught to plan and prepare family meals on the budget system—and an extremely economical one at that—in the unit kitchens in the home economics building.

Four weeks of three lessons a week are devoted to the "dinner work" part of the course. The students are divided into groups of three. Each girl in the group serves one week in the "capacity of cook," one week as assistant cook and hostess, and one week as waitress. Three types of meals are served, the formal dinner, the informal dinner with a waitress, and the family dinner without a waitress. Men students act as hosts and serve the plates at the informal and family dinners. This is not as embarrassing an ordeal as one might suppose because instructions are given in serving if desired and it is an opportunity for the men to learn the correct way of carving and serving a dinner. The family group idea is carried out at each table where four persons are served, the host and hostess, a guest, and the visiting teacher.

The fourth week of the course is given over to preparing and serving special functions; such as a buffet luncheon, a Sunday night supper, a wedding breakfast, or some other equivalent meal.

The girls are allowed $4.00 for each group to spend for the 12 meals served in one week. This small amount must cover all the food and flowers or decorations for the table. The cook must see that her account balances at the end of the week. The girls enjoy the novelty of the course and have fun keeping within their "means."

HOLD HOLY WEEK SERVICES

Y. M. and Y. W. Will Cooperate in Pre-Easter Meetings

Holy week services in preparation for Easter will be observed by the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. next week in the home economics rest room.

Beginning Monday, April 14 the services will be held each noon from 12:30 to 12:55 and will be led by students, members of the faculty, or ministers of the town. Special music by the Y. W. octette and violin and vocal solos will be given.

Winnie Button of Topeka spent the week end at the Phi Omega Pi house.

FACULTY MEMBERS DIRECT SPECIAL EASTER PROGRAMS

Plan Music to Be Given in Local Churches

Special Easter programs are being prepared by the faculty members who direct the choirs of the different churches of the city. The choir of the Christian church, directed by Miss Edna Ellis, will present "Hear My Prayer," Gaul's cantata, "The Holy City," will be given by the Methodist choir under the direction of Prof. L. R. Putnam.

Buck's "Christ the Victor" will be given in the morning by the Presbyterian choir under the direction of Prof. P. P. Brainard, and in the evening by the Congregational choir under the direction of Prof. H. P. Wheeler. Mr. Gruber is planning a program of special musical numbers for the United Presbyterian church, and the Baptist church choir, which is also directed by Professor Putnam, will present a program of special numbers.

Blanchard to Speak in Chapel

Dr. Paul Blanchard of New York, secretary of the League of Industrial Democracy, will address the student body at chapel Friday, April 11, on the subject, "Aims of American Labor."

SWIMMING SQUADS NAMED

Interclass Meet for Girls to Be Held April 17

The annual interclass swimming meet for college girls will be held in the girls' pool Thursday, April 17. The meet will consist of events in the following order: Race, 100 foot, free style; side stroke for form; race, breast stroke; breast stroke for form; race, 150 foot free style; plunge for distance; diving—plain front, running front, back dive, optional; relay race.

Swimming is classed as a major sport in the point system of the Women's Athletic association thus the girls making the class teams earn 100 points toward W. A. A.

Class squads for the interclass meet have been chosen as follows: Freshman—Nina Russell, Doris Sooper, Frances Converse, Ruth Blachly, Lois Long, Elizabeth Anderson, Bernice Paley; sophomore—Helen Kirk, Marybelle Sheetz, Gladys Renfro, Jessie Bogue, Ethel Sexton; junior and senior—Frances Allison, Betty McCain, Laureda Thompson, Corrine Smith, Leonora Doll, and Elmira King.

Practices for class squads will be held Tuesday, April 8, Thursday, April 10, and Monday April 14 at 4:30 in the girls' pool.

MARGARET AHLBORN ELECTED OMICRON NU GRAND SECRETARY

Next Biennial Meeting Will Be Held in Manhattan

Margaret Ahlborn, graduate assistant in the department of food economics and nutrition, was elected grand secretary of Omicron Nu at the biennial convocation held in Lincoln, Neb., last week. The next convocation will be held in Manhattan.

The Kansas State Agricultural college had the largest delegation of any of the 19 chapters represented at Lincoln. Eleven members from this college attended the meetings.

FEW SENIORS ORDER PINS

Only 125 Purchased by This Year's Class

By eleven o'clock Saturday morning applications for only 125 senior pins had been made, as compared with the somewhat larger number of 150 to 200 ordered by former classes. Saturday noon was the final date to place an order.

A standard pin was accepted in 1910 as the official emblem for graduates of the Kansas State Agricultural college. The pins are a circle of gold with a K in open work in the center. The letters K. S. A. C. the letters standing for the wearer's degree, and the year of graduation are found on the face of the pin.

Great care is exercised that only those actually receiving a degree may obtain the pins and for the reason the order is sent through the business office. The requests must first be passed upon by both the registrar and dean of the student's division.

The order is being placed somewhat late this year, and as it takes the pins six to eight weeks to get here, there is some doubt as to whether or not they will arrive before the close of school.

Brownings Secure "Deacon" Prize

The Brownings Literary society secured the $25 prize which was offered to the literary society which sold the most tickets to "Miss Lulu Bett." The Hamilton society was second. Miss Gladys Sanford had charge of the ticket selling campaign.

INSPECT CADETS APRIL 29-MAY 2

WAR DEPARTMENT BOARD TO ACT AS REVIEWERS

Impression Made by Rookies Will Determine Rating of Aggie R. O. T. C. for Next Year

A special inspection of the R. O. T. C. will be held at K. S. A. C. April 29 and May 1 with members of the United States War department board as reviewers, according to an announcement made yesterday at the office of Major C. A. Chapman. The impression made by the cadet corps on this board will determine the rating of the Aggies by the war department for the next year.

All Rankings Published

Heretofore only the names of the 10 most distinguished schools were published but next year the relative ranking of all schools having a R. O. T. C. unit will be made known. The inspection is an annual affair and any school rated as an honor school by the board is one of the best 10 trained schools in the United States.

The coming inspection will be thorough, according to the Aggie officers, and will cover all phases of R. O. T. C. training. The time taken for this inspection will be remitted to the students at some regular drill period.

DR. PAUL BLANCHARD WILL SPEAK AT STUDENT FORUM

Will Take up Industrial Problems Thursday Evening

Dr. Paul Blanchard of New York will talk to the student forum in home economics rest room Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Doctor Blanchard will speak on some phase of the industrial problem. A chance will be given for the students to ask questions.

The Indianapolis delegates and those wishing to meet Doctor Blanchard will meet in the cafeteria at 5:15 for supper.

TENNIS SEASON OPENS

Varsity Team to Be Picked from Winners of Intramurals

The annual intramural tennis tournament will be used this year as the method of selecting the Aggie team for the Missouri Valley matches. The matches will be played off before the first Valley dual meet, the contest with Missouri at Manhattan, April 11.

Thirteen entries were recorded in the singles and three in the doubles on the first day of "registration" for the intramural tennis tournament. Entries close April 9.

The tournament entries to date follow: Singles—Hutchinson, Moore, B. Swartz, E. A. Miller, Farnham, Read, Hawkins, Logan, L. H. Platt, H. H. Platt, H. R. Alley, L. Miller, C. W. Eshbaugh; doubles—Farnham - Dayhoff, Logan - Nelson, Platt-Platt.

JUNIOR IN JOURNALISM SELLS STORY TO FARM AND FIRESIDE

Alice Paddleford Gets $25 for Article on Radio

Alice Paddleford, a junior in journalism, has recently sold a story to Farm and Fireside entitled "Introducing the First Radio College." The same story was rewritten and printed in the Journal Post under a staff member's name.

The article deals with the radio courses offered by the extension division of the college. Pictures of several college professors who have given radio talks, of the first man who enrolled for the course, and of the enrollment certificate are used to illustrate the story.

"I had just about decided to go home and learn to cook," Miss Paddleford said, "when my story was accepted by Farm and Fireside. Of course I was thrilled to receive word that my story had sold and $25 was on the way. However, I believe that this is just a streak of rare luck."

Y. M. WILL HOLD RETREAT AT CAMP ROTARY SATURDAY

Any Man Interested May Attend Annual Meeting

Saturday afternoon the old and new cabinets of the Y. M. C. A. will leave for their annual retreat at the Rotarian camp southwest of Manhattan.

Any man interested in religion as applicable to conditions on the college campus is invited to attend this retreat.

Miss Elsie Smith of the department of music was called to her home in Westville, Ind., Sunday by the death of her mother.

Aprons and Overalls to Appear in Campus Day Fashion Display

Get out your blue jeans or your calico apron, borrow a rake or a paring knife, and prepare to make the campus beautiful on Campus day, April 30.

The whole college will turn out on this first Campus day ready to dig dandelions, plant grass, shrubs, or trees, and to clean up the campus. At noon the toilers will receive their lunch free and then have a holiday for the rest of the day.

Emporia is planning a "scientific" Campus day for April 15. Everyone is privileged to volunteer for the kind of work he thinks he can do best, and those who don't volunteer will be drafted. Such a plan will probably be followed here.

The penalty for absence from duty has not been decided. Names posted, cuts, fines, or some dire punishment will be meted out to the disloyal Aggies who fail to show up on Campus day.

The work will be done in teams, each with a leader, so it will be possible to check up on absences. But there probably won't be many students who fail to appear, because everyone takes some pride in the appearance of his school's "front yard" and is willing to help improve it.

CHAPTER OF LAMBDA CHI ALPHA INSTALLED HERE

Fraternity Now Located in 63 Colleges—Founded at University of Boston

The Elkhart club was installed Saturday as Gamma Xi chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha. Initiation services were given by a team from the University of Nebraska and by Ray T. Kelsey, national vice-president, L. G. Lee, national treasurer, and Bruce H. McIntosh, administrative secretary.

Lambda Chi Alpha was founded at Boston University, 1909. There are now 63 chapters in colleges and universities. Those in the middle west include: University of Michigan, University of Illinois, University of South Dakota, University of Wisconsin, University of Indiana, Iowa State college, Oklahoma A. and M., University of Ohio, Colorado Agricultural college, University of Colorado, and Ohio State university.

The following men were initiated: J. W. Ballard, T. R. Barner, R. R. Cameron, E. O. Dannevik, A. W. Hamilton, J. M. Harris, L. N. Harter, C. E. Hassett, F. C. Healea, R. O. Hybskmann, V. L. FESTIVAL WEEK PLANS LAUNCHED

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE COMMITTEE STARTS ADVERTISING

Downtown Clubs and College Organizations Cooperate in Inviting Guests to Manhattan

"Everybody Invite Somebody" is the slogan adopted by the Manhattan chamber of commerce and the college music department for the 1924 "Come to Manhattan week" to be held May 5 to 9 during the spring music festival. The active campaign to bring gala week visitors to the college is beginning this week.

Downtown Clubs to Cooperate

Plans drawn jointly by chamber of commerce committees and the Festival management include an advertising and publicity campaign much more extensive than any heretofore attempted. The territory within a 50 mile radius of Manhattan is to be intensively "covered" by the committees and the remainder of the state will be canvassed through the mediums of newspapers and organizations.

Organizations of both Manhattan and the college are expected to cooperate with the chamber of commerce committees.

The men's luncheon clubs, and the women's clubs downtown plan to mail out several thousand invitations, containing the Festival week program, to clubs all over the state. In addition they are urging their members to send personal invitations to friends asking them to be guests in Manhattan during Festival week.

College Groups Hold Guest Week

College organizations will, as usual, make the period a sort of guest week. Many are planning to hold their annual Fathers' or Mothers' days at that time. They will also be asked to broadcast as many invitations as possible.

COLLEGE PEOPLE ATTEND MEETING IN MCPHERSON

Doctor Ackert Made First Vice President—11 from K. S. A. C.

Present Papers

Twenty-three members of the science departments of K. S. A. C. attended the fifty-sixth annual meeting of the Kansas Academy of Science which was held at McPherson April 4 and 5. This is the largest delegation from this college that has ever attended the meeting.

Dr. J. E. Ackert of the zoology department was elected first vice president, and Dean J. T. Willard and Dr. R. K. Nabours of the zoology department were placed on the executive committee of the organization for the coming year. Next year the Academy of Science will hold its meeting at Manhattan.

Fifty-one papers were on the program which was given in the new science hall of McPherson college. The principal address was given by the retiring president, Dr. H. P. Cady of the University of Kansas. The subject was "Atomic Structure" and moving pictures illustrations were used. The following persons were at the meeting: Dr. R. K. Nabours, Ernest Hartman, Bertha L. Danheim, A. W. Stover, Dr. J. E. Ackert, F. P. Root, Dr. F. C. Gates, Prof. J. W. McCulloch, Dr. R. C. Smith, Edgar W. Davis, Dr. William P. Hays, and Dr. H. L. Ibsen.

Other K. S. A. C. people who attended the meeting were Dr. J. T. Willard, Prof. F. C. Gates, C. A. Gunns, R. W. Wampler, R. W. Titus, C. N. Jordan, Ewing Rodgers, J. C. Wilson, E. H. Ingersoll, Mrs. J. E. Ackert, and Mrs. R. C. Smith.

Friday night a complimentary banquet was served to all the visitors and toasts and speeches were given. President Kurtz of McPherson college gave a talk on "The Larger Fellowship of Science."

HOOPSTERS TO ELECT TUESDAY

Aggies 1925 Basketball Captain Will Be Chosen

The Aggie basketball captain for the 1925 season will be elected Tuesday night at a dinner given by the Cooperative club of Manhattan to the basketball squad. Coach C. W. Corsaut, Head Coach C. W. Bachman, and M. F. Ahearn, director of athletics, will be guests of honor with the team.

The dinner will be at the Pines cafeteria. The following basketball men will attend: Captain Howard Webber, Fritz Koeh, Eric Tebow, Arthur Doolan, G. S. Wann, Kirby Bunker, L. M. Staley, G. O. Wiedenbach, and Jerry Harris.

STUDENT HOUSING

The college housing conditions and their defects are more due to tradition than to lack of vision on the part of architects.

It seems to be generally accepted that the college provides living quarters for its students. K. S. A. C. does not provide living quarters for any of the students, and the only supervision is that exerted through the Dean of Women.

The growth in size of the student body within the last few years will soon be of direct concern to the college.

Before the matter becomes complicated by the ownership of valuable fraternity property, K. S. A. C. authorities should look to the future and leave the entire college group under the control, as to its design, of one architect; but the various buildings may be designed by other architects who submit their designs for approval to the master mind. This procedure will assure harmony as well as variety. The architect and his client, the college administration, have a key to the problem, complicated as it is in the proper housing scheme, and can solve it, instead of letting the matter "just happen" as is the case in most of the colleges.

MISS LULU BETT

In recalling the literary societies' production of Zona Gale's "Miss Lulu Bett," one is struck full in the face with the surprising paradox, that in spite of Miss Gale's prominent position as an American dramatist, her best play—"Miss Lulu Bett"—misses being a first-class drama by a good healthy mile; and that in spite of the superficial workmanship in the play, it is still very popular with American audiences that ought to know better.

Zona Gale, Susan Glaspell, and Rachel Crothers are the feminine triumvirate of contemporary American drama, and of these the most hackneyed in technique and the greatest in popular approval is Miss Gale.

Miss Gale is not a woman of ideas. Neither "Neighbors" nor "Miss Lulu Bett" could be accused of having a ghost of an idea; and in this regard "Miss Lulu Bett" is by far the worse. The plot is built upon our old friend the Cinderella story—which was a trifle shop-worn in the time of Rameses II; that is, it is the Cinderella story with variations; in this instance, the fairy godmother and the lovely prince charming being fused, for dramatic reasons, into a rather convincing devil-of-a-fellow globe-trotter.

Miss Gale is not particularly original. The making of a servant girl the heroine of the story is not a new trick. Jerome K. Jerome tried it and succeeded fairly well with the slavery in "The Passing of the Third Floor Back." Miss Gale allows the saccharine love story of Lulu and Ninian to get marshmellowy in places; and just what stroke of genius ever possessed her to have the Deacons drag their family skeleton from its comfortable closet out, on to the front veranda and there continue to rattle it in all its nakedness through four of the six scenes of the play, is quite un-understandable. It is more than that, it is preposterous.

In spite of the hackneyed plot and the impossible situation, the literary societies' cast made "Miss Lulu Bett" a pleasing evening's entertainment.

The play was frightfully overdone in patches, and the tempo was far too slow, but intelligent character work made it worth while.

Carrie Justice as Mrs. Bett was perhaps the star of the character parts. Her playing of the spiteful old lady with a kindly heart left nothing to be desired. Leone Bacon played the part of the down-trodden Lulu very sympathetically, indeed, and with a sincerity that was most convincing. In spite of much over-acting and a more than strident voice, Miss Fern Fairchild succeeded in adding much to the comedy of the play. Mr. Paul Pfuetze, as the part demanded, succeeded in getting himself genuinely hated; Mr. W. C. Kerr set for himself such a very high standard of excellence in scene two, that he found it impossible to surpass it in the last scene of the play where the better acting was most needed; Mr. Alvin Ritts made something of his part as the bashful beau.

As a whole the play was well directed and well staged; but it brought forcibly to mind that American drama has a long road to travel before it leaves the field of mere play-acting and enters the field of real literature.

—C. W. M.

Greetings, dear friends. This is Better Thought week, and we hope that every one of you will endeavor to think at least one better thought before Saturday night.

Helen, who is never entirely satisfied with the existing order, thinks we should have an "Odds and Ends" week, so she can catch up with her domestic duties. We disagree with Helen. There are things of so much greater importance than darning hose or patching gloves.

For example, an incident which occurred at the Hotel Gillett after the Quill club banquet Thursday brought to our attention the crying need for a "Learn Your Elevator" week.

After the feast, which was attended by more than half a hundred of the most learned looking persons on the Hill, five of the Intelligentsia and Muriel decided to save themselves the exertion of walking downstairs, by riding in the elevator.

Lest the suspense be too great for our readers, we will state here that they rode. They had quite a ride, in fact—a ride which would have made the celebrated ride of P. Revere, J. Gilpin, and the three fellows who brought the good news from Ghent to Aix, look like a Kiddie Kar race in comparison.

Mr. Conover, who has a natural bent toward machinery, essayed to start the elevator. He gingerly pressed a button. More courageously he pressed another button. Throwing all caution to the winds, he pressed ALL THE BUTTONS. The elevator went down, and when it was down it wasn't half way down, but way down below down. Something was wrong. The door wouldn't budge. The sextette deliberated. Intuitively five pairs of trusting eyes were turned toward the Head of the Department of Industrial Journalism. He did not fail them.

"I fancy we had better go up again," said he, after just a few short moments of meditation. Mr. Conover acted immediately on this suggestion. He pressed all the buttons and the crowd went up.

"How would you like to go up in the air, up in the air so blue, Oh, I do think it's the pleasantest thing ever a child can do," sang Muriel, as they flew past the first floor, the second floor, the third floor, and halted at the top story. Muriel giggled deliciously. She was having a nice time—not a bit afraid. Surely these intellectual giants could find some way out of an ordinary elevator.

More deliberation. This time the crowd looked to the Head of the Department of English for succor. "I believe the best thing we can do now is to descend again," said H. W. D. Mrs. H. W. D. acquiesced—more hastily than usual. Mr. Matthews said he couldn't have thought of a better solution himself. Mr. Crawford did not commit himself. Muriel giggled. Mr. Conover pressed all the buttons.

The second descent was wonderful—even better than the first. But there was one passenger whose pleasure was somewhat alloyed.

"I don't intend to ride in this contraption another time! I'm gonna get right out!" said Mrs. H. W. D. "My Gawd, lady, whadda yuh think the rest of us are trying to do?" queried the Head of the Department of Journalism, in weary accents.

Things were getting complicated. The Hotel Manager was worried. Free rides are all right, in their way, but what if some one else should want to ride? Fearing that business was going too much in one direction, the H. M. mildly suggested that maybe there was too much weight in the elevator.

Again the sextette held a consultation, and the Head of the Department of Journalism took the lead. "I fancy the best thing for us to do is to ascend again," were his very words. Mr. Conover pressed all the buttons.

The eyes had it. Up again to the top story. "Two of you get out and slide down the banister," whispered H. W. D. "I want to ride some more."

Down again for the third time, and the elevator stopped where it was supposed to, before the crowd which had gathered to while away a pleasant hour. Out stepped our heroes and our heroine, smiling triumphantly, looking as if nothing had happened—as if elevator riding were quite the thing among the more intellectual groups.

We congratulate them on their coolness, on the "savoir faire" with which they went down and up and down and up and down and up and Selling is your great summer opportunity—

H. F. Bowes is another of the several hundred college men who has been seeing Fuller Brushes through summer vacations. He says:—"The first week with the Fuller Company I made $75.00. The training I received was a source of inspiration to me, and I felt I was obtaining a development I could get in no other way. Fuller Brushes offers an opportunity to the average college man that cannot be excelled in any other line of summer vacation work."

W. E. Harward spent his first college vacation working in a gargae. The next vacation work was in a railroad shop. The third summer he took up selling Fuller Brushes. His first week's experience and earnings were most gratifying,—his average earnings for the ten weeks being slightly over $50 a week. Mr. Harward says:—"It is not possible for me to give in words my real estimate of the selling of Fuller Brushes as an opportunity for the average student during vacation periods."

The Fuller Brush Company has a limited number of openings, in fine territories, for college men who desire to take up the work during the summer vacation. You can secure full information from

SOCIETY

The American College Quill club held its eleventh annual banquet at the Gillett hotel Thursday evening, April 4. Black and white candies, pannies, and smilax were used in decorating the table, which had covers for 56 guests and members of the club. Milton S. Eisenhower was the toastmaster and the following persons gave toasts: Harold Sappenfeld, Alan Dalley, Miss Helen Correll, Miss Helen Norton, Miss Lucy Jewell, Miss Josephine Hemphill, and Miss Margaret Reasoner. A short one-act play by Harold Sappenfeld and Miss Gladys Sanford concluded the program. The guests, other than members of Quill, who attended the banquet were Dean and Mrs. J. T. Willard, Dean Mary P. Van Zile, Prof. R. W. Conover, Prof. C. W. Matthews, Miss Gladys Sanford, Miss Katherine Bower, Miss Ruth Bachelder, Mrs. Osa Nichols, Dr. Margaret Russell, Harry Bryson, Miss Clara Bogue, Louis Childers, Miss Muriel Shaver, Mrs. Mary Elva Crockett, Miss Elizabeth H. PROF. W. E. DAVIS TO DO SEED GERMINATION WORK

Expected to Be on Leave of Absence for Research at Thompson Institute in New York

Prof. Wilmer E. Davis of the botany department expects to be on a leave of absence next year, during which time he will conduct research work on seed germination at the Thompson Institute, near Yonkers on the banks of the Hudson. This is a new institute heavily endowed, and is for plant research only. Professor Davis received his invitation to join the staff of workers from Director Crocker.

Professor Davis has been at K. S. A. C. for 15 years, during which time he has conducted his research work during his spare hours, since he has always carried full time teaching and has not been a member of the experiment staff.

Professor Davis is one of the pioneer investigators in this special field, and he has published numerous papers on the different phases of seed germination. He has been called to Washington, D. C. to the department of agriculture during the past two years to aid in solving difficulties which they had in germinating garden seeds. While in New York, he will complete several manuscripts pertaining to his work.

In commenting on this offer, Professor Melchers says "The invitation which Professor Davis has received, is a distinct recognition of the meritorious research which he has been doing, and I regard it as one of the most outstanding offers that has ever come to any faculty member of K. S. A. C. Only a very few persons in the United States are asked to join the staff at the Thompson Institute and it shows they are very anxious to have Professor Davis since they are paying his entire salary for the year at a substantial increase."

The Eureka club, an organization of freshman basketball players, defeated an all-star team from the Manhattan Sunday school league 44 to 16 in Nichols gymnasium Tuesday night.

Due to a mistake in drawings, the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity was placed in the "Independent" division of the intramural baseball league in the schedules as announced in the Collegian last week, Farm House being inserted in the Panhell schedule in place of the Phi Sigs.

The schedules can be corrected by reversing the positions of the Phi Sigs and Farm House.

The semi-final matches in the intramural handball tournament will be played off this week. Von Reisen and Schindler won the doubles title last week by defeating Bernard Conroy and Glenn Aikins.

Parings for the singles are Smith-Marchbank and Healea-Conroy.

The Pi Kappa Alpha's and the Lambda Chi Alphas were victorious in the two intramural baseball games Saturday. The Pi Ka A's defeated the Phi Kappa's 3 to 0 and the Lambda Chi Alpha's nosed out the Kanza's 7 to 5.

The Kappa Sigs swamped the Phi Sigma Kappas 14 to 3 in a first round intramural baseball game Saturday afternoon. At the end of the third inning the Phi Sigs were out in the lead, 3 to 1. In the fatal fourth contest, pitching for the Phi Sigs, let in 13 runs. Miller, Kappa Sig hurler, allowed only two hits, a trio of errors being responsible for the Phi Sig scores.

"Grape-Nuts" and Psychology

An interesting letter from a student at the University of Pennsylvania

POSTUM CEREAL COMPANY, INC. Battle Creek, Michigan

University of Pennsylvania January 12, 1924

Gentlemen:

Today in psychology class we had an experiment known as the mental imagery experiment in which we were given the Galton Breakfast Table Blank to fill out.

The procedure of this interesting experiment was first to recall in the "mind's eye" the breakfast table as we sat down to it that morning and to call up its general appearance: the table, the food, dishes, and those present.

This is what happened to me:

I tried to recall the appearance of the table, the dishes, those who sat at the table with me—the only thing that I could recall was my breakfast food—"Grape-Nuts." I could see plainly in my mental imagery the crisp and wonderfully delicious dish of my breakfast food and the well-known box of Grape-Nuts.

The cause for this mental imagery of "Grape-Nuts" was that we are "conscious of environment through sensations"—that we will recall in mental imagery those things that have made a favorable impression upon our minds.

I have eaten "Grape-Nuts" since the time I started to grade school and your famous slogan "There's a Reason" explains it all.

Yours for a well-balanced food,

(Signed) S. H. LEbensBURGER

LET'S ALL PULL TOGETHER FOR GOOD

NO MATTER WHAT MAY BE YOUR RELIGION, YOUR POLITICS OR VOCATION, YOU WILL AGREE WITH US THAT THERE IS REALLY NO PRICE WHICH CAN BE PLACED UPON THE VALUE OF TRUE FRIENDSHIP.

You have known men who, on account of some peculiarity of personality, some unattractive twist in their make-up, have but very few friends. Did you ever see such a man who was really happy? NOT AT ALL. More likely you will see a man who is morose, taciturn, and who acts as though he had a grudge against himself; AND IN FACT HE REALLY HAS.

It is the man who tries to live the Golden Rule Way, the man who believes in THE LIVE AND LET LIVE POLICY, who has friends all about him, scores and hundreds of them. This kind of a man will pull with you and for you in very good work. He is not constantly trying to throw cold water on the efforts of others. He is an optimist and a booster and a valuable citizen to any town.

Perhaps you have noticed that story without words entitled "PULL TOGETHER." It would be a fine picture to run on this page. "Two mules are grazing along, tied to opposite ends of a twelve foot rope. They come to two juicy hay doodles located about 20 feet apart. One wants to eat at one pile and the other on the other one. The rope is entirely too short to permit of this so they set in to pulling, one against the other, until both are worn to a frazzle and nothing accomplished. THEN THEY DECIDE TO GET TOGETHER and as a result they stop bucking against each other, both walk over to the same doodle and all is well."

Lots of folks, with more than mule sense, are doing this same thing every day and some of them may be found right here around us. And just let enough of a population follow these tactics and the result spells DISASTER. IT'S THE "PULL TOGETHER" SPIRIT THAT WINS.

One gentleman whose ad is on this page, said to the writer: "I make it a point to buy all I can in Manhattan but I know some here who buy nearly everything in other places, so what good is it for me to adhere to the BUY AT HOME PLAN if others do not?" He might as well have asked: "WHAT GOOD IS IT FOR ME TO LIVE A CLEAN, HONEST, LAW-ABIDING EXISTENCE WHEN SOME OTHERS HERE DO NOT?"

OF COURSE you will find people here who are not loyal to their Home Town. Without giving it a thought they spend many dollars in other places. THESE ARE THE FOLKS WE WANT TO REACH THROUGH THESE EDITORIALS. We are asking them this: ISN'T IT WORTH SOMETHING TO YOU to spend your money with Manhattan Merchants and Institutions whose owners are Manhattan citizens like yourself? Isn't it more satisfying to feel that when you hand over your cash for merchandise or service you are handing it to a friend, some one who has your welfare and interest at heart? Contrast this, if you will, with sending of spending your money in some other community, and you will instantly picture a cold blooded business transaction with strangers WHO CARE NOT NOR CONCERN THEMSELVES ABOUT YOU OR YOUR WELFARE IN THE SLIGHTEST DEGREE. The dollar you have to spend is the only reason the glad hand is extended to you.

WE WANT YOU FOLKS TO THINK ABOUT THIS and the very next time you are tempted to trade elsewhere. Every business man of every line represented in Manhattan is at your service and, in most instances is ready to do business with you as friend to friend and on a Golden Rule basis. THINK HARD ON THESE THINGS. THINK WHAT IT WOULD MEAN IF WE ALL MADE AN HONEST RESOLUTION TO FOLLOW THIS TRADE AT HOME PLAN. A GOOD RESOLUTION NEVER HURT ANYONE. LET'S ALL PULL TOGETHER. DO YOUR BIT.

COOPERATION IS A GREAT THING.

WILL NOT WEAR CAPS AND GOWNS

FACULTY DOWN PROPOSITION AT MEETING TUESDAY

Senior Request Reconsideration of Annual Problem—Teachers Vote With Hand on Pocketbook

The faculty members will not wear cap and gown at senior commencement this year. At a recent senior class meeting a resolution was adopted that President Jardine be requested to bring to the attention of the faculty at a general meeting, the question of faculty members wearing the conventional costume at commencement. Accordingly the question was discussed at the faculty meeting and a vote was taken. A large majority of the votes cast were against the proposition.

Expense Is Chief Drawback

The question has been brought up in connection with past commencement but the faculty members at this college have never appeared in cap and gown at senior commencement. Those in favor of the plan contend that it lends dignity and impressiveness to the occasion and is a proper sign of respect to the seniors. Others maintain that the advantage of the custom is not great enough to justify the expense attending the observance of it. One Prof was heard to say that he voted with his hand on his pocketbook.

Following are the ideas of a number of representative people concerning the question:

Dr. King: I think that the faculty appearing on the platform at commencement in their ordinary plain beach suits while the graduates wear caps and gowns is exactly on the same basis as a man appearing in full dress suit wearing a red four-in-hand.

Seniors Merit Respect?

Doris Riddell: Commencement week belongs to the seniors and I think as a mark of respect to them the faculty should appear in cap and gown as they request it.

Professor Conrad: It is not a particularly important matter. Dignified and highly meritorious commencement exercises are conducted without the use of cap and gown. I have several times seen the dignity of exercises marred by incidents connected with the use of the cap, gown, and hood. It appears that the use of such attire at this institution would increase the cost of each commencement in the neighborhood of $1,500—this at a time when our effort should be directed toward reducing rather than increasing expenses.

Is Violation of Good Form

Professor Rice: I think it is a violation of good form for the faculty members not to wear the costume. At least the ones who take part in conferring the degrees to the seniors should be dressed in cap and gown.

Randall Hill: I think it would add greatly to the dignity of the occasion. If dignity is what they want I think the faculty members should wear cap and gown.

Miss Derby: The cap and gown are worn as a uniform signifying that certain qualifications have been fulfilled in the field of education. In many of the better known colleges and universities of the country the seniors and faculty wear them for the commencement ceremonies. I think they should at K. S. A. C.

"DON'T WEAR 'EM TOO TIGHT," CAUTIONS DEAN

Knicker Clad Coeds Will Dig Dandelions—Date of Campus Day Changed to April 29

"Don't wear 'em too tight," is the edict sent out from the office of the dean of women, a statement which will save many a puzzled coed from prostration or a nervous breakdown. Ever since the announcement of the date of Campus day, the dress problem has loomed large.

What if the day should open, as April days are wont to do, with a gale from the west? How could a gingham clad Campus Cleaner stoop to snip a dandelion, or dive into a thorny bush for a tiny scrap of paper, and emerge quite unruined, dainty frock intact?

As a matter of fact, she couldn't. But all this is beside the point now, since permission has been granted for the girls to wear bloomers or knickers on Campus day. And with the permission is added the warning, "Don't get 'em too tight."

One other matter of importance was taken up at a meeting of the committee in charge, Tuesday. On account of the inspection of the R. O. T. C. on April 30 and May 1, the date of Campus day has been moved up to April 29.

Definite plans were also worked out at this meeting. The R. O. T. C. will work in units under the direction of Lieutenant Colonel R. A. Coe and Colonel H. L. McCord.

In order to facilitate the work, Prof. Albert Dickens, Supt. G. R. Pauling, and Major C. A. Chapman are making blueprints of the campus, showing exactly what work is to be done. On the basis of these plans, a certain amount of space will be apportioned to each unit.

Probably the most attractive feature of the day is the lunch, which will be served from stands placed on different parts of the campus. Two buttered buns, thickly spread with meat filling, ginger bread or doughnuts, ice cream, and all the coffee desired is the present menu.

AGGIES OPEN SEASON IN SOONER TERRITORY

Face Oklahoma Today and Tomorrow and Missouri Monday and Tuesday—12 in Lineup

Just for luck 13 men went to Oklahoma yesterday to open up the Aggie section of the Missouri Valley baseball season today. Tomorrow the Aggies will again face the Sooners at Norman. Sunday will find them in Kansas City, and Monday and Tuesday the Wildcat and the Missouri Tiger will clash in Columbia.

Oklahoma opened up the season by winning her first two games, while Missouri split a pair with Nebraska.

The Aggie lineup will be greatly strengthened by the return of Ralph Karns, shortstop, and Henry Karns, pitcher. N. S. "Squirrel" Barth is still in quarantine with the mumps, but should be out making somebody step to hold his position by the time of the first home stand against K. U. April 25 and 26.

The exact lineup that Corsaut will use against Oklahoma was not announced at the time the squad left.

Henry Karns is the probable hurler, though he may be shifted to the field while Conroy and Cunningham do the throwing. Biehn or Lutz will receive, leaving the "off man" free to take a fielding position. Swartz or Stark at first, Staley, second base, Ernst, third, and Ralph Karns, short stop, will make up the infield.

Captain Glenn Atkins will hold forth in left field, and Lyle Munn probably will hold down either center or right field, leaving the vacant position to be filled by the odd man from some other spot.

The lucky 13 include Coach C. W. Corsaut and the following: Atkins, Munn, Stark, Swartz, Staley, R. Karns, Ernst, Biehn, Lutz, Conroy, Cunningham, and H. Karns.

FIRST TENNIS MATCH TODAY

Wann, Miller, and Godell Represent Aggies Against Missouri

The first dual tennis match of the season will be played this afternoon against Missouri on the courts west of Nichols gymnasium. Gil Wann, Hays, E. A. Miller, Marysville, and W. C. Godell, Independence, are slated to represent the Aggies.

The second match of the season will be played next Tuesday afternoon against Baker university here.

EXHIBIT OF LIVING ART ON DISPLAY IN ANDERSON HALL

Folio Contains Works of Representative Modern Artists

An exhibit of Living Art, which is the name applied to the spirit of modernism, is now on display at the applied art department.

The publication of this folio is a marvelous accomplishment which was perfected at the Gannymede press in Berlin. By this process it is now possible to duplicate in ink not only the colors of the original media, but the technical details of the artist's handwork—the delicate transparencies, the flat tones, the charcoal lines, and even the pencilings of the preliminary sketch are all faithfully preserved. Two years were required to complete the folio and the edition was limited to 500 copies, of which only about 400 copies are for sale, which will mean that Living Art will be a collector's rarity as well as a genuinely beautiful folio.

The folio contains 20 facsimile reproductions of paintings, drawings, and engravings, and 10 photographs of sculpture by contemporary artists. Works of the following artists are included in the collection: Paul Signac, Pierre Bonnard, Henri Matisse, Andre Derain, Maurice de Vlaminck, Andre de Segonzac, Marie Laurencin, and Aristide Maillol, from France; Pablo Picasso, from Spain; Wilhelm Lehmbruck, from Germany; Wyndham Lewis, Duncan Grant, and Frank Dobson, from England; Marc Chagall and Alexander Archipenko, from Russia; Ernesto de Fiori, from Italy; Constantin Brancusi, from Roumania; Jules Pascin, from Bulgaria; Edward Munch, from Norway; Boardman Robinson, Charles Demuth, John Marin, Gaston Lachaise, and Alfeo Faggie, from the United States.

TRACK TRYOUTS WILL SHOW BEST MATERIAL

All Regular Events Including Relays and Jumps Will Be Held at Preliminary Meet

With over 30 men now reporting regularly for practice, track prospects for this year are wonderfully improved. The response during "track week" has been better than expected and a great deal of interest is now being taken in this sport.

The men have been working hard every night this week in preparation for the time trials which will be taken tomorrow. These time trials will take place in the form of a regular track meet and every event, including the relays and the jumps, will appear on the program.

Winners of this preliminary tryout will give Coaches Bachman and Riley a definite idea of the material which they have at hand. The Aggies will probably be represented at the Kansas relays to be held at Lawrence on April 19 with a two mile relay team and a 1 7-8 miles medley relay team.

A large number of freshmen are reporting for practice also and some excellent time is being made by the yearlings. The showing which the track men from the freshman and sophomore classes are making points to a winning team for next year.

Theta Sigs Elect Officers

Theta Sigma Phi, journalism fraternity for women, elected officers for the coming year at a meeting Monday afternoon. The new officers are president Alice Paddelford; vice president, Grace Justin; secretary, Mary Elva Crockett; treasurer, Maxine Ransom, keeper of the archives, Hilda Frost Dunlap, Helen Norton, Grace Justin, and Alice Paddelford were elected to membership on the Brown Bull board, and Maxine Ransom was named on the club room committee.

SENIOR CHAPEL IS MAY 28

Seniors Vote to Wear Caps and Gowns All Week

Plans for the annual senior class day chapel program were announced at the senior meeting, Tuesday, April 8. The date set for class day is May 28, and chapel will be held at 10:15 in the auditorium. The tentative program is as follows: farewell address, John Tole, president of senior class; history of class, Josephine Hemphill; music, college quartet; music, senior music students.

At this same meeting the members of the class voted to wear caps and gowns all during commencement week, beginning with baccalaureate sermon. It was also decided that instead of erecting a memorial to the class of 1924, as is the custom, the class money should be given to the stadium fund.

A. H. "Art" Doolen, Manhattan, guard and two letter man, was elected captain of the 1925 Kansas Aggie basketball team at a banquet given for the college and high school basketball squads by the Manhattan Cooperative club Tuesday night.

Is Hardest Fighter On Team

Doolen has teamed with Captain Howard Webber of the 1924 team at guard for the past two years. Next year Coach Corsaut expects him to be "one of the best goal shooting guards in the Valley." Doolen is known to Aggie fans as perhaps the hardest fighter on the team, always out to win no matter how far the team might be behind. He will be the only senior on the 1925 team.

C. W. Bachman, head coach, spoke in behalf of the college athletic department at the banquet. Coach C. W. Corsaut, Captain Howard Webber, and captain-elect Doolen spoke for the basketball squad.

Shinn Gives Principal Address

The principal address of the evening was made by Prof. H. A. Shinn of the public speaking department. Professor Shinn stressed the necessity of first obtaining good coaches and then giving them plenty of time to put their ideas into effect before holding them responsible for the team's success or failure.

The following basketball men attended the dinner: Captain Howard Webber, captain-elect A. H. Doolen, Gil Wann, K. R. Bunker, Eric Tebow, Fritz Koch, L. M. Staley, Jerry Harris, and G. O. Weidenbach.

Sigma Delta Chi Elects Officers

Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalistic fraternity, held election for the coming year last Monday. The officers elected were as follows: president, John Gartner; vice president, Arthur Goodwin; secretary, C. W. Claybaugh; treasurer, Harold Sappenfield. Installation will be held April 28.

SOILS CLASS MAKES TRIP

Will Tour State to Study Soil Formation

The class in soil survey, accompanied by Prof. R. L. Throckmorton, will leave April 14 for a week's tour, to study the soils in different parts of the state, and to determine its possibilities.

On the trip stops will be made at Topeka, Strong City, Newton, Wichita, Oswego, Columbus, Baxter Springs, Galena, and Kansas City.

"We will study soil formation, crop adaptation, and producing capacity," Professor Throckmorton explained.

The class is composed of seniors and graduate students. The following men will make the trip: Prof. R. L. Throckmorton, M. M. Hoover, F. M. Alexander, J. D. Buchanan, J. H. Coolidge, V. A. Berridge, E. A. Clevenger, O. M. Williamson, C. A. Jones, R. B. Smith, F. H. Bosman, M. C. Barrows, and Prof. S. C. Salmon.

C. A. MOORE OF TOPEKA TALKS TO RURAL COMMERCE STUDENTS

Discusses Business of Life Insurance for College Grad

The college graduate has every advantage over the man who has not been to college in the life insurance business, according to C. A. Moore, vice-president and general manager of the Liberty Life Insurance company, Topeka, who spoke to the rural commerce students Monday at 4 o'clock in the home economics rest room. His subject was "The Business of Life Insurance for the College Graduate."

"During the last 10 years, life insurance has made unusual strides, due to the fact that during the war the government advised every young man to take at least $10,000 worth of life insurance," he said.

"The college trained man has the advantage over others in that he can express in the simplest terms the principles of insurance," Mr. Moore continued.

He believes that a college man knows when to stop talking better than the untrained man, for the average agent talks too much. "Women have been very successful in insurance and are doing an untold amount of good in the communities in which they are working," Mr. Moore stated.

Bull Relinquished Last Fond Hope of Reforming Humanity

The campaign for purity is most discouraging.

The Brown Bull nobly started out to clean up humanity and what does he find? Nothing but corruption, rank corruption.

The Brown Bull wanted a Nice number and one of the first things he needed was a cover—a shining pure cover that would put a Sunday school paper to shame. But he has had to lower his high ideals. The first covers were impossible. The next contributions were better. Just recently the star artist submitted a design so chaste that the Bull was speechless with unbelieving joy. He immediately raised his ideals again.

In the process of raising them he discovered that even this design was tinged with worldliness. He hesitated, debating whether to sacrifice ideals for cover or cover for ideals. It was a terrible question. Great drops of perspiration stood out on his brow as he wrestled with the problem.

Finally in despair, he thrust the cover design into the depths of the "Possibilities" drawer of his file and went to lunch.

The design is still there and the Bull is still wondering whether it would be more indecent to appear in it than to appear coverless.

AGGIES MEET MONTANA DEBATERS THIS EVENING

W. C. Kerr Will Compete in Oratorical Contest—Both Schools Have Strong Teams

The Aggie men's debate team will uphold the negative of the question: "Resolved: That the United States Should Enter the League of Nations" against the Montana State team this evening in Recreation center, at 8 o'clock.

The members of the Aggie team are J. C. Wilkins, K. L. Ford, and M. L. Baker. W. C. Kerr will contest in oratory with a representative of Montana also. The subject of his oration is "A Plea for Nationality." The Montana team is rated as one of the strongest debate squads in the west. They have met the best teams from the colleges in the northwest this year, and to date have lost but one contest. The Aggies also have a strong team, having lost but one of the seven debates contested. The K. S. A. C. team won from Montana at Bozeman last year.

J. Wheeler Barger, '22, is coach of the Montana team. While in school here Mr. Barger placed second in the Missouri Valley oratorical contest at St. Louis and was a member of the Aggie debating team.

The Wise club will meet at 1501 Poyntz, Sunday, April 13, at 4 o'clock. If weather conditions are favorable, the club will go to the Hatch farm. Everyone is requested to be prompt.

K. FRATERNITY INITIATES SIX MEN TUESDAY EVENING

Will Give Trophy to Winner of Relay Carnival

Six men were initiated into the "K" Athletic fraternity Tuesday night, following a day of "ceremonies."

After the initiation the fraternity held a short meeting at which it was decided to present a suitable trophy to the winner of first place in the Missouri Valley interscholastic relay carnival to be held here May 17.

The following men were initiated: Gil Wann, Hays, basketball; K. R. Bunker, Kansas City, basketball; Fritz Koch, Burlington, basketball; Eric Tebow, Scandia, basketball; L. M. Staley, baseball, and Henry Karns, Ada, baseball.

TO INVESTIGATE CRIBBING CHARGE

COMMITTEE OF NINE TO MAKE PROBE

Jardine Believes Conditions Warrant Action—Faculty Members Think Charges Unfounded

A committee composed of five faculty members and four students was appointed yesterday by President W. M. Jardine to investigate charges of cheating at K. S. A. C., and with the results of the investigation as a basis, to recommend a course of action.

Call Chairman of Committee

The members of the committee are Prof. L. E. Call, chairman, Major C. A. Chapman, Dr. Margaret M. Justin, Prof. I. V. Iles, Prof. L. E. Conrad, Hilda Black, R. H. Perrill, Alan Dailey, and R. T. Shideler.

The appointment of the committee is the result of action taken at the faculty meeting Tuesday afternoon. A motion authorizing the investigation was passed unanimously.

Many Believe Charges Untrue

Considerable difference of opinion in regard to the amount of cheating practiced by students was exhibited at the meeting. Numerous members of the faculty were surprised at the nature of the charges and believed them untrue and unwarranted. Others professed to believe the situation as critical as the articles in the Collegian stated. One professor asserted that after talking to students he considered the charges understated.

The discussion was halted by Prof. N. A. Crawford's motion to conduct an investigation, and the motion was adopted. President Jardine told his audience that after interviewing a number of representative students he believed conditions had enough to warrant a thorough investigation and he promised that definite remedial measures will be taken.

CAMPUS OPINIONS

Irving Walker, freshman in agriculture—No, it isn't logical to say that 98 per cent of students crib. They couldn't get away with it. I don't say that that number wouldn't crib is they had a chance. The thing is that not more than 50 per cent—and even that is a liberal percentage—do crib.

H. F. Lutz, junior in rural commerce—There are probably 50 students who have never cribbed but I doubt that there are many more.

Bernard Harter, junior in industrial journalism—Not nearly 98 per cent. It is disgusting, however, the way some crib.

E. A. Laude, senior in general science—Anyone who doesn't crib up here—well, he has to study.

Norris Thomasson, junior in engineering—Not nearly that many in engineering. They realize that they have to know their stuff. Most of it is done in educational classes, where conditions are more crowded.

Prof. E. V. James—That article was a rank insult to all of us, and an injury to the institution. It is the wildest kind of an assertion—the most absurd statement ever made.

Beatrice Gates, secretary to Dean Van Zile—I think cribbing is despicable, and I think the professors can do a great deal by not jamming everyone up together.

Paul Pfeutze, freshman in rural commerce—I think that was an awful strong statement. It means that there are only 50 persons in school who are strictly honest. When you consider the fact that the 3,000 students here are supposed to be the pick of the state that looks pretty bad. I think the matter is largely up to the faculty. Giving alternate questions helps.

Frank L. Howard, senior in rural

TRACK FINALS MAY 3

Intramural Meet Includes 14 Events—Mile Relay Run May 10

Fourteen events are included in the program for the outdoor intramural track meet, announced yesterday by E. A. Knoth, director of intramurals.

Preliminary tryouts for the meet will be the afternoon of May 2 at 4 o'clock. The finals will be run off Saturday afternoon, May 3, at 1:30 o'clock. One event, a special mile relay, will not be held until May 10.

One hundred nineteen singles and 51 doubles were entered in the tennis tournament Tuesday night, the largest field in the history of the event.

The track meet will include the following events: 100, 220, and 440 yard dashes; half mile run; mile run; 220 yard low hurdles; high hurdles; high jump; shot put; discus; pole vault; two mile run.

COMPETITION KEEN IN INTRAMURAL ATHLETICS

Sigma Nus Lead With 174 Points—Delta Taus Second With 140—
29 Teams Compete

Competition for the cup given to the organization scoring the largest number of points in all branches of intramural athletics is much keener this year than last, with the Sigma Nus and Delta Tau Deltas out in front. At least half a dozen teams have an excellent chance to win the cup, according to E. A. Knoth, director of intramural athletics.

The Aggieville Athletic club, winner of the race last year, is being rapidly left behind, although it is still seventh on the list.

There are 29 nine teams active in the race for the cup. Organization standings to date, not including the handball tournament points, are as follows: Sigma Nu, 174; Delta Tau Delta, 140; Tri L, 130½; Phi Kappa Alpha, 119½; Acacia, 108; Sigma Phi Epsilon, 108; A. V. A. C., 100; Lambda Chi Alpha, 98; Phi Sigma Kappa, 96½; Beta Theta Pi, 91; Phi Delta Theta, 83; Tri V, 83; Omega Tau Epsilon, 78; Kappa Sigma, 76; Alpha Rho Chi, 71; Alpha Sigma Psi, 69; Belmont Club, 69; Eureka Club, 66; Edgerton Club, 65; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 64; Triangulars, 64; Kappa Phi Alpha, 61½; Alpha Tau Omega, 55; Farm House, 50½; Kanza Club, 48; Beta Pi Epsilon, 42; Phi Kappa, 35; O. U. R. Club, 25.

Results of the handball tournament will influence the standings to some extent. The leaders especially are taking an interest in the remaining events on the intramural program—the outdoor track meet, relays, and the tennis tournament.

OPEN TICKET SALE AGAIN

Junior-Senior Prom Admittances May be Obtained Next Week

Tickets for the junior-senior prom will be placed on sale again next week, according to an announcement yesterday by G. A. Read, prom manager. The extension of time was made to give juniors and seniors who neglected to get tickets last week, a further opportunity, as no tickets may be obtained at the door.

The junior assessment this year has been reduced from $3.00 to $2.50. Seniors who did not pay past year's assessment are required to pay $2.00 and of course must have paid their senior dues this year.

The fact that this is leap year has no weight with the prom managers but they do expect each feminine member of the classes to purchase her own ticket. At any rate each couple must possess two tickets. A further ruling, intended to make the prom a strictly upperclass affair provides that upperclassmen with freshman or sophomore dates must add an additional $1.10 to their assessment check.

City Park Howls

Crowds gather early and stay late at the city park every evening to witness the combats which are staged on the diamonds. Anyone with a sense of humor can get enough laughs at one of these games to last him a month. Here are some of the latest incidents which have taken place in the intramural baseball tournament.

With a man out and a man on third, the batter knocked an easy grounder to pitcher who promptly threw it to the catcher to keep man on third from scoring. Batter safe on first.

With two down and a man on third and first, the pitcher threw to third to hold the runner. Man on first took the chance to steal second. Third baseman bluffed at throwing to second and tagged the runner on third as he led off. Three outs.

With the score tied a batter knocked a home run and covered the circuit so fast that he neglected to touch second and third base. Umpire was busy watching ball and counted the run.

With two men in the mud and a runner on first and second, the man on first ran at the first pitched ball and eventually found that it is against the ethics of baseball for two runners to occupy the same base.

commerce—I think 98 per cent is too high. It should be 75 per cent. The ones doing it are chronic cribbers, and students of normally high grades are being forced to crib in order to hold their place in class. My personal opinion is that it is a blood brother of larceny, and the cribber is not as honorable as a common thief. Our college should not be desirous of turning out people with such a low type of common honesty.

M. M. Williamson, senior in agriculture—I believe the honor system would be effective in doing away with cribbing, if properly established, and with the student body behind it in spirit, but as things function now the honor system would not be a success.

Grant H. Muse, freshman in general science—I think about 50 per cent crib, and that the honor system would permit 25 per cent to crib who are now a little afraid.

Bernice Fleming, senior in home economics—I think that anyone who says 98 per cent of the students crib is unfair, and that any professor who says there is no cribbing in his classes is asleep. However, I don't believe cribbing will be stopped by the spy system. It will be stopped only by a change in the ideals of the students.

Nora Bare, junior in home economics—I think 98 per cent is a high percentage taking the classes I attend as a basis. I believe the honor system will work in some classes and not in others. A great deal depends on the morale that the instructor establishes in his class.

Miss Jessie Machir, registrar—Of course we don't know anything about the prevalence of cheating because we merely record the grades but I have enough faith in the students to believe that the majority of the grades are honest. The honor system cannot be forced upon the students but it is something that must be demanded by the student body. It will be a red letter day for the college when the students ask for the honor system so that the officials

Morse Salisbury, third year senior in industrial journalism—Speaking from my observations in two classes in which I am enrolled this semester, I would say that cribbing is more prevalent among upper classmen than among freshmen. Being a poor

MAYOR BARBER TO SET ASIDE WEEK FOR CLEANUP

Ten Thousand Guest Week Invitations Already Printed—Now Being Distributed

Both K. S. A. C. and Manhattan are going to don "glad rags" in honor of the many hundreds of Kansas visitors who are expected to attend the annual spring musical festival programs, May 5 to 10.

That the city will have a cleanup campaign was announced Saturday at the city hall. It is expected that Mayor Barber will issue within the next 10 days a proclamation, setting aside the week preceding the festival for the improvement of the civic appearance.

Sends Out 10,000 Invitations

Invitations containing programs of the musical festival are now being distributed by the chamber of commerce among Manhattan organizations. Ten thousand invitations have been printed, and several thousand more will probably be necessary.

The program for the 1924 Festival, Prof. Ira Pratt believes, will more than uphold the high standard set in previous years. One evening will be given over to the annual dramatic production, "The Admirable Crichton," by the Purple Masque players, and the remainder of the programs will be musical.

Glee Clubs Open Week

The evening of Monday, May 5, the opening night of Festival week, a concert of the combined glee clubs of the college will be given. They will be assisted by Gladys M. Warren and Helen Colburn Ringo, piano ensemble, Harry King Lamont, violinist, and Edna M. Ellis soprano. Accompanists will be Gertrude Rosemond, Lavinia Waugh, and Charles Stratton.

Tuesday evening a concert by the college symphony orchestra with Harold P. Wheeler, conductor will be offered. Hans Hesse, cellist, will assist the orchestra.

Hans Hesse Appears Wednesday

A chamber music concert by the Hans Hesse trio composed of Mr. Hesse, cello, Clarence Evans, violin, and Juul Rosine, piano, will be given Wednesday evening.

The play by the Purple Masque fraternity will be given Thursday evening.

Friday the first matinee program is scheduled. A campus concert by the K. S. A. C. concert band under Director H. P. Wheeler, is to be given. Friday evening Mary Welch, contralto, and Ernest Davis, tenor, will offer a song recital.

Minneapolis Symphony Closes Week

The afternoon of Saturday, the final day of the festival, an oratorio "Elijah," will be presented by the college chorus assisted by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra and four visiting artists. Soloists who will appear in this performance are: Arthur Middleton, baritone; Leonora Sparks, soprano; Ernest Davis, tenor; and Mary Welch, contralto. Professor Pratt will direct the presentation.

The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra conducted by Henry Verbruggen will give the closing performance Saturday evening.

MISS DUBBS TO PHILLIPS

Elected Head of the Department of Household Economics

Margaret Dubbs, '22, has been elected head of the department of household economics in Phillips university, Enid, Okla. She will not begin her work at Enid until September, 1924.

Phillips university was established in 1907 and is standardized in the North Central Educational association of colleges. It maintains a faculty of 52 with a student enrollment of 1,260 last year. The Rhodes scholarship at Oxford, England, has been held for Oklahoma by a Phillips student since 1919.

Miss Dubbs has been an instructor in the home study department of the extension division since her graduation. In speaking of her work Mr. Gemmell, director of the home study department, said, "Miss Dubbs has done excellent work in the home study service. She has developed certain phases of the work, including programs for homemakers' clubs. The homemakers' club has an enrollment of 2,000 and we receive requests from every part of the United States for programs."

Miss Dubbs has completed more than half of the requirements for her master's degree.

Penalty Worse Than Paddling in Store for Campus Day Shirkers

Cleanup day at Fairmount college, Wichita, has come and gone, and 400 virtuous students are rejoicing over the fate of the guilty 40 who did not show up for work. One of the laws governing the day at Fairmount was that all those who failed to do their bit would be spanked. The law was strictly adhered to, and after the work was done, a council of war was held and the guilty were brought to justice.

About 20 girls were spanked by a woman "executioner" and about the same number of men ran the gauntlet. Only one member of the faculty was around when search was made for the non-workers. Sam Hill, athletic coach, was spanked while members of the basketball team held him. Now wouldn't it be awful if—but then such a thing just couldn't happen at K. S. A. C.

What blase papa wants to be rudely turned over some husky Aggie's knee and spanked like a mere babe? What dainty knicker-clad flapper could endure the stinging ignominy of—why, she just couldn't, that's all.

And anyway, something far worse than paddling awaits the absentee dandelion diggers on Campus day at K. S. A. C. Prexy's inexorable rule is a cut for every hour missed, and what student has a record so clear that he can stand four or five cuts the last month of the semester? Especially with Senior Sneak day so close upon us.

But then, from an esthetic viewpoint, who wouldn't enjoy digging in the turf for dandelions, pursuing flying papers over the campus, spading up flower beds, raking the meadow sweet with hay, all on a morn in spring? It's the time for poets to blossom forth and write a sprightly verse about the joys of gardening and the little birds and April showers, et cetera.

NINE AGGIES WILL ENTER K. U. RELAYS APRIL 19

Wildcat Team Not Well Balanced But Stars Should Secure Fair Share of Points

At least nine track and field men will be sent to the University of Kansas relays April 19, according to Head Coach C. W. Bachman.

Captain L. E. "Red" Erwin will run the 100 yard dash against stars from several colleges over the country.

Three men, Gartner, Keller, and Brunkau will be entered in the discus. Brunkau and Munn will put the shot, and P. R. Carter, Bradford, who tied for third place in the pole vault in the Valley indoor meet will "try again" in the Kansas games.

Brunkau may attempt an "iron man" stunt and throw the javelin in addition to the shot and discus. Keller also is entered in the javelin throw.

Two relay teams may be sent, one for the medley and another for the four mile relay. The team for the four mile event has not been picked, but it is probable that Erwin, Kimport, Knause, and Coleman will run the medley race.

Though the Aggie team is not as a whole exceptionally strong, the Wildcats should show up well in the large Kansas meet, where a few outstanding stars can carry a team through to victory.

Scabbard and Blade Initiates

Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity, held initiation services Sunday, April 7, for the following: G. A. Reed, V. C. Hill, M. R. Getty, and W. A. Johnston of Manhattan, Bruce Pratt of Herkington, C. R. Prose of Macksville, E. E. VanVranken of Pratt, G. C. Charles of Wichita, I. K. McWilliams of Girard, W. E. Aikins of Valley Falls, J. K. Watt and N. R. Thomasson of Topeka, and T. R. Still of Tonganoxie.

Doctor Russel Has Unique Hobby—She Reads a Book a Day

"It is easier to live and read than to live and think," said Dr. Margaret Russel, teacher of literature at K. S. A. C., in speaking of her hobby of reading one book every day.

Doctor Russel began this practice several years ago when taking a heavy course in literature at the University of Chicago. Since that time she has read on an average of a book a day for months at a time with an intermission now and then in which she thinks about things and sometimes writes about them.

"During my high school days I read a great deal," said Doctor Russel. "My aim each day was to get through with my lessons before evening so mother and I could read in the evening."

Biographies, friendly essays, and accounts of travel are Doctor Russel's favorite types of literature, although she reads many contemporary novels on account of her work in teaching literature, the novel, and other subjects.

"I think that my favorite pastime is attending dramatic productions," Doctor Russel said. She has seen Hamlet played seven times.

Doctor Russel, even though an instructor in literature, actually enjoys working mathematical problems. But in science, she is perfectly willing to accept most anyone's theory without question because she really does not care whether a bug moves crisscross or forward-backwards.

Prof. Armlinta Holman will go to Clay Center Friday where she will speak to the grade school children in the morning, to the Delphian club in the afternoon, and to a joint meeting of the woman's clubs in the evening.

GOEDS HOLD INTERCLASS SWIM MEET THURSDAY

Contest Includes Races for Distance and Form, and Diving—Twenty Girls Compete

Thursday afternoon, April 17, at 4:30, the annual interclass swimming meet for college girls will take place in the girl's pool. Miss Geneva Watson, swimming instructor, has charge of the meet which will consist of races for distance and form, diving both for form and time, and swimming for form.

Each class is well represented in the contest. The following girls are competing: freshman—Nina Russell, Doris Soper, Frances Converse, Ruth Blachly, Lois Long, Elizabeth Anderson, Bernice Faley and Merydith Hooper; sophomore—Helen Kirk, Marybelle Sheetz, Gladys Renfrow, Jessie Bogue, Ethel Sexton, and Genevieve Lovejoy; junior and senior—Frances Allison, Betty McCain, Laurenda Thompson, Corrine Smith, Leonora Doll, and Elmira King.

PROFESSOR FITCH APPOINTED OFFICIAL JUDGE OF AYRSHIRES

Association Names Men to Make Awards at 1924 Fairs

Prof. J. B. Fitch has been appointed official judge of Ayrshires at 1924 fairs and shows by the Ayrshire Breeders' association at Brandon, Vt. In addition to the state fairs where he will make the awards on red and whites he will serve as associate judge at the National Dairy exposition, the leading show of the country. Men selected to judge in other sections are John Cochrane, Rosemont, Pa.; L. E. Ortiz, Bernardsville, N. J.; William Hunter, Grimsby East, Ontario; Prof. H. H. Kildee, Ames, Iowa; Gilbert McMillan, Huntingdon, Quebec; J. A. Ness, Auburn, Me., and Prof. William Regan, Davis, Cal.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK PLANS NEAR COMPLETION

Baccalaureate Address Will Be Given by Dr. I. M. Hardette of Kansas City

The plans for Commencement week, May 25-29, are well under way, according to a statement made by Dr. J. E. Kammeyer. The week will open with the baccalaureate sermon Sunday, May 25. Dr. I. M. Hardette, pastor of the Grand Avenue Methodist temple, Kansas City, Mo., will give the address.

The class play, "Robin Hood," will be given Monday, May 26, on the campus. On Wednesday morning, May 28, the student association in charge of the senior class will hold a meeting, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the annual alumni business meeting will be held in Recreation center. Wednesday night from 8:30-11:30 the Manhattan Alumni association will be at home to the visiting alumni, the graduating class, and invited guests in Recreation center.

Commencement will be at 10 o'clock Thursday, May 29. Charles Edward Elliott, president of Purdue university will speak on "Machinery, Men, and Mentality." The week closes with a luncheon given by the Alumni association at 12 o'clock for the class of 1924 and invited guests.

Marie Correll Leads Service Monday

A plea for a higher and truer conception of Christianity was the theme of the Holy week service conducted by Marie Correll at noon Monday. The presentation of the "Triumphal Entry Into Jerusalem," was followed by a vocal solo by Dorothy Sanders.

ANNOUNCES CAST FOR SPRING PLAY

PURPLE MASQUE WILL PRESENT "THE ADMIRABLE CRICHTON"

Prof. R. E. Holcombe Directs Production—Drama Was Shown in Movies With Thomas Meighan

Practice has begun on the Purple Masque spring play, "The Admirable Crichton," which will be given May 8 as a part of the Festival week program.

Holcombe Announces Cast

The cast which Prof. Ray E. Holcombe has announced is as follows: Crichton, David Hervey; Lady Mary, Muriel Shaver; Lord Loam, Fred Volland; Agatha Lasenby, Inga Ross; Catherine Lasenby, Gladys Sanford; Lord Brockelhurst, John Young; Lady Brockelhurst, Lillian Kammeyer; Reverend Treherne, Paul Pfeutze; Tweeny, Helen Correll; Ernest Wooley, Charles Claybaugh; Fisher, M. Fleury, William Kerr; Mr. Rolleston, Ralph Blackledge; Tomsett, Jack Kennedy; Fisher, Mildred Russell; Simmons, Della Justice; Mademoiselle Jeanne, Aileen Rhodes; Thomas, Myron Russell; John, A. A. Goering; Jane, Grace Constable; Gladys, Bernice Flemming; Page, Milton Kerr; Officer, Melville Thompson.

The play was presented in the movies under the name of "Male and Female," with Thomas Meighan playing the part of the butler, Crichton. Gloria Swanson and Lila Lee had the leading women's roles, those of Lady Mary and Tweeny.

Is Story of English Life

The story deals with an English family which is shipwrecked on an island. At home the head of the family has been an exponent of democracy much to the distaste of the butler Crichton. On the island positions are very naturally reversed and Crichton becomes the lord of the group and the titled family are his servants. When after two years they are rescued and return to England the old order is established and the regal Crichton becomes again the humble butler. The story was written to show the strength of the caste system in England.

Scott Is Assembly Speaker

Charles F. Scott, editor of the Iowa Daily Register, will deliver an address at general assembly Thursday, April 17, on "World Problems."

WILL TOUR BRITISH ISLES

Miss Ina F. Cowles to Meet Her Sister in England

Ina F. Cowles, instructor in clothing and textiles, will sail from New York on the S. S. Aquitania, June 18, for South Hampton, England.

Miss Cowles will meet her sister, May L. Cowles, '12, and Helen Parsons, '11, in England and they will spend the summer touring the British Isles, returning to the United States the last of August by way of Montreal. They expect to cross the channel to France by airplane and also spend a week end in Belgium but most of the time will be spent in England, Scotland, and Ireland. Miss Cowles is particularly interested in visiting the textile factories in England and the Garden Cities built by factory owners to house their employees.

Miss Parsons and Miss May Cowles, who are absent on leave from their positions in the University of Wisconsin, are already in Naples, Italy, having left the United States on March 15. They will travel in Italy and France until June when they will go to England to meet Miss Ina Cowles.

AGGIES WIN SEVENTH DEBATE

Judges Give 2 to 1 Decision—Kerr Defeated in Oratorical

K. S. A. C. forensic contestants won in the debate and lost in the oratorical contest with the Montana State college Friday evening. The contest was held in Recreation center.

The K. S. A. C. debate team defeating the negative of the League of Nations question was victorious by a two to one decision of the judges. The victory Friday night was the seventh of eight debated in which K. S. A. C. men's teams have participated this year.

William Moore, representative of Montana State, won in the oratorical contest. The K. S. A. C. representative was W. C. Kerr of Manhattan. Members of the winning debate team were J. C. Wilkins, K. L. Ford, and M. L. Baker.

Ag Fair Hold All Thrills of Circus Day in Home Town

It's going to be just like those wonderful carnivals and circuses you used to see when you were a kid—all thrills and excitement. The Ag fair will have all the features that used to come to the Old Home Town and a little bit more.

One of the main side shows is managed by W. F. Hardwick who has been with carnivals in the southwestern part of the United States for several years.

He's going to demonstrate all kinds of card tricks—just like the magician did at the "opery" house at home. And he'll show you how slick he is by sliding out of locked handcuffs or a strait jacket. You couldn't keep him fastened.

On his program is the famous psychological feat of raising a person from the ground without exerting any physical force.

In one trick, where you want to watch closely, he defies the laws of gravity. His assistant leans far over—so far that he would fall if he were not supported. Then our "magician" passes a hoop over him to show that he is not supported. Explain that if you can.

Another stunt that will puzzle the bald heads is the one where he puts a man into a mail bag. When he opens the mail bag again the man is not there. Where did the man go?

What magician would give an entertainment without the traditional juggling and hypnotism? Our magician is an expert at both.

G. R. Warthan is helping Hardwick manage the sideshow. This show is only one of the features of the Ag fair. Others will be disclosed from time to time.

S. S. G. A. CHANGES UP TO STUDENTS TOMORROW

Honor System May Be Discussed—Officers Will Likely Be Nominated

Final action on the suggested plans for reconstruction of the S. S. G. A. will be taken tomorrow afternoon at the special student mass meeting called by the association. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 4 o'clock.

In addition to discussion and voting on the proposed amendments, it is not at all improbable that the honor system and other questions resulting from the present situation, will be brought up. Officers for the coming year will be nominated, also, if the amendment providing for such action, is adopted.

The following provisions which were recommended by the special investigating committee recently, will be up for consideration at the meeting: nomination of officers in April instead of in May, the election of class and organization representatives—except freshman class—within one week after the April meeting, and for the ex-officio service of the S. S. G. A. treasurer as chairman of the finance committee.

CLASS IN ART HISTORY MAKES STUDY OF TOPEKA BUILDINGS

Goes to Capital City Saturday to Examine Architecture

The class in art history, accompanied by Prof. Araminta Holman went to Topeka Saturday to make a study of the architecture of the capital city. Among the buildings visited were Mulvane museum, Benton hall dormitory, and Grace cathedral. Members of the class who made the trip are: Beth Currie, Alice Fisher, Olive Filippo, Helen Correll, Lucille Kinnamon, and Grace Summers.

MILITARY FIELD DAY IS MAY 5

EXTENSIVE PROGRAM FOR SECOND ANNUAL EXHIBITION

Airplane Stunts, Jumping, Races, and Athletic Events will Furnish Thrills for Most Blass

The second annual military field day to be held May 5 will be, according to those having the program in charge, even bigger and better than last year. The same general plan will be followed with numerous additions and some minor changes.

Events Well Advertised

Extensive advertising is being done with the expectation of increasing the crowd above the 10,000 people who are estimated to have seen the exhibition last year.

The R. O. T. C. units of K. S. A. C. and soldiers from Fort Riley will be on hand to parade. A troop of cavalry from the fort will also take part in the maneuvers.

Plenty of Thrills Provided

Added thrills promise to be forthcoming from the airplane stunts. Besides the usual exhibition a target will be towed by the airplane at which the anti-aircraft gun will shoot. A parachute jump, loop the loop, and the other usual stunts will be given. Jumping exhibitions and races by the cavalymen will furnish ample excitement for the lovers of that sport.

May Have Athletic Contest

Negotiations to match "Red" Erwin, sprint flash and captain of the Aggie track team, against some other noted runner are under way, but no definite arrangements have been made. Other athletic events may be arranged.

An endurance race for horses between the officers of the fort and any civilians who wish to enter is being considered. The race will start about 4 o'clock in the morning and will end that afternoon in the stadium where the rest of the events will be held.

NINETEEN MEN ARE LISTED ON VARSITY BASEBALL SQUAD

Are Therefore Ineligible for Intramural Games

Nineteen men are on the varsity baseball squad list and therefore are ineligible for intramural games, according to E. A. Knoth.

The varsity squad members are: Glenn Aikins, R. Karns, H. Karns, Burr Swartz, L. M. Staley, Lyle Ernst, Lyle Munn, Art Stark, Bernard Conroy, Edward Cunningham, Paul Vohs, J. Blehn, "Red" Lutz, Howard Weber, Jim Parker, W. Gillman, Bernard Harter, T. T. Hogan, and N. S. Barth.

AGGIES DROP OPENING GAMES TO OKLAHOMA

Sooners Take First Match 4-2 and Second 10-1—Wildcats Go on to Missouri

The handicap of a 13 man squad proved too much for the Aggie baseball team, which dropped the two opening baseball games of the season to Oklahoma last Friday and Saturday. The opener, with H. Karns pitching, slipped away by a 4-2 count, while the second was a 10-1 massacre.

N. S. "Squirrel" Barth joined the squad in Kansas City Sunday, making the fourteenth man. The team plays its second game against Missouri today, and will make the return trip home tomorrow.

AGGIES LOSE TENNIS MATCH

Defeated in Every Event—Wann Out of Game

A crippled Aggies tennis team lost the opening dual meet of the season to Missouri last Saturday afternoon on the Nichols gym courts.

In one singles match Mildren, Missouri, had little trouble in winning two love sets from Goodell, Aggies, 6-0, 6-10. Hubbel, Missouri, took Rankin, Aggies, to a cleaning in the other singles match 4-6, 6-3, 6-4. In the doubles Mildren and Hubbel defeated Rankin and Goodell, 6-3 and 6-2.

Too much intramural baseball proved the downfall of Captain Giff Wann, who suffered a broken bone in one foot in a game Thursday afternoon, and will be unable to play tennis for at least three weeks.

The next match will be with Baker university Tuesday afternoon on the college courts.

A GRATIFYING SPIRIT

The honest and fair-minded attitude with which K. S. A. C. students received the charges of cheating preferred against them, furnishes abundant evidence, if no other evidence were available, that there is nothing fundamentally wrong with the student body personnel. Most students are willing to admit, with individual modifications, the charges, and to welcome remedial action. Indeed they have shown a much more receptive spirit than the faculty.

The situation, seems to show, therefore, that the fault is with the present system, which rather encourages the student to cheat. The wall, that the charges are a direct reflection on the integrity of the students is not entirely sound.

Oh, it's nice to be a Senior
And with the Seniors stand,
A cap upon your noble brow,
A sheepskin in your hand.

We were thoroughly provoked last week—provoked and perturbed. Here it is almost Commencement, and the faculty goes through the annual farce of voting on caps and gowns. We were so indignant that we just had to talk to some one about it, and Jessie was in what we thought was a sympathetic mood.

"Jessie," we said amiably, "Jessie, don't you think the faculty played a pretty mean trick on us Seniors, voting not to wear caps or gowns or anything?"

"Huh?"
"—that looks really impressive. As Doris so fittingly observed, out of respect for us Seniors they ought to wear academic garb at least once a year."

"But didn't Professor Conrad say it would cost in the neighborhood of $15,000—"

"Bother the cost! What will Aunt Tillie think, coming clear up here from Fayetteville, Arkansas, to see us graduate, and no impressiveness at all! It's downright rude! Of course, having each one of us Seniors walk up to the stage and receive our degrees individually will add something."

"It probably will. You'll be lucky if there's anybody left in the auditorium by the time they get to your name."

"Don't be crude. The senior class voted to wear caps and gowns all Commencement week. That will be nice. Maybe when Cap Sanders and Professor Conrad and some of the other Bitter Enders see how impressive we look, tripping up and down the ancestral halls of K. S. A. C., over the college green—"

"Do the dairy husbandry Seniors have to milk cows during Commencement week?"

"Of course. When they see how impressive—"

"You can't impress a cow."

We cast a freezing glance at our roommate. Facetiousness and academic garb somehow seem incongruous, and we told her so, but the remark was wasted on the desert air.

"And what if Inka Hildland Walker should get the heebie jeebies or something, and the Senior Vets had to operate. Wouldn't their 'academic garb' interfere somewhat with the manipulation of the pliers and things?"

"You mean forceps, but that's a trivial matter. Now Jessie, you are looking at this thing from the wrong angle. Most of us will never graduate but once. The cap and gown are symbolic of four years of arduous toll, physical and mental, and it does seem as if any professor, who claims to be 100 per cent loyal, would be glad and proud of the opportunity to don cap and gown, for the sake of the students he has, in a measure, watched develop from slender, pliant saplings, into—to—sturdy—"

"Wasn't it one of your loyal journalism professors who urged his friends to vote with their hands on their pocketbooks?"

That was the last straw, and we refused to even speak to Jessie for one hour.

Judge for Yourself

SYSTEMS USELESS

Dear Editor of the Collegian:

I am one who has little faith in an honor system or a police system or a combination system. Indeed, it seems to me that we can never be made honest by systems. What our student body needs is a feeling or sentiment that it is wrong, or immoral, to cheat, no matter how many reasons for cheating or opportunities to cheat may present themselves.

It seems to me that the students are ripe for a change of attitude. All we lack is leadership. Whether this leadership should come from an individual or individuals or from some organization like the Y. M. or Y. W. or other Christian organization I do not know. Of one thing I am sure: that it ought to be a STUDENT movement. I for one heartily approve of the stand the Collegian has taken, but the Collegian has done about all the good it can.

It is about time for us to do something positive, looking toward a marked and voluntary improvement. What we need in this crisis is real student leadership.—M. R. M.

TIGHTEN UP THE SCREWS

To the Editor:

"Cribbing" or cheating in examination is just now a live issue at this institution but it is not a thing to be dismissed with a smile. It involves the reputation of our school and is therefore a matter of concern to thousands of people.

No one with normal powers of observation would deny that there is cheating, just how much cannot be definitely stated, but whether carried on wholesale, (as some would have us believe) or whether it is done on a small scale, the mere fact that so much publicity is being given to the issue means we must give it some attention and locate the difficulty.

We do not need a new system such as the honor system. What we need is greater vigilance. If there is cheating during an examination it is because the instructor in charge has allowed his falcon eye to slumber or perhaps mentally he is viewing the beautiful flowers and the green grass of the great out-of-doors. Why not do it this way? "Treat every student as if he were crooked until proved otherwise." Rather a shock, isn't it? Perhaps it is not good ethics but it certainly would be the fairest way. The student who objects to precautions against cheating such as watchfulness, absence of books and papers and the spacing of seats, is the student who has deliberately made up his mind to write with all the assistance he can obtain. The honest student will know and rejoice that it is being done for his own protection.

The instructor should discard all ideas about "trusting his students." Class work is recognized as being competitive and his watchfulness merely means that he is going to see the race run fairly and squarely. A breach of trust by any of the students does not harm the instructor. Neither is the violator "putting anything over" on him but the honest student is robbed of a well deserved grade. The old system is just a little loose. Tighten up the screws and everything will be all right.

Yours truly,

Martin Fritz

WEAK KNEES OR DISHONESTY?

It seems to be taken for granted that we are natural cheats and thieves. It probably comes to us naturally for it sometime in the not far past had not granddaddy taken unfair advantage of his bitterest rival by any means at hand and kidnapped your grandmother, where would you be? Showing perhaps that even now we are victims of circumstances and that the law of the survival of the fittest still operates.

In general everything operates by cause and effect or rather by stimuli and response. We are crying out about the response or effect, viz: cribbing. Now the cause—someone has forgotten the human side. Cribbing is a natural reaction against a certain system—the grading system of the college. It is the conflicting of the point system and the percentage of certain grades given.

The actual average grade of the school is 1.03 counting the M as one. By the college catalog it is expected that one half of the grades shall be an M. Under the point system the average grade demanded is one. And the actual average is 1.03; leaving .03 of a point for the lowest half of the class to pass through is expecting too much. It is certainly evident that by the present system of grading that the whole class cannot average an M, so the first law of nature comes into play, namely: self preservation. The lower part of the class tends to protect itself by the easiest means at hand—by cheating. The next higher portion of the class must protect itself in the same way to hold its rightful place.

Widen the margin of .03 of a point, soften some of the professors who quiz on long scientific names, and complicated formula, and give us more who pass the students on what they know instead of those who give flunks on what we don't know.

Let the faculty reduce cribbing to a minimum by giving fair examinations, by eliminating the opportunities and temptations for cheating, and by using the mailed fist on the proven cribber.

The point system is "bunc." If a faculty member is not willing to stand by the knowledge he has imparted to a student, why pass him with a P. If the college is unwilling to stand behind a candidate for a given degree why recommend him for that degree. Extra points earned on light assignments or easy courses do not strengthen the student's weak points, nor will it ease life's bumps, nor will it increase the number of successes in life, nor lessen the number of graduate failures.

Now, is the present situation the result of weak knees somewhere, or is it the dishonesty of the students?

Faculty consorship of the press—no. Attach the responsibility of the article to its author.—Ernest E. Hodgson, A. H., '22, Vet. Med. '24.

APROPOS CUTS

The system of cuts that exists at this college is archaic and childish. "More than ten cuts puts you out" is the solemn warning addressed to the freshman, and if he is as young and unsophisticated as he should be, he believes, and is careful to have exactly ten cuts at the end of the semester, even missing several classes at the end of the term for no special purpose except to use up the remaining two or three.

But about the middle of his sophomore year—if he gets that far—it begins to dawn on him that if he has a good line it makes no difference at all whether he has ten or twenty or thirty cuts—all he has to do to it to profess his complete repentance, his intention to do better in the future, and his total unawareness of the awful number he was piling up, to be dismissed with no more than a warning, a threat, and a moral lecture.

Usually it makes no difference in his studies whether he misses or does not—a good student can get out of the book as much as he can in the average class, and a poor student never knows what is being discussed anyway.

In many eastern and most European colleges the matter of cuts is left entirely to the instructor and to the student—with the proviso that too many flunks drop him from school. Why couldn't that system be used here? What is the use of rules that are not enforced? Many instructors quietly ignore the rule here, especially as it applies to advanced students.

Presides at Round Table

Miss Elma May Carp went to Topeka Friday to attend the first meeting of the Kansas Home Economics association at which she presided as chairman of the institutions round table. Miss Carp spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Zattie Carp Moody.

Renna Rosenthal, Topeka, Ella Wilson, Paxico, and Hazel Wilson, Culver, were week end guests at the Delta Zeta house.

A Class Distinction

The Hinge-Cap is the insignia of Williams Shaving Cream and of Williams only. You'll notice three things about Williams every time you shave. 1. Williams lather is heavier and holds the moisture in against the beard. Quicker and more thorough softening takes place. 2. Williams lather lubricates your skin—your razor actually seems to "glide" the hairs off. 3. Williams lather leaves the skin in marvelously fine condition. No matter how frequently you shave, your face stays cool, smooth and comfortable.

You'll enjoy every shave with Williams. It is a pure, natural-white cream without any artificial coloring whatsoever.

to you as wearer

Our guarantee to the wearer is the simplest way we know to emphasize the high quality of our clothes, and relieve the mind of a "Doubting Thomas." The cost to us of guaranteeing our product is so trivial as to really be an insignificant item in our costs, even though abuse of this liberal policy is apparent from time to time.

After years of record, the guarantee has proven to be a silent compliment to our standard of workmanship, selection of all wool fabrics, fit and genuine service given by the product made by us. We take full responsibility because our clothes are made of materials to justify confidence and our tailors follow our exacting specifications in converting raw materials to a beautifully finished garment. Everyone recognizes that the product we make will wear out sometime, but when more value and satisfaction than dollars paid has been realized, the public is the fairest jury a manufacturer can enlist, it seems from our years of record.

We, therefore, confidently guarantee our product.

This journal is undertaking to give a review of the work in genetics in all the principal groups of animals.

DISCUSSES AIMS OF LABOR

Dr. Paul Blanchard Is Assembly Speaker Friday

American labor has a right to expect American students not only to have a knowledge of the facts connected with labor but to show a sympathetic understanding of labor as well, according to Dr. Paul Blanchard, secretary of the League for Industrial Democracy, who spoke in chapel Friday, April 11, on "Aims of American Labor."

"You can't appreciate the situation until you get the feeling along with the fact," said Doctor Blanchard. "At the time of a certain steel strike, 72 per cent of the 365,000 steel strikers were receiving less than a living wage. But you can't appreciate that until you realize what it means to the individual worker. It means that the babies of those workers die quicker than the babies of the employers."

"Labor is striking to demand better wages, shorter hours and more control in industry," Doctor Blanchard stated. "But the demand for those things is not because the laborers are materialistic but just the reverse," he continued. "They realize that better wages will enable them to attain a higher standard of living."

Attend National Convention Helen Eakin, Lillian Oyster, and Mary Higenbotham attended the national convention of Pi Beta Phi which met at Washington, D. C., April 11 and 12. They were accompanied by Mrs. L. R. Eakin.

TO GIVE OUTDOOR PLAY

Twenty-five Seniors Will Take Parts in Production

The senior class play, "The Merry Outlaws of Sherwood Forest," will be the first outdoor play ever presented at K. S. A. C. The play will be given in a specially constructed theatre, possibly at the east end of Anderson, during commencement week.

The play written by Owen Davis, is different from either the opera or the photoplay, Robin Hood, although there will be some singing parts in the play, and other music.

The cast will include about 25 characters, all of whom it is hoped, can be selected from the senior class. Prof. R. E. Holcombe will have charge of directing the play and intends to have the cast selected in time to begin practice May 1.

The costumes are being designed and made by students in the home economics division.

Here's your chance, during vacation, to represent the largest company of its kind in the world—

Your time is your MONEY, and you should not be wasting it in telling people what you have to sell, and about the company that makes it, etc. That is the company's business,—to make easy the paths of a salesman to the prospect, so that the salesman can spend ALL his time in immediate sales.

Why accept handicaps? Why waste your time trying to sell products that are unknown to the public? Your hours should be spent in making sales of accepted merchandise,—products that people know, have bought before, and will buy again.

Sell those products that the most people know all about!

STUDENTS IN TYPOGRAPHY TO PUBLISH 36 PAGE MAGAZINE

Booklet to Contain Original Poems and Jokes

"The Typography Student," a 36 page magazine, is being compiled by the laboratory class in typography under the supervision of Prof. E. M. Amos. The magazine will probably be published in two weeks.

This is the first attempt of typography laboratory students to publish as large a magazine as the one now being compiled. It is being made for practice in typography rather than for literary practice.

CENSORSHIP STRIKES AT THE SEARCH FOR TRUTH

Access to Facts Is Denied to Public by Suppression of News, Declares Prof. N. A. Crawford

"News suppression is the best means in the world for keeping dishonesty, crime, and vice flourishing," said Prof. N. A. Crawford, head of the department of industrial journalism and printing, in an address before journalism seminar yesterday afternoon on "Censorship of the Press."

"It is obvious," Professor Crawford declared, "that censorship of either fact or opinion strikes directly at the most significant activity in which mankind ever engages—the search for truth. It is little short of astounding that one should find apologists for censorship in colleges, which are dedicated to the search for truth."

"Censorship of the press, as it is commonly advocated, has two phases. First, it urges suppression of news, concealment of facts which the censors consider that the public should not discover.

For example, business men will sometimes urge suppression of news of public gambling in the city on the ground that publication of it will hurt business in the city. In such an effort the self-appointed censors are sure of the support of the gamblers, confidence men, and crooks generally. The latter know very well, from long experience, that so long as their activities get no publicity, nothing will be done to stop them.

"It is perfectly true that most advocates of censorship of news urge that their sole aim is the public good. In this belief most of them are sincere, but the sinister fact remains that their chief support comes from the crooks, the promoters of commercialized vice, and the other undesirable factors in the community. You never saw a crook that advocated publicity.

"Accepting as perfectly sincere the argument that suppression of news promotes the public good, what conclusions must we reach? This argument simply means that the public, on whose opinions the success or failure of democracy depends, is to be denied access to the only sound basis of opinions—facts. Persons who offer such an argument prove thereby that they have at heart no faith in popular government, that they want to preserve the form of popular government while the substance of government is manipulated by the few.

"The second phase of censorship embodies suppression of the expression of opinion. Let only correct opinions be published, urge advocates of this type of censorship. But who is to determine what opinions are correct? The opinions condemned in one generation are accepted in another. The opinions of Socrates, of Galileo, of scores of other thinkers, were pursued by the censors of their days, whose very names are now forgotten. John Stuart Mill, one of the greatest thinkers the English race has known, points out that if either of two opinions has a better claim than the other not merely to be tolerated but to be encouraged and countenanced, it is the one which happens at the particular time and place to be in a minority. It is only by the freest possible discussion that useful conclusions on public matters are reached.

"The effect of censorship in a college is simply to impress students with the conviction that truth is not the highest good and may properly be concealed or misrepresented in order to gain ends that may be thought desirable. Students go out from college censorship advocates of the dishonest doctrine that the end justifies the means, and fundamental disbelievers in government by the people."

Y. M. HOLDS RETREAT AT CAMP ROTARY SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

Y. W. Cabinet Members Are Guests for Dinner Sunday

Twenty-five boys attended the Y. M. C. A. annual retreat held at Camp Rotary Saturday and Sunday.

At the meeting Saturday evening the principle speakers were Frank West, state Y. M. C. A. executive secretary and Cole M. Conally, traveling secretary for the Student Volunteer movement. Group discussion followed the speeches.

The old and new Y. W. C. A. cabinets were guests Sunday for dinner. In the morning the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. held a meeting in which they discussed religious problems as applied to campus activities. Some of the subjects discussed were race questions, class equality, honesty among students, and the possibilities of men and women students working together.

Jack Heywood was chairman of the program committee and Dick Jensen was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

AGGIE MEN WORK WAY

More Than 60 Per Cent Are Self-supporting

A total of 1,122 out of the 1,870 men students enrolled in the Kansas State Agricultural college, more than 60 per cent, declare they are self-supporting, according to Dr. A. A. Holtz, men's adviser and secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at the college.

Doctor Holtz has on record 137 men working full time and part time and doing work equal to 8,000 hours of regular work each semester. The remainder of the self-supporting students have secured work through other agencies than the Y. M. C. A.

The average monthly expenses of the men students is $50 including their board and room, and also their incidental expenses, according to Doctor Holtz. They enter school with from $150 to $200, averaging about $175.

Clerical work, firing furnaces, newspaper work, boarding house work, and pressing shop jobs, are some of the more popular occupations. One man makes and sells potato chips, another makes salad dressing, another runs a hamburger and coffee stand, one has a cleaning and pressing establishment, others infest the athletic zones with various things to eat.

Most of the students work through the summer months and an average of $200 is saved during a vacation period. Common labor, farming, salesmanship, and mechanical work seem to attract the largest numbers during these months, according to Doctor Holtz.

To Teach in Greece

Probably the Aggie senior going farthest afield this year is Paul G. Roofe, who will be graduated in agriculture and who goes July 1 to Salonica, Greece, to take up work as instructor in crops and director of the experiment station at Thessalonica Institute of Agriculture and Mechanics.

Mr. Roofe has done much research work, particularly in physiochemical fields during his undergraduate time at the college here. He takes a three year contract at the Thessalonica college.

He will not be required to instruct his classes in the Greek language during the three year term but if he stays at the college longer must know the language of the country and use it in his class room work.

Ag Association Meets

The Ag association met Thursday evening, at which time reports were given by the president and chairman of the various committees on the progress of plans for the Ag fair, May 3. Locations for the various stunts were also decided upon. The fair manager, A. C. Magee, states that plans are shaping up well.

WALKER TO WASHINGTON

On Committee of 10 for Muscle Shoals Project department of agricultural engineering, has been called to Washington, D. C. to serve on a committee with 10 other members of national engineering societies to draft a report on the economical phases of the Muscle Shoals proposition.

The request to Professor Walker came from the American engineering council, which is a permanent organization with headquarters in Washington, D. C., composed of national, state and local engineering and technical organizations, and organized for the purpose of increasing the usefulness of engineering to the public.

The committee is expected to present its report to the senate early next week. The Muscle Shoals project has received national publicity and although it is primarily an engineering problem, there has been some politics involved in the consideration of it. It is hoped that the work of the committee on which Professor Walker is serving will help to secure settlement of the proposition upon its merits, instead of upon a political basis.

Dramatists Step Out

On next Saturday evening at 8:45, the dramatists of the college will stop rolling their "r's" and dropping their "h's" long enough to attend the first Purple Masque spring formal to be held by the organization.

The committee is working hard to make the dance an unique one from the point of decorations which are to be worked out by means of lights. Colored floods and spot lights in numerous combinations are to be used.

A novel program is being arranged including special dance numbers, a one act play and the "Follies of '25." An eight piece orchestra has been obtained and everything is being done to make the hop hot.

Miss Nora Dalbey, Miss Araminta Holman entertained the following guests at dinner Sunday evening at Miss Holman's apartments: Dean Margaret Justin, Prof. Martha Pittman and her mother, Miss Amy Jane Leazenby, Prof. Eric Englund, and Dean and Mrs. J. T. Willard.

41 ELECTED TO PHI KAPPI PHI

HONORARY SOCIETY SELECTS MEMBERS TUESDAY

25 Seniors, Eight Graduate Students, and Six Faculty Members Are Chosen

At a meeting Tuesday afternoon 41 persons including 25 seniors, eight graduate students, six faculty members, one alumni, and one honorary member, were elected to membership in Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary scholastic society.

Members are elected from the students ranking highest in each department, and include not more than 10 per cent of the senior class. Eleven students were elected last fall on the showing which they had made in their first three years of work.

Those selected at the meeting Tuesday are as follows:

General Science
Gen. science division: F. C. Butel Overbrook, placed first with marks of 2.546 out of a possible 3.000. Others from this division are: Dahr B. Barnett, Manhattan; Verna Breese, Wichita; Eunice M. Anderson, Phillipsburg; M. S. Eisenhower, Manhattan; Elizabeth L. Curry, Winchester; and Leonora K. Doll, Manhattan.

Home Economics
In the division of home economics, Bernice M. Fleming, Wakefield, placed first with 2.329 points. A total of six members were selected from this division, Grace M. Currin, Manhattan; Zella K. Smith, Washington; Jessie A. Newcomb, Garnett; Mildred F. Emrich, Omaha, Neb.; and Zoe O'Leary, Phillipsburg, being elected besides Miss Fleming.

Engineering
Division of Engineering: Guy E. Buck, Salina; first with 2.278 points, Frank Miller, Cambridge; Ray L. L. Smith, Washington; Claude R. Butcher, Solomon; George V. Mueller, Sawyer; and C. M. Leonard, Manhattan.

Agriculture
Division of Agriculture: M. M. Hoover, Burlingame, first with 2.663 points; D. M. Braum, Denison; C. O. Dirks, Augusta; T. W. Bruner, Lakeland; F. M. Alexander, Wellington.

Veterinary Medicine
W. T. Miller, Manhattan, was the only person selected from the veterinary division. He had a total of 2.704.

Graduate Students
Eight graduate students were elected to membership, M. M. Beeler of Manhattan, and J. P. Scott tied for first with perfect records, having made "E" in every subject taken during the year. Other members among the graduates are P. W. Gregory, Frankfort, Ky.; D. B. D. Moses, Johannesburg, South Africa; Mary A. Mason, Belle Plaine; R. R. St. John, Manhattan; J. P. Scott, J. B. Watkins, and H. R. Guilbert are members of the faculty who complete their graduate work this spring.

Six From Faculty
Of the faculty members elected are Margaret M. Justin, dean of the home economics division; W. E. Grimes of the agricultural economics department; J. H. Burt, C. E. Pearce, H. W. Cave, and Margaret Russell.

M. U. Prexy Honorary Member
W. P. Hayes, of the class of '13, is the alumnus who was elected to the organization.

Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, president of the University of Missouri, is the honorary member. Dr. Brooks has been chosen to give the annual Phi Kappa Phi address at general assembly on May 9.

Many Experiments Result in Correct Diet for Nice Bull

In his usual great haste, the Brown Bull business manager had ordered the staff to have the Bull ready to print by morning. It was 5 in the afternoon.

The staff dashed out to dine and hurried back to work. It wouldn't take more than two or three hours, they thought. Paste pot, scissors, copy, cuts, dummy, were all spread out over the desks.

"Where'll we put this full page cartoon by Post?" the lesser staff member inquired.

"How shall we arrange these nice men?" the greater staff member asked.

"What happened to that verse of Joe's?"

"Here. Put it under that cut of the sassy girl."

A pause while copy and cuts were arranged on pages rearranged, arranged again, finally given up as hopeless.

"Let's try another page."

"Say, do you know it's 8 o'clock?"

Work speeded up for a while. Several pages had been successfully arranged. Suddenly the lesser member of the staff doubled with convulsive laughter. A Spring Fantasia had caused the phenomenon. The greater staff member looked on in patient amusement. She had read the Fantasia before.

"Do you know we're going to run short of pages?" the greater staff member asked impressively. The lesser staff member was appalled.

"And have to leave out some of our good cartoons and copy?" the lesser s. m. asked plaintively.

Then the struggle for the survival of the fittest began. What could be left out?

"You can't leave out this shocked prof!" the lesser s. m. cried desperately, clutching her favorite from the discarded pile.

"You can't leave out this embarrassed man!" the greater s. m. shouted in the same tone.

Pages were torn to pieces, rearranged, shifted, everything to work in these two precious cartoons.

"Eleven o'clock!" the lesser s. m. exclaimed.

"I'll finish pasting these exchanges in the morning" the greater s. m. volunteered.

"Let's go home."

The next morning the Bull went to press, and he's coming out in his nice pure cover the last of April.

HONORARY AGRICULTURE SOCIETY NAMES SENIORS

Thirty-seven Members of Gamma Sigma Delta Elected from Ag and Vet Divisions

At a meeting of Gamma Sigma Delta, honorary agriculture society, Wednesday, 37 seniors and faculty members in the divisions of agriculture and veterinary medicine were elected to membership. About 25 per cent of the students with the highest grade standing in the two divisions were chosen.

Initiation services for the men will be held May 16, following a banquet at the college cafeteria, and the annual address to members of the society and their friends.

The students elected to the organization from the division of agriculture are M. L. Baker, Ralph W. Sherman, Max M. Hoover, E. M. Litwiler, R. L. Stover, C. O. Dirks, F. F. Lampton, A. W. Stover, F. M. Alexander, E. C. Scott, G. A. Fillingim, Geo. E. Hendrix, Walter W. Crockett, J. R. Muse, Mrs. Dorothy L. Nelson, R. T. Patterson, M. M. Williamson, Walter E. Myers, J. L. Farrand, C. D. Tolle, B. R. Churchill, and R. G. Lewis.

In the division of veterinary medicine, W. T. Miller, E. E. Hodgson, and C. J. Coon were selected.

Five graduate students who are working for their master of science degree were elected. They are: M. N. Beeler, degree in journalism in '14, and B. S. A. in '15, University of Missouri; D. B. D. Moses, B. S. A. at University of Illinois, '23; P. W. Gregory, B. S. A., '22, University of Kentucky; R. R. St. John, B. S. A., '17, and H. B. Bryson, B. S. '17.

The faculty members chosen are Dr. C. W. Colver, department of chemistry; Dr. D. C. Warren, department of poultry husbandry; Dr. E. W. Working, department of milling; A. C. Fay, department of bacteriology; A. B. Sperry, department of zoology; F. G. Kelly, department of entomology, and Louis C. Aicher, superintendent of the Hays experiment station.

TRACKSTERS OFF TO RELAYS

Seven Men Will Compete in K. U. Meet

Seven Aggie track men will compete in the Kansas relays tomorrow in Lawrence. Captain L. E. "Red" Erwin, who is the big hope of the squad, will compete in the 100 yard dash and medley relay. John Gartner will get his first chance at the Valley discus record against stiff competition from all parts of the country.

F. A. Brunkau, Ellinwood, is entered in the discus, shot put, and javelin. P. R. Carter, Bradford, will try his luck in the pole vault.

Although both a four mile and medley relay team has been entered, only the medley team will be sent. Erwin will run the 220 in the medley, R. E. Kimport, Norton, the mile, K. G. Knause, Valley Falls, the quarter, and F. L. Coleman, Oskaloosa, or H. A. Brockaway, Olathe, the half.

The same team probably will be used in the Drake relays at Des Moines April 25 and 26, although the four mile relay team may be sent in place of the medley team if results in the Kansas meet and practice during the next week justify it.

BLANCHE BERRY AND FRANCIS ALLISON IN RECITAL MONDAY

First of a Series to Be Given This Spring

Francis Allison, pianist, and Blanche Berry, soprano, will give a joint recital in the auditorium, Monday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. Both are juniors in the department of music.

"I hope that the students from all departments will be interested in attending these recitals," said Prof. Ira Pratt. Juniors in the department are required to give one-half of a recital in order to receive their credit. This is the first junior recital to be given this spring.

PILL TOSSERS WIN ONE LOSE ONE FROM M. U.

Karns, Conroy, and Cunningham Take Turn in Box—First Home Game with K. U. Friday

Thirteen members of the Aggie baseball squad and Coach C. W. Corsant arrived in Manhattan Wednesday night after a rather disastrous introduction into 1924 Missouri Valley baseball circles.

Following a double defeat at the hands of Oklahoma last Friday and Saturday, the Wildcats moved over to Missouri and took the measure of the Tigers 5 to 3 Monday afternoon, with Bernard Conroy pitching. Tuesday the Tiger took sweet revenge to the tune of 9 to 0. Henry Karns being the victim for the second time on the trip. Cunningham was credited with the second defeat at the hands of Oklahoma.

Following a week of intensive practice, the team will swing into action in first home stand of the season next Friday and Saturday against the University of Kansas. The K. U. squad is not rated as exceptionally strong. It is probable that bleachers will be erected on the Manhattan city park diamonds for the game, although it is barely possible that Varsity field, west of the engineering building, will be ready for its initial bow.

Pitchers for the Kansas games will not be announced until late next week, but it is probable that Conroy will receive one assignment, while Paul Vohs, Osawatomie, may get a chance to break into the lineup as a hurler.

APRIL 21 TO 26 SET FOR GIRLS' LEADERSHIP WEEK

Y. W. C. A. Offers Work for Women Planning to Organize Camp Fire Groups

Girls' Leadership week, a six day course in teen-age girls' activities will be held under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. next week, April 21 to 26. The course emphasizes girl reserve club work and Campfire work, and is open to all seniors, or others who are expecting to teach next year.

Miss Joyce Gardiner of New York, one of the secretaries of the girl reserves department of the Y. W. C. A., will lead the discussions on the organization of girl reserve clubs. Miss Ethel Myers, who has charge of the Campfire work in Manhattan, will take charge of the meetings on Campfire work.

The meetings will be held in the home economics rest room. Registration will be held in the Y. W. C. A. office Friday, Saturday, and Monday mornings. A registration fee of $1.00 will be charged.

The following program has been arranged:
Monday, 5 o'clock, discussion on "Psychology of Teen Age Girl" led by Prof. P. P. Brainerd; 7 o'clock, "Handcraft," by Miss Grace Garrett of Kansas City.

Tuesday and Wednesday, at 5 o'clock, girl reserve programs; 7 o'clock, Campfire work.

Thursday, 7 o'clock, music.
Friday, 7 o'clock, open meeting.
Saturday, 10-1:30 hikes to learn how to blaze trails, make fires, and do camp cooking.

S. S. G. A. ADOPTS CHANGES

Revision of Constitution Effectuated at Meeting Wednesday

Consideration of the proposed changes in the constitution, reports of committees and the nomination of officers for the coming year was the principal business enacted at the special meeting of the S. S. G. A., Wednesday afternoon. The amendments to the constitution, drawn up several weeks ago by a special committee, were read and accepted without discussion.

G. R. Dowd of San Francisco, Cal., was nominated for president, and F. E. Wiebrecht of Strong City, and Roy Langford of Manhattan for vice president. The election will be held Tuesday from 8 to 5 at the Royal Purple office.

BLANKS OUT FOR RELAY CARNIVAL

HIGH SCHOOL MEET WILL BE RUN OFF MAY 17

Sixteen Events Scheduled on Track and Field Program—500 Entries Last Year

Entry blanks for third annual Missouri Valley Interscholastic Relay carnival, the high school track classic of the Missouri Valley, are being prepared and will be mailed out next week, according to Head Coach C. W. Bachman. The big meet will be run off Saturday, May 17, in the Aggie Memorial Stadium.

500 Entries Last Year

Last year there were more than 500 entries, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and Iowa sending representatives. Sixteen events will be on the track and field program.

El Dorado high school, will endeavor to retain possession of the Ray B. Watson one mile challenge trophy, which will be permanently awarded to the team which wins the mile relay three times.

Trophies to Winners
A team prize of a 19 inch bronze statuette will be awarded to the winner of each relay race. Gold medals will go to individual members of winning relay teams, silver medals to second place winners, and bronze medals for third place.

Gold engraved seven jewel watches will be awarded to the winners of each special event, silver medals to those who place second, and bronze medals to those finishing third.

No Entry Fee Charged

No entry fee will be charged, and all competitors will be the guests of the college fraternal organizations. Those schools desiring to stay at hotels will be assisted in securing accommodations.

Eligibility will be determined by the eligibility rules of the various states from which the men are entered.

Entry blanks will be sent to all high schools in the state in towns of more than 200 population.

Sixteen Events Listed

The events on the track and field program follow: quarter mile run, 100 yard dash, 220 yard low hurdles, 440 yard relay, 880 yard run, 880 yard relay, one mile relay, two mile relay, four mile relay, sprint medley relay, pole vault, high jump, broad jump, 12 pound shot put, discus throw, and javelin throw.

FOOTBALL GAME WEDNESDAY WILL CLOSE SPRING PRACTICE

Bleachers Erected on Field West of Home Ec Building

Spring football practice will officially close next Wednesday afternoon with a regular 60 minute game on the field west of the home ec building.

Bleacher seats will be erected and the entire school is invited to see the game. Teams will be selected at practice Monday and Tuesday of next week.

More than 100 men are out for spring practice, three and four furlongs reporting every night.

PRESS ASSOCIATION CONVENES

Representatives of Six Schools Will Meet at K. S. A. C.

Representatives from six schools within Missouri valley territory will attend the first annual director's meeting of the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Press association, which convenes here Monday and Tuesday. The schools to be represented are: Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa State, Oklahoma, Oklahoma A. and M., and K. S. A. C.

Nebraska university is sending two delegates, Iowa State one, and the remainder of the schools plan to send at least one, several being expected from both Kansas and Oklahoma. On Tuesday evening the delegates will be guests of Sigma Delta Chi at the annual Branding Iron banquet.

The Missouri Valley Press association was tentatively organized last February when representatives from three school papers met at Oklahoma university. The effecting of a permanent organization, and the formulation of a program for next year, are the principal subjects to be considered at the meeting here. Permanent officers will also be elected.

Temporary officers elected in February to serve until the regular meeting: president, Guy P. Webb, Oklahoma university; vice-president, Paul Richardson, University of Nebraska, and secretary-treasurer, Alan Dailey, K. S. A. C.

Committee Makes Elaborate Plans to Feed Hungry Mob

Nothing to do but work.
Nothing to eat but food.
Nothing to wear but knicker suits
To keep one from going nude.
—Song of the Campus Cleaners.

"Nothing to eat but food," but the home economics students, with Miss Carp, Bernice Fleming, and Mary Katherine Russell in charge, are guaranteeing that there will be plenty of that.

The menu includes enough eats for a good sized army—5,000 buns, 500 pounds of meat, 2,500 squares of gingerbread, 100 gallons of coffee, 2,500 ice cream cones, 60 gallons of ice cream, and two lumps of sugar and real cream for every cup of coffee.

Five stands will be placed at convenient spots on the campus, so that weary sod planters and tired truck drivers will not need to drag their weary bones clear across the northeast section for a sandwich and a cup of hot coffee—two lumps, don't forget. And the best news of all is this: Everything will be absolutely free, free as the air we breathe, free as the flowers that bloom in the spring, free as...

The committee is hard at work, and the blueprints of the campus will soon be ready. The list of the students and their group leaders will be published in the Collegian next week, so that every one will know where to report for work. Students are asked to hunt up their pocket knives, paring knives, and other weapons with which they can stalk the doughty dandelion to its lair.

Generous to a fault, the committee has decided to let the faculty in on the Campus day frolic, and all members are hereby formally invited. Anyone who is planning to be unexpectedly called out of town that day, or who has important business in Kansas City, will be asked to present his excuse to the S. S. G. A. As to the penalty for unexcused absences, "Mike" Ahearn is going to talk in chapel next Monday, and he may divulge the penalty then.

ARTHUR MIDDLETON SINGS LEADING ROLE IN ELIJAH

World Famous Baritone Will Make Third Appearance at College In Festival Week Program

Twenty years ago this spring Arthur Middleton, world famous baritone, and Prof. Ira Pratt, head of the music department, received their first training in oratorio singing when both appeared in the production of the "Elijah" put on by Simpson college, Ohio, where they were students together. Today, both men are looking forward to their second appearance together in the "Elijah," a part of the Festival week program at K. S. A. C.

At the time of their first appearance together Mr. Middleton was a senior in college and sang the solo parts in "Elijah" which were later to make him world famous. Mr. Pratt as a sophomore in college appeared as a member of the chorus. In their second appearance Mr. Middleton will have the role of leading soloist, and Mr. Pratt will be the conductor.

Since his graduation Mr. Middleton has appeared as a soloist in the "Elijah" more than 500 times and an equal number in the "Messiah." He was the leading soloist in the production of the "Messiah" at Lindsborg this spring.

"A singer whose art touches perfection," and "A singer so good that he is lonely in his class," are the opinions held by the New York Tribune and the Chicago Tribune concerning Arthur Middleton's art. Another leading journal comments that he is undoubtedly the greatest oratorio singer in America.

MAY 17 SET FOR "WOMAN'S DAY"

PROGRAM SPONSORED BY W. A. A. AND PHYSICAL ED DEPT.

All Day Festival Will Include Annual May Fete—Will Present "The Golden Touch"

Girl's interclass track meet, baseball games between interclass champion teams, tennis finals, an archery tournament, and a May fete entitled "The Golden Touch" are the events planned for Woman's day to be held on the campus Saturday, May 17. The May fete will be given Saturday evening commencing at 6 o'clock. All other events will be run off in the afternoon.

May Fete Closes Day

The day's events have been planned to take the place of the annual May fete which is usually given by the Y. W. C. A. This year the May fete will be given as a part of the Woman's day program which is being put on by the physical education department and the Woman's Athletic association.

"The Golden Touch" is the story of King Midas. Mary D. Russell will act the part of the king. The other solo parts in the story are king's daughter, Doris Handlin; stranger, Myrl Broberg; Pan, Dorothy Rosebrough. A number of group dances will be given.

W. A. A. Sponsors Program

The track events, to decide the class champions, will be run off during the afternoon. They are baseball throw, javelin throw, 60 yard low hurdles, 50 yard dash, high jump, and a 200 yard relay race.

Alice Marston, president of W. A. A., is general manager of Woman's day. The chairman of other committees working on the entertainment are publicly, Catherine Bernheisel, Hilda Frost Dunlap; costumes, Vera Alderman; properties, Ruth Leonard; tickets, Genevieve Tracy. The classes in costume design under the direction of Miss Florence Clark are working out the color schemes for costumes.

To Lecture on Laundry Supplies

Miss Mary Keown who is connected with the educational department of the American Washing Machine Manufacturers association will give a talk on laundry supplies to the house hold management classes in the art room of the cafeteria building, Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. Anyone who is interested is invited to attend.

Visitors Win Both Singles and Doubles

The Aggie tennis team suffered its second setback of the season Wednesday afternoon at the hands of the Baker university team.

In the doubles Goodell and Rankin, Aggies, lost to McGill and Laury, Baker, 6-1, 6-2. Rankin gave Laury a hard battle in the singles, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4, while Healea, dropped the other singles match to McGill 6-4, 6-1.

STUDENTS SUPERVISE PLAYS

"Wurzel Flummery" and "Wonder Hat" to Be Given April 26

On the evening of April 26 the class in dramatic production, taught by Prof. Ray E. Holcombe will present two one act plays. The work is being done as a class problem and all of the managing, setting, costuming, directing, and advertising is being taken care of by the students.

To make the problem more realistic, the class is being held personally responsible for the financial success of the entertainment. The committee in charge has decided that there shall be an admission fee of 25 cents.

Each person in the class is participating in some way in the production. Velma Lockridge is the general manager of the whole affair and Gladys Sanford is the supervising technical director of both plays. The coach of "Wurzel Flummery" is Lillian Kammeyer, Thelma Merwin is the art director and Jack Kennedy is the stage manager. The coach of the "Wonder Hat" is Donna Greene, Patricia Smith is the art director and John Wray Young is the stage manager. Forest Whan has charge of the advertising.

The tryouts were conducted by the coaches last week and rehearsals have begun. Wurzel Flummery will be presented on Saturday night at the Purple Masque Formal.

Any money which the plays may make will be used to purchase furniture to be used for rehearsals in G 56.

WE HATE THE NEW

It requires bombs, bayonets, machine guns, and guillotines to drive a new idea into people's heads. Students of history know this. So do writers of advertisements. Thousands of dollars had to be spent and carloads of advertising printed before people were convinced that whisks might be whittled away with safety razors right on the home premises, or that pianos might be played with compressed air. After years of advertising by manufacturers of tooth pastes, less than one-fourth of the population in the United States today use any teeth-cleansing preparation. Laws were passed against the first bathtubs! People once said steel plows would poison the soil. The first man to drive a machine through Central park was arrested. Early day automobile tourists were obliged to go armed in country districts to protect their lives.

Most novelties that succeed are either partly old or else suggest something with which people are familiar. Whatever is commonplace about a thing helps to take the curse off its novelty. The first railway cars looked like stage coaches; and the earliest models of automobiles were along the lines of an ordinary buggy. I wonder if it didn't give the manufacturers a severe twinge to omit the whip socket!

What is true of inventions is equally true in politics. If a man goes on the stump with a new idea, his one chance to have it accepted is by showing that something similar has been successfully tried elsewhere—that it isn't as new as it appears.

People not only are slow to adopt a new idea but they strive to punish those who do. Professor Langley died, soured and disgruntled, hating nearly everybody, because of all the gay banter at his expense for attempting what the Wrights later accomplished. People resented flying because it was too unlike all human transportation methods they had seen in use. Not until it had ceased to be new, was aviation taken seriously.—Fred C. Kelly in McNaught's Monthly.

POSSIBLE SOLUTIONS

Caps and gowns have always been worn by seniors, when they make their farewell adieu in college, and sometimes they are worn by members of the faculty.

This year the faculty was asked to wear the distinguished robe and when action was taken upon the matter its members voted it down.

As to the reason for such action the truth is not known for sure but we wonder if the faculty members wish to hold back their educational standard or are afraid they will display their ignorance. If the latter is the case, perhaps it might be arranged so that each member could carry with him some article characteristic of his particular division or department.

Now the home economics professors could easily bring with them a dishpan or a Singer; the journalist professors a quill or a Remington; the professors of agriculture might bring a tract of land or a cow; the professors of music a baby grand, and the engineering professors an alternating current.—M. Improves Speech
In Eight Years

A new "Daily Two Dozen," guaranteed to give satisfactory results if the exercises are taken faithfully, regularly, and according to instructions, has been invented by the English department.

In order to insure the best results, the list of setting up exercises should first be memorized. The patient should then review them mentally each time before speaking. In only eight years remarkable improvement is said to be effected. The list of exercises follows:

Ford Steel Body $490 Truck

f. o. b. Detroit

Why Commercial Users
Prefer the Ford

There is much significance in the fact that more than 75% of all commercial cars of one-ton capacity or less in the United States are Fords.

This overwhelming preference for Ford haulage units has its basis in the low cost of Ford transportation, the rugged construction of the truck itself, and its unusual adaptability to every line of industry.

Mechanical excellence, simplicity of design and ample power are further factors that have contributed to the popularity of the Ford One-Ton Worm Drive Truck.

The Ford One-Ton Truck equipped with an all-steel body and cab is now available as a complete unit, priced at $490 f.o.b. Detroit. Screen sides and canopy roof that may be easily fitted to this unit are supplied at small additional cost.

TRAINING FOR LEADERSHIP GIVEN IN SUMMER SCHOOL

2 Courses to Be Offered in Subjects of Interest to Community Worker
—No Fee Charged

The second annual session of the School of Community Leadership will meet this summer, June 24-July 9, under the supervision of Dean E. L. Holton and Prof. Walter Burr. The first session was held last year with decided success and Professor Burr is expecting a big increase in enrollment this summer.

Plans for the coming session are similar to those of last year. The school offers 25 courses, including subjects of interest to the school teacher, minister, chamber of commerce secretary, club leader, and Sunday school teacher. The course attempts to teach how to do things demanded of the leader under present conditions. Each course will be under the personal supervision of a specialist in the subject. Attention will be given to the needs and desires of each individual student, and such reading will be assigned as will give him the greatest amount of information in the limited time. Students may enroll for five courses. There is no fee.

The following courses will be offered: Community organization, rural commerce, advertising and salesmanship, local government, rural education, community school seminar, the rural church, religious education, the community program, dramatic coaching, making a community drama, pageantry production, community music, community games, interpretive and folk dancing, public speaking for leaders, the community in principle, community health and sanitation, nutrition and dietetics, boys' and girls' club work, Boy Scout training, Camp Fire girls' training, community radio, social evolution, and eugenics.

Professor Burr recently sent out questionnaires in regard to the school, in an endeavor to approximate the number who will enroll in the various courses. At the present time he has received over 100 answers.

A. V. Butcher, who has been seriously ill with typhoid fever, has withdrawn from school for the remainder of the semester and will spend the time until fall raising watermelons at his home near Solomon.

Pratt Speaks Before Music Clubs

Prof. Ira Pratt returned this week from a business trip to Ottawa where he conferred with Paul Utt, dean of the conservatory of music, in regard to next year's meeting of the Kansas State Music Teachers' association. Professor Pratt also delivered an address before the state convention of the Kansas Federation of Music clubs at Wichita.

NEW MACHINERY TO BE ADDED TO POWER PLANT

Water System Will Be Improved by New Wells and Equipment

Orders were placed recently with A. A. Doerr, state business manager, for $14,422.53 worth of machinery for the power plant. At a meeting last week R. A. Seaton, dean of the engineering division and G. R. Pauling of the building and repair department sent in the order for the machinery to improve the power plant and to establish a new water system for the college.

Part of the machinery will be delivered in six weeks and the rest will be delivered in two and one-half months, so that the new water system will be in operation by July 1, according to Dean Seaton. A 46,090 gallon reservoir and a new pump house are to be built in the extreme southeast corner of the campus. Test wells have been sunk in that part of the campus and a sufficient supply of water has been found for five or six wells. The new pump will be connected to the city mains to be used in case of emergency.

The machinery ordered for the water plant includes two air compressors, a motor for each of the compressors, and two three-inch, three stage centrifugal pumps.

An automatic control of the water level is to be installed in the new system. The pumps are to be operated by a float in the reservoir. When the level comes down to a certain mark one pump is started working, and if the need of water is so great that one pump cannot supply enough so that the water falls to a second level, the other pump starts to operate. The reservoir is to be used as a settling tank to separate the water from the sand and to reduce the wear on the pumps, which has been a problem up to this time.

Hope Harrison visited her sister in Topeka Monday.

You Can't Tell What Kind of a Hobby a Prof Has by His Looks

By their hobbies ye shall know them—these professors at K. S. A. C. Under staid and sober exteriors, artfully hidden by cynic and caustic expressions, lurk the particular indulgences of the faculty, all unbeknown to the students. And when they have been revealed in all the glory of their foolish and sentimental recreations, these superior Ph. D. holders of ours seem strangely to be only human.

What palpitating flunker in typography would guess that Prof. E. T. Keith conceals under his sarcastic exterior a hobby—unless it be flunking freshman journalists? But he has one. He is an alligator hunter. He goes down to Florida and shoots the scaly monsters as mercilessly as he flunks typography students.

When Prof. Ira Pratt flourishes his baton in assembly, leading a vigorous, hymn like "Onward Christian Soldiers," would one be expected to know that on a bright summer day he might be found flourishing a fishing pole just as vigorously beside some little stream—and catching fish, too? The music man "knows his fish" so well that he can plot a fishing map of Kansas showing any little creek that has been tried as a fishing resort.

Bridge and athletics aren't usually associated, but Miss Wade and Miss Morris, whom every girl taking gym knows are good athletes, are adepts at bridge.

L. E. CHILDERS SELLS STORY TO THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE

Personality Sketch of Wamego Man Accepted

L. E. Childers, junior in industrial journalism, recently received $25 for a story which appeared in the "Interesting People section" of the American magazine.

The story was about the life of J. T. Glenn of Wamego, who has diligently worked at a hobby for over 50 years. His particular hobby is doing scroll work, and he has a large collection of scrolls. Several pictures of the work accompany the article written by Mr. Childers.

Grace Spacht, a senior at the University of Nebraska, spent Monday and Tuesday in Manhattan as the guest of Miss Lois Wildy.

or tasting the flavor of "pi" who has not heard Ed Amos speak in a chummy way of his old bus. One immediately pictures a ramshackle old relic in the last stages of dilapidation, but when the "old bus" appears it is a new Paige sedan, which anyone would be proud to claim.

"Doc" Hill's main boast is that he has never been domesticated and his most fervent prayer is that he never will be. That, at least, is what he says. But even "Doc" Hill isn't quite untamed for he has succeeded in winning the hearts of "Jaky" Holcombe and Dorothy Summers, the public speaking department babies.

For a prosaic and practical hobby Dr. H. L. Ihlen wins the prize. He breeds guinea pigs and he has grown so expert at it that he can control the color or style of hair. He can match the tone of any dress or milady's pet may be in harmony with her costume, and he can determine whether the guinea pig's hair shall be straight or have a beautiful natural marcel.

Poking around in old attics and second hand shops looking for antique furniture is Prof. J. O. Faulkner's hobby. Miss Martha Pittman canes chairs with the care and skill of a master craftsman.

If one could only find them out, the other professors might furnish interesting hobbies for our collection. You never can tell what interests lie under those stern exteriors.

MISS FECHT SPEAKS BEFORE HOME ECONOMICS ASSOCIATION

Gives Illustrated Lecture on "Bargains" at Topeka Tuesday

Emma Fecht, instructor in clothing and textiles, spoke at Bethany college, Topeka, on Tuesday afternoon before the home economics association of Topeka. Her subject was "Bargains," and she illustrated her talk with lantern slides.

Miss Fecht explained the methods of determining quality in the various types of material. Many fabrics can be recognized by means of the weave and she cited silk, velvet, and velveteen as examples. Miss Fecht discussed at some length the effect on price of merchants allowing clothing to be taken out of the store on approval. According to Miss Fecht, the family clothing is a splendid way by which to judge the ability of the mother is caring for her family.

Prof. W. S. Wiedorn visited the St. Bernard school and the Wamego Station park Tuesday, in the interest of landscape gardening.

Catherine Agnew, a student in music, withdrew from school Monday because of the illness of her parents.

Mary Jensen spent Saturday in Topeka.

AGGIEVILLEMANHATTAN FROM A VISITOR'S VIEWPOINT

During my travels throughout the United States and Canada in years past, I never had occasion to visit Manhattan, so all I knew of your city was from hearsay. I had heard that Manhattan was an educational center in Kansas, having an enrolment of nearly 3,000 college students and also a strictly modern city school system with a total enrolment of 2,128. It was not my privilege to remain long with you, but I gave you something more than the "once over" before I left and as a result I can report without fear of contradiction that Manhattan is stepping right along, and that there seems no reason whatever for doubting that she will double her population within a very few years?

With over 44 miles of well lighted, paved streets, 30 miles of sewer system, a fine park, a modern motorized fire department, an excellent municipal water system, modern highways and low tax rates, Manhattan easily takes her place as a progressive city and one offering wonderful opportunities for capital as well as those who want to work, study and live.

In fact, I found Manhattan to be a real honest-to-goodness city, one that doesn't have to doff her lid to any town East, West, North, or South. With a population now numbering over 9,000 and a get-together and pull-together civic spirit worthy of a much larger city, Manhattan is looking into the future with unbounded faith and confidence, and well she may, for when the civic foundation of any town is built upon a foundation such as is very apparent here, there is nothing in the world, outside of unforeseen disaster, that can check her steady growth and progress.

As a chronic roamer, and somewhat of a writer, I probably visit more cities over the United States each year than any other man in the country, and I have written up scores and hundreds of these towns for the press. Not long ago, at a Lion luncheon, I was asked what I considered to be the most important thing in the civic structure of a wide-awake town. My answer was emphatic because I happened to be fully informed and the subject. It is any civic organization which gives prompt and reliable information to all inquirers.

It has been said that when the Creator had made all good things there still remained some work to do, so He made beasts, reptiles and poisonous insects, and when He had finished there were some scraps left over. He put all these together, covered them with a garb of suspicion, wrapped them with jealousy, envy and greed, marked the product with a yellow streak and called the result a "Knocker." This product was so fearful to contemplate, He had to create something to counteract it, so He took a sunbeam, put into it the heart of a child, the brain of a wise man, wrapped these in civic pride, covered the whole with a mask of velvet and gave it a grasp of steel and called the result a "BOOSTER."

And ever since these two were created, mortal-man has had the privilege of deciding which class he would belong to. To you students, into whose hands will some day fall the destinies of your Home Town, let me say, "Think seriously on these things." The gates of every town are always thrown wide to the genuine Booster, but the Knocker finds no welcome there.

You may decide to make Manhattan your home. From a prospective viewpoint, Manhattan has many advantages more than apt to result in the building of a city, the size and importance of which may be a surprise to even the most optimistic booster in the community. You cannot go wrong in pinning your faith to Manhattan. And don't miss a single one of these Editorials. There is a lesson in each and every one of them—a lesson very much worth while. One is that community patriotism means standing shoulder to shoulder and backing up your civic organizations in working for the good of the Home Town. Be a real booster. Do your bit.

Miss Pauline Price, of Topeka, and Miss Marjorie Schindler, of Manhattan were dinner guests at the Phi Kappa Theta house, Sunday.

AGGIE GIRLS ATTEND PI PHI CONVENTION AT WASHINGTON

Sorority Presents Portrait of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge

The largest convention of women ever held in Washington met April 11-12 when more than 1,300 members of Pi Beta Phi convened for the presentation and hanging of the life-size portrait of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, who is a member of Pi Beta Phi and the first president's wife to be a member of a Greek organization. The portrait is the work of Howard Chandler Christy, and is valued at $5,000.

At a reception April 11 in the Blue room of the White house, Amy B. Onken, grand president of Pi Beta Phi presented the portrait, and the custodian of the White house accepted it. Sousa's band played during the reception.

Immediately after, a meeting of the grand council with Mrs. Coolidge was held, and it was decided that to comply with the request of the national museum, the inauguration dress of Mrs. Coolidge with her original Pi Beta Phi arrow should be presented to the national museum. Lillian Oyster, Helen Eakin, and Mary Higginbotham of the K. S. A. C. chapter attended. Lillian O'Brien Buckley, Velva Rader Beaudette, Florence Thompson, Eva Lawson, Geraldine Hull, and Jean Francis Middleton, all formerly of K. S. A. C. also attended.

Marie Gilmore spent the week end at her home in Herington.

Give Sunrise Breakfast

The young people of the Christian church will have a sunrise breakfast in the church parlors Sunday morning at 5:30. After the breakfast a program will be given by the two Christian Endeavor societies. According to the committee in charge a surprise is in store for those who are there promptly at 5:30.

Morton Stevenson visited his parents at Paola over the week end.

Are You a Winner—or a Loser?

YOU have undoubtedly chosen to be a winner. You are training your mind and strengthening your will.

But what of your body? Will it sustain you when the race becomes fast and strenuous?

To keep in a winning condition, you must exercise every muscle and organ in the body. The fuel-supplying organs—the stomach and the digestive organs—need exercise in the form of digesting rough foods such as: whole-wheat bread, bran, and hard cereals.

Grape-Nuts not only exercises these fuel-supplying organs, but its nutritive elements of whole-wheat and malted barley, toasted to a nutty crispness, make it the most delicious breakfast food you have ever tasted.

For a well-balanced diet, try Grape-Nuts—four teaspoonfuls sprinkled with sugar, half cream and half milk. You will call for it every morning. There's a reason.

150 ENTRIES IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

FIRST ROUND WILL BE PLAYED OFF NEXT WEEK

Sigma Nus Lead in Intramural Race, Delta Tans Are Second and Tri L Club Third

The first three days of next week will see nearly 150 Aggie tennis players battling off the first round of the annual intramural tennis tournament. The final check shows 116 entries in the singles and 50 doubles teams.

Sigma Nus in Lead

A little added zest is being put into the contest by the rivalry among the leaders in the race for the big cup offered to the high point organization. The Delta Tau Deltas, holder of second place, got the jump on the Sigma Nus, at present in the lead, by entering 30 men in the singles and 15 doubles teams. The Sigma Nus have entered four in the singles and a pair of doubles teams. The Tri L club, in third place in the race for points, ran second in tennis entries.

All first round matches must be played off at the place and time designated in the schedules unless special permission for a postponement is secured from E. A. Knott. Failure to appear without securing such permission at least a day in advance will constitute a forfeiture.

Others Barred from Courts

Non-intramural players will be barred from the courts west of Nichols gym on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday afternoons of next week.

The following men are entered in the singles: W. H. Binford, El Dorado; J. D. Haines, Manhattan; S. M. Finney, Manhattan; W. N. McCown, J. G. Yawger, McCracken; G. E. Volles, Manhattan; E. R. POULTRY CLASS VISITS EIGHT HATCHERIES ON TRIP FRIDAY

Stops at Leonardville, Clay Center, Abilene, and Junction City

The class in artificial incubation and brooding took a field trip Friday, stopping at Leonardville, Clay Center, Abilene, and Junction City, where eight commercial chick hatcheries were visited.

The incubators in these hatcheries held from 3,000 to 40,000 eggs at a setting. C. R. Baker of Abilene whose hatchery was visited on the trip has had several years' experience in building up standard bred flocks. He pays a good premium for hatching eggs and buys only from flocks that have been previously inspected and found to be pure. He has no trouble in disposing of all the chicks he hatches from his 40,000 egg incubator. His chicks go to every state in the union, and to Canada and Mexico. He started his machine this year on February 4, and will continue to operate it until about June 1.

Those who made the trip are Prof. and Mrs. L. F. Payne, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Taylor, Ben Grosse, B. A. Campbell, P. W. Gregory, D. C. McMillin, Geo. R. McMahan, J. C. Keas, H. Arlo Stewart, and Raymond Williams.

SCOTT SPEAKS IN CHAPEL

Editor of Iola Register Talks on "What Next in Europe"

"America has been sneaking in the basement window to participate in the political and industrial affairs of Europe. A nation of her standing should come out openly, enter at the front door by becoming a member of the league of nations and the world court and do all in her power to establish friendly international relations."

This is the sentiment of Charles F. Scott, editor of the Iola Daily Register, who spoke in chapel yesterday on "What Next in Europe and Here." He referred to the many Americans who have served on international commissions such as the Dawes Reparations commission while America still resolutely refuses to be officially connected with the international organizations.

With the favorable attitude taken by the countries most concerned towards the report of the Dawes commission, according to Mr. Scott, it looks as if we would begin now to figure out a permanent stabilization policy for Europe.

"But so far it can be reasonably said, with little pride, America has done nothing," said Mr. Scott. "Three official messages recently have acknowledged the probability of another war. And we are doing nothing to avoid it."

ERWIN SMASHES 100 YARD RECORD

RED STEPS CENTURY RACE IN 10 SECONDS FLAT

Relay Team Places Third and Gartner Takes Fourth—19 New Meet Records Set

Facing stiff competition from the track stars of schools all over the United States, the Kansas Aggie track team took a first, a third, and a fourth in the second annual Kansas relays in Lawrence Saturday.

Breaks Own Record

Running against the wind, L. E. "Red" Erwin, Aggie track captain, set a new meet record in the 100 yard dash at 10 seconds flat, breaking his own record of 10 1-5 seconds made a year ago. Erwin defeated Lo Locke, of Nebraska, who finished second, and Buckman, Occidental, touted as a 9 4-5 second man, who took third.

Ivan Riley, Aggie senior in architectural engineering, came within two seconds of setting a new world's record in the 400 meter high hurdles, defeating Earl Frazier, Baylor university, in a special match race. Riley, running under the Illinois Athletic club colors, stepped over the hurdles in 55 9-10 seconds.

Texas Sets New Relay Record

Although the Aggie medley relay team finished third in that event, it broke the old meet record. Texas university, the winners, set a new world's record of 7 minutes, 38 2-10 seconds. The Wildcats were a scant yard behind Notre Dame, winners of second place, on the finish, with "Red" Erwin out of the race because of a leg injury sustained in the dash. Brockaway, Kimpert, Coleman, and Knause comprised the Aggie relay team. Kimpert ran a wonderful race in the mile, Bachman said.

John Gartner, Manhattan, tossed the discus 129 feet 6 1-4 inches for a fourth place. Platt, Denver university, won the event with a throw of 139 feet 1 1-2 inches, setting a new meet record.

Four Firsts in Valley

E. R. Carter, Bradford, failed to place in the pole vault but showed promise for future meets by barely failing to clear the 12 foot mark.

Nineteen new meet records were hung up during the course of the afternoon.

Only four firsts were taken in the meet by Missouri Valley schools, who competed in the university class. Nebraska won two of the four firsts, Locke coming out ahead in the shot put, while the Cornhusker half mile relay team was defeating Iowa. Poor, Kansas, cleared six feet four inches in the high jump to win the event, while "Red," as before stated, showed himself to be one of the speediest dash men in the United States by taking the century race.

Aggies to Drake Friday

Erwin, Carter, and Gartner probably will be sent to the Drake relays Friday and Saturday.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS IN VET DIVISION ANNOUNCED

Four $25 Prizes Awarded for Exceptional Work—Money Donated by Individuals and Associations

Scholarship honors won by students in the division of veterinary medicine, including elections to scholarship societies, and winners of scholarships offered by various persons and associations were announced recently at the office of Dean R. R. Dykstra.

Charles James Coon of Manhattan is the winner of the $25 prize given annually by the veterinary faculty to the student making the highest average grade in the veterinary curriculum during his four years of attendance.

Edward Raymond Frank of Manhattan was the winner of the Kinsley prize in pathology given annually to the student making the highest average grade in veterinary pathology. This prize is given by Dr. A. T. Kinsley, former president of the American Veterinary Medical association, and an alumnus of the college here.

The Schmoker prize of $25 to the student making the best grade in veterinary clinics was awarded this year to Ernest Eugene Hodgson of Harveyville. The donor of the prize is Dr. Edward A. Schmoker, veterinarian for the Carnation Stock farms, Tolt, Wash., a graduate from the college with the class of '17.

E. R. Frank won a second prize of $25 awarded to the student making the highest grades in veterinary surgery and given by Dr. J. B. Gingery, K. S. A. C. '10, veterinary practitioner of Muscatine, Iowa.

Robina Manley, '26, spent the week end at her home in Junction City.

Support Festival Week

Festival Week is one of the most important enterprises maintained by the college. It introduces us to the best music presented by the best talent that can be secured. At the same time it gives the college and the town a tremendous amount of publicity of the most useful kind. People throughout Kansas, and indeed throughout the entire country, are now recognizing that the Kansas State Agricultural college and the town of Manhattan constitute a center of real artistic culture as well as of practical educational achievement. In creating this impression Festival week has played one of the most significant parts.

We have had in this the loyal support of college people and the active interest and effort of the chamber of commerce and hundreds of other loyal citizens of the community. We are more than grateful for this manifestation of warm-hearted cooperation between town and college which is assuredly one of the greatest factors in the growth and prosperity of both.

In order to keep this enterprise running from year to year without financial embarrassment it is essential that it have the unified support of the faculty, students, and community. We cannot afford to miss these programs and we cannot neglect this opportunity to build prestige for the institution that we love. I urge every loyal Aggie to give this week his financial and moral support, both for his own good and the good of the college. Let us attend the programs, let us invite friends in for the week, and let us lose no opportunity to speak of the excellence of the entertainment that has been arranged for the week. We shall have the best talent obtainable from the outside and the best talent, faculty and student, from our own campus. It will be the best Festival Week, I am confident, that we have ever had. Let us unite in giving it a solid, enthusiastic push towards success.—W. M. Jardine.

Forty Expect to Receive Master's Degree This Year—Advanced Credit Offered in 33 Departments

The enrolment of the graduate school now numbers 189, including 55 students who are working full time or holding graduate assistantships, 40 seniors who are yet taking some undergraduate work, and 94 who hold the bachelor of science degree and are members of the teaching staff.

The graduate students hold degrees from the following schools: The Kansas State Agricultural college, Cornell university, Kansas university, Southwestern college, Kansas University of Illinois; Hays State Teachers' college; Beloit college, Wisconsin; Drury college, Missouri; Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college; Washington Agricultural college; Kansas Wesleyan; Fairmount college; West Virginia university; McPherson college; Emporia State Teachers' college, and South Dakota State college.

Dr. J. E. Ackert, chairman of the graduate council, says that about 40 persons expect to complete the work for their master's degree next spring and summer.

Persons who have taken their master's degrees here have been quite successful in getting desirable fellowships in the larger universities, according to Doctor Ackert.

To secure a master's degree, 32 graduate credits are required, including a thesis and an oral examination over the general field, besides a bachelor's degree. The enrolment and general supervision of the graduate student is administered by Doctor Ackert with the assistance of the six other members of the graduate council.

Graduate instruction leading to a master's degree is offered in 33 departments and in more than 100 fields of study. The departments offering master's degrees are agricultural economics, agronomy, animal husbandry, dairy husbandry, horticulture, milling industry, poultry husbandry, clothing and textiles, food economics and nutrition, household economics, agricultural engineering, applied mechanics, machine design, civil engineering, electrical engineering, architecture, mechanical engineering, botany and plant pathology, chemistry, economics and sociology, education, English, entomology, history and civics, industrial journalism and printing, mathematics, modern languages, physics, zoology, and anatomy and physiology.

The graduate council has recently issued an announcement of available graduate and research assistantships. A copy of this can be secured from Doctor Ackert.

The subject matter of the posters may be any phase of Women's day or of May fete. All posters must be turned in to the women's physical education department by May 3. Posters submitted will not be returned.

TO APPEAR IN FESTIVAL

Mary Welch Was Classmate of Professor Pratt

"Miss Welch has a contralto voice of great richness, wide range and power and charms her audience by the earnestness and simplicity of her manner," is the comment made by the Chicago Herald and Examiner concerning Miss Mary Welch who comes to the college this year during festival week. She will appear both as a soloist in the oratorio "Elijah" and in a joint recital with Earnest Davis.

Miss Welch is a native of Mitchell, S. D., and has received all her vocal training from Mrs. W. S. Bracken of Chicago, the only living American pupil of Madame Pauline Viardot, and recognized as one of the leading voice teachers of America.

Prof. Ira Pratt was a classmate of Miss Welch's in Chicago. He says of her, "She is fast arriving at a position in the musical world that is second to none. She is recognized as one of the leading oratorio contraltos of America, besides being a very great recitalist."

Three Cuts Offered As an Inducement To Work April 29

When the roll is called on Tuesday I'll be there—or get three cuts. Prexy has delivered the ultimatum. Whether or not one has classes on Tuesday morning, cleanup day, if he is not present to answer to the roll he will receive three cuts.

The business for the day is to dig dandelions, pick up the paper, fix the tennis courts, and to build walks near the cafeteria and the gym. Some of the paths will be sodded.

Next Friday the names of every student with the place he is to report for work will appear in the Collegian. The faculty will also be required to work.

And don't forget to bring a knife with which to dig dandelions.

DAIRY JUDGERS CONTEST MAY 10

ENTRY FEE OF 50 CENTS TO BE CHARGED

Holstein, Ayrshire, Guernsey, and Jersey Will Be Judged—Dairy Faculty to Grade Reasons

The annual dairy judging contest will be held in the judging pavilion at 1 o'clock Saturday, May 10. Any regularly enrolled student, with the exception of the members of the regular judging teams and winners of previous contests, is eligible to enter.

Conducted by College Team

Two classes of each of the four chief dairy breeds—the Holstein, Ayrshire, Guernsey, and Jersey—will be judged and the reasons will be written for one class. The judgments and reasons will be graded by members of the dairy department faculty.

The contest is being conducted by members of the college team which took part in the national contest last fall. An entry fee of 50 cents is being charged and entry tickets will be on sale in Anderson hall May 9 and the morning of May 10.

150 Entered Contest Last Year

Last year nearly 150 students entered the contest and it is expected that even more will enter this year. There will be awards of medals, cash prizes, and subscriptions to dairy papers for the winners.

PURPLE MEETS WHITE IN PRACTICE GAME WEDNESDAY

All Students Invited to Witness Coming Fray

Although bleacher seats will not be available, the entire student body is invited to attend the football game between the "Purples" and "Whites" Wednesday afternoon on the field west of the home economics building.

The game will close spring football practice for 1924, according to Coach C. W. Bachman. Regular 15 minute quarters will be played.

FRESHMEN ARE HIGH IN INTERCLASS SWIM MEET

Junior-Senior Team Takes Second and Ties Sophs for Third

The freshmen placed first in the girls' annual swimming meet, held in the girls' pool Thursday afternoon. Merydrith Hooper, freshman, was high with 16 joints. The junior-senior team took second place and tied with the sophomores for third. The individual points were Merydrith Hooper, freshman, 16; Leonora Doll, senior, 11; Betty McCain, junior, 8; Gladys Renfro, sophomore, 8.

Announcement of the varsity swimming team, an honorary team chosen each year after the interclass meet, was made yesterday. The team consists of one freshman, Merydrith Hooper; two sophomores, Marybelle Sheetz and Gladys Renfro; one junior, Betty McCain; and two seniors, Elmira King, and Leonora Doll.

LECTURES TO WOMEN'S CLUB AT MANKATO LAST THURSDAY

Doctor Justin Points Out Responsibilities of Business Woman

"The woman in business and professional life can only advance as people come to admire more and more the type of woman in the field," said Dr. Margaret M. Justin in her address to the Business and Professional Women's club at Mankato, Thursday, April 17.

"The business of the woman in a profession or industry today is not alone to make her work profitable but also to carry her share of responsibility as a member of society," she continued, "and a part of the business of the business woman is to see that the labor laws are strictly observed. The observation of the rules of the Consumer's League against purchasing garments or products of sweat factories should be accepted by every business woman because only in that way can we have a business in the United States built on an honorable foundation."

Aside from the obligations of the business woman to her occupation there yet remains some responsibility to her state for maintaining the best government that intelligent citizenship can bring, Doctor Justin stated. This requires thoughtful acceptance of the responsibility of citizenship by women.

In addition to her responsibility to society and to her government the business woman has an important responsibility to herself for maintaining a vigorous intellectual life. According to Doctor Justin, all these things are included in the business of the business woman.

Being More Mysterious Than Headless Wonder to Appear at Ag Fair

Such a treat as has never been experienced before is in store this year for those who attend the Ag fair. After weeks of effort on the part of the fair association and the zoology department, the Chicago scientific bureau has consented to send here for exhibition a creature which has thus far baffled the leading scientists of the country. This creature is Zabol, the living head without a body.

Zabol has been in this country for about four months and during this time it has been under the constant observation of scientific and medical schools.

The peculiar being was discovered by Dr. Joal K. Barhou of the French government scientific research bureau on his last expedition to central Egypt.

Zabol will be exhibited by Dr. Winifred H. Scott, under whose care the head has been placed during its stay in Manhattan. A history of Zabol is being compiled, and will appear in an early issue.

DETAILS COMPLETED FOR BIG JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM

Eight Piece Orchestra Will Furnish Music

Arrangements for the junior-senior prom have been completed and the big party will go without a hitch Friday, April 25.

Among the out of town guests who have been invited are Governor Davis and his staff, and Chancellor Lindley, of the Kansas university.

The prom will be formal for women only, it was decided recently. The decorations are to be quite elaborate and a color scheme of purple and white will be carried out. Unusual lighting effects will be carried out. "Brick" English's eight piece orchestra from Lawrence will furnish the music.

"The junior-senior prom ought to be a pretty keen party with the united efforts of Vincent Bates of the agricultural division and myself of the architectural department," said Pat Getty, who is a member of the prom committee.

The plan is to make the prom this year exclusively a junior-senior affair and special rules have been made to make it such, for juniors and seniors who have freshman or sophomore dates will have to pay an additional sum of $1.10. Seniors who paid their dues do not pay for tickets, but those who did not pay their last year's assessment will be charged $2. The juniors assessment is $2.50.

HAS JOB FOR AGGIE GRAD

Kansas Men Make Good Says Professor Georgeson

Prof. C. C. Georgeson, a former professor of agriculture at K. S. A. C., now in charge of the Alaska agricultural experiment stations, has recently written to Professor Barnett for recommendations for a man to be sent to Matanuska, to take charge of one of the stations. In his letter, he said, "In my long experience here with men from different institutions the Kansas men have invariably proved to be the best. They are more practical, it seems than those from some of the other colleges. They adapt themselves more readily to pioneer conditions and every one of our Kansas men have made good."

Among the K. S. A. C. men who have worked under Professor Georgeson at the stations at Sitka, Rampart, Fairbanks, and Kodiak, are M. D. Snodgrass, '06, R. W. De Armond, f. s., G. W. Gasser, '05, F. E. Rader, '05, and W. T. White, '17. Clinton H. Morgan, '22, is another Aggie man in Alaska. He is head of the department in agronomy at the college at Fairbanks.

DEBATE WON BY AGGIE NEGATIVE

PENN STATE SQUAD ARGUES FOR WORLD COURT

K. S. A. C. Team Gains Unanimous Decision of Judges in Contest at Chapel Yesterday

The Kansas Aggie men's debating team won by an unanimous decision over the Penn State debaters in the chapel debate yesterday morning on the question: "Resolved; That the United States Should Enter the Permanent Court of International Justice, Subject to the Entrance Requirements Laid Down by Secretary of State Hughes." The debaters were Kansas Aggie, negative—Cecil Walt, John Wilkins, and Martin Fritz; Penn State, affirmative—D. B. Henry, W. P. Gifford, and H. J. Hartley.

Court Is Worthy of Support

The affirmative debaters held that a world court is needed, that it is in keeping with American ideals for America to support such a court, that this established court is worthy of our support and that the entrance of the United States into the court would strengthen it, and that the court is practicable and is a contributing agency toward world peace.

The negative argued that the established court lacks obligatory jurisdiction, that it can not apply international law when it is in conflict with the covenant of the league of nations, that the court is entirely dependent on the league, that the court is in itself unable to change itself in any way, and that better machinery for the perpetuation of world peace is in existence.

All Judges From Kansas

The judges were R. H. Ritchie, Ottawa university; C. S. Temple, Kansas Wesleyan university; and O. M. Rhine, Manhattan high school.

TALK BY BRAINARD OPENS GIRLS' LEADERSHIP WEEK

Joyce Gardiner of New York and Ethyl Myers of Manhattan Will Speak Today and Tomorrow

A week's course in girls' leadership for the purpose of giving college girls interested in high school organizations such as Campfire and Girl Reserves a short training in their duties as leaders, opened yesterday with a talk by Prof. P. P. Brainard. He discussed the Teen Age Girl Psychology, presenting the needs of high school girls and how best to meet them through clubs and other organized groups. In the evening Miss Grace Garrett of Kansas city gave a demonstration of handicraft.

On Tuesday and Wednesday the organization and plan of Campfire work and Girl Reserve clubs will be presented by Miss Joyce Gardiner of New York City, former national secretary of the Girl Reserve department of the Y. W. C. A., and Miss Ethyl Myers of Manhattan.

On Thursday evening at 7 o'clock, songs for use in club work such as pep and stunt songs will be taught. On Friday Mrs. B. A. Rogers will speak on "The Ideals of Girls," to be followed by an open discussion of the subject.

Hikes are scheduled for 10 and 1:30 o'clock on Saturday. On these instruction will be given in the blazing of trails, building fires, and camp cooking.

Any girl in school interested in this work is welcome to attend the meetings by enrolling in the Y. W. C. A. office.

FESTIVAL TICKET SALE OPENS

Prices $3 and $4 for Eight Numbers

The sale of exchange season tickets for the K. S. A. C. Spring Music festival opened Monday morning, it was announced yesterday by Prof. Ira Pratt, director of the festival. The sale will continue throughout the week and two days, April 28 and 29, will be set aside for exchange. The box office opens the following day, April 30.

The exchange tickets may be obtained at the chamber of commerce, the Brown and Kipp music stores, and in Anderson hall, Professor Pratt announced.

Mail orders, which started to come in earlier than usual this year are now being received in considerable numbers and they of course will be given precedence in the selection of seats before the box office sale begins.

The prices of season tickets for the eight number program are $3 and $4.

O TEMPORA, O MORES

"A dignified, social intercourse with refined and intelligent female society, has a happy effect upon the character. It tends to soften down asperities, promote cheerfulness, refine the feelings, and to save a young man from vicious company."

Thus did the Reverend H. Winslow write in "The Young Man's Guide" back in 1839.

"You may exert a powerful and happy influence upon your female acquaintances. Let the young man of any place give his example to virtue and piety, and his associates of the other sex will seldom fail to follow them. The strong fortress of the adversary will then be taken, vice will hide herself away in a dark corner, society will instantly rise to intelligence, virtue and religion."

Young men of America, to whom the Reverend Winslow "affectionately and respectfully" dedicated this volume, have you done your duty? Alas, it is to be feared that you have permitted yourselves to be lured away from these noble aspirations.

And how about your recreation?

Lead an ear to Brother Winslow:

"All games for money, whether by cards, chess, billiards, dice, ball-playing (how timely!) horse-racing, lotteries, etc., it would be superfluous here to condemn. It is here taken for granted that no young man who has self-respect and a sense of his moral accountability, will ever engage in gambling."

"But there are some so called innocent games, which may claim a passing notice. The various games of cards, when no money is staked, are by some considered a harmless amusement. But no game ought to be indulged in which does not improve the mind as well as excite and interest it. Backgammon is a perfectly idle and senseless game. Draughts and its kindred games have some more sense, but it is in a sense of no value. Chess is a more profound game, but to this also there are serious objections. It consumes much time, exhausts the mind, affords a mental discipline of very little if any value, and affords no exercise. Billiards afford more exercise, but it is in the confinement of a room; and the game affords no intellectual or moral improvement."

Now, Brothers, how about your manners? Can you pass the Reverend's tests?—"If you have over-shoes, leave them in the lobby or entry; if you have upon you an overcoat that is damp or dusty, leave that also in the entry. You will be likely to soil the furniture if you wear it into the parlor and sit with it on. Your hat should also be left in the entry or retained in your hand after you enter the parlor. Never put it down upon the furniture."

Do not put your hands upon the polished mahogany or marble; their warmth and moisture will tarnish the lustre, and it is difficult to restore it. Neither draw your feet about obliquely as though you would finish on the carpet what ought to have been done upon the mat. . . . Do not lean your head back against the wall; you are liable to leave an impression there which cannot be effaced until the whole room is painted and papered anew. Nor lean your arms or hands upon the centre-table. The centre-table was made to support the light and the books, not to lounge upon.

"You would never, of course, be so rude as to spit upon the floor or carpet, but it is not the best of manners even to spit in the fire. . . . Never sit with your chair tilted backwards on two legs. You are thereby in danger of manifold calamities, such as indenting the floor, cutting the carpet, breaking the chair and getting a fall."

And now a word concerning your attentions toward the weaker sex, and we are done, though the "Young Man's Guide" might be quoted indefinitely with pleasure and profit.

"Beware that you never trifle with female affections; you can hardly do anything more base and wicked. Be careful never to awaken any reasonable supposition of your having designs, unless you really have them and mean to execute them. The female heart is highly susceptible, easily prepared for disappointment, and when disappointed, the wound strikes deep."

"It is better for your own safety also, that all your intercourse with a lady, before your mind is fully made up, should be of such a nature as not to awaken the least suspicion. Then her conduct is more unconstrained and artless; you can study her mind and character better; you can make your inquiries of others and obtain honest answers."

Nebraska Asks Postponement
A Kansas Aggie-Nebraska tennis dual meet is scheduled for Friday afternoon on the Aggie courts. Nebraska has asked that the meet be postponed until sometime next month, according to M. F. Ahearn, director of athletics. Aggie officials favor holding it as scheduled.

"Already the dandelions are changed into vanishing ghosts."

We tell this tale as it came to us, from one who had it from another, who swears by the Lantern of Diogenes that he heard it from one who saw with his own eyes what took place. As to its truth, we cannot say. The one who told it first said that he rose early in the morning, before daybreak, because he was sore troubled with the Fever of Spring, and could not lie abed.

He walked to the Gates of the Campus, stumbling in the darkness, for it was not yet light. By the Seven Sacred Tuna Fish he swears that when he came to a certain place on the campus, he heard voices, and a child said to a man, "My father, why must we dig the dandelions so early in the morning? I would sleep longer."

"Hush, my Petit Guillaume, it is not for you to ask the questions, but dig. The Seekers after Knowledge will soon be coming. A sorry plight, indeed, is ours, should they find us here."

"But why, my father? Is it then wicked to dig the flowers?"

"Not wicked, my son. The basket, Guillaume—can you find it in the darkness?"

"It grows light, my father. The basket is near full, and my arms are weak with digging."

"Faster, my little one. The Seekers after Knowledge will clean the campus one day soon, and the Golden Petals will be no more."

"It grows so light. The sun is risen, and I am tired of digging. The basket is full. Let us take it to Maman."

"Ho, my Petit Guillaume! You have smelled the pretty blossoms till your face looks like a Pumpkin, full ripe, in the sun."

"But I found none with a pretty smell, my father."

"No, my son, it is not for their fragrance we dig."

"Father! Some one passes by! Is it a Seeker after Knowledge? He makes strange faces. He laughs! Strike him, father! Kill him!"

"Name of a name! Quick, Guillaume, the basket cover! We will leave this sinful place. But wait—he has gone, and here is an untouched patch. I—I cannot go."

"Father, dear father, come home with me now, the clock in the steeple will soon be striking, and Maman

Damon—"What was the name of that pencil Professor Williams was recommending this morning?"

Pythias—"Elderado—my boy. Elderado! Just think of a faded light of ease and happiness—where no one flanks—where pencils are the magic sticks of achievement. Then you can never forget it."

Some pitchers are wild and some are wilder. One twirler put a ball behind the batter and struck the bat on his shoulder. The ball bounded back for a perfect hunt and the batter deciding it was good for a hit faded away towards the initial bag. The catcher beat him to it and the runner was put out at first. He came back and wanted to bat again, claiming he did not strike at the pitcher's wild throw.

In an effort to gain lasting fame, the third baseman, short stop and second baseman of one team, all started after a high fly at once. They met with such a concussion that the ball bounded into the air and back into the hands of the pitcher who was hanging around the outskirts of the melee. The batter was out and so were the three members of the ambitious infield.

This week the intramural baseball teams have buckled down to real work and the number of errors has been decreased to a small per cent. Some of the budding young "Babe Ruths" are even going so far as to buy cleats to put on their Sunday oxfords.

With one down and a man on third a would be Ty Cobb came to the plate with a circuit clout in his eye. However, he had difficulty in getting his bat in contact with the hot ones and struck out. But he failed to recognize the umpire's signal and the slugger calmly remained at bat. Again he struck out and the side was retired. Naturally the retired team complained in numerous and various ways that the umpire should have called him out the first time. The umpire claimed a signal was as good as the spoken words, etc., and so the argument lasted far into the night.

FLOWERS ARE NOW IN BLOOM AT COLLEGE FORMAL GARDEN

Varieties to Be Labeled for Benefit of Visitors

The college formal garden, which was laid out in 1922 for experimental work as well as to beautify the college grounds, now has about 9,000 plants. The crocus, myrtle, snow-drop, scilla, low phlox, golden tuft, hyacinth, narcissus, and violets are already in blossom. The garden is located east of the horticulture building, and experiments are conducted here to find out what plants are adopted to this section of the state.

In the near future all varieties will be labeled so that visitors may know the names of the flowers with which they are not familiar. A trellis will also be built to support the vines in the garden.

North of the formal garden is a rose garden where 50 varieties of roses were planted this spring.

The United States department of agriculture has sent several plants to the college to be tried out under Kansas conditions.

Other colleges have been working on a garden of this kind for a number of years. The Cambridge botanical garden at Harvard was started 125 years ago. The garden at Pennsylvania State college was planted 75 years ago.

You won't fumble this cap!

Professional jugglers could handle the old-style shaving cream caps and never once drop one down the drain or under the bath tub. But for most of us, this new Williams Hinge-Cap puts an end to an ancient nuisance.

Williams Shaving Cream is just as much pleasanter to use as is the Hinge-Cap. It softens the beard with uncanny speed. The thicker lather holds the moisture in against the skin where it is needed. This lather lubricates the skin, too, so that painful razor friction is eliminated. And when your shave is done, that famous ingredient in Williams which helps the skin, leaves your face cool, soothed and refreshed. No coloring matter is used in Williams—it is a pure, natural-white shaving cream.

College men made good money selling Fuller Brushes last summer

Your summer vacation is all too short to waste any part of it in exploiting new or little known articles. Your business is to make sales and the profits on those sales. Your time should not be wasted in doing the work that should be done by the company at its expense.

College men chose Fuller Brushes because of the fact that they are almost a household word in the majority of homes. The extensive advertising of Fuller Brushes (color pages in the magazines of largest circulation) paved the way for these several hundred college men,—made them welcomed as Fuller men. Had they sold unheralded products,—had they been compelled to spend more than half their time telling what company they represented, and more time in trying to explain what the product was they were trying to sell, these college men would not have made half the money they made during their summer vacation period.

There are some fine territories in which we can place a limited number of college men who desire to work during their summer vacation. If you are one of these men desiring profitable employment, talk with

POULTRY JUDGES BEGIN WORK

Tryouts for Team Start This Afternoon

Students trying out for the Aggie poultry judging team will begin spring training on Tuesday, April 22, at 4 o'clock. This team competes each year with other teams from the larger agricultural colleges of the middle west.

The contest is held in connection with the Coliseum poultry show at Chicago during the early part of December, and any student who will have completed at that time one year of collegiate work in agriculture will be eligible for the team. Instructions will be given on all fundamentals of judging so that previous experience is not necessary.

All who are interested should report to H. H. Steup in Ag. 254 Tuesday, April 22, at 4 o'clock.

FORUM CONSIDERS LEAGUE OF NATIONS AT MEETING TUESDAY

Dr. A. A. Holtz Leads Discussion—Plan Four More Sessions

An animated discussion of the league of nations took place at the student forum held in home economics rest room, Tuesday evening.

Dr. A. A. Holtz started the meeting with a short talk on the league and its possibilities. Then the meeting was thrown open for discussion.

No decision was reached as to whether the United States should or should not enter the league, but the sentiment seemed to be in favor of such a course. Many interesting facts concerning the league were brought out in the course of the evening, such as the number of nations now in the league and what it has already done.

The forum will meet four more times this year. "Russia" will be the subject for discussion at the next meeting and will be led by Zaven Surmelian, an Armenian student who has some first hand information on the topic.

Y. W. GIRLS WILL GIVE PICNIC SUPPER THURSDAY

Will Take place of Regular Vesper Service

An all girls' picnic supper will take the place of the regular Y. W. C. A. vesper service this week. It will be held at lover's lane on Thursday afternoon from five to seven.

The new plan of committee organization for the Y. W. C. A. will be discussed and all girls will have the opportunity of learning of the work of the various committees and of choosing the one with which they wish to work.

This meeting is for every girl in college. Each girl is asked to bring her own lunch. In case it is not convenient to prepare her own, the college cafeteria has agreed to put up lunches consisting of sandwiches, pickles, fruit, and cake or cookies for 25 cents. Orders must be in by Wednesday noon and should be made through the Y. W. C. A. office.

Why work overtime?

The student who works overtime is often the one who, for some reason, is not truly efficient. The almost imperceptible slowing-down of his thinking necessitates spending more time and labor on his work.

It is a surprising fact that much of this inefficiency is due to a slight neglect in eating. Many people do not realize that all the healthful, nutritive and laxative properties of whole wheat bran can be secured in a really tempting breakfast dish.

Post's Bran Flakes, while retaining all the natural properties of bran, have a rich, appetizing flavor that is deliciously different. Crisp, crunchy, and nut-brown, Post's Bran Flakes appeal to the most critical.

To satisfy your taste and your reason, try Post's Bran Flakes for tomorrow's breakfast. You will be treating yourself to a pleasant surprise, and storing up hours, not for "overtime," but for recreation.

No Dope Available on Kansas Babe Ruths—Cousaut Works on Hitting

Unless one Jupiter Pluvius favors Manhattan with a good sized shower in the immediate future Aggie baseball fans will be forced to journey to the Manhattan city park field for the first home games of the season against the University of Kansas Friday and Saturday. Should the rain come in time, Friday will see the opening of the new Varsity field west of the engineering building.

Aggie Prospects Bright

Seats for a crowd of 1,500 will be erected, and M. F. "Mike" Ahearn, director of athletics, expects to have them filled.

Chances for an Aggie victory in one or both games are exceedingly bright, despite the fact that the Wildcats dropped three out of four games on their recent road trip. Fielding and pitching were fair enough in the first four games, according to Coach C. W. Cousaut, but a batting attack was conspicuous only by its absence in three of the contests.

K. U. Takes Measure of Washburn
Both Henry Karns, pitcher, and Ralph Karns, shortstop, are nursing sore arms, but hope to have the kinks worked out by Friday. Swartz, Staley, Karns, and Ernst will comprise the infield against Kansas, with Captain Aikins, Barth, Munn, and Harter to choose from for the outfield positions.

The Kansas team has not played a Valley game yet, but managed to struggle through to a victory over Washburn last week with only four letter men in the lineup. Last year the Jayhawks were the class of the Valley, and took the measure of the Aggies in three of the four games between the two schools.

Wildcats Still in Race

The Aggies are far from out of the championship race for 1924 if they start hitting in their next game and keep it up.

DATE OF ONE ACT PLAYS CHANGED TO CAMPUS DAY

Specialties Between Acts Will Shorten Waits
Because of the freshman-sophomore hop, the date for the one act plays given by the dramatic production class will be changed to April 29, Campus day.

The casts for the plays have been chosen from a large number of people who tried out. Special scenery is being designed and colored lights will be used to make the plays more effective. Special numbers will be given between scenes to do away with any long waits.

Tennis Tourney Begins

First round matches of the intramural tennis tournament got under way yesterday afternoon. All first round games in both singles and doubles must be played off before tomorrow night unless permission to postpone them is secured from E. A. Knott.

Non-intramural players are requested to remain off the courts during the afternoons for which tournament play is scheduled.

ENROLMENT FOR THIS YEAR REACHES 3,808

Attendance in 1863 Was 107—Passed 3,000 Mark in 1919-20

That the necessity of a college education is becoming more apparent to the people of Kansas each year is evidenced by the steady increase in enrolments at the Kansas State Agricultural college. The agricultural college has an enrolment for the year 1923-1924 of 3,808 students while the number taking part in college work during the first year of the college, 1863-'64, was 107. In 1899-1900 the attendance was 1,094. The 3,000 mark was not reached until 1919-1920. Sixty-three per cent of the 3,808 students enrolled this year are men.

The general science division, comprised of the courses in general science, rural commerce, music, industrial chemistry and industrial journalism, has an enrolment of 1,102, the largest of any division at the college. The other divisions, with the enrolments of each are engineering, 803; home economics, 530; agriculture, 453; and veterinary medicine, 58. The vocational school and short courses have decreased from 220 to 168 and 177 to 122 students, respectively.

Graduate and advanced work for '23-'24 has a larger number of students enrolled than ever before as the total enrolment is 189, with an increase of 63 students over last year. The last summer session had an increase of nine per cent over that of 1922.

STUDENTS OF ACOUSTICS BUILD WOODEN LARYNX

Use Giant Voice Box to Demonstrate Action of Vocal Cords—Floyd Teaches Course

A wooden larynx of a size such as would be found in a man 45 feet tall is a part of the special equipment used by the students of musical acoustics at the Kansas State Agricultural college. The larynx model is used in demonstrating the action of the cartilages, muscles, and nerves which control the vocal cords, giving rise to the speaking and singing voice.

The course is taught by Prof. E. V. Floyd, who spends much of his time devising special apparatus for use in this undeveloped field. Special investigations are carried on by members of the class. Many of these lead to the discovery of principles which find application in the field of music.

One experiment in the line of musical acoustics was designed by Miss Dorothy Sanders, Manhattan, to show the effect of a dry climate on a musician's voice. It consisted of three metal tube resonators, each tuned to the same fork, two of which were lined with velvet. The velvet lining in one tube was thoroughly soaked with water. The fork responded loudly when held over the unlined tube, equally loud when held over the wet velvet tube, and not at all when over the dry velvet tube.

"It is a well known fact," said Professor Floyd, "that vocalists sing with difficulty in a dry climate. The tone is poor and usually sharp. The experiment suggests this explanation. Inhalations of dry air remove some of the water from the mucous membranes, thus drying the linings of the resonance cavities. Then, recognizing that his tone is poor, the vocalist diverts more energy into the singing mechanism. The lips are membranous reeds and are invariably shaped by overblowing."

"It is interesting to note," he continued, "that nature in supplying a mucous lining to the throat, nose, and mouth, thus giving us comfort and a lodging place for protective cells, did not in any way harm those cavities as resonators."

Two members of the class are working out an experimental study in the shaping of clarinet mouthpieces. This requires very particular work as the mouthpiece must be shaped to suit the individual.

The musical acoustics course at the college is the only course of this kind given in the United States, with the exception of that offered in the Army Music school in Washington, D. C. Professor Floyd, who has charge of the work here, believes that a musician of college rank should know something of the science of his art. In accordance with this idea, he organized this course.

Professor Floyd is giving his research time for the purpose of outlining and developing the field. At the present time he is engaged in research work on the resonance of spherical shells. The apparatus gives data from which resonance response curves may be plotted for shells of different dimensions. The spherical shells are useful in the analysis of the speaking and singing voice, as well as of instruments.

The information which this research work leads to may be directed toward the manufacture of the resonance shells, which have been manufactured only in Germany. Since the world war none has been made.

SEVEN FACULTY MEMBERS ATTEND HOME EC MEETING

Doctor Justin Gives Talk on Current Problems

The first state convention of the Home Economics association was held in Topeka Saturday. Members of the K. S. A. C. faculty who attended the meeting were Dr. Margaret M. Justin, Prof. Amy Jane Leazenby, Prof. Martha Pittman, Dr. Martha Kramer, Miss Pearle Ruby, and Miss Katherine Hudson.

Doctor Justin spoke on "Current Problems in Home Economics." The talk was based upon a questionnaire which has been sent out to all the high schools of the state to determine what was needed most in the home economics work. The chief problems according to Doctor Justin are how to raise the requirements for instructors, and to organize a course of study.

science. Lucile is majoring in social science so she can be a social worker and be among people.

"A hobby," she said thoughtfully, when asked if she had one, "A hobby—oh, I haven't any hobby. I just like people."

"My opinion about some vital question—cribbing for instance? I am glad the Collegian brought it up. I don't believe that 98 per cent of the students crib, unless you call copying a theme or notes or a lesson before class, cribbing. I call cribbing taking a pony to an exam and I know that not 98 per cent of the students do that."

Hutchinson is Lucile's home town. She said she decided to come to K. S. A. C. to school when some of her friends went to K. U. and returned a bit snobbish. She likes the atmosphere at K. S. A. C.

Lucile is president of Chi Omega, a member of Enchiladas, of the Y. W. C. A., and of Women's Panhellenic. She was the Women's Panhellenic representative from K. S. A. C. to the Indianapolis convention last winter. She placed first in the Royal Purple popularity contest.

BABE RUTHS OPEN HOME SEASON ON CITY DIAMOND

2,000 Bleacher Seats Erected for K. U. Game—Conroy and Biehn Battery

"Battery for the Aggies will be Conroy and Biehn." City Park field will be the scene of the first home game of the Aggie baseball season at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and the University of Kansas the opposition.

Batting practice and still more batting practice every night has developed the hitting eyes of Wildcat squad members until Adolfo Luque himself on the Jayhawk squad would have no terrors.

Failure of one J. Pluvius and E. C. Converse to provide a rain in time has forced the postponement of the formal opening of Varsity field indefinitely, according to M. F. Ahearn, director of athletics.

The two teams will clash again tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Henry Karns or Edward Conroy pitching.

Bleacher seats for 2,000 persons have been set up, and "Mike" expects to have them nearly all filled. Single admission tickets are 75 cents and season tickets $3. Varsity activity tickets will admit.

Despite the fact that the Aggies dropped three of their first four Valley games on the late lamented road trip, chances for a title are far from gone if the batting slump remains buried.

Kansas is rated as fairly strong, but has yet to prove itself against a team of Valley calibre. Only four letter men held over from last year's Jayhawk team, which took first in the Valley.

The Aggie lineup for today's game: Biehn, catcher; Conroy, pitcher; Swartz, first base; Staley, Hogin, or Lutz, second base; Ernst, third base; R. Karns, short stop; Atkins, left field; Barth, center field; H. Karns, right field.

DEGREES OF CRIBBING DEFINED BY S. S. G. A.

Students Guilty of Cheating Will Lose Credit in Course and Be Reprimanded by President

Persons who are up before the S. S. G. A. discipline committee charged with cheating in examinations will not be expelled from school, nor will their names be given publicity, it was decided at a recent meeting of the discipline committee. Instead, they will be deprived of credit in the subject in which they were caught cribbing, and will be reprimanded by their dean and President Jardine.

Cribbing was divided by the committee into the following classes:

First degree—when material has been prepared to take to examination for the purpose of improving the grade. This is premeditated crime.

Second degree—when after the student is in class he gives or receives information.

Third degree—when in such quizzes as the true and false, answers are signified by signs which are known to all.

"There are still those who think that offenders should be made public and there is a tendency to be more strict in the future," the committee chairman declared. "There seems to be quite a strong sentiment too that those guilty of first degree cheating should be expelled from school for the remainder of the semester. However these methods will not be used this semester."

"EVERYBODY OUT" ON CAMPUS DAY

CLEAN-UP SQUADS READY FOR WORK APRIL 29

Will Report at 8 O'clock—Cuts to Be Meted Out to Absentees—Coeds Serve Free Lunch

"Everybody out" is the slogan for the first annual Campus day, April 29. Plans for the day are nearly completed, and the various committees have chosen their squads and outlined the work that is to be done. The Campus Cleaners will report at 8 o'clock, and answer to roll call, before and after work, so that absentees may be carefully checked. Three cuts will be meted out for failure to report according to schedule. Free lunch, and plenty of it, will be served on the campus.

The R. O. T. C., not in regular uniform, will report as follows: Monday afternoon battalion, inside the gym; Monday morning battalion, in the quadrangle at the flag pole; Saturday morning battalion, at the quadrangle south of the library.

Definite meeting places have not been assigned to faculty members, but they are asked to work wherever their help is most needed.

The list of students, and where they will meet, follows:

MISS BURR WRITES PAGEANT

"Symbol Of Union" Is Title of Summer School Production

"The Symbol of Union, the Story of the Great West" is the title of the 1924 summer school pageant. The pageant was written by Miss Osceola Burr, and will be presented under her direction on the evening of July 4.

"The Kansas State Agricultural college is the only institution in the middle west that offers courses in pageantry and has a tradition of an annual patriotic fourth of July pageant," said Miss Burr in making the announcement.

Next summer's pageant will be the second of a trilogy which was planned by Miss Burr. The first pageant, produced originally in 1922 and repeated last summer, recited the history of America from Columbus through the Revolution. "The Symbol of Union" will continue the story through the Civil war. The last of the trilogy, which probably will be the 1925 summer session pageant, will bring the story of America up to the present time.

"The summer session pageant has become a college tradition even though the custom began only two years ago," said Miss Burr in commenting upon her work recently. "It is truly a community expression. The townspeople, the students and faculty, all cooperate by actually taking part in the program. All participants are of equal value to the pageant picture. The pageant becomes a community cooperative art, and there is no caste in art. Pageantry recognizes the artist that lives in the conscious or subconscious mind of every intelligent creature. Pageantry makes for grace of body, ease of manner, literary appreciation, clear diction, richer emotions, style in raiment, and adds to the general store of culture and happiness of mind."

Captain E. W. Skinner, '16, and Ruth (Adams) Skinner, '16, visited this week in Manhattan. They will return the latter part of April to their home at Quantico, Va., where Captain Skinner is stationed.

An Explanation

An explanation regarding the non-appearance of the name of R. C. Langford on the S. S. G. A. election ballot was unintentionally left out of Tuesday's Collegian. Mr. Langford is ineligible for the office of vice-president. He is a junior, and the constitution requires that the candidate be an underclassman.

The fact of Mr. Langford's ineligibility was not discovered until after the student mass meeting, according to Guy C. Bartgis, president of the S. S. G. A.

THIS YEAR'S PROM TO BE DIFFERENT READ STATES

Novelty Dancer from Kansas City Is Feature in Freshman-Sophomore Hop Program

"Brick" English's eight piece orchestra is going to be here for sure, according to Gladwin Read, junior-senior prom manager. The prom is formal for women only, as decided recently by the committee in charge.

The program is being kept a deep dark secret. All that has been said by the program committee under Gladys Sanford, is that, "You'll be surprised."

"It has been the aim of the management," said "Doc" Read, "to make this year's prom a different affair than in former years. We are not planning to give you any of that 'long haired stuff' in the form of a program. I'm afraid though that some who intend to come have waited too long to get their tickets and will have to buy them at the door tonight."

Read has been working hard on the party and is satisfied that "at least there will be enough of the best grade punch for the entire school." He warns all juniors and seniors not to miss this year's prom.

Governor Davis is expected to be a guest at the prom. Chancellor Lindley of Kansas university has sent word that he will be unable to attend due to the fact that the junior-senior prom at the university is to be on Friday night also.

The freshman sophomore hop has all indications of being a big party. "Brick" English's eight piece orchestra will furnish the music and the hop committee have in addition a novelty dancer from Kansas City, the college male quartet and features by local talent on the program. The prom decorations will be used for the hop. Joe Kent is manager of the hop. He reports that the ticket sales have been good.

Democracy Is More Evident in Summer Declares H. W. Davis

Summer school isn't all sweaty toil as one might think. The sun may be scorching hot and the temperature 100 degrees in the shade, but the summer students toss dull care to the burning winds and play part of the time. Many members of the faculty and students say that one can have more fun in the summer than in the winter.

There is an evident "let down" or relaxation during the summer. The regular social machinery is broken down and a freedom, characterized by fun and good will, pervades the campus. Some sort of college entertainment is planned for once every two weeks. The mixers, as they are called, usually consist of a program or play followed by dancing. Last year the mixers proved so popular that it was necessary to transfer them from Recreation center to Nichols gymnasium in order to accommodate the students.

According to Prof. H. W. Davis, who has charge of the summer school mixers, democracy, in which we take so much pride here in this institution, is even more evident in the summer than in the winter session. He recommends a summer course to any student as a profitable way in which to spend a part of his summer.

SUMMER SCHOOL OPENS MAY 31

HOLTON EXPECTS 1,800 TO ATTEND SESSION

Students Can Take Half a Semester of Regular College Work—Pageant on July 4

"High standards and straight thinking" is the motto for the 1924 Aggie summer school term which is expected to have an increased enrolment of 400 students over that of last year when nearly 1,000 enrolled. Registration for the summer term begins May 31.

Appeal to Workers

"We are not trying to compete with the vacation summer schools in the mountains," E. L. Holton, dean of the summer school, declared. "Our summer school is not a resort for those who are running away from work. We are making our appeal to those who want work. However, we will have recreation features."

Students can take a half semester of regular college work during the summer school, giving them an opportunity to finish their course in a shorter time or to elect courses they cannot otherwise get during the regular college year.

Weekly Visits by Superintendents

Practically all departments are offering courses during the summer school and are retaining a sufficient number of their faculty members to insure the best instruction to the students. The department of education is especially giving a variety of courses to accommodate the teachers of the state who spend the summer months at school. According to a newly passed law, graduates of accredited high schools may obtain a one-year certificate to teach by taking eight hours of college work. The number of high school seniors planning to teach who will take advantage of this law is expected to make the large increase over last year in enrolment. A total enrolment of 1,300 is expected this summer.

Weekly visits by Kansas superintendents of schools who will give daily talks upon practical school problems for young children will be one of a number of innovations of the next summer session of the Kansas State Agricultural college, according to an announcement by Dean E. L. Holton.

Repeat Leadership School

The athletic program for the summer will be in the hands of Prof. M. F. Ahearn, Coach Charles Bachman, and Coach C. W. Corsaut.

The school of community leadership which was successful in its first session last year will begin again this year. Pastors, teachers, and leaders from the towns and rural districts of Kansas are interested in this course.

Patriotic Pageant July 4

A patriotic pageant to be given July 4, community singing, debate, dramatic productions, and school mixers similar to the activities of the winter term are also included in the summer school plans.

Dean Holton will be glad to answer any question concerning the school if students will call at his office in A27. A summer school catalogue, including information in courses given, instructors, and general knowledge of the work are also in the office for those who wish a copy.

Install Advestising Fraternity

University of Oklahoma, April 17. (By M. V. I. N. S.)—The Sooner Advestising club of the University of Oklahoma is being installed as a chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma, professional and honorary advestising fraternity, according to the president of the club.

STUDENTS AND FACULTY BLAMED FOR BOOK LOSS

Open Library System Cannot Continue if Privileges Are Abused—Faculty Discusses Solution

The question of the mutilation of library books was presented at a recent faculty meeting by Miss Grace Derby. According to Miss Derby, faculty members as well as students are responsible for the mutilation of magazines and the complete loss of books and periodicals from the library.

"In an open library such as that at K. S. A. C. a certain amount of mutilating of materials is inevitable," Miss Derby said, "but such wholesale violations of library privileges as have occurred within the past semester must be stopped. It hardly seems probable that students are failing to recognize the value to themselves of the open system, and yet it cannot exist if they refuse to accept responsibility for the books and magazines placed at their disposal."

According to the librarians the students and faculty members have acquired the habit of walking out with books without checking them out, and sometimes the book falls to return. The clipping of illustrations, feature stories, and ads from magazines has made it very difficult for the library to maintain perfect files. Moreover there have been in several instances cases of mutilation of books by cutting out plates of graphs.

"The practice is seemingly on the increase now and college sentiment must be aroused against it," Miss Derby declared. "The librarians will not maintain a police system and if free access to material is to continue, mutilation of this property must cease."

ENTER EXTEMPO CONTESTS

Aggies will Compete at Washburn Wednesday—Tryouts Monday

Extemporaneous speaking tryouts on some of the phases of the American national political situations will be held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the public speaking office, under the direction of Professor Shinn. Three students will be selected to represent K. S. A. C. Wednesday evening in a contest between Washburn, Kansas State Teachers college, and K. S. A. C. The contest will be held at Washburn.

This is the first extemporaneous speaking contest ever held in Kansas. The public speaking department is planning to add a considerable amount of extemporaneous speaking to the forensic program of the school in the future.

INVESTIGATE SUMMER SCHOOL

YOU will find that it offers you extraordinary advantages. It cuts down the expense and the years of your college education. It enables you to straighten out your course if you are irregular, or to get ahead of your regular schedule. It is much more profitable than working during the summer months. It enables you to start "paying back" sooner.

Nearly a thousand were in attendance last summer. There will be more this year. Get a catalog and study it. See just what the summer school has to offer YOU. You will be surprised at how much you can profit by staying.

INTOLERANCE IN THE COLLEGES

Intolerance should be the last thing to thrive in colleges. It should find no place in the minds of the young men and women of America who have been chosen to receive a higher education because of mental and physical superiority, and constantly educated away from the single view of the capitalist or the laborer; the aristocrat or the plebeian; the conservative or the radical; for radicals are often the most bigoted.

Yet the reverse is true. Thirty-eight students of Northwestern university have recently declared their refusal to participate in war, and 150 more students of the Garrett Biblical Institute passed a resolution "demanding the abolition of the army, navy, and Reserve Officers' Training Corps." Regardless of the fact that the first declaration would be of no consequence in time of war, or that the second is too inclusive to receive much attention, these articles represent an earnest conviction. They were made with care and express a desire for a better world. However, this expression of opinion threw the university, the neighboring church, and the cultured classes of the supporting town into a hubbub of "patriotism." Flags were furled in the bazaar. They were displayed in the Methodist church and in the university gymnasium. Soldiers paraded and bands played. In fact, these worthy "patriots" were so keenly incensed that Dr. E. F. Little, pastor of the First Methodist church, while standing under two flags, admitted he had made a mistake in allowing a conscientious objector who had served a term in Leavenworth, speak from the church platform. But the students themselves were the most intolerant.

A Russian-American veteran of the World war was kicked out of a classroom by a group of student "patriots" who did not stop long enough to discover what his views were on the subject of pacifism.

What can we expect of the masses, if the educated classes display such intolerance?—Colorado Silver and Gold.

Courses Easier and Profs More Lenient During Summer Term

A little smaller crowd, a little more lenient profs, a little easier courses, in fact, an all around jollier time characterizes K. S. A. C. summer school in comparison to the regular terms.

A different set of people come in for summer school and not nearly so many of them, and there is more opportunity for forming close friendships than in the whirlwind of winter and spring activities. The summer literary society organization affords a jolly good time for any one who cares to come. Last summer several mixers were held, the first in recreation center but the large crowd there necessitated the use of the gym for the second.

The school work isn't generally so tedious as the work of the winter for the classes begin at seven o'clock and unless a student is unfortunate enough to be enrolled in a laboratory course, he doesn't have afternoon classes. So there are many hikes and picnic suppers at Wildcat or Prospect hill.

There's no better time for a game of tennis than a summer evening and the half dozen college courts and the courts in the city park are kept occupied until it is too dark to play. The athletic department is planning to have 10 new courts west of those now in use, for the use of the summer school students. So every one who knows the game may play and those who do not know may learn.

Summer school is not without its holidays. On the Fourth the students have the day to themselves and in the evening the classes in pageantry present the summer school pageant which is written and directed by the instructor in pageantry.

Besides all the college activities there are the downtown amusements. The movies are even more popular than in the winter and the skating rinks and the swimming pool are open for the use of the students.

BUNK

Dear Editor:

During my life I have seen and heard much BUNK, yea, a great deal of BUNK, but never quite so much at one time as has appeared in the Collegian during the last two weeks about cribbing. Several times during my college career I had it impressed upon me that the average college student is among the highest type of American citizen to be found. Granting that said far fetched statement is true, who would think of accusing the student body at K. S. A. C. of being composed of 98 per cent cheats, or 50 per cent, or even 10 per cent. The Faculty seems to have swallowed the entire story and there can be but one reason for it. A very large percentage of the student bodies of bygone days must have been cheats also and I infer that our faculty is fairly representative of former student bodies.

However, no fair minded person would think anything of the kind of the Faculty, nor of the student body. Such large doses of unadulterated BUNK have no place in the Collegian. It is just the kind of advertising we don't need, and I cherish a fond hope that the lack of something to write about will never cause another temperamental student to start another line of BUNK that will do as much harm to the College as the story about cribbing did.—W. N. H.

MORE ABOUT "BUNK"

To the Editor:

I have just finished setting this story about "bunk," so I am writing more bunk—because anything written about bunk has to be bunk.

W. N. H. seems to think that not even 10 per cent of the students have ever cheated in any way. I would recommend that he have his eyes examined. I'd be willing to bet my surplus three to one that he is near sighted—because I see it in some of my classes and I always sleep with one eye during an examination.

Perhaps W. N. H., would prefer some spring poetry from the pen of the temperamental student who runs out of something to write—that at least wouldn't stir up anything.—The Night Operator.

MIDDLETON AND PRATT GLASSMATES AT SIMPSON

Sing Together in Glee Club and Both Play in College Band

Arthur Middleton, the great baritone who is to take the leading solo role in the oratorio, "Elijah" during Festival week, was born in the town of Missouri Valley, Iowa, where he later received his high school education. From Missouri Valley Mr. Middleton attended the conservatory of music at Simpson college for five years and it was during his last two years of college that Prof. Ira Pratt and he were students together. Prof. Pratt and Mr. Middleton were in the same glee club and band. In the band Middleton played the bass drum and Pratt the slide trombone.

Arthur Middleton went from college to Chicago where he secured one of the leading choir positions. There he studied hard and waited for the opportunity which finally came to him through the sickness of a prominent baritone who was to sing in "Elijah" at the Appollo club in Chicago. Mr. Middleton accepted the offer to sing this difficult role of "Elijah" at a moment's notice and without rehearsal did it so much better than Chicago had ever dreamed that his future was assured immediately.

Mr. Middleton's first appearance in the role of Elijah was made during his college days 20 years ago. Professor Pratt sang in the chorus at that time. Since the first appearance Arthur Middleton sang the part over 300 times in America, and is today recognized as the world's greatest Elijah. The Chicago Tribune says, "The singer is so good that he is lone some in his class."

In his appearance here on May 10, Mr. Middleton will sing the part of "Elijah" and Prof. Ira Pratt will conduct.

The Sigma Delta Chi Branding Iron was a very nice party, according to Dame Rumor. Since no women are ever allowed at these affairs, it is extremely difficult to get a fair and accurate account of what transpires, but we will do the best we can by our readers.

Morey had an awful time with his Tux. He strode into the Collegian office just before the party, wild eyed and disheveled, shouting for Posey. A little later Posey came in, rushed to the telephone, and frantically asked Information if she knew where he could get "a long shanked collar button for Morey." The quick-witted girl called a taxi station, and in less than an hour a collar button was delivered to Kedzie hall.

We must digress here to make a confession to our readers, a confession which shows to what low depths even the most high-minded will sink when the provocation is great enough. We do not say it boastfully, but we cannot conscientiously hide the fact that we could have saved Morey 60 minutes of mental strain. We had a safety pin in our pocket—twice we almost handed it to him—but the insulting way in which the women had been absolutely ignored in connection with the party gave us pause—and we kept the pin.

Harold had his troubles too. In the excitement of getting ready for his first big party he got hold of the wrong dress suit, and for half an hour tried in vain to cover the expanse between his knees and his ankles. Coaxing and persuasion were of no avail. The harder he pulled downward, the more determined were the trousers to reach upward, toward the light. They just simply would not say put. He finally effected a compromise with the suit—and that settled, found he had forgotten a shirt.

Again Triple Three responded nobly and before long the Beau Brummel of Sigma Delta Chi was as fully dressed as the length of his trousers would permit. There were no studs for the shirt, but a row of collar buttons looked very well, and gave just that artistically careless effect which is the aim of every man who reads Vanity Fair.

Everybody else looked very nice, and most of them had a good time. Freddie didn't. We felt genuinely sorry for him, and for Mr. Englund. Poor Mr. Englund was so overcome by emotion that he could hardly speak, and the dear little lady—but we must not drag her name into the column. It would not be ethical, and Campus Echoes is always ethical.

CLASS IN DIETETICS SERVES MOCK WEDDING BREAKFAST

All Appointments of Real Occasion Carried Out

A wedding breakfast was served Thursday at 12 o'clock in the home economics dining room as a problem in the last week of the marketing and serving part of the dietetics course. All of the appointments of a real wedding were carried out in minute detail under the direction of Mina Bales, instructor in food economics and nutrition.

Plum blossoms were used in profusion about the room and on the tables which were lighted with unshaded candles. The table at which the bridal party sat was centered with a large wedding cake. Attractive favors of white wedding bells and small boxes of wedding cake marked each place.

APPEAR IN JUNIOR RECITAL

Frances Allison and Blanche Berry Give Program Monday

On Monday, April 21, the department of music presented Frances M. Allison, pianist, and Blanche L. Berry, soprano, in junior recital at the college auditorium.

The program was divided into six groups. The first played by Miss Allison, consisted of "Allegro" by C. P. E. Bach, "Pastorale" by Scarlatti, "Gavotte" by Martini, and "La Voltigeuse" by Marpurg. "Care Selve" by Handel and "With Verdure Clad" by Hadyn sung by Miss Berry were followed by "Sonata, Op. 10 No. 3," "Largo e mesto," "Menuetto," and "Country Dance C Major" by Beethoven. The second vocal group consisted of "By Moonlight" and "The Soldier's Bride" by Schumann, and "A Thought Like Music" by Brahms. Miss Allison's last numbers were "Song, op. 55 No. 5," "Improvisation," and "Arabesque" by MacDowell. The program was concluded by the songs, "A Birthday," by Woodman, "Pierrot" by Rubner, and "The Last Song" by Rogers.

Perhaps Miss Berry's best numbers were her second group. Her voice is well placed and of fine flute-like character. In all her songs she had excellent intonation and good tone.

Miss Allison gave a particularly splendid rendition of her Beethoven numbers. Her interpretation of Beethoven was sincere and showed understanding of the massiveness of the movements. Her playing was very musical and her poise and musicianship were remarkable.

BOOSTER OR KNOCKER?

We are going to talk to you students today just as though you were permanent residents of this city. You are spending a very vital portion of your lives here in an endeavor to accumulate knowledge such as will, in most instances, lay the foundation for your future, and in the combination which enters into that formation should be found, Honesty, Integrity, Loyalty and Unselfishness.

Now it takes all of these good points to make what is known as a truly good citizen. A man could be a pretty good Booster without having all of these traits, but he couldn't be a Knocker and have either one of them. A "Knocker" is just a bad citizen. He is the worst sort of a liability to any community, while a good citizen and a Booster is undoubtedly an asset. Don't forget the difference.

The citizen who is constantly knocking his town, business conditions, the way the National Government is being handled, or anything that pertains to the welfare of the country or community, is a menace and it is regrettable there are no laws that make it possible to lock him up in a cell.

The citizen who realizes that the present, with its battle for monetary gain, is of secondary importance, and strives to construct for the future on a live-and-let-live basis, is the fellow worth while. In these days of keen economic competition, a community must work together, unselfishly, as a whole like a piece of fine machinery, each part adding its bit toward the completion of the finished product, in order to obtain the utmost in the direction of community upbuilding.

One of the best ways to help a community is to do your utmost in helping to keep the finances of that community circulating at home as much as possible. This cardinal law of community upbuilding could be even more rigidly practiced here in Manhattan than is being done at present. We have here a very representative line of businesses. From them you students, as well as you permanent residents, can obtain, at fair prices, practically anything you may need for your welfare and comfort. Buy from them.

They will in return give you value received and probably be able to show their appreciation in many ways. As a result you are contributing to the welfare of the community and doing your bit toward making for prosperity and for happiness. Even though you are but transients, so to speak, you would like to see the community prosper, so back up the men who back the City, men who build and boost, men who have other uses for a hammer than to knock with it.

There is an old, but true, saying that "Time Is Money." You will save time by buying from the local firms. Check over carefully the names of those whose ads appear on this page and you will find that you can buy almost anything in the realm of common demand and without even so much as having to go down town to do so. This saves time.

These men are progressive. They are constantly striving for a better and greater Manhattan, and it seems to us that it is up to each of us to do our bit by joining with them in everything that will work for the betterment of the community.

Start in right here and learn a never-to-be-forgotten lesson in Home Loyalty and Boosterism. It may prove, when you get out into the business world, to be worth as much to you as anything else you learned during your college years. Anyhow, it's a good thing to think about and a good thought never will do any harm.

Wherever you go from here, no matter where you decide to locate, be a loyal, honest-to-goodness booster. Boosterism makes towns grow; starts new enterprises; foments brotherly love; welcomes the stranger and gives him a chance; and the gates of every city are always open to a genuine booster.

Be sure to read Article No. 5 next week. Each one has, for you, a lesson worth while.

RESULTS VERIFY TEST PREDICTIONS

PETERSON OBSERVES GRADES OF 216 ENGINEERS

Intelligence Tests Furnish Basis for Prediction of Future Success
Says Psychology Professor

"A more accurate prediction of a college student's first year's grades can be made upon the basis of one-half hour of mental testing," declares Dr. J. C. Peterson, professor of psychology at K. S. A. C., "than from all his high school grades combined."

Observes Group of Engineers

"It has also been found that intelligence tests furnish a more accurate basis for the prediction of success in college than do the ordinary entrance examinations."

Doctor Peterson bases his statement of the record of a group of engineers from the time they enrolled as freshmen at K. S. A. C., to the year of their graduation, or the year in which they should have been graduated.

Choose 216 Freshmen

In the fall of 1919, 216 freshmen freshmen engineers were examined. They were then ranked, according to their scores, from highest to lowest. Four groups were formed from this ranking, with 54 freshmen in each group.

During the next four years Doctor Peterson and his assistants kept careful account of the work done by these students. Following the 1923 commencement a number of significant facts were noted.

Group I Makes Best Showing

In Group I, the group ranking highest in intelligence tests, 15 received degrees in engineering. Eleven from Group II were graduated from the division of engineering, as were four from Group III. In Group IV, the group which made the lowest grades in the intelligence tests four years previous, there was not one graduate in engineering.

Of course, a considerable number of the original 216 had dropped out of college at one time or another.

Some of these stayed out a year or two to work.

Only Nine in School

Only nine of the lowest fourth were in school during the college year 1922-23. Four were classified as seniors in engineering, but as has been stated above, none of the lowest fourth received degrees from the division of engineering.

A record was also kept of assignments. During the college year 1919-20 19 of the lowest fourth attempted to carry the three courses—chemistry, physics, and mathematics—simultaneously. Eighteen of these students failed to make a passing average in the three courses.

Two-thirds of all the grades received by the 19 were F's. The remainder of their grades were P's. The various grades were designated in points, as follows: F, 1; P, 2; M, 3; G, 4; E, 5.

Lowest Fourth Averages 1.86

The grade average of those in the lowest fourth who were carrying the three difficult subjects—chemistry, mathematics, and physics was 1.86. The average of those in Group IV who were carrying two of these subjects was 2.08, and of those who carried only one or none of the three subjects, was 2.41.

Doctor Peterson believes this record shows the value of intelligence tests. It will be possible, he says, to advise students as to the work they may expect to do successfully.

M. V. I. P. A. ELECTS OFFICERS

John Gartner Secretary-Treasurer of Association for Next Year

Business sessions of the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Press association were held at the college Monday and Tuesday. The business of completing the organization of the association and of electing officers for next year constituted the main work accomplished by the meeting.

Six members of the association from five colleges throughout the valley attended. The delegates included: Peter Ainsworth, Iowa State; Paul Richardson and A. P. Cox, Nebraska; Harold Matkin, Oklahoma A. and M. and Guy P. Webb, Oklahoma university.

The Missouri Valley press organization originated two months ago at a meeting at Oklahoma university. Plans at this first meeting included the suggestion of exchanging news of important events at the various schools with other schools in the association through news letters and wire service.

John Gartner of K. S. A. C. was elected secretary-treasurer of the press association at the closing meeting Tuesday. Other officers chosen were: Paul Richardson, Nebraska university, president; Peter Ainsworth, Iowa State, vice-president.

The next meeting of the press association is scheduled to be held early in October at Nebraska university.

Rookies Working Hard

Preparing the cadets for Army Field day has been a trying ordeal for the R. O. T. C. the past few drill periods. Pack rolling and combat have been the weekly recreation for the buck privates and sophomore corporals. No real ammunition has yet been fired, but all preliminary work, such as sending platoons into action under fire, supported by a platoon of machine guns, with the regular war time formations and force, has been rehearsed.

ARCHITECTS WIN PRIZE CONTEST

TAKE ALL SEVEN PLACES IN LETTERING COMPETITION

Contest Held Between K. U. and K. S. A. C.—Conducted by Lorentz Schmidt, Wichita Architect

In the second annual lettering prize competition, conducted by Lorentz Schmidt, an architect of Wichita, students in the department of architecture a K. S. A. C. took all of the seven places offered. The contest is held between students at Kansas university and at K. S. A. C.

Souders Takes First

The contest closed on April 21, and Mr. Schmidt awarded the places on his visit to the department Tuesday of this week.

Among the 42 that tried out in the contest the following were placed: first, Harold M. Souders, Eureka; second, Wm. Hartgroves, Wamego; third, C. R. Butcher, Solomon; honorable mention, Henry E. Wichers, Manhattan; William Hartgroves, Wamego; W. L. Terry, Newton; F. H. Wilkinson, Manhattan.

Two freshmen in the architectural department placed in the contest. Harold M. Souders who took first, and W. L. Terry who got an honorable mention. All of the others were seniors. William Hartgroves entered two plates and won a second place on one of them and an honorable mention on the other.

K. U. Won Last Year

In last year's contest Kansas university won both first and second. Herman Hunter, Eureka, took third for K. S. A. C.

VOL. XXX KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, TUESDAY, APRIL 29, 1924 NO. 60

MEET K. U. ON STADIUM FIELD

FIRST HOME CONTEST IN TWO YEARS RUN SATURDAY

Outcome of Meet May Depend on Relays—Erwin and Fisher Probably Out of Race

A close battle, with a possibility that the relay may decide, is expected Saturday afternoon when the Kansas Aggie track team and the University of Kansas team meet in Memorial Stadium for track honors. The meet will be the first Aggie home contest in two years and will formally open the new quarter mile oval on stadium field.

Erwin and Fisher Out

The two outstanding dash men of both schools appear to be out of the running at present. L. E. Erwin, Aggie track captain and Raymond Fisher, Kansas flash, both came home "crippled" from the Drake relays last Saturday. Erwin will be able to run only by the combination of care, fortune, and warm weather.

The loss of both men will be more disastrous to the Aggies than to Kansas, as Graham of Kansas can be counted on to take first in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes, events which normally would go to Erwin. K. G. Knause, Valley Falls, and H. D. Sappenfield, Abilene, are probable Aggie entries if Erwin fails to get in shape.

Aggies Slated

Kansas is given a nine point advantage in the advance dope, which would be cut to a lone point with Erwin running. The Aggie team, however, is confident of upsetting the "dope" in one or two events where the margin of Kansas supremacy is doubtful.

With the outcome of the 100 and 220 yard dashes problematical, much interest attaches to the other events. The Aggies are expecting a first in both the high and low hurdles. H. A. Brockaway, Olathe, and C. A. Logan, Eskridge, will step over the high sticks for the Wildcats, while N. L. Roberts, Manhattan, and W. M. Savage, Durham, will do the lows. The Aggie men are being coached by Ivan Riley, 1923 Valley champion in both events.

Jumps Conceded to Kansas

Kansas high jumpers and broad jumpers appear to be in a class by themselves, and should sweep both events for the Jayhawks.

The discus throw and shot put should be an entirely different story, with the Aggies taking all the points and Kansas doing the "also competed" stunt. John Gartner, Manhattan, and F. A. Brunkau, Ellinwood, will toss the discus. Gartner played in hard luck at Drake last Saturday. He made 135 feet on his first throw, which was barred out on the foul ruling. On his other trials he lacked a scant inch of qualifying.

No Dope on Pole Vault

Lyle Munn, Colby, is expected to take first in the shot put on the strength of past performances, with Brunkau again slated for a second.

P. R. Carter, Bradford, and Dillenbeck, Kansas entrant, have been going about the same height in the pole vault all season, and both went out at the same height in the Kansas relays. Hence a tie for first in the event is quite probable.

Aggie Stand Little Chance in 440

The Aggies stand little chance in the 440 yard dash, which is conceded as a Kansas sweep. The half mile run is rated as a toss up. Ralph Kimport, Norton, and F. L. Coleman, Oskaloosa, Aggie entrants, are better over the mile route than the half, but are running the shorter race in around 2:01. Kimport and Coleman also are Aggie entrants in the mile run and are expected by Coach Bachman to place first and second with fair luck. Over the two mile route Kansas should have a little the edge, although "Puff" Blazer, Manhattan, and R. P. Aikman, Inness, are experienced runners and may upset the dope.

Brunkau has been throwing the javelin around the 160 foot mark in practice, and stands a good chance of winning it Saturday, with Munn as his team mate.

May Be Up to Relay

If it is left up to the relay to decide the winner Kansas is favored to take the meet. With luck and Erwin, however, the Wildcats are looking forward to celebrating the opening of their new track with a victory over their best enemy.

Cow-puncher Takes Time to Go to College—Still a Cow-boy

the Ag Fair. He is "Tex" Magee from Canadian, Tex. "Tex" was born and reared a cow-puncher, he is taking "cow-punching" in college and he's going home to punch the cows with his diploma this summer. Won't he have well educated cows?

According to his associates he is the kind of man you would expect a cow-puncher to be. He's easy to get along with—if you agree with him. Probably if he were at home in the wilds of Texas one of his friends thinks he'd be "quick on the draw."

"Doctor of philosophy" was his title for a while, they say. "Tex" always has some little bit of philosophy to fit to every occasion and is quite adept at finding appropriate titles for people. He has that dry humor always associated with cow-punchers.

"Tex" is a member of the Farm House fraternity, Block and Bridle club, Alpha Zeta and the Hamilton literary society. He graduates this June and goes home to Texas to be "A cow-boy till I die."—Magee.

AGGIES TURN IN DOUBLE VICTORY OVER J. HAWKS

Conroy Almost Invincible in Opening Game—Cunningham Keeps Hits Scattered in Saturday Fray

Headly baseball, timely hitting, good pitching, and Kansas errors enabled the Kansas Aggie baseball team to turn in a double victory over the University of Kansas last Friday and Saturday in the first home games of the season. The scores were 4 to 1 and 4 to 2.

Bernard Conroy was almost invincible in the opening game, allowing only one hit in the first eight innings, when only 25 men faced him. The Aggies scored four runs in the fourth when the Kansas team "blew up." In the ninth Kansas got to Conroy for a pair of hits and a run, but was cut short by a fast double play.

In the second game Cunningham allowed six hits, but kept them widely scattered, while the Aggies put over four runs off of as many hits. The feature play of the game was a peg from deep left field to the plate by Captain Glenn Aikins of the Aggies with two Kansas runners on and two tallies over in the second. Conroy got a late start from third and Aikins' peg caught him far from the plate for the final out. The Aggies scored once in the first and three times in the second after Lonberg dropped a throw to first with two down and a man on.

Lonberg was rather unpopular with the crowd and had an exceedingly bad day in the field, being credited with two errors. At bat "Dutch" struck out twice, was out at first once, and hit into a double play in the ninth with a Kansas man on and only one out.

Burr Swartz collected the only extra base hit of the game, a three bag clout in the seventh, but died at third.

Attendance for each game was estimated at 2,000.

JUNIORS IN ENGINEERING INSPECT TOPEKA SHOPS

Visit Capitol, Sheet Metal Works, State Printing Plant, and Telephone Company

A group of junior engineers under the direction of Prof. J. L. Brennehan, and accompanied by Prof. G. A. Sellers, and P. A. Willis, made a trip to Topeka, last week on Friday. They visited the Santa Fe shops, the Capital City Sheet Metal works, the State Printing plant, the Topeka Edison company, the Capitol building, and the Southwestern Bell Telephone company.

While guests of the telephone company, the group listened to one of the company's engineers who explained the automatic telephone exchange system. The party was then divided into small groups, and the principles and workings of the system mentioned were demonstrated.

The students who made the trip are K. R. Bunker, R. Chilcott, R. Farquhar, H. D. Franklin, F. V. Hanson, Allen Hodsire, E. Miller, I. K. McWilliams, Bruce Pratt, T. G. Pizinger, Ralph Moyer, E. E. Meils, Peter Piper, L. J. Bowman, Harry Jung, H. W. Uhrig, F. Sheel, C. L. Wilson, E. D. Ward, R. H. Watson of the mechanical engineering department; Lawrence Baty, H. O. Barnett, Sherman H. Carter, A. B. Cash, E. Cabacungan, H. B. Colby, N. G. Chilcott, Merle Crawford, H. I. Durham, W. E. Garrett, Raymond Hill, W. L. Hansen, E. C. Kuhlman, S. H. Lapley, Wayne McKibben, R. B. McIlwain, Roy H. Mears, George McKimins, Keith Nowell, G. A. Plank, T. P. Price, G. G. Porter, Clifford Pahriss, Leo Schutte, C. W. Schemm, N. R. Thomasson, Alexander F. Rehberg, James K. Swales, H. L. Simpson, Sheldon B. Stover, E. W. Wichman, L. V. Wimer, and H. R. Weg of the electrical engineering department, and H. D. Hempker and A. R. Lloyd of the agricultural engineering department.

Dance Hall at Ag Fair Won't Leave Bruises on Shins

The Bloody Gulch dance hall won't crack any more shins or bruise any more toes. It has been moved from the improvised platform down on the east campus, that was the favorite cursing ground of past Ag fairs, to the first floor of the farm mechanics building. This is a real floor.

The Fury Four will furnish the music. That sounds pretty hot and the Ag Fair management assures the public that it is hot.

Whether it deluges as usual or whether the sun consents to shine, the dance will start at 8 o'clock Saturday evening and the students can dance and dance and dance—till Prof. Durham sends them all home.

E. Leo Bebb, '21, and Nellie (Yantis) Bebb, '19, have moved from 1408 Thirtieth street, Milwaukee, Wis., to Apartment A, 5312 Glenwood avenue, Chicago, Ill.

FOURTH ANNUAL AG FAIR MAY 3

EDUCATIONAL EXHIBITS TO BE FEATURE ATTRACTION

All Department To Show Accomplishments—Each to Have Flots in Parade—"Tex" Magee Manager

Plans for the fourth annual Ag fair, which promises to exceed all previous fairs in size, in the thrills offered, and in the value given to the patrons for their time and money, are well under way. The side shows planned for this year are honest mirth producers, and the feature shows will be worth while productions.

Committees Now Functioning

The committees have been at work for some time. The committee chairmen are: arches, Clarence Gladfelter; concessions, M. L. Baker; dance, Gladwin Reed; educational exhibits, Frank Alexander; eats stand, J. C. McMillin, Glen Rallsback; ferris wheel, Walter Crockett, E. L. Raines; follies, Bus Voland, Harry Wilson; "Hickville Music Box Review," H. R. Perill; ice cream, Bob Saxton; lights, O. L. Pretz, S. N. Raleigh; magic show, F. Hardwick, G. R. Warthen; minstrel, S. P. Gatz, J. L. Farrand; parade, Kenny Ford; pike features, A. D. Mueller, S. F. Kollar; police, H. F. Moxley, Harold Erhardt; publicity, Wayne Rogler, M. M. Williamson; rodeo, R. P. Woodbury; saloon, Max Hoover; side shows, A. P. Atkins; signs, John Keas; shooting gallery, W. E. Dial; box signs, Ernest Lyness; duck pond, Harold Lantis; cleanup, W. J. Daly.

Exhibits Are Feature

According to the manager, A. C. Magee, the outstanding feature of the fair this year will be the educational exhibits. All of the departments of the division of agriculture will have exhibits on the grounds. There will be an all divisional exhibit, besides the individual showings, that will not feature any one department but the products of the division as a whole. The educational exhibits are greatly augmented this year, particular stress being placed on this serious side of the fair.

There will be this year the usual Minstrels, Follies, and in addition, a Rodeo. The follies will present "The Eve of St. Vitus." The "Hickville Music Box Review" will also be an attraction. Instead of the dance platform that is usually built for the occasion, the dance will be held on the first floor of the Farm Machinery hall.

The foreign students of the college are exhibiting some novelties from their home lands. There will be a dime museum, a house of a million thrills, a ferris wheel and a wild man.

Fair Now an Institution

The fair was first promoted to foster divisional activities among the students of agriculture. In the winter of 1920-21 the students of the division of agriculture organized and decided to promote a fair. Since then it has become an established institution at K. S. A. C. for the education and amusement of the students and faculty.

ERWIN PLACES SECOND IN 100 YARD AT DRAKE RELAYS

Gartner Fails to Qualify for Finals

Although the Aggie entries at the Drake relays did not place as high as in previous years, their showing was very favorable. "Red" Erwin met some of the stiffest competition of his track career, and was nosed out of the 100 yard event by Evans of Illinois who stepped the distance in 10 seconds flat.

In the preliminaries John Gartner threw the discus 135 feet but was disqualified because he stepped over the line. His next two heaves lacked a half inch of qualifying him for the final events. The discus was won the next day by a throw of a little over 128 feet.

Senior Play Tryouts

Tryouts for the senior class play, "Robin Hood," will be held in the public speaking department office, Wednesday afternoon from 1 to 6. The cast includes about 22 acting parts, and Professor Holcombe urges that a large number of seniors try out.

Professor Dean Visits College

Prof. George A. Dean, head of the department of entomology, who is on leave of absence this year, and in charge of cereal investigations in the bureau of entomology at Washington, visited the college last week end. Professor Dean and his family will return to Manhattan next summer.

Kathryn Moore of Wichita who was in school last semester, spent the week end at the Pi Beta Phi house.

Pure Jokes Found Between Covers of Pink Brown Bull

The campaign for purity starts Thursday morning when the Nice Brown Bull is loosened on the campus. All the noble and inspiring thoughts to be found in this issue should make the world a better place in which to live. The jokes are all so pure and enlightening that the most unsympathetic censor could not fail to approve them.

The cover—Ah, what woes the poor Bull encountered looking for a cover!—is as pure and uncontaminated as the interior. The staff exercised rigid censorship of the drawings submitted for the cover. There were days of high hope and other days of deep despair. At the last minute the staff had a sudden wave of reform and censored all the cover designs. All that is left of the cover is its delicate pink color—like apple blossoms in the spring or sunset on the ocean or something beautiful and unsullied by earthly contact.

For two bits, Thursday morning, each student will be privileged to own one of these texts on improving humanity. The humor is rare and sly. In this degenerate age purity is sacrificed, but the Brown Bull has preserved all the innocence of youth in his epoch marking Nice number.

COLLEGE ORGANIZATIONS OBSERVE MOTHER'S DAY

Festival Week Festivities Close May 10—Many Visitors Expected to Stay Over Mother's day, May 11, will be observed by practically every college organization, this spring, according to present plans. As the day follows the week of the spring Festival the plans of most organizations include a sort of Parents' week—the visitors will come earlier in the week and remain over for the Mother's day festivities Sunday.

The dates of Festival week are peculiarly appropriate this year and have an unusual significance for Kansas. The week, May 5 to 10, is also National Music week which will be observed throughout the entire country.

The early sale of tickets for the Festival reflects the greatly increased interest taken in it this year. Mail orders came in much earlier than usual and are now being received in unusual numbers. The sale of exchange tickets, a new convenience introduced this year by Professor Pratt, is also going well, particularly down town, where it is a time saving device to purchasers. The exchange of temporary for permanent season tickets takes place Monday and Tuesday, and the box office opens Wednesday morning.

The price of season tickets for the eight numbers is $3 and $4, the usual charge.

"ELIJAH" TO BE GIVEN MAY 10

Many Prominent Visitors Expected for Oratorio

"Elijah," an oratorio, which is to be presented Saturday afternoon, May 10 as a number of Festival week program, is expected to bring to K. S. A. C. one of the largest audiences and some of the most prominent visitors ever in attendance at any Festival program here. Some of the visitors who are expected to be in Manhattan for "Elijah" are the members of the board of administration; Mr. Charles Watts of Chicago, editor of Music News; Dean and Mrs. Donald Swartout, of the School of Fine Arts at Kansas university; Professor Kurtze, orchestra leader at K. U.; Dean Frank A. Beach, dean of department of music at Kansas State Teacher's college, and many more prominent music instructors from over the state.

SELF-DETERMINED IDEAS

A ravenous syndicate is running "My Idea of God," signed by big names. Eighty per cent of them, if sincere, can be forecast. Each man's idea of God will be some sort of Force or Intelligence striving along the same lines as the writer of the article. Already we have Edison, to whom He is Supreme Intelligence; to MacMonnies, a creator of miraculous beauty; to Rachel Crothers, a Playwright with a plot too large for human comprehension. On the day before Hudson Maxim's idea was printed I wrote just for fun, "Maxim will depict him as a wielder of infinite power or force." Sure enough, Maxim ran true to form.—J. U. H.'s Weekly.

Sororities Put Fast Teams in Field for First Joker Relay

Sororities who expect to make a showing in the inter sorority joker relays May 17 had better get busy before the fast runners among the male student body are snapped up, according to Head Coach C. W. Bachman.

An unfounded rumor has it that one of the more progressive Greeks is applying the Leap Year test to its prospective representatives in the "big race." The distance from the front door to a spot 220 yards down the street has been carefully laid off. On a set night the prospect is lured in and proposed to without warning, while an assistant holds the stop watch outside.

Very good results have been secured thus far, the only problem remaining being to introduce the same element of surprise on the day of the race itself. If the plan is successful, it is believed that the American record for the half mile relay and the 220 yard dash will be seriously threatened.

A trophy "that will look good on any sorority mantle piece" is promised as a prize. All male undergraduates at K. S. A. C. are fair game. Each man in the race will run 220 yards.

Possession of the joker relay trophy will go to the sorority whose team wins the race. Permanent possession goes to the sorority winning the cup three times.

The relay will be part of the program of the third annual Missouri Valley Interscholastic relays, which will be run off in the Memorial Stadium, May 17.

CAMPUS ECHOES

J. F. H.

Dear Campus Echoes:

I am so worried. The June number of Whiz Bang has copied my poem entitled "Nobananos." Now I'm not highbrow or anything, but do you think having my maiden literary efforts published in such a questionable magazine will ruin my future success in the world of letters?—H. S. (It is on page 78).

No, Harold, we do not think your "future success" is blighted in any way, but you should aim higher than Whiz Bang, which we have heard is not a very nice paper. Why don't you have your poetry printed in the American, or the Saturday Evening Post?

Dear Campus Echoes:

I have been a constant reader of your column for many months, and I think you are doing a lot to improve the moral standards of the younger generation. But the problem which confronts us now concerns the OLDER GENERATION. Last Wednesday night I had occasion to go through Anderson hall about 10:15 (on business) and I was astonished and amazed to see members of the K. S. A. C. faculty dancing with lights so dim that recognition was impossible. "Dancers in the dark," "excitement eaters," bah! It is not the YOUNGER GENERATION that needs chaperoning!—H. B. '24.

You are perfectly right, H. B. The world never needed the steady guiding hand of youth as much as it does today. It is well that there are some of us who see the danger, who will be ready to take the helm in a few short weeks.

Dear Campus Echoes:

Prof. H. W. Davis, who has charge of the summer school mixers, says democracy "is even more evident in the summer than in the winter." How do you account for this phenomenon which Professor Davis has discovered?—B. S.

I have spent much time and thought on this phenomenon, but I give it up. Do any of our readers know why people are more democratic in warm weather than in cold?

Campus Echoes:

I have been assigned to hoe the grass around the auditorium on Cleanup day. Perhaps you will think this is a strange request, but I wish you would describe minutely, a hoe. Is it one of those implements which have long iron prongs on the end?—N. C.

We realize that this comes out too late to help you in any way, but in all probability you have found a hoe by this time. The instrument which you describe is a pitchfork, we believe, and it is not used in hoeing grass.

GRACE JUSTIN IS FIRST IN QUILL SHORT STORY CONTEST

Margaret Chandley, Junior in General Science Places Second

The judges for the Quill club short story contest have awarded first place to Grace Justin, a junior in the department of Industrial Journalism. Her entry, "Sister Carrie Take a Hand," was decided to be the best of the eight stories entered, and Miss Justin will receive the $10 prize offered for first place. Second place was awarded to Margaret Chandley, a junior in the general science division, the subject of whose story is "Darn Good Scout."

According to precedent if anyone outside Quill club wins in the contest, he or she is immediately elected to

The judges for the contest were: Miss Helen D. Rushfeldt and Prof. C. W. Mathews of the English department, and Prof. L. H. Limper of the modern language department.

"New Lanterns in Old China," by Theodora Marshall Inglis, (Fleming H. Revell Co., Chicago.)

"New Lanterns in Old China," is dedicated to Yin Tai-fu, the doctor, who gave of himself without stint to the Chinese, until he was sent home, broken in health. The book contains fourteen short sketches, in each of which the reader feels the devotion of this physician to his chosen work. While most of the scenes are laid in the An Ting hospital, of which the doctor has charge, some are taken from the every day life of the Chinese. Incidentally one receives a picture of the economic and social life of this people. With him worked Theodora Marshall Inglis, his sympathetic and helpful companion.

The book does not specialize in turning Buddhists to Baptists, but many become followers of "Jesu" of Nazareth. Little the doctor understood of the language at first, "but sickness and human woe spoke clearly and definitely to him." His patients represent all classes and conditions. First-born sons are restored, and old men and women regain their health.

The school, too makes its appeal. A child after its dismissal from the hospital, begs his "most honorable uncle to graciously permit him to remain in this place to go to school." His wish is granted and to make his happiness complete the boy's chum is sent for that both "may drink in knowledge."

A story of heroic giving is that of Old Wang Cher, the bell ringer. Conscious of the fact that his "Jesu" folk are in danger he climbs into the tower to ring the bell. Smoke and flames soon fill the belfry, but as peal after peal rings out over the besieged compound, safety is rung in. While so doing Wang Cher has, at the same time, heralded the dawn of Easter, and the old words take on a new meaning, for indeed, Christ the Lord had risen again.—Anna M. Sturmer.

WRITES BOOK OF VERSE

Carol Rickert, Journalism Junior, Publishes "To My Pal"

Carol Rickert, a junior in the department of Industrial Journalism, is the author of a book of verse, "To My Pal," published this month.

The book is dedicated "to pals everywhere." "Life has no greater treasure than the understanding and love of a real pal," states the author. "With faith and devotion they urge us on to high ideals and the attainment of the best there is in life."

Friendship is the keynote of the book. A number of the verses show the author's appreciation for and understanding of nature—"Clouds and Sky," "Birds in Flight," "The Rain," and "Nebraska Sunset." The latter is perhaps one of the best in the booklet—a word picture painted by one who has never seen the glorious coloring of sunset:

"A brilliant ball of flame that lights the skies
And sets on fire all nature; then it dies,
Leaving such wondrous colorings of gold and rose and violet.
These gently fold each one into the other; then they fade.
And over all Night draws a soft blue shade."

Miss Rickert expects to complete her work for a bachelor's degree this spring.

Royal Purple must be ordered now.

$1.35 an hour for your time this summer—

This is the average earning of several hundred college men selling Fuller Brushes during last summer's vacation.

The main reasons that influenced these men to become identified with the Fuller Organization were the rapid growth of the company, the extensive national advertising carried on continuously, and the acceptance of its representatives and its products in millions of homes. The college men who were attracted to the Fuller Brush company were men who were destined to accomplish great things whatever their future bent might have been. This is because the Fuller Company develops confidence, courtesy and initiative—the very factors that every man needs during his college days. As one of these men says:—"I feel that my college education would not be complete without this summer experience with the Fuller Brush Company."

This work offers most remunerative work during the summer vacation period. Hundreds of college men unknowingly possess great sales ability. With the training that Fuller gives these men they have been wonderfully successful.

There are many fine territories where we can place college men this coming summer. You can secure full information from

PURPLE DEFEATS RED 14-7 IN PRACTICE GAME WEDNESDAY

Bachman Has Developed Several Hard Hitting Combinations

The spring football classic which took place on Wednesday afternoon resulted in a victory of 14 to 7 for the purple gridiron warriors over the reds. The game was played on the field west of the home economics building and formally ended spring football practice.

The spring practice showed a wealth of material for the varsity next fall. With 50 huskies reporting for practice every evening Bachman was able to develop several hard hitting, smooth running machines. The majority of these players are freshmen this year and they are going to make the regulars step to hold their positions next season.

The spectators at the game Wednesday saw the evidence of a heavy team for the varsity next semester which is something the Aggies have lacked the last season or two. Practically all of the candidates were given a chance to play in the spring game and all of them showed that they had the Wildcat fight in them.

SENIOR AGS TAKE TRIP

Tour Southern Kansas to Study Soils

Seniors in the department of agronomy, Kansas State Agricultural college, returned Saturday from a six day soil survey trip. The trip included a tour of southern and southeastern Kansas, northeastern Oklahoma, and southwestern Missouri. The work of the trip consisted of the taking of borings of soil to determine the series of soil found in each vicinity. Acid tests were taken and tests made of alkali spots.

The following men made the trip: V. A. Berridge, Goff; E. A. Clevinger, Lowman; E. Snyder, Soldier; J. H. Coolidge, Greensburg; M. M. Hoover, Burlingame; C. A. Jones, Manhattan; M. C. Barrows, Clifton; F. M. Alexander, Wellington; F. H. Bosman, Moemfontein, Orange Free State, South Africa; J. D. Buchman, Council Grove; Prof. S. C. Salmon, and Prof. R. E. Throckmorton.

Notes on the Trip

Professor Salmon caused a near riot at the Ryan hotel in Strong City when he tried to find the light button in a dim hall. He rang the fire alarm.

"I believe this town is used to strangers," commented Gene in Strong City. "They don't pay any attention to us."

Virgil pulled off a stunt which wasn't so good when he hurled a pillow at a fellow student in the hall. That is, he thought it was a fellow student. Subsequent investigation of the maimed and injured

THIRTY MEN REPORTING FOR FRESHMAN BASEBALL

Joe Greer Directing Squad Practice—Good Infield Material Discovers

About 30 men are reporting for practice in freshmen baseball every evening. The squad is under the direction of Joe Greer who is showing the yearlings the ins and outs of the national game.

Some good infield material has been found and the outfield is showing up in fair shape. Practice games which have been held show that the frosh can be expected to give the varsity some stiff battles in a short time.

Because of the large number of regulars who are graduating this spring, Coach Corsaut is anxious to see as many baseball men as possible come out so that a fast team can be worked out for next year.

Just when you're hurrying the most—zip! and away goes that shaving cream cap. The new cap on Williams ends the nuisance forever. It's hinged on and can't get lost.

In shaving, too, Williams has just as noticeable improvements: Williams lather is heavier and more closely woven. It holds the water in against the beard. Result: quicker softening. Williams lather lubricates—no irritating friction. Last, Williams is decidedly helpful to the skin. It keeps your face comfortable no matter how heavy your beard and how tender your skin. There's no coloring matter in Williams—it is a natural white, absolutely pure. Say "Williams Hinge-Cap" to your dealer.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR FIELD DAY

STUNT FLYING, CAVALRY CHARGE, RACES ON PROGRAM

Erwin and Lock of Nebraska Race in Afternoon—Ivan Riley Meets Frazier of Baylor U.

Stunt flying, riding, rescue races, sham battle, cavalry charge, a rodeo, and special races between four of the noted track stars of the country is the general program for the second annual field day to be held May 5.

Parade in Morning

A parade will start from the park at 9:30 in the morning and follow the usual route through the downtown district and up through Aggieville to the college.

The morning program will take place in the pasture about a mile northwest of the college. This area is just northwest of the serum plant. To reach the place pedestrians should follow the road north from the Agriculture building. Vehicles will go out on the road from the northwest corner of the college and parking space will be provided.

Will Stage Sham Battle

A sham battle in which the R. O. T. C. will participate with troops from the fort, if they can be secured, will be a feature of the day. A committee headed by Dan Casement and C. E. Aubel are working on a rodeo but nothing definite has been announced. There will probably be racing and fancy rope work.

The rescue race participated in by the cavalry from the Fort will take place at this time also. The cavalry charge will be given at some time during the morning, possibly in connection with the sham battle.

Track Stars to Race

In the afternoon there will be jumping contests in the Stadium track by the cavalry from Fort Riley.

As a special feature for the "home crowd" two Aggie track stars of national reputation will run match races. L. E. Erwin, track captain and Missouri Valley 150 yard dash champion, is pitted against Gordon Locke, Nebraska, for a 150 yard race. Raymond Fisher, Kansas, was forced to withdraw because of injuries.

Display Downtown in Afternoon

Ivan Riley, hurdler par excellence, will make another attempt to break the world's 400 meter hurdle record pitted against Earl Frazier, Baylor university. Riley defeated Frazier at the Kansas relays recently, and again won the race at the Penn relays last Saturday, coming within a second of breaking the world's record.

During the afternoon there will be special displays downtown most of which have not been fully worked out yet. The block west of the courthouse will be roped off and used for an automobile exhibition.

Dr. Minna E. Jewell of the zoology department was called to her home at Irving last week by the death of her father.

WAR BOARD ARRIVES FOR SPECIAL CADET INSPECTION

R. O. T. C. Will Be Subject to Call All Day Wednesday

The United States War board arrived in Manhattan this afternoon for the purpose of inspecting the R. O. T. C. and looking over the military department.

President Jardine has set aside Wednesday as a day for special inspection. The cadet corps will be under arms and subject to call the entire day. A review will probably be held. Part of the time will be spent in maneuvers in the fields northwest of town. Thursday morning the inspecting officers will visit classes.

A great deal depends on the impression made on the war department board as this inspection will determine whether or not K. S. A. C. will be classed as a distinguished school by the war department.

RILEY TAKES 400 METER HURDLES AT PENNSYLVANIA

Stepped Race in 54 3-5 Seconds—Second in 120 Yard

Ivan Riley, senior in architecture, won the 400 meter hurdles in the fast time of 54 3-5 seconds, one second from the world's record for this event at the Pennsylvania relays.

The relays were held at Franklin Field, Pa., and the nation's best athletes were entered. Some of the fastest hurdlers in the country ran in this event.

On Saturday, Riley again brought the Aggies to the fore when he placed second in the 120 yard high hurdles in competition with a large field of entries.

Vice President Is F. E. Wiebrecht, Sophomore

G. R. Dowd, junior in veterinary medicine, was elected president of S. S. G. A., for next year, in the recent S. S. G. A. election. F. E. Wiebrecht, sophomore in electrical engineering was elected vice president.

Owing to the ineligibility of R. C. Langford as a nominee for vice president because of being classed as a junior, the names of Charlotte Swanson and William Hunter were written in for vice president.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOL. XXX KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, FRIDAY, MAY 2, 1924 NO. 61

SECOND FIELD DAY IS MONDAY

CLASSES WILL BE DISMISSED AFTER SECOND HOUR

Parade, Rodeo, Sham Battle, Cavalry Exhibit, Airplane Flying, and Special Races Features of Day

If the present plans for the second annual field day materialize it will be well worth the time and attention of everyone. Every effort is being made to make the exhibit as realistic and thrilling as possible. Classes will be dismissed after the second hour according to an announcement yesterday of Dean Willard.

Six Events in Rodeo

It has been definitely decided to have a rodeo. Local horsemen will stage the event which will include six events. Barrel roping, fancy dress racing, bronco riding, mule riding, a prod pole potato race, and a stake to stake race, will be the features of the rodeo.

The sham battle this year promises to be a sham only in that no one will be killed. Cavalry, infantry, and artillery units will take part. There will also be the regular maneuvers by the cavalry from the fort. As sidelines there will be a pistol charge, a saber charge, and a racket display.

Cavalry Exhibits in Afternoon

The famous G or black horse troop from Fort Riley will present a Roman riding exhibit. This will be followed by a rescue race and a pyramid exhibition.

In the afternoon the scene will change to the stadium. At 2 o'clock the finals in the hurdle jumping race will begin. The preliminaries will have been disposed of the day before. Exhibition drills will be given by the black horse troop and by the radio section of the headquarters troop. The jumping of the fire hurdles will conclude the horsemanship display.

Parade Starts at 9:30

The parade participated in by all the troops will start from the park at 9:30. The morning events begin in the pasture northwest of the serum plant at 10:30. It is promised that the program will be over at 4:00 after which there will be a band concert downtown.

After the horsemanship exhibition there will be airplane flying by the Garver performers who were here last year. The final event will be a special race between Ivan Riley, Aggie star, and Earl Frazier of Baylor university, and a sprint classic between Red Erwin, K. S. A. C. track captain and Gordon Locke of Nebraska.

Watch Bulletin Board

Members of R. O. T. C. unit of the college are requested to watch the bulletin boards for announcements as to where and when the cadet corps will form for the day.

THREE ATTEND NATIONAL Y. W. C. A. CONVENTION

Miss Lois Wildy, Evelyn Colburn and Dorothy Rosebrough Leave Today for New York

Evelyn Colburn, Dorothy Rosebrough, and Miss Lois Wildy left recently for New York to attend the eighth national convention of the Young Women's Christian association, which convenes there April 29 to May 6. Miss Irene Dean, former general secretary here, who is attending training school in New York at the present time, will join them upon their arrival and attend the convention as a representative of the K. S. A. C. association.

The national conventions which include not only student but industrial, girl reserve, city, town and rural associations, are held biennially. Alice DeWitt, Agnes Ayres, Polly Hedges, Margaret Radfington, and Miss Irene Dean were delegates to the assembly in Hot Springs, Ark., in 1922.

The national convention of the Y. W. C. A. is the legislative and authoritative body which determines the character and extent of the national program of the association for the next two years. It is of special significance this year in that many of the members of the World committee of the Y. W. C. A. which is meeting in Washington, D. C., May 7, will be able to attend. Previously only delegates from associations in America have attended.

Besides the general sessions of the convention, there will be a number of national assemblies. One of these will consist of all students delegates who will have the power and responsibility to formulate the national student policy and program.

The local Y. W. C. A. has been especially recognized in that Evelyn Colburn has been invited to be a member of the student assembly bylaws committee and Miss Wildy has been chosen as a leader of discussion groups which will be a part of the program.

Byron Short of Fredonia, junior in industrial journalism, sold a story this week to the Dearborn Independent, for $45. The article was about the pageant at K. S. A. C.

PHI KAPPA PHI TO HOLD ASSEMBLY AND INITIATION

Dr. Stratton D. Brooks Will Speak at Chapel Friday Morning—Diplomas Will Be Presented

The annual Phi Kappa Phi initiation service for all students, alumni and faculty members elected to the organization this semester and last will be held May 9 in the home economics rest room. The initiation will be followed by the annual banquet at the college cafeteria at 6 o'clock.

Friday morning the annual address will be given at student assembly and Dean R. A. Seaton, president of the local chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, will present the diplomas. The principal speaker will be Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, president of Missouri university, who will be initiated as an honorary member of the organization. The committee for the initiation service and banquet consists of Dr. J. E. Ackert, Prof. R. I. Throckmorton, Prof. M. A. Durland, Prof. Martha Pittman, and Miss Grace Derby. The members of the speaker committee are Dr. J. E. Kammeyer, Prof. J. O. Hamilton, and Prof. J. H. Parker.

INSPECT CADETS WEDNESDAY

Visiting Officers Issue No Statement as to Their Impressions

Wednesday was a day of intense activity for the cadet corps of the college. The United States war department board was on the hill for the purpose of inspecting the military units of K. S. A. C.

Lieutenant Colonel Herman Glade, of the general staff and Walton Goodwin, Jr., major of cavalry were the inspecting officers. Major P. B. Peyton, of the corp area office at Omaha, Nebr., was also present.

In the morning a parade and inspection was held on the east campus. This was followed by automatic rifle, machine gun, and artillery demonstrations.

A sham battle was given by the corps in the fields northwest of the serum plant in the afternoon. The "Reds" were entrenched in the southern portion and were attacked by the "Blues." Both sides ran out of ammunition before a victory could be won. Both sides are swearing vengeance next Monday when a "war" on a larger scale will be held as a part of the field day exercises.

The inspectors gave out no statements and it will be some time before the war department issues an official statement.

Bernice is a member of Delta Zeta, Omicron Nu, the executive committee of S. S. G. A., Zeta Kappa Psi, and the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, and she is an active worker in them all.

Last summer she went to Denver, to work in a factory as an ordinary working girl, to discover under what conditions the girls work. "It's certainly interesting to find how the other half of the world lives," she said.

"So much cribbing is going on now," she said, "is the result of the system I think. I don't believe that most of the students are dishonest."

Bernice is always engaged in some big undertaking—a debate, a Y. W. C. A. project, an S. S. G. A. investigation. Her latest is making plans to feed the multitude, the Campus day workers. She was a member of the Campus day executive committee and as a representative from the home economics division had to supervise economic division had to supervise the preparation of food for Thursday's feast.

When she graduates, Bernice is going into nutrition work, probably specializing in child feeding.

"I'm sorry I couldn't tell you a lot of clever things to say," she said regretfully as the reporter left her.

AG FAIR WHIZ IS PIKE GUIDE

SIDE SHOWS EDUCATIONAL AND OTHERWISE

Parade to Start on Campus at 12—Fair Grounds Open at Three

The "Ag Fair Whiz," a booklet published by the fair association for the benefit of fair patrons will be on sale tomorrow.

The booklet will enable one to spend his money to the best advantage, giving instructions as to the most attractive places in which to spend it. The publication will be on sale by the Ag Fair promoters Saturday morning.

The parade is set for 12 o'clock. It will form at the Ag building as usual and will begin the trip through the business section. The Pike will be open at three and will be in full swing from then on till midnight.

Eleven Educational Exhibits

The educational exhibit will be a big feature of the fair. There will be 11 fanciful and practical exhibits by departments closely related to agriculture. The display will be very elaborate and is planned to make the fair worth while for those who do not care to see the wild man, the magic show, the crazy house, and other attractions of like nature. It will be located in the south end of the pavilion.

The rodeo, with wild horses and wild riders from Texas and other points west, promises to be a big event. Sam Gatz, Fred Volland, and R. H. Perrill are saving the descriptive material of the minstrel show, the St. Vitus Follies, and the Hickville Music Box Review until later, possibly for the Ag Fair Whiz. Art Dodge and his Fury Four will officiate at the dance which will be open from eight until midnight in Farm Machinery hall.

To Be a Human Pin Cushion

The side shows will be both educational and otherwise. There will be the foreign novelty show, the museum, the human pin cushion, the house of a million thrills, and a crazy house.

All In All It Was A Nice War While It Lasted—Selah!

Mourn, all ye fanciers of greens, for King Dandelion and his cohorts are no more on the K. S. A. C. campus. Rejoice, all ye manufacturers of liniment and sundry lotions for aches and pains and blisters, for right well did the Aggie coeds lead the van of the attack.

They came Thursday morning at the tolling of the bell which summons the scholar to his labors, and the Average Aggie from bed.

Small in numbers were the 2,000 odd Aggies beside the orange capped hordes of the mighty king. Yet determination was seen in every vigorous wave of a thousand powder puffs as the knicker glad klan prepared for action.

Bread knives were clutched in hands whereas were never clutched before. All the varieties of knives ever designed were evident. Pocket knives, hunting knives, dainty little pen knives made to dangle on the end of a watch chain, hunting knives, butcher knives, silver knives filched from the family chest.

And there were rakes. Garden rakes, hay rakes, lawn rakes, wooden rakes, cast iron rakes, shiny new steel rakes, old rakes, young rakes, toothless rakes, middle aged rakes, all there for a purpose.

Right well was the plan of action prepared and carried out. Of course there was a sandpile to be taken and 60 men were there to make the attack with. Of course some one started a miniature reproduction of the Chicago fire on the front steps of the Journalism building. Of course—but all in all it was a nice war while it lasted.

51 TEAMS ENTERED IN HIGH SCHOOL JUDGING

Students Are Guests of Agricultural Division—Certificates to Winnig Teams and Individuals

Between three and four hundred Kansas high school juniors and seniors will be the guests of the agricultural division of the college Thursday and Friday of this week at the fourth annual state high school judging contest held here. Fifty-one teams of three members each have been entered. In addition to the regular entries a corresponding number of high school upperclassmen from the vocational agriculture classes are expected to witness the judging.

Individuals who enter the contests will be ranked on the basis of their proficiency in judging all four of the following groups: beef cattle, horses, hogs, and sheep; dairy cattle; grain; poultry. They will be judged also on the basis of their proficiency in each of these groups separately. Teams consisting of three students from a high school will be ranked similarly.

Parchment certificates will be awarded to the team and to the individual making the highest general average on all classes and to the team making this highest general average in each individual class. Medals will be awarded by the college organizations interested in the particular classes of judging to the individual students making the highest general average in each class.

A general mixer was given Thursday night in Recreation center at which the high school students and coaches were the guests of the agricultural faculty of the college.

DOCTOR RUSSEL ADDRESSES WOMAN'S CLUB OF TOPEKA

Members of Washburn English Department Are Guests of Honor

Dr. Margaret Russel of the English department spoke on "The Worth While Novel of Today" at a meeting of the department of education and literature of the Woman's club of Topeka, Thursday. Mrs. Eli G. Foster, president of the Woman's club, welcomed Doctor Russel, and Dr. P. P. Womer, Dean P. S. Zampieri, and the members of the English department faculty of Washburn were guests of honor. Doctor Russel's mother, Mrs. Irene Russel, was a charter member and a former officer of the Woman's club.

LAUNCH "PAY UP" WEEK

Increased Activity on Stadium Makes Payment Necessary

This week, April 28 to May 3, has been designated as "pay up" week by the Memorial Stadium corporation. The program for the week, according to the announcement sent out to all subscribers to the fund, includes the payment of overdue pledges, pledges now due or soon to become due, and the payment of pledges not yet due.

The increased activity on stadium work makes it highly necessary that all pledges due within the next three months be paid up promptly, according to Prof. J. V. Cortelyou, secretary of the corporation. That the payment of all these pledges will barely cover the expense of labor alone, Professor Cortelyou shows in a printed financial statement he is sending to fund subscribers. The payroll for labor will run about $1,200 to $1,700 a week, when active work begins within the next few days and the amount now on hand including what remains of a $5,000 loan, will not last long, the statement points out.

The cash on hand at the close of collections Saturday night was given as $1,280, with labor bills amounting to approximately $1,200 due the contractor at the same time. In the first 24 days of April the committee disbursed $6,346.72, and received only $896.66 through payment of pledges. The amount disbursed included the $5,000 recently borrowed.

In preparation of much work in the coming few weeks the committee now has on hand six cars of steel and out of the amounts expended has paid for two cars of cement.

which are on the ground. Five cars of sand have also been purchased and paid for and are on the ground awaiting completion of forms which are now being placed in preparation for the pouring of concrete which will probably be under way before the end of the present week. The foundation for the south tower is in and the stone work has been started on a number of other foundations, in connection with the work on the project.

ERNEST FOX NICHOLS DEAD

Prominent Aggie Alumnus Died Suddenly Tuesday

Dr. Ernest Fox Nichols, noted scientist died suddenly, Tuesday, while reading a paper to the American Academy of Sciences. Doctor Nichols was graduated from this college in 1888 and was at the time of his death connected with the Nela research laboratory at Cleveland.

Doctor Nichols was one of the foremost men ever graduated from the Kansas State Agricultural college. After graduation, he received the degrees of master of science and doctor of science from Cornell university. In 1892 he was appointed to the chair of physics and astronomy at Colgate university. Later he became president of Dartmouth and then president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Doctor Nichols had an international reputation as a physicist. He was the first person to demonstrate the theory of pressure of light experimentally and was the first person to measure heat from the stars. He first demonstrated the pressure of light before the American Society for the Advancement of Science and later gave the same demonstration at the Royal Institute in London. While a student in the Berlin laboratory, he made several discoveries published by the Prussian Royal Academy of Sciences.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR AGGIE WIN SATURDAY

Riley Out to Break Record on Field Day—Erwin to Meet Locke of Nebraska

Aggie chances for a track victory over the ancient Jayhawk foe on Stadium field tomorrow are much improved over the first of the week, since it is now probable that L. E. Erwin, Aggie captain, will be able to run in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Erwin's presence on the Aggie squad gives the Wildcats at least an even break on the meet and possibly a slight advantage.

Earl Frazier, Baylor university, has been working out with the Aggie squad every night for the past week in preparation for his race Monday with Ivan Riley, national high hurdles champion and member of the 1924 American Olympic team. Riley and Frazier will go the 400 meter route as a part of the program for the annual field day of the K. S. A. C. military department.

Riley will be out to break the world's record in his event, which he missed by only 3-5 of a second at the Penn relays last Saturday.

Sport writers who saw the race expressed the opinion that Riley would have shattered the world's mark had he been hard pressed.

L. E. Erwin, Aggie track captain, also will appear on the field day program in a 150 yard special race against R. Locke, University of Nebraska dash man. Erwin has beaten Locke twice this year over the 100 yard route.

WIDE RANGE IN DATES ENABLES VISITORS TO ATTEND AG FAIR K. U. TRACK MEET

RECORD ATTENDANCE IS EXPECTED

Festival Opens Monday with Glee Club Concert—Saturday Is Big Day of Gala Week

The descent of gala week visitors upon K. S. A. C. and Manhattan has begun. Between this afternoon and Monday evening, the greatest crowd of guests ever in attendance at the Spring Festival is expected to arrive in the city.

Give Special Rates

The announcement Wednesday that a special one and one-half fare round trip flat rate will be granted by all railroads leading to Manhattan, between the dates of May 3 to 10, forecasts an even larger attendance than the promoters of the various attractions dared hope for. It is believed. The rates will be good over the Rock Island, the Union Pacific, and the St. Joseph and Grand Island railroads, within a 200 mile radius of Manhattan. They will apply to return trips as late as May 12.

The wide range in dates allowed by the railroad companies will enable visitors who care to do so to attend all of the events falling within the gala period. On May 3, the annual Ag Fair and the K. U. Aggie dual track meet are the attractions and the second Military Field day is scheduled for Monday. Following the Music Festival programs which begin Monday evening, is Mother's day on Sunday, May 11.

Hold Midsummer Opening

A further attraction has recently been added to the Guest week program by Manhattan business men. A mid-summer opening, corresponding to the annual spring displays, will be held during the week, May 5 to 10. Windows will be especially decorated and all stores are expected to don their best holiday colors for the occasion.

The Spring Festival program itself, which constitutes the principal attraction of the week, opens Monday evening with a concert by the combined glee clubs of the college. The organizations will be assisted by Gladys M. Warren and Helen Colburn Ringo, piano ensemble, Harry King Lamont, violinist, and Edna M. Ellis, soprano. Accompanists will be Gertrude Rosemond, Lavinia Waugh, and Charles Stratton.

Hess Trio Wednesday

Tuesday evening a concert by the college symphony orchestra with Harold P. Wheeler, conductor, will be offered. Hans Hess, cellist, will assist the orchestra.

A chamber music concert by the Hans Hess trio composed of Mr. Hess, cello, Clarence Evans, violin, and Juul Rosine, piano, will be given Wednesday evening.

The annual Festival week production of the Purple Masque players comes as usual on Thursday evening. "The Admirable Crichton," a James M. Barrie play, will be presented.

Matinee Concert Friday

Friday the first matinee program is scheduled. A campus concert by the K. S. A. C. band under Director H. P. Wheeler, is to be given. Friday evening, Mary Welch, contralto, and Ernest Davis, tenor, will offer a song recital.

The two programs on Saturday are expected to bring to Manhattan the largest audiences in the history of the Festival. A number of prominent visitors will also be in attendance, according to Professor Pratt. In the afternoon the oratorio, "Elijah," is to be presented, and at night the Minneapolis Symphony will give the feature concert of the week.

Artists Sing Solo Parts

The college chorus will be assisted in the oratorio presentation by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra and by four visiting artists. The soloists are Arthur Middleton, baritone; Leonora Sparks, soprano; Ernest Davis, tenor; and Mary Welch, contralto. Professor Ira Pratt will direct the presentation.

The advance season ticket sale of Festival tickets has been considerably larger than in any previous year. Professor Pratt states. The mail order sale was especially satisfactory and an unusually big crowd from out of town is assured.

FRIENDLY RELATIONS

Saturday, May 3, the Jayhawk track team will be the guests of the Kansas State Agricultural college to dedicate the Aggies' new cinder track with a dual meet between the two sister schools.

Two years ago Kansas was the guest of the agricultural college when the stadium was dedicated by the annual Aggie-Jayhawk football game. Then also the first football game played in the Kansas Memorial stadium was between the two state schools.

This sort of spirit between the two schools is the highest type of sportsmanship. The two schools should be friendly towards each other. The student bodies of both are made up largely of Kansas boys and girls with the same ideals and purposes in view.

Athletics and standards of both will be on a higher level if the two schools are on friendly terms.—K. U. Daily Kansan.

Coeds Break Into Sacred Ranks of Aggie Concert Band

For the first time, at least in the memory of Prof. Ira Pratt or Prof. H. P. Wheeler of the music department, coeds can be found in the K. S. A. C. concert band, which will give a campus concert during festival week.

This year four girls have broken down the ancient and time-worn custom of not permitting women in the college band, and have secured a permanent place for themselves in that organization. They are Lucile Heath, Wakefield; Dorothy Stiles, Kansas City; Miriam Dexter, Manhattan; and Margaret Foster, Manhattan. Miss Stiles is the only one of these students who is taking the music course, but they are all taking private lessons on their instruments, and according to Professor Pratt, were just too good to keep out of the band.

But even at that, the ranks of the military band are still pure and undefiled, and there the Aggie men can blow their great horns without fear of invasion from ambitious coeds.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION TO MAKE REPRINT OF ARTICLE BY SIEVER

Nation's Health Asks for Article on Student Health

Numerous requests have come into American Medical associations for a reprint of Dr. C. M. Siever's article, "Cultivating Health on the Farm," which appeared in the February number of Hygiene.

The bureau of Health and Public Instruction has written Doctor Siever for permission to print the article in bulletin form to be used by state departments of health and other agencies designing to use it for educating the public along this line.

Since Doctor Siever's lecture on "The Cause of Sickness" which was broadcast recently, the Nation's Health has asked for an article on how K. S. A. C. cares for the students' health.

Pleasant Valley, May 1.—Fine weather we're having after the rain. "All's right with the world," and Pleasant Valley sure does look nice, after the big Clean Up, and we sure are proud of our town.

One of the most pleasant episodes of the day was the way the town officials took hold and worked, right along with the others. Everybody was "just folks" for the time being, and there was a fine spirit of democracy prevalent, probably due to the warm weather, which, according to the most modern scientists, promotes, or brings out, the spirit of democracy.

Even the editor of our esteemed contemporary, the Collegian, who probably never did a full day's work in his life, dug a handful of dandelions, to show his civic pride. If any of our readers doubts the truth of this statement, the dandelions are on display in the Collegian office window. Better keep them, Mister Posey, as a reminder of your INDUSTRY.

We were much pleased to see Mesdames B. Farthingale Forster and H. Wallingford Davis plying their rakes outside the city hall. Mr. Davis has a job in the city hall and his wife wanted to have his front yard cleaned up nice, so she helped do the work herself. Mr. Davis, our obliging official, lit the match for the bonfire.

It is rumored that two of Pleasant Valley's most popular young people were married Sunday in Nowata, Okla., and expect to set up housekeeping. Congratulations, and welcome to our little community.

There was quite a lot of excitement in Pleasant Valley Tuesday when Deacon Ogilvie fell down the library steps in the rain, breaking his parasol (which his wife had given him when they were married 25 years ago) and spraining his ankle. Brother Ogilvie was taken to the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Mencken Toshe are the proud parents of a bouncing baby boy born April 22. (This item was turned in a week ago, but was accidentally placed in the cash book, and not discovered until today.)

This is the thirtieth successful term of school that Miss Marcy has taught, and we predict that she will make good in the teaching world.

Literary

The Alpha chapter of the Beta Delphian Society met Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Anna Mae Pfeiffer. The club made a thorough review of Art, ancient and modern, and a program was given, as follows: Song, "America," by all; roll call, answered to with quotations from the Psalms; recitation, "An Old Sweetheart of Mine," little Alyse Eugenia Jones; several vocal selections, rendered by the victrola. Mrs. Pfeiffer has a lovely new victrola and it was indeed a treat for the music hungry guests to listen to it. Refreshments of pickles, coffee, sandwiches, and ice cream were served by the hostess, assisted by Mesdames Sarah Hobbes; Lucinda Thompson, and Rebecca Morse. The color scheme was salmon pink and lavender, made very effective by the glow from Mrs. Pfeiffer's new red lamp shades. Mrs. Pfeiffer is one of the few residents of Pleasant Valley to have electric lights in her home. The club meets next Tuesday with Mrs. Hobbes. The program includes a review of contemporary authors and their work.

SELLS STORY! !

Mr. George Gordon Byron Shorte,

one of Pleasant Valley's leading literary lights, announces the fact that he has recently sold a MSS. to the Dearborn Independent, well known as "the chronicler of the neglected truth," and a very worthwhile paper, for $45.00 (forty-five dollars). Mr. Shorte is one of our promising citizens, and we are expecting great things from him.

We would like to have all those owing back subscriptions to the paper to come and pay up this week. Ye Editor needs a new pair of shoes.

KANSAS POLITICAL REPORTER TALKS ABOUT CONVENTIONS

A. L. Schultz Describes Problems of Press in Covering Them

Despite the necessarily partisan nature of the event, reporters of national presidential nominating conventions of both the Republican and Democratic parties are given every facility to get an unbiased account of convention doings, A. L. Schultz, veteran political reporter for the Topeka State Journal, told the students at industrial journalism seminar Monday afternoon.

The seating of press correspondents and arrangements for their convenience in handling news are in charge of James L. Preston, the man who has supervision of the United States senate galleries, Mr. Schultz said. Equal accommodations are afforded all reporters so far as is possible, whether they are corresponding for a metropolitan daily or for one in a comparatively small middle western town. No lines are drawn with respect to political cast of the reporter's newspaper.

Telegraph facilities for the Republican convention at Cleveland and the Democratic meeting in New York will be much better than they were at San Francisco in 1920, Mr. Schultz said. Subscribers to middle western papers will receive more prompt service owing to the difference in time belts where the convention cities are located and the better wire service.

EDITORS' SONS AND DAUGHTERS FOLLOW IN DAD'S FOOTSTEPS

In Journalism Class of 104, 84 Are from Newspaper Families

Evidence that practicing newspaper men and women in Kansas tend to keep the profession in the family appears from a recent census of family relationships taken among students enrolled in the department of industrial journalism at the Kansas State Agricultural college.

In a class of 104 students, it was found that 84 have relatives in the field of journalism and that a considerable proportion of the students are sons and daughters of Kansas editors.

Ralph Shideler, senior, and Fred Shideler, freshman, are sons of H. W. Shideler, publisher of the Girard Press; C. W. Claybaugh, junior, is the son of C. W. Claybaugh, editor of the Pretty Prairie Times; Maxine Ransom, junior, is daughter of W. H. Ransom, editor of the Downs News; Josephine Hemphill, senior, is the daughter of B. F. Hemphill, editor of the Clay Center Economist; Ramsey Payne, freshman, is the son of Dennis B. Payne, editor of the Marshall Tribune, Marshall, Okla.; Mary Kimball, freshman, is the daughter of C. A. Kimball, editor of the Manhattan Tribune; C. W. Roberts, junior, is the son of F. H. Roberts, editor and publisher of the Meriden Messenger, the Oskaloosa Independent, and the McLaugh Times. William Batdorf, junior, is the nephew of John Redmond, editor of the Burlington Republican.

Elizabeth Shaffer into Print
Elizabeth (Dickens) Shaffer, '22, Albuquerque, N. M., recently sold three household articles, one to Holands, one to Today's Housewife, and one to the home economics department of the New York Tribune. Mrs. Shaffer was editor of the Collegian the first semester of her senior year at K. S. A. C.

THREE AGGIE PROFS ATTEND CHEMICAL SOCIETY MEETING

Professors King, Hughes, and Latshaw in Washington, D. C.

Three professors in the K. S. A. C. department of chemistry attended the sixty-seventh meeting of the American Chemical society held last week in Washington, D. C.

The meeting opened Monday, April 21 and closed Saturday, April 26. Those attending from here are Prof. N. L. Latshaw, Dr. H. H. King, and Dr. J. S. Hughes. Doctor King and Doctor Hughes gave an illustrated lecture on "Effects of Light on Calcium Metabolism."

While in the east Doctor King will visit the chemical laboratories of several eastern universities.

252 ENTRIES IN INTRAMURALS

Track Meet Dated May 3—Preliminaries Day Preceding

At the present time there is a total of 252 entries in the intramural track meet which will be held on May 3. The preliminaries will be run off Friday and the finals will be held at 1 o'clock Saturday just before the K. U.-Aggie track meet.

A large number of entries are found in the dashes, 26 being entered in the 220 yard and 21 in the 100 yard dashes. Twenty-five aspiring athletes are to attempt the broad jump and 22 are entered in an attempt to set a new record for the high jump. The weight events are receiving a great deal of attention and 21 have signified their intention of heaving the shot while 22 are ready to toss the saucer.

It seems as though more interest is being taken this year in intramural track than has been shown since the beginning of this branch of sport. Besides the numerous entries in every event there are over 12 organizations that are to compete in a one mile relay.

Miss Araminta Holman was called to her home in Leavenworth Tuesday morning by the death of her mother.

ENTER SECOND ROUND OF TENNIS TOURNNEY

Intramural Champion Will Have Strong Competition This Year—First Match Results In

Practically all of the first round intramural tennis singles have been played and the results show that the coming champion will have more competition than usual for winning the high position. The games have been going on for about a week and most of the matches have been played in the afternoons and evenings, the courts being reserved from 4 o'clock until 7. E. A. Knoth is handling the games and they are being played off in much less time than it took to play them last year. Second round games are now in progress.

The winners follow: McCowan, Volles, R. Huey, Benninghoven, Eldred, Service, Dawley, Lutz, Clency, Sappenfield, Bartgis, Dickens, H. H. Platt, Harris, Miller, L. H. Platt, Callis, Morris, Nelson, Kissick, Perham, Kirk, Irwin, Weddle, Haas, Berridge, Batdorf, Mier, Veal, Root, Davis, Hutchinson, Dayhoff, Werham, Basley, G. Huey, Alley, Harter, Black, Hamler, Winkler, Stout, Levitt, Logan, Westwood, and Saxton.

Winners of the games that have so far been played in the second round are Sappenfield, H. H. Platt, Harris, and Alberding.

Nearly all the first rounds of the doubles have been played off although there are still some scores to come in. The doubles were played off in less time because of their fewer number. The winners of the first round follow: Stout and Hamilton, Wilson and Hutchinson, Larsen and Blackburn, Weddle and Morris, Proctor and Nielson, McCormick and Purcell, Platt and Platt, Sappenfield and Alley, Wareham and Miller.

Hervey and Bartgis, Davis and Rogers, are now in the third bracket having drawn byes and won a game.

SUMMERS ON COMMITTEE TO FORMULATE LEAGUE PLANS

Judges Debate at Sterling and Extempo Contests at Washburn

Prof. H. B. Summers of the public speaking department, went to Oklahoma City, Saturday, where he met with J. K. Horner, from the public speaking department of Oklahoma university. These two men have been appointed by the president of the Missouri Valley Oratorical association to draw up plans for a Missouri Valley Debate league.

On his way to Oklahoma, Professor Summers stopped at Sterling to judge a debate, and at Wichita, where he met Raymond Davis, representative of the State Peace Oratorical contest, at Friends university. From Oklahoma City he went to Stillwater where he attended the debate between the Kansas Aggies and the Oklahoma A. and M. team. He will go to Washburn to judge an extemporaneous speaking contest before returning to K. S. A. C.

Have you a Royal Purple.

ADD ERWIN TROPHY TO LIST OF RELAY PRIZES

Cup Bearing Name of Valley Dash Champion Awarded to Winner of Medley Race

A trophy bearing the name of L. E. "Red" Erwin, Aggie track captain and Missouri Valley 100 yard dash champion, has been added to the list of prizes for the Third Annual Missouri Valley Interscholastic relays, which will be run off the afternoon of May 17 in Memorial Stadium. The Erwin trophy is offered to the winner of the medley relay. Permanent possession will go to the team winning it three times.

Fare and a half rates for the round trip to Manhattan and "back home" have been applied for by the athletic department.

With Women's day also set for the May 17 date, a large crowd is expected in Manhattan for the double attraction. If possible the two events will be coordinated so as to give visitors an opportunity to take in the best part of each.

Preliminaries in the field events of the interscholastic meet will start at 10 o'clock the morning of the meet. The meet proper will not start until 2:30 in the afternoon.

From the number of queries received by Head Coach Bachman about the meet, entries will far exceed those of last year, when 500 high school athletes were guests of the college. Midnight of May 13 has been set as the time limit for returning relay blanks to the athletic office.

Sells Track Biographies

E. A. Miller, a student in journalism, has recently sold track biographies of Ivan H. Riley and John Gartner to the N. E. A. service. Before entering college Mr. Miller was the editor of a high school paper, and during his senior year in high school wrote several sport stories.

The Lure of the Mail Order Catalog

It is regrettable, but nevertheless a fact, that there is quite a bit of temptation concealed in the pages of the Mail Order Catalog, but if those who are in the habit of buying from Mail Order Houses would give the matter a little sober thought, they would probably thing twice before making their purchases through this channel.

There is no denying the fact that the big catalog houses know their stuff. They broadcast their wonderful works of art with keen foresight and precision. Knowing just how to work upon the minds of the purchasing public they show up their wares so beautifully and make their prices look so attractive, that many a dollar is sent away to them and thus lost to the local merchant and the community, when, as a matter of fact, the very same goods or articles could probably have been bought right here in town at even lower prices.

Stop and think a moment before you send that check or Money Order away next time. Who pays for that tremendously expensive catalog? Who pays for that terrific overhead expense included in rentals, salaries, postage, insurance and upkeep? You pay it, you out-of-town buyers and in so doing you help to support the Big Store conducted by strangers in some other city, to the loss and detriment of Manhattan business firms who really deserve your patronage.

You students know full well that these firms here can be depended upon to treat you fairly. They are not going to hold you up. The fair and equitable prices they ask you today is the very best advertisement they can use for it means that you will come again and buy more. Then too, they have a fellow feeling and a friendly interest in you and your welfare. Can you imagine the interest the Million Dollar Storekeeper, hundreds of miles away, has in you? If that greenback you have tucked away in your jeans could talk, it would say: "I am the reason."

Now let's size up and carefully compare these two methods of purchase and see how they look from a fair, square, view-point. Do a little figuring on your own hook. Take into consideration the time it takes you to get your mail order purchase, the possibility of its being lost in transit; the fact that you are buying without having a chance to inspect your purchase, and too, the trouble you might have in securing a fair adjustment in case the goods proved unsatisfactory. Then add the cost of transportation to the catalog price, and it is just possible you will find that you have not gained anything at all in the transaction.

And, last but not least, what about the real "grade of the goods you buy via the catalog? They may be all right, and then again they may be what are called "seconds." It is likely that most of you know what "seconds" are, but a word regarding same might not be out of place. Practically everything we use except that produced by Nature, is manufactured, and there never was a factory that turned out all its product 100 per cent perfect. The imperfect product is a "second" and in order to prevent loss a market must be found for this grade of goods. It is a well known fact that these "seconds" are jobbed to certain houses which make a specialty of disposing of them, some by the "auction" method, but mostly via the catalog.

So, you see, you are always taking chances, and may be buying "seconds" when you purchase goods without having a chance to carefully examine them.

Merchandise and service of the best is here in abundance and there isn't a business man in Manhattan today but who is ready to serve you to your satisfaction, both as to quality and price. We want you to carefully check over the list of firms responsible for this page, and we are sure that you will agree that this is true. And these are but a part of the number ready to serve you and treat you right.

Don't forget to read No. 6 next week.

Marie Coons Manages Kansas City Cafeteria Successfully

Cooking taught by the Kansas State Agricultural college suits Kansas City appetites to a "T."

When the Elks looked about for a cafeteria director for their new $600,000 building with its roof garden cafe, they selected Miss Marie Coons, a graduate of the Kansas Agricultural college, who has specialized in institutional management and knows men like apple pie.

Miss Coons is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Coons, Manhattan. She came to Kansas City two years ago and for a year was director of the Kansas City high school cafe. The students told their parents of the splendid food served by Miss Coons, and the next year she received an attractive offer from the Chamber of Commerce where she now presides over the dining hall and kitchen. She will leave that post Monday to go to the Elks club.

Miss Coons successor at the Chamber of Commerce will be Miss Agnes Ayers, Iola, also a graduate of the agricultural college.—Topeka Daily Capital.

GOLF AND TENNIS STARS COMPETE AT TRACK MEET

2,000 Invitations Out for Inter-scholastic Carnival

High school golf and tennis stars of the Missouri Valley will compete along with their track teams in the third annual Missouri Valley Inter-scholastic relays at K. S. A. C. May 17.

Each Valley high school will be allowed two entries in both the singles and doubles of the tennis tournament, which is to start at 9 o'clock on the morning of the meet. Gold, silver, and bronze medals are offered as first, second, and third prizes respectively in the tournament.

Two man teams will compete in the golf tournament, each team playing 36 holes, total medal score of each school to count. Eighteen holes will be played in the morning and 18 in the afternoon on the links of the Manhattan Country club. Trophies will be given both to the school with the low medal score and to the individual low medalist.

Invitations and entry blanks for the meet have been mailed to more than 2,000 Valley high schools. Every school in towns of more than 200 population in the states of Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Oklahoma, and Colorado has been invited.

As an additional drawing card for the meet, the intramural medley relay, 1 7-8 mile race, will be run off. The starter will run 220 yards, second man 440 yards, third man a half mile, and anchor man a mile.

Six relays and eight special events are on the "card" as mailed out to the high schools.

Relay events are 440 yard, 880 yard, one mile, two mile, four mile, medley. Special events—100 yard dash, 220 yard low hurdles, pole vault, high jump, broad jump, 12 pound shot put, discus throw, javelin throw.

HOLD BIG SISTER BREAKFAST

Every Girl in College Invited to Meeting Sunday

A combination Y. W. C. A. big sister pledge service and breakfast will be held Sunday morning, May 4, from 7:30 to 11 o'clock in Recreation center. The service will be both inspirational and practical, outlining the work of the big sisters for the coming year.

Every girl in college is invited to attend the service. Between two and three hundred big sisters and big sister mothers are expected to be present. The program which is in charge of Elizabeth Bressler, will include numbers by the Y. W. C. A. octette and a violin solo by Elizabeth Van Ness.

The work of the big sisters for the past year will be discussed by Marie Correll, present big sister chairman, and an outline of the work for next year will be made by Phyllis Burtis, big sister chairman elect. After the breakfast the girls will attend church services at the Baptist church.

MUSIC FRATERNITY PRESENTS ANNUAL AMERICAN PROGRAM

Professor Ringo Plays His Own Compositions

A musical program by American composers was presented last Monday by Tau chapter of Phi Mu Alpha. Selections were given from such composers as Victor Herbert, Lucien Danni, MacDowell, Nevin, and Ira Pratt.

The feature of the program was the playing by Boyd Ringo, of the K. S. A. C. music faculty, of two of his own compositions. These were "Night Nocturne" and "Humoresque."

Those appearing on the program were Harry Wilson, Charles Stratton, Lawrence Woodman, Harry Lamont, Robert Gordon, Boyd Ringo, Harold Flamm, and Myron Russell.

DIETETICS CLASS SERVES ELABORATE DINNER FRIDAY

Prepared Five Course Meal for 50 Cents a Plate

A five course dinner served in the home economics dining room Friday at 5:30 marked the close of the marketing and serving part of the dietetics course. This was a class problem rather than individual work with emphasis placed on the preparation and serving of an elaborate meal at low cost. By careful planning and buying the total cost was 50 cents a plate.

The guests of the class were President and Mrs. Jardine, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Carney, Dean and Mrs. J. T. Willard, Dr. Margaret M. Justin, Dr. and Mrs. C. O. Swanson, Prof. and Mrs. E. V. Floyd, Prof. Martha E. Pittman, Prof. Amy Jane Lezenby, Dr. Martha Kramer, Miss Katherine Hudson, and Miss Margaret Ahlborn.

WILL SUPERVISE FAIR PAGEANTS

MISS BURR SUPERINTENDENT OF COMMUNITY DRAMATICS

Any Community in Kansas May Enter
Contest at Topeka Fair—Five Prizes Offered

Miss Osceola Burr, director of pageantry at K. S. A. C. has been made the superintendent of the community dramatics department at the Kansas State Fair which is to be held in Topeka in September.

The purpose of the community dramatics department is to encourage young people to seek, to find, and to preserve the history and traditions of their communities. The community drama is a play, the subject matter of which is taken from local history and traditions.

Offer Five Prizes

To stimulate an interest in this department five prizes are being offered to the local communities that produce the best plays at the fair. The first prize is $50, the second $30, the third $20, the fourth $15, and the fifth is $10.

Any community in Kansas may enter the contest, there being no entry charge. The drama presented must be based on local history and the participants in the play as well as the directors must be residents of the community they represent. Only amateurs can take part in the production of the play, and all entries must be made before September 1.

Kansas Rich in Experience

"Kansas communities are rich in experience," says Miss Burr. "This state, at one time a pioneer section, has seen its present civilization grow from a prairie desert waste. Its history is written with the blood of fallen heroes, and wet with the tears of privation of her early settlers. That strenuous period is past, but the memory lingers in old books, in unpublished manuscripts, and in the hearts of the few 'Old Settlers'."

"The young people of today are the last generation which will be privileged to hear first hand from the pioneer the story of this one time frontier state. Another generation, and the pioneer will have 'gone west' for the last time. Build a monument to their memory now, preserve the history and tradition of your community by building it into your community drama."

FIRST FORENSIC MEET MAY 16

Any High School Student May Enter Competition

The first annual Kansas Inter-scholastic Forensic meet in which students from the high schools of the state will demonstrate their ability as speakers, will be held at Manhattan, May 16, Prof. H. B. Summers of the public speaking department announces.

Students under 21 regularly enrolled in some high school are eligible. The debate preliminary elimination will start May 15. Final entries must be made before Saturday, May 10.

Each school may enter two students in debate. They must be prepared to take either the affirmative or the negative of the question "Resolved: That the United States Should Enter the World Court."

The forensic meet will be held in cooperation with the third annual Missouri Valley Inter-scholastic Relay carnival, which will be held at the college May 17.

Picture in All Stafford Schools

An extensive campaign is being made among the students and alumni of K. S. A. C. to place pictures of the Aggie campus in all accredited high schools. A number of alumni and other interested individuals have made personal gifts of these pictures to their former high schools. In most cases, however, the pictures are purchased by groups of alumni or present students of K. S. A. C.

At this time Stafford county is the only county which has a picture of the campus in every accredited high school.

SIGMA NUS STILL LEAD IN INTRAMURAL CONTESTS

Acacias Are Close Second and Lambda Chi Alphas Third—Tri L's Well Up

New names are recorded among the list of leaders in the race for the intramural cup as published today by E. A. Knoth, director of intramural athletics. Figures include swimming, basketball, handball, indoor track, and all baseball games reported to the office before April 30.

The Sigma Nus still are leading with 217 points, but are hard pressed by the Acacias with 214 and the Lambda Chi Alphas, with 209. The Tri L's and Delta Tau Deltas also remain very much in the race with 184.5 and 184 points respectively.

Any one of the first half dozen organizations can sprint through to victory in the tennis tournament and track meet, according to Knoth. Track meet entries, closed today and the meet tomorrow will decide largely which team will hold the cup next year. The medley relay, set for May 17, may decide, in case of a close battle.

The organizations and points scored by each follow:

Sigma Nu, 217; Acacia, 214; Lambda Chi Alpha, 209; Tri L, 184.5; Delta Tau Delta, 184; A. V. A. C., 157; Pi Kappa Alpha, 149.75; Sigma Phi Epsilon, 142; Beta Theta Pi, 123; Phi Sigma Kappa, 113.75; Belmont club, 109; Phi Delta Theta, 103; Alpha Sigma Psi, 99; Alpha Rho Chi, 98; Kappa Phi Alpha, 96.75; Kappa Sigma, 96; Edgerton club, 95; Omega Tau Epsilon, 93; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 92; Triangulars, 91; Phi Lambda Theta, 90; Farm House, 70.75; Kanza club, 68; Eureka club, 66; Alpha Tau Omega, 65; Beta Pi Epsilon, 57; Phi Kappa, 45; Veterinary Medical association, 40.

CENSURES ACTIVITY RULE IN ADDRESS TO FACULTY

No Relation Between Grades and Outside Work Strickland Declares

"No relation between the grades and the outside activities of the student exists in this college," declared Prof. V. L. Strickland of the department of education at a recent faculty meeting. Professor Strickland based his statement on statistics obtained from the junior and senior classes.

Statistics given by the students themselves stating the number of hours of college work carried, the hours spent each week working for wages, and the number of hours in such outside activities as debate, dramatics, and fraternity duties were obtained for the last semester. The grades made by these same students were obtained from the registrar and used in a chart of comparison. The results of the comparison showed that students carrying approximately the same amount of college work and engaging in similar outside activities varied in grade index from an F to an E.

"The reason for this fact," said Professor Strickland, "is that there is a third factor to be considered in the relation of the students' grades and outside activities which must be taken into account. That factor is the original capacity of the student. The best way to determine this is through the freshman intelligence tests."

Of the seven seniors ranking highest among the students observed, six were working for wages outside of school hours. These students estimated that they were spending from nine to 35 hours each week on outside work, and they were making between a C and E grade index in from 15 to 21 hours of college credit. On the other hand, students with a grade index below average were not working outside of school.

"The idea that the student who is giving a great deal of time to outside activities must be doing poor school work is false," concluded Professor

Strickland. "The amount of outside activities a student can carry and still do satisfactory school work depends entirely upon his ability. All these data would seem to indicate that this college may not be giving the student of large ability opportunity to use this ability up to capacity in school work."

Speaks to Salesmanship Classes

G. S. Slough, district sales manager of the Wear-ever Aluminum company, and U. S. Gilbert, sales manager of the Inland Steel company, of Chicago, spoke to Prof. J. O. Faulkner's classes in written and oral salesmanship on Monday and Tuesday, the second and fourth hours. Several aspects of practical salesmanship were discussed.

POSTPONE INTRAMURAL FINALS

Will Be Run Off Before Missouri Meet May 10

The program for the intramural track meet semi-finals has been altered by E. A. Knoth, director of intramurals, because of the track meet with Kansas university tomorrow and the unusually large number of entries in the meet.

Preliminaries in the 100, 220, and 440 yard dashes and the high and low hurdles will be this afternoon at 5 o'clock on Stadium field track. Entries closed at noon today and cannot be made on the field.

Field event preliminaries will be next Tuesday at 5 o'clock on the field west of the home economics building.

Finals in all events are set for Saturday, May 10, at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The intramural finals will be run off so as not to interfere with the Aggie-Missouri dual meet, which is set for the same day.

Margaret Mason, '23, is teaching home economics in the Mullinville high school.

WORK IS PUSHED ON STADIUM

Pouring of Forms for New Section Will Begin Soon

Practically all of the excavating for the north end of the new section of the stadium has been made, according to Mike Ahearn, athletic director. Two feet of limestone rock is still to be removed. The dirt is being used to fill up the lawn in front of the engineering building.

Forms for one section of the new side are in place and the workmen will probably start pouring concrete within a week or 10 days. The south tower which is to be made of cut stone, is already up 12 to 15 feet.

Footings for another section of the east side are in place and the work is progressing rapidly. It is expected that the entire east side will be completed in time for the K. U. Aggie game which will be held on October 18. With this new side completed the seating capacity will be between 13,000 and 15,000.

DOCTOR JUSTIN TALKS TO TOPEKA HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS

Speaks on Home Economics As a Vocation

Dr. Margaret M. Justin went to Topeka on Wednesday where she addressed the girls of the Topeka high school on the vocations open to women with home economics training.

This was one of a series of lectures upon various vocations which the Topeka high school has conducted during the past two years in an effort to help the students in their choice of vocations. Doctor Justin emphasized the idea that home economics training brings to a woman habits of industry, independence, and contentment, and she described some of the professional lines of work open to women who have such training.

THE STATE KANSAS COLLEGIAN

VOL. XXX

KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, TUESDAY, MAY 6, 1924

NO. 62

LOCAL A. A. U. W. IS RECOGNIZED

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION GRANTS THIRD CHAPTER IN STATE

All Women Students in College Automatically Become Members on Graduation

As a reward for four years of effort by the local chapter of the American Association of University Women, K. S. A. C., has been recognized by the National association, according to word received Friday by President Jardine from Mina Kerr, Washington, D. C., national executive secretary of the association. By virtue of the recognition all women students at the college automatically become members of the association with full privileges on graduation.

Third Chapter in State

K. S. A. C. is the third college in the state to be recognized by the association, and the fifth land grant college in the United States to be recognized as having the high standards necessary for membership. Attendance of two years at the college admits to associate membership in the association. Washburn university, Topeka, and the University of Kansas are the other member schools in the state.

Seventy-five Manhattan women and K. S. A. C. instructors are members of the local chapter.

K. S. A. C. Recognized Only Recently

The greatest draw back to K. S. A. C. membership lay for several years in the fact that it is not recognized by the Association of American universities, a requisite for recognition by the woman's association. Membership in the North Central Association of Colleges was recently recognized as constituting a basis for membership in the American Association of University Women, which removed the largest obstacle in the way of K. S. A. C.

Much of the credit for the victory goes to Dr. Jean Bogart, former professor of foods and nutrition at the college, Mrs. C. F. Baker, wife of Prof. Cecil Baker, and Dr. Helen Thompson, former dean of the division of home economics, who were active from the beginning of the organization.

Aided by Dr. Willard

Dr. J. T. Willard, vice president of the college, was perhaps the greatest factor in preparing information about the college and getting national officers of the association interested. He collected practically all the data submitted to the committee on recognition of the national association, and was instrumental in persuading Dr. Aurelia Rhinehardt, national president of the association and president of Mills college, Oakland, Cal., to visit K. S. A. C. and speak in student chapel last fall. Doctor Rhinehardt was very favorably impressed with the general atmosphere of the college.

The national association is instrumental in securing scholarships for deserving woman students, administering scholarships for graduate work in foreign countries, and improving the general living conditions of women in colleges everywhere. International relationships among university women are encouraged, women faculty members aided in bettering their positions, and women in general are stimulated to continue their intellectual growth in after life. A magazine containing information of interest to members is published.

Miss Emma Hyde President

Officers and executive board members of the local chapter are as follows: president, Miss Emma Hyde, vice-president, Miss Pearl Ruby, secretary-treasurer, Miss Martha Pittman; Mrs. J. V. Cortelyou, Miss Maud Arnett.

Miss Ada Rice is in charge of the entertainment committee and Miss Ina Holroyd is publicity director.

Members of the local chapter are as follows: Nellie Aberle, Margaret Ahlborn, Maud Arnett, Ethel Arnold, Mina Bates, Emily Bennett, Anna L. Best, Ada Billings, Grace Bischof, Helen Bishop, Mrs. A. N. Prof. H. W. Davis went to Kansas City Wednesday evening to attend a banquet given by the Kansas City Star for the contributors to the Starbeams and Kansas Notes columns. About 30 attended the banquet.

8,000 SPECTATORS PACK STADIUM ON FIELD DAY

Erwin and Riley Take Track Events—Cavalry Troop Demonstrates Maneuvers and Hurdling

Eight thousand persons packed Memorial Stadium and overflowed onto the surrounding field yesterday afternoon for the program presented by the military department of the college for the annual Field day.

L. E. "Red" Erwin, Aggie track captain, started the ball rolling by passing Earl Frazier, Baylor university, just before the finish of a fast hundred yard race. Erwin's time was 9-10 seconds.

Following the century race Ivan Riley, American 440 yard hurdle champion, "did his stuff" for the home crowd by winning the special 400 meter hurdle race from Frazier easily. The time was slow, 58 seconds, as part of the track was badly cut up and the wind was against the runners on the straightaway. Riley ran a beautiful race, but was not pressed by the Texan, who is rated as one of the fastest hurdlers in the United States.

A cavalry troop from Fort Riley put on a well executed and interesting demonstration of maneuvers, although rather cramped for space. Two field radio stations were put up and taken down in fast time, and the maneuvers were closed by a spectacular exhibition in which the entire troop forced its horses to jump through the ring of a blazing "fire horse."

Cavalry hurdling competition was staged by non-commissioned officers and enlisted men on the straightaway of Stadium track following the maneuvers, while a creaking gull military band livened up the intervals.

Sky writing by airplanes, scheduled as part of the program, was impossible because of the strong winds, but a "human fly" made up for it by going through a trapeze act from a bar suspended below a plane.

All military units here for the day, including the college cadet corps, started the program yesterday morning with a parade through the streets of Manhattan, which ended the year of drill for the college "army."

Following the parade college men, regulars and airplanes combined in staging a sham battle on the serum plant hill. Several thousand visitors witnessed the battle and the rodeo which followed.

The day was closed with a sight-seeing tour of inspection of Manhattan, a band concert, and a parachute leap from one of the airplanes here for the day.

BURLINGTON WINS HIGH SCHOOL JUDGING CONTEST

Howard Elkins of Wakefield Takes Individual Honors—53 Teams Compete

Burlington high school won the team championship in the fourth annual Kansas state high school judging contest at the Kansas State Agricultural college, officials of the competition announced Saturday morning. Howard Elkins of Wakefield won high individual honors. Judging began Thursday and continued throughout Friday. Fifty-three teams, representing every section of the state, took part.

Wichita scored high in departmental honors, taking two firsts in team standings and one high individual honor. The Wichita team placed first in grain judging and dairy judging. Raymond Appleman of Wichita was high individual in dairy judging.

Wakefield won first place in team standing in animal husbandry and Howard Elkins of Wakefield took high individual honors in the animal husbandry department. Garden City took first honors in team standing and Glen Harris of Garden City won high honors in poultry judging. Edgar Webster of Burlington nosed out Daniel Root of Wichita for first place in individual grain judging.

A parchment certificate went to the team and the individual making the highest general average on all classes and to the team making this highest general average in each individual class. College organizations interested in the particular classes of judging gave medals to individual students making the highest general average in each class.

Coaches of the various winning teams and of individuals who won prizes in the contest are L. F. Hall, Burlington; M. H. Hargiss, Wichita; Louis Vinke, Wakefield; and L. F. Burk, Garden City. The members of winning teams are: Burlington, Edgar Webster, Karl Garrett, and Ralph Grose, Rex Wiley, alternate; Wichita, Chauncey Clark, Daniel Root, and Raymond Appleman, Frank Martin, Leslie Baile, John Ladoux, alternates; Wakefield, Howard Elkins, Clifford Harding, and Russell Schaulis; Garden City, Eugene Bosworth, George Taton, and William Whitney, Glenn Harris, alternate.

Track Tryouts Tuesday

Tryouts for girls wishing to enter track events Women's day will be held Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week on the east campus. Miss Geneva Watson of the physical education department is in charge of track and is anxious for a good showing at both tryouts. Any undergraduate girl is eligible to tryout. Fifty points toward W. A. A. will be awarded those making the teams.

TWENTY STUDENTS HAVE JOBS FOR NEXT YEAR

Placement Bureau of College Locates Positions for Graduates Who Will Teach

The teachers' placement bureau of the college, maintained in Dean E. L. Holton's office, has located positions in Kansas schools for 20 graduates so far this year. The bureau is maintained wholly for the benefit of the graduates and students of K. S. A. C., and serves to place many teachers in schools over the state.

The list of students who have signed contracts to teach next year, and the schools in which they will teach follows:

Home economics division—Ethel Adams of Wakefield, Attica; Jewel Conkel of Niles, Bettington; Polly Hedges of Oklahoma City, Clay Center; Mae Humphrey of Denison, Rossville; Edith Reese of Riley, Riley; Bertha Faulconer of El Dorado, Herington.

General Science division—Floyd Butel of Overbrook, Overbrook; George W. Corbet of Leona, Hja-watha; Eleanor Davis of Gaylord, Wellington; Grace Hinner of Potwin, Potwin; Mildred Hinner of Potwin, Potwin; Vivian Larson of Manhattan, Concordia; Israh Zahm of Seneca, Concordia; John Steiner of Whitewater, Macksville.

Industrial journalism—Olive Hering of Stafford, Norton.

Public school music—Mable Kennedy of Manhattan, Concordia; Bernice Rogers of Abilene, Norton; Orpha Russell of Manhattan, Herington.

Division of agriculture—George Hendrix of Manhattan, Wellington; Thomas Bruner of Larkin, Jewel City.

INDICATIONS FOR RECORD CROWDS

ARMY FIELD DAY YESTERDAY ATTRACTED MANY MOTORISTS

College Glee Clubs Open Music Week With Enjoyable Program—Orchestra to Appear Tonight

Guest week festivities got under way yesterday with one of the largest crowds in the history of the town in attendance. Perfect weather permitted motoring from all parts of Manhattan's trade territory and a record army of automobiles crowded the streets and parking spaces during the Field day program in the morning and afternoon. A good first night audience also attended the initial Spring Festival concert presented by the combined college glee clubs last night.

Present Effective Program

The evening's program was one of the most uniformly enjoyable ever presented by K. S. A. C. singers. The closing number, a cantata, "Gallia," by the clubs ensemble, and Miss Edna Ellis, soloist, was particularly elaborate and well done, and was given enthusiastic ovation by the audience. The work of both clubs was excellent, the men's being probably more effective because of a more precise attack.

The playing by Harry King Lamont of "Carmen Fantaisie," by Bizet-Hubay, was done with Mr. Lamont's usual quality of feeling and tone expression. The two Saint Saens piano numbers given by Mrs. Helen Colburn Ringo, and Miss Gladys Warren were also particularly notable and were especially well received by the audience.

Orchestra Concert This Evening

The second program of the Festival will be presented tonight by the college orchestra under the direction of H. P. Wheeler. Hans Hess, noted cellist, will appear as soloist. When Mr. Hess played here two years ago, he heard the college musicians play, and his appearance tonight is the result of his request that he might sometime play with them as soloist. Tomorrow evening Mr. Hess presents his chamber music trio in the third number of the Festival. The trio is composed of Mr. Hess, cello; Clarence Evans, violin; Juul Rosine, piano.

Play Thursday Evening

The annual Festival week production of the Purple Masque players comes Thursday evening. "The Admirable Crichton," a Barrie play, will be presented.

Friday the first matinee program is scheduled. The K. S. A. C. band will give a campus concert at 4 o'clock. Friday evening Mary Welch, contralto, and Ernest Davis, tenor, will offer a song recital.

Saturday Is Big Day

The feature programs of the series are scheduled for Saturday, and the biggest audiences of the week are expected. In the afternoon, the oratorio, "Elijah," is to be presented and at night, the Minneapolis Symphony will give a concert.

The college chorus will be assisted in the oratorio presentation by the Minneapolis Symphony and by four visiting artists. The soloists are: Arthur Middleton, baritone; Leonora Sparks, soprano; Ernest Davis, tenor; and Mary Welch, contralto. Professor Ira Pratt will direct the presentation.

Attends Convention

Verda Alderman left last week for Champagne, Ill., where she will attend the national convention of Bethany circle.

TO ADD 17 TENNIS COURTS

Work on First 10 Started Wednesday Morning

Tennis players need not be hampered by lack of courts on which to play next fall, as plans are under way for the completion of 17 campus courts by the opening of the fall semester. Plowing and leveling of the ground necessary for the construction of 16 new courts was begun Wednesday morning.

The new courts will be located just west of the present courts, on reclaimed land which was formerly an irrigation ditch. The installation of the new concrete stone sewer across this part of the campus as well as the fill in made from dirt removed from the stadium field have made it possible to utilize this land.

Increased interest in tennis has made necessary the construction of new courts. Since the courts are used by the girls' gym classes each morning, and for intramural entrants from 4 to 6 each afternoon, many independent players have had no opportunity to play. The proposed courts should remedy this situation.

Wild Horses and St. Vitus Follies Draw Big Crowds

Barnum was right.

The gang that thronged the pike at the Ag fair Saturday night—the gang that pushed, shoved, kicked and scratched its way into the room where the St. Vitus Follies were held, proved beyond a doubt that the famous circus man knew what he was talking about.

The public went in and spent its money lavishly for what it wanted, or thought it wanted. The wild horse from Texas gave two jumps and stopped in his tracks, overcome by emotion, or fear, or something, and the combined efforts of "Crow Creek" Drummond and "Cheyenne Kid" Ehrhardt could not budge him from the spot.

The parade was good, and the educational exhibits were unusually interesting.

Taken all in all, and by and large, the fourth annual Ag fair furnished amusement for a good sized crowd of people, both afternoon and evening.

FOSTER IS NEW ALUMNI ASSOCIATION SECRETARY

Comes to K. S. A. C. from University of Arkansas to Succeed Oley Weaver

R. L. Foster has been selected as the new secretary of the K. S. A. C. Alumni association, to succeed Oley Weaver, '11, who tendered his resignation in February to enter commercial work. Mr. Foster comes to Manhattan from the University of Arkansas where he was editor for the college of agriculture and the extension service.

The new secretary will enter upon his new position with an enviable record. He is highly regarded as an editor, a writer, and a business man, and is popular among editors and educators in Arkansas.

Mr. Foster was born on a farm and lived there until he was 14 years old. In 1915 he entered college, taking the course in industrial journalism and making his own way by a variety of labor, which ranged from waiting tables to serving as business manager of the student newspaper. He made a strong scholastic record and was prominent in student activities.

During the war Mr. Foster was in the air service. He returned to complete his college work and had it nearly finished when he was appointed editor for the college of agriculture and the extension service of the University of Arkansas. He went immediately to this position where he has made a strong record, remaining with steady increases in salary up to the present time. He completed the requirements and took his college degree in 1922.

HOUSE FURNISHINGS CLASSES VISIT DOWNTOWN STORES

Mr. Hedge Explains Period Furniture

The classes in house furnishings and interior decorating visited the Hedge Furniture store this week. Mr. Hedge showed the girls the various period types, the different woods and saw effects in which furniture may be obtained. Special attention was given to the problem of judging the value of furniture by the appearance of the article.

The classes also visited Miss Harig's gift shop where the students had an opportunity to see some oriental rugs and some real period furniture.

AGGIES WIN AND LOSE AT LINCOLN

PERCENTAGE STILL STANDS AT .500

Conroy Hurls Winning Game on Friday—Aggies Play Huskers Again in City Park This Week End

By breaking even in the two game series with the University of Nebraska at Lincoln Friday and Saturday, the Aggie baseball team continues to hold its position in the .500 per cent column. The first game was won from the Huskers by a count of 8-5 but the Nebraskans turned the tables in the second contest, winning 9-8.

Conroy Pitches Friday

In the first game Conroy took the mound for the Aggies against Lewellen, star hurler for Nebraska. The Huskers got away to a fast start and piled up a three run lead before the Aggies were able to push over any counters. However, in the fourth inning by taking advantage of several hits and a couple of Nebraska errors, four runs were scored. The Aggies scored two more runs in the next inning and held the advantage for the remainder of the contest.

The game was a good exhibition of the national pastime with the Aggie team showing to best advantage. The nine worked together like a machine. Although Conroy allowed nine hits, he kept them well scattered and was never in serious danger. The Aggies got 12 safeties off Lewellen.

Gather Four Counters in First

The second contest started out in regular track meet fashion. The Wildcats went to bat and by connecting for three triples and three singles in the first inning put across four scores. The ball game seemed to be on ice for the Aggies. But the Huskers were not to be denied. Cunningham was on the mound and did not have his usual zip. The first batter walked, the next singled, scoring the first man. Then came a home run. Another single followed by a home run and two singles sounded showers for Cunningham. Before the smoke of the first inning had cleared away the Huskers had collected five runs.

After that hectic first the game developed into a real battle. The Huskers increased the lead to three runs but in the fifth inning a drive by H. Karns, who had relieved Cunningham on the mound, scored two counters and the score stood 8-7. In the sixth inning another Aggie tally was registered and the score was tied 8-8.

Come Back in Eighth

But the Nebraskans had two more hits stored away with which they were able to push over the winning run in the last of the eighth. A double which cut across first base, a sacrifice, and a single over second and the game was won. The Wildcats were unable to score in the ninth although they succeeded in getting two men on the paths.

In the second contest Nebraska gathered 12 safe bingles to 10 for the Aggies. In the seventh inning Conroy replaced Karns, who has been suffering with a sore arm.

Volz Was Hitting Star

The second game was one of the wildest exhibitions of baseball in which the Aggies have engaged in a long time. During the contest four home runs and three triples were poled out in addition to several doubles. Volz Nebraska first baseman, was the hitting star of the series. In the two games he collected three home runs and a three base hit in six times at bat.

Nebraska will come to Manhattan for a return series Friday and Saturday. Coach Corsaut is satisfied that with any kind of luck his proteges will be able to take a pair of games from the Northerners.

WELCOME

The Collegian enthusiastically greets the visitors here for Festival week. The entertainments are now planned for them as much as for the people of the college and of Manhattan.

It is the wish of the Collegian, only that the students for whose benefit of course, the occasion was primarily intended, could appreciate and be as anxious to take advantage of the high quality programs as are the visitors who come from all parts of the state.

Judge for Yourself

Since a day was spent in making K. S. A. C.'s campus a place of sanitation, habitation and purification, and since the instigators of the Clean-Up Crime are now satisfied in their lust for cleanliness, the student body may rest on its oars and see a task well done. At the expense of but one school day the dandelions have been up-rooted and the cigarette stubs removed from near the gates, and for probably 10 long days the campus will appear spick-and-span to those who were formerly so horrified at its dilapidated condition.

And since the great majority of these persons are satisfied, and the one who are not belong in the two classifications of those who had but one hour on that day and those who really expected the advertised feed to take place contrary to the precedent, we feel the vote on the day's success is overwhelmingly in the 'aye' column.

Those who were drafted on the concrete brigade at the gymnasium are somewhat fearful of being called on for stadium construction in future days; and some who aided in the purification of the cows barns have proclaimed vociferously against the 'back to the farm' movement. But these persons are in the minority, and the larger part of the participants vote the affair the best loafing success of the season.

So let us pass on to posterity our approval of clean-up day, with its removal of dandelions, stabbing of cigarette stubs and all its other items, not forgetting the failure of the lunch committee to function. May its agitators and promoters gain their due. Selah!

STADIUM PAYROLL WILL AVERAGE $1,500 WEEKLY

Continued Observance of Pay-Up Week Essential to Further Progress

Work on the east wing of the Memorial Stadium is well under way and each day shows a marked growth in its construction. If the contract is carried out, this wing will be finished in time for the K. U.-Aggie game, October 18, and a total stadium seating capacity of 14,000 will be afforded.

The track has been completed and the field is being sodded this spring. Immense amounts of grading and leveling have been done since the building of the west wing. Though work on the east wing was begun sometime ago, it was delayed for a time by cold weather and only recently was intensive work resumed.

At the present time the south pylon has been laid to a height of about 15 feet, foundations for many of the columns are in, forms are in place for the first section of seats, and cement will probably be poured this week. This section comprises one eighth of the entire wing. Footings have also been placed for another section. The hill north of Ahearn field has been entirely excavated with the exception of two feet of rock yet to be removed. More than 8,000 yards of earth have been excavated and used in making a new lawn in front of engineering building as well as in filling in the old drainage ditch.

The street car switch which has been laid since the building of the west wing aids materially in the progress of the work. Within the last few weeks several car loads of sand, five or six of steel and two of cement have been unloaded on the field. The use of the old forms and the employment of men who worked on the west wing are also conducive to more rapid construction.

The employees for the week ending April 19, included 17 stone workers, and 29 laborers doing other construction work. The total cost of labor for that week amounted to $1,217 and as the work advances additional men must be employed, making the labor cost throughout the summer month $1,500 a week. Besides this, a supervising engineer, representing college interest is kept constantly on the ground.

It is these figures which make the continued observance of the Stadium Pay-Up Week essential to the progress of the stadium. No campaign manager is being employed and Professor Cortelyou is taking entire charge of the office management at the present time.

Orchestra: What makes my Baby
we-ep?

Cornet and Saxophone:
Baby, don't your Daddy treat you like a Queen,
Bringin' you a tea-set, clear from

Daddy's sorry cause you broke it—
His heart is broken too—
Trombone: His heart is broken too—oo.

Your Daddy's awful bloo-oo,
What is he gonna do-oo?
Saxophone: What is he gonna do-oo?
Orchestra: If Daddy buys another
For his own Gold-Diggin' Dolly
There'll be a merry mix-up
When she spreads the news to Polly

Cause you can't two-time your Ba-bi-ees,
And keep from goin' broke!
Cornet: Goin' broke!

Trombone and Saxophone:
Where's the cutie playhouse
I ordered just for you,
Baby, don't you tell me
You've gone and smashed it, too!

Traps: Smashed it, crashed it!
Slap-dash-mashed it,
Your Daddy can't
Keep up with you.

Orchestra: There ain't no use a-try-

Your Daddy can't
Keep up with you.

Saxophone: Daddy's disappointed,
Daddy's feelin' blue,
You don't care for nothin' that
Daddy's done for you.

Cornet: You say your heart is broken
That what you crave is love
Baby, you're old-fashioned
What are you dreamin' of?

Orchestra: You can't go back
(Way back)
To them wild glad days
(Wild days)

When I wrote on your slate
"I love you, Baby,"
Cause that's never done no more.
Orchestra (same one):

Now Baby, turn the weeps off, and let's be gay.

That's how you spell
"electrical industry"

The electrical industry must have trained engineers,
but its needs have broadened out beyond one group.
Today this industry offers opportunity to men or virtually all professions.

Whatever the course you are now pursuing, whatever the degree you take and whether you go on to graduate study, you will find a market for your training in this field with its vast manufacturing and commercial activities.

But what will impress you even more than this diversity of opportunity is the golden promise for the future of electricity. Great now, it will be greater tomorrow—as great as you men choose to make it.

Think of this as still an industry for young men,
with much of its potential development uncharted.
If you like to build, electricity is your field. From now till graduation we suggest it will be worth your while to investigate its possibilities.

Y. W. BREAKFAST SUNDAY

Big Sisters for Next Year Take Pledge

The Y. W. C. A. big sister pledge services and breakfast were held Sunday morning at 7:30, in recreation center. All big sisters for next year, the big sister mothers, the members of the Y. W. C. A. board, and Dean Van Zile were present.

The program, in charge of Polly Hedges, included music by the Y. W. C. A. octette, devotions, lead by Marie Correll, the outgoing big sister chairman, and Phyllis Burtis, the new chairman, and a talk by Dean Van Zile on big sister work.

After the breakfast, which was in charge of Penelope Burtis, the girls attended the 11 o'clock service at the Baptist church.

Additional copies of the Royal Purple have been ordered. Place your order for your Memory Book.

K. U. CAPTURES MEET SATURDAY

WILDCATS AND JAYHAWKS EACH TAKE SEVEN FIRSTS

University Secures 10 Seconds to Aggies' Four—Final Score 62-50

Opportunity knocked at the door of the K. S. A. C. track team Saturday afternoon, but the field men failed to live up to the pace set by their team mates on the cinders, and the Kansas university team carried home a 62 to 50 victory from the opening meet on the new track in Memorial Stadium.

Kansas Takes 10 Seconds

For most of the meet the two teams battled on even terms, first Kansas going ahead, then the Aggies, and twice the score was tied.

Both teams captured seven first places, but Kansas took 10 seconds to the Aggies' four. Graham of Kansas was high point man with three first places, winning the broad jump, high hurdles and low hurdles. Firebaugh, Kansas, was next in line for scoring with 11 points, the result of a first in the quarter and seconds in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Kimport and Erwin of the Aggies both collected ten points with two firsts.

Erwin Captures 100 and 220

Erwin ran away with the 100 and 220 yard dashes easily in spite of the fact that his right leg was swathed in tape from an injury received at the Drake meet last week. Kimport and Wells had little trouble in the mile.

Excitement reached fever heat in the half mile race, which found the Aggies trailing badly in points. Kimport ran third until the last hundred yards, when he pulled out to pass Simms, Kansas. The Jayhawk runner at the same time started to pass Watson, his team mate, got tangled up with the Aggie man, and fell. Kimport put on a burst of speed and he forged ahead of Watson at the tape by a yard.

Schools Tied After 220

The 220 yard dash, sixth on the event program, found the points knotted at 24 all. Carter pushed the Aggies ahead by winning the pole vault, but Kansas retaliated by sweeping the low hurdles and were never behind again.

Grady, Kansas, and Alkman, Aggies, two stout-hearted little runners, staged a pretty battle for second place in the two-mile until the last half lap, when Graham pulled away and nearly caught Balzer before he fell across the tape.

Both high and broad jumps went

K. U. Takes Weight Events

The weight events proved the undoing of the Aggies, who were expected to take first and second in discus, javelin, and shot. Smith of Kansas, beat Munn out on the javelin for first by a couple of feet, and Brody, Kansas, repeated on the shot. Brunkau, who was counted on for first in both events failed to place.

Gartner nearly lost the discus throw, stepping out of the ring for a foul, after a toss of 132 feet. His best "official" mark was 124 feet 3 in., three quarters of an inch ahead of the Kansas man.

The Aggies meet Missouri on Stadium field next Saturday afternoon.

Relays Not Run

The relay was not run by mutual agreement between coaches, as Kansas had a total of 62 points following the javelin throw with only 59 required to win.

The summary follows:

220 yard dash won by Erwin, Aggies; Firebaugh, Kansas, second. Time 22 2-10 seconds.

Pole vault won by Carter, Aggies; Dillenback and Goodell, Kansas tied, for second. Height 11 ft. 6 in.

220 yard high hurdles won by Graham, Kansas; Anderson, Kansas, second. Time 26 9-10 seconds.

440 yard dash won by Firebaugh, Kansas; Knause, Aggies, second. Time 51 seconds.

Broad jump won by Graham, Kansas; Goodell, Kansas, second. Distance 23 ft. 2 1-2 inches.

Discus throw won by Gartner, Aggies; Brody, Kansas, second. Distance 124 ft. 3 in. Kansas distance 124 ft. 2 1-4 inches.

Two mile run won by Balzer, Aggies; Grady, Kansas, second. Time 10 minutes 17 6-10 seconds.

Half mile run won by Kimport, Aggies; Watson, Kansas, second. Time 2 minutes 1 7-10 seconds.

110 yard high hurdles won by Graham, Kansas; Roberts, Aggies, second. Time 10 4-10 seconds.

High jump—Poor, Kansas, and Ferguson, Kansas, tied for first at 6 ft. No Aggie entry.

100 yard dash won by Erwin, Aggies; Rooney, Kansas, second. Time, 10 1-5 seconds.

PRESENT ONE ACT PLAYS

Dramatic Production Class Handles Coaching and Staging

Two one act plays, "Wurzel Flummery" and "The Wonder Hat" were given at the auditorium Tuesday night under the direct supervision of the members of the class in dramatic production I. The coaching, stage managing, designing of costumes and scenery, advertising and all phases of production were handled by some member of the class which is taught by Professor Holcombe.

Lillian Kammeyer directed the play, "Wurzel Flummery." The cast was as follows: Robert Crawshaw, M. P. Firman Staib; Margaret Crawshaw, Charlotte Swanson; Viola Crawshaw, Bernice O'Daniel; Robert Meriton M. P. Earl Combest, and Denis Clifton, Richard Elliot.

"The Wonder Hat" directed by Donna Greene, had as its cast: Puncheonello, Jack Kennedy; Columbine, Helen Alsop; Margot, Jewell Ferguson; Harlequin, Carl Falconer; and Pierrot, Milton Kerr. The costumes and scenery for this play were designed by Patricia Smith.
Forest Whan had charge of the advertising for both of these plays.

Here or Elsewhere, Practice What You Preach

When we decided to conduct this campaign we selected certain subjects for our Editorials because we desired to make the campaign both educational and instructive. There are other things of moment, things worth while to every student, besides what we are taught in class, and when we have finished our college work, and go out into the world to battle with the good, bad and indifferent conditions we shall have to face there, it is well for us to know how to meet those conditions in order that we may face the issue intelligently.

We all realize the truth of the saying "The pen is mightier than the sword." You must know that, by reason of the "Power of the Press" a fair and impartial, hard-hitting editor is in position to wield a wonderful influence for good in a community of thinking people, like this is or yours may be, and we want you to know that what we have to say in these Campaign Articles is said without fear or favor, but with the kindest feeling and sense of good-fellowship throughout.

The man who does not practice what he preaches is, of course, a hypocrite, and away down deep in his heart, he knows he is. It isn't enough for him to say "I am loyal to my home town and its interests." The proof must be there to back it up.

St. Paul says: "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." A wonderful assertion by a wonderful man who knew and spoke the truth. If you profess to be a loyal citizen of this community (and we figure that you are really one of this community during your stay here), and you proceed to send or spend your money away from here unnecessarily and without first doing what you can to give Manhattan merchants your trade, you have not well learned the meaning of loyalty.

That may sound a bit rough around the edges, but anything worth saying at all, should be said straight from the shoulder, let the shoe fit whom it may.

Realize this fact, that wherever your lot in life may be cast, you will never earn the reputation of being a "booster" until you have proven yourself to be loyal, for to be one you must be the other. And right here the writer wishes to state that every wide-awake Chamber of Commerce should have its class on "boosterism." It is as valuable to a town as is the Bible class to your church.

So let's start right now and get the habit of being genuine dyed-in-the-wool Boosters. A town where everybody boosts for his neighbor, regardless of the fact that some are competitors, is sure to be a live town and a fine place to live in, and if we have done our part in the good work we can but feel satisfied and glad over the result.

Manhattan, the home of your Alma Mater and your home while you are here, has many natural advantages. In fact she has everything that will contribute to her becoming a very much larger city than she now is. She is blessed with a very wide-awake Chamber of Commerce, a progressive class of business men, notably strong institutions of learning, and is located in a rich agricultural district. Statistics show that there are few healthier districts than this. The financial situation is splendidly cared for with adequate resources; churches of practically every denomination are comfortably and attractively housed, as are the different fraternal organizations and civic bodies.

So when the time comes for you to leave here, if you ever do, you can tell the folks that Manhattan is a sure fine town to live in as well as a fine place to trade in. And now get out your memo book and jot this down: "Remember that no town, striving for the goal of progress and prosperity, can reach further than its local citizenship will permit it. It won't do for a part to sit back and let the balance shoulder the load. The town that tries to forge ahead on the principle of "let George do it" never gets any where but in a rut and once it gets in it seldom gets out."

Here we have everything required to make a prosperous community and all we need do is to use what we have and thank God that we have it. Be loyal to Manhattan and she will not forget.

DOPE GIVES MEET TO M. U. 71-46

TIGER DUE TO FEAST ON WILD-CAT MEAT TOMORROW

Erwin Is Only Sure Winner of Firsts for Aggies—Jumps, Shot, Discus and Half Mile Conceded to Missouri

Unless the "old Aggie fight" comes through and upsets advance calculations the Missouri Tiger track team is due to feast on Wildcat meat tomorrow afternoon in the second dual meet of the year on Memorial Stadium field track here.

Dope Points to M. U. Win

Comparing the records set up by the Missouri team against Washington last Saturday with those made in the Aggie-Kansas meet on the same date Missouri, has a good advantage. The fact that the track here was loose and slow may make up for the difference in several track events, but only an upset all around can give the Wildcats a victory.

"Old reliable Red" Erwin seems to be the only apparently sure winner of Aggie firsts in tomorrow's meet. Erwin is slated to win the 220 yard dash and the century dash, which he has been doing in every Aggie meet for three years past. Kimport has a little better than an even chance in the mile and a little less than that in the half, though it is entirely possible that the Norton boy may come through with another beautiful finish like he put on in the Jayhawk meet in the half.

Jumps Conceded to Missouri

Charles Wells will be the other Aggie starter in the mile and has an outside chance of taking second.

Time made in the two meets on the quarter was about the same in both meets, and K. G. Knause of the Aggies is given a toss-up with Bond of Missouri for victory in the event. Missouri high jump victory is almost foregone, as the two Tiger entries in the Washington meet both cleared six feet.

While the broad jump also will be a Tiger event from past performance it is highly possible that Sappenfield and Savage, the Aggie entries may take one place and possibly both. Neither man had practiced jumping this season before the Kansas meet, and both did close to 20 feet, which should be stretched a foot or so with a week's training.

Vault Wears Missouri Label

With due respect for the ability of P. R. Carter, Bradford, Aggie pole vaulter who won his event from Kansas last Saturday, that event also appears to wear a Missouri label, as Donohue, Tiger, cleared an even 12 feet Saturday while Carter missed the same mark by a slight margin.

Missouri was minus the services of Keeble, star hurdler, in their meet, and had to be content with a second in the highs and nothing in the lows, the same performance the Aggies made against Kansas. Washington's time in winning both events from Missouri was much faster than the Aggie-Kansas time, which gives the Tigers a probable advantage.

Aggies Should Take Javelin

John Gartner, Manhattan, Aggie heaver of the discus, is again somewhat of a problem. After nearly losing the event to Kansas at a little over 124 feet Saturday "Gat" went out in practice Tuesday and tossed the discus 140 feet without stepping out of the ring. Richardson, Missouri, did 138 feet 11 3/4 inches in competition recently, however, and is favored to win tomorrow unless Gartner bucks up under competition, which he has not been able to do so far this season.

Lyle Munn, Colby, has about a two foot "dope" advantage to win the javelin throw. "Puff" Balzer, Aggie two miler, should put on a pretty race with Vallett of Missouri, as the Tiger only beat the time of the Aggie by a second last Saturday, and Balzer was running with no serious competition.

SIDNEY WICKS TO SPEAK MONDAY

Editor of Manchester Guardian to Give Two Addresses

Sidney Wicks, one of the editors of the Manchester Guardian, will make his only addresses in the state of Kansas at this college. He will speak at student assembly at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon on "Education for Citizenship" and will address the students in industrial journalism at 4 o'clock in Room K 58 on "Ideals and Methods of English Newspapers."

Mr. Wicks arrived in the United States from England a few weeks ago and is making a tour of the country. Being particularly interested in education, he is visiting the leading colleges of the United States and is also making a series of addresses. He arrives in Manhattan from Denver, and goes from here to the University of Missouri for an address on Tuesday. He comes here under the auspices of the journalism department.

The Manchester Guardian, of which Mr. Wicks is an editor, is generally recognized as the best newspaper in the world from a literary standpoint while many consider it as a whole to be the best existing representative of journalism. It is the most influential newspaper in Great Britain. The Guardian was founded in 1821. To its influence the growth of liberalism in England, as well as the adoption of act after act of liberal legislation, is directly ascribed. Its contributors and editors have included many of the leading writers of Great Britain, such as Clutton Brock, Maurice Hewlett, J. M. Keynes, Richard Jefferies, and Andrew Lang.

Harter, junior in journalism.

A casual glance at his activities, however, would convince one that he manages to sandwich between classes and studying a few minor interests such as football, baseball, and journalism.

He comes from El Dorado, and took general science when he was a freshman, but he soon discovered his mistake and enrolled in journalism. In journalism he is making a success. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, men's honorary fraternity in journalism. The junior class recognized his ability when they elected him editor of the 1925 Royal Purple. In his vacant hours he is assistant city editor of the Chronicle. He has been on the Collegian staff. So much for journalism.

Most of the students know "Fat" best as an athlete. He has been on the football team the last two years, playing center last fall, and has won two letters in football. He is on the baseball team this spring, and was on the swimming team last fall. He is a member of the K fraternity and of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

BLOCK AND BRIDLE HOLDS ANNUAL JUDGING CONTEST

Any Student in College Eligible to Enroll—Monday, May 12 Is Date Set

The annual student stock judging contest, sponsored by the Block and Bridle club will be held Monday, May 12, at 1 o'clock in the stock judging pavilion.

All college students are eligible to enroll in the stock judging contest except members of the college stock judging teams. The contest will be divided into two divisions, the senior division for students who have had advanced work in stock judging, and the junior division for all other students. There will be two classes each of cattle, horses, sheep, and hogs, and reasons will be taken on four of the eight classes. Oral reasons will be required of the students in the senior class and written reasons of the junior students.

More than $100 will be awarded in prizes to those ranking highest in judging. Prizes are as follows: first prize, gold seven jewel Swiss movement watch to high point man in each division; second prize, silver medal; third prize, bronze medal. Cash prizes will be awarded to those students ranking down to tenth place. In the junior division two silver medals will be given to the high point men on breeding stock and on fat stock. Men ranking highest on each class of livestock in both divisions will be awarded subscriptions to breeding papers.

An entrance fee of 50 cents for junior members and 75 cents for senior members entering the contest will be charged. All money derived from fees will be returned to the students in the form of prizes.

TO GRADUATE 15 STUDENTS

Vocational School Holds Last Graduating Exercises May 23

Graduation exercises for the last class to be graduated from the K. S. A. C. Vocational school will be held in Recreation center at 8 o'clock, Friday evening, May 23. Fifteen students are eligible for graduation this year, according to A. P. Davidson, principal.

Those who expect to be graduated are as follows:

Elmer Canary, Lawrence; Howard Higbee, Fall River; Zenia Pearson, Manhattan; Benjamin C. Harrison, Clyde; William T. Esry, Manhattan; George Bheer, Kansas City; Elmer Watters, Marysville; John Rillingner, Seneca; Carrie Brandelsky, Severy; Lillian Sands, Kansas City; Irving Walker, Manhattan; John Hicks, Cuervo, N. M.; Clarence Crews, Longton; Selmer Reed, Marysville; O. T. Slaughter, Montrose.

DAIRY JUDGING TICKETS ON SALE

ENTRY FEE OF 50 CENTS TO BE CHARGED

Holstein, Ayrshire, Guernsey, and Jersey Will Be Judged—150 Expected to Compete

Winners in the annual dairy judging contest which will be held at the judging pavilion Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock will receive $75 in prizes. The man with the highest number of points will be awarded a gold medal. Other prizes are: second place, silver medal; third place, bronze medal; and the freshman scoring highest will be given $5.

All Students Are Eligible

Two classes of each of the four chief dairy breeds—Holstein, Guernsey, Jersey, and Ayrshire—will be judged. The men ranking high in the judging of each breed will be given a year's subscription to that particular breed paper.

All students are eligible and although a great many have not entered the contest yet it is expected that there will be about one hundred and fifty who will have paid the 50 cent entry fee before the judging begins. Tickets are being sold in Anderson hall.

College Team In Charge

The contest is being conducted by the members of the college dairy judging team which is composed of the following men: Edward Watson, F. E. Charles, R. L. Stover, and E. L. Rains.

FORENSIC CONTEST NEXT WEEK

Twelve High Schools Enter First Competition

An all Kansas high school forensic contest including extemporatory speaking, reading, original oration and debate will be held here May 15 and 16 under the supervision of the public speaking department. This will be the first interscholastic meet to be given here.

Preliminary debates will be held Thursday, May 15 and elimination contests in oration, reading and extempor will be Friday morning at 9 o'clock. Finals will be held at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon.

High schools entered in the contests are Westmoreland Rural, Phillipsburg, Eskridge Rural, Formoso, Manhattan, Newton, Hutchinson, Clay County, Frontenac, Topeka Catholic, Partridge Rural, and Solomon City High school.

SENIOR-ALUMNI DINNER WILL BE HELD MAY 28

Banquet to Be Served in Nichols Gym in Order to Accommodate Crowd

The annual senior-alumni dinner will be held at 6 o'clock, Wednesday evening, May 28, in Nichols gymnasium. In previous years the dinner has been held Thursday noon just following commencement exercises. Nichols gymnasium is being used so that all those wishing to attend may do so. At former banquets it has been impossible to accommodate all those wishing to attend, but the use of the large gym will give abundant room so that only those who fail to secure tickets before the ticket sale is closed will be left out.

The seniors and others receiving degrees will be the guests of honor at the banquet. Each senior and each person receiving a higher degree will be given a ticket if he applies for it. Notices from the Alumni association concerning the banquet were sent to all seniors last week and their acceptances are coming into the office. According to present indications there will be few seniors absent from this banquet.

The program at the banquet will consist of short speeches by alumni representatives from the classes of '99, '14, and '24, and others. L. C. Williams, '12, will be toastmaster. After the banquet there will be a general reception in the big gymnasium and dancing in the women's gym.

Tickets, at $1.50 a plate, for persons other than seniors, will be on sale in a short time.

Big Sister and Mothers Meet

The annual Big Sister and Big Sister-mother tea and get-acquainted party will be held in the home economics rest room at 5 o'clock, Wednesday, May 16. All Big Sister mothers and captains are urged to be present to discuss plans for next year.

Wanted: A Mouser of Ability—Please Apply in Kedzie Hall

Requisitions for every conceivable object come in daily to the business office, from guinea pigs for the experiment work in genetics to a day bed for the applied art department. But a new subject was added to the list recently when Miss Annabel Garvey turned in to Prof. H. W. Davis, head of the English department, a requisition for a "good mouser." It came about in this way:

One of the students in Miss Garvey's class baked a loaf of bread. It was a beautiful loaf of bread, golden brown, perfectly formed, with a delightful aroma that would tempt the palate of the most crabbed dyspeptic. The coed was justly proud of the creation, and as soon as her foods lab was dismissed she wrapped it carefully in paper to take home. But first she went to her rhetoric class in K 59. While class was in session the loaf was parked on a chair in the rear of the room.

At the end of the hour, the coed went back to claim her own. Imagine her horror to discover three mice feasting on her wonderful loaf of bread.

Miss Garvey was understandingly sympathetic, and immediately applied for a cat to protect her and her students from further nerve-wracking assaults.

AGGIES MEET NEBRASKA TODAY AND TOMORROW

Exciting Contest Expected—Teams Split a Pair of Games at Lincoln Last Week

Still with a "fifty-fifty" average, the Kansas Aggie baseball team will open its second home series of the year against the University of Nebraska at 4 o'clock this afternoon on City park field.

Conroy, who has maintained a perfect record in three valley starts this year is expected to face Lewellea in today's contest. Last Friday and Saturday the Aggies and Huskers split a pair of games in Lincoln. Conroy besting Lewellen in the first game while Cunningham was knocked from the box in the second.

Coach C. W. Corsaut expects to give Paul Vohs, Osawatomie, a chance to show his pitching wares in the game tomorrow morning. Vohs has been on the Aggie squad for the past two years, and last year got into a couple of valley games.

Henry Karns, pitcher and right fielder, has been having trouble with an old arm injury all season and may not be able to get into the pitchers box at all again this year.

Both games will be played on city park field, today's at 4 o'clock this afternoon and tomorrow's immediately after the track meet.

The probable Aggie line-up for today's contest follows: Conroy, pitcher; Biehn, catcher; Swartz, first base; Staley, second base; Ernst, third base; R. Karns, short stop; Atkins, left field; Barth, center field; H. Karns or Harter, right field.

SHAKESPEAREAN DRAMA CLASS TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE MONDAY

Students Will Discuss Plays at Rest Room

The class in Shakespearean drama II will hold an open meeting Monday afternoon from 4 to 5:30, in the rest room of the home economics building. Short discussions will be given by members of the Drama II class on, "Some Aspects of Comedy," "Shakespeare's Preparation," "Shakespeare and His Contemporaries," "Shakespeare's Stage and Ours," "Twelfth Night," "Shakespeare's Classic Allusions in 'As You Like It,'" and "Shakespeare's Range of Characters as Shown in 'The Tempest.'" Mrs. A. B. Carney will sing a group of Shakespearean songs. Anyone interested is invited to attend this meeting.

FEATURE NUMBERS TODAY, SATURDAY

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS COME FOR CLOSING CONCERTS

Editor of Music News, Chicago, to Review "Eljah," for his Magazine—College Orchestra Makes Hit

With the three feature musical numbers of the Spring Festival coming the remainder of the week, today and tomorrow are probably the most significant two days of music in the history of the college. A number of noted visitors, including several from Chicago, are here to attend the recital tonight, and the presentation of "Eljah," tomorrow. The editor of the Music News, national publication, will review the latter performance for his magazine.

Song Recital This Evening

Tonight, Ernest Davis, New York tenor, and Mary Welch, contralto of the Chicago Civic Opera company appear in a joint concert. Tomorrow afternoon perhaps the most important musical event ever presented in Manhattan will be given, and a capacity audience is certain to attend. The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra will play the score, four eminent artists will carry the solo roles, and the college chorus will form the chorus. The soloists are: Arthur Middleton, baritone; Ernest Davis, tenor; Mary Welch, contralto; and Leonora Sparks of the Metropolitan Opera company, soprano.

The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra will bring the 1924 Festival to a close with a concert Saturday evening.

Gives Remarkable Performance

The Tuesday and Wednesday evening concerts were attended by only fair-sized but highly appreciative audiences. The college orchestra under the direction of Prof. H. P. Wheeler, presented perhaps the finest concert ever given by a K. S. A. C. organization in the second number of the Festival Tuesday night. The playing of the student musicians revealed a finish and a perfection of ensemble rarely achieved outside the better symphony orchestras.

An especially pleasing rendition was the orchestral accompaniment played by the orchestra with Hans Hess, cellist. The selection was not the heaviest on the program but was the most perfectly done. Mr. Hess was recalled three times and finally was forced to respond with an encore.

Hess Concert Pleases

A larger crowd than appeared for either of the first two concerts turned out to hear the Hans Hess trio Wednesday evening, and they were well repaid for their attendance by the high quality of chamber music played by the trio.

Mr. Hess's suit of three violoncello solos marked the high point of the program. The third number, "Eljah," by Ayres, dedicated to Mr. Hess was played here for the first time on the concert stage. It was superbly done by the cellist. He responded to the insistent applause with two encores.

Ensemble Numbers Were Revelation

The ensemble numbers of the trio were a revelation to hearers. So perfectly done was the playing that one did not realize that three instruments contributed to the blend of music. It seemed as if one artist alone was playing some super-instrument.

The largest audience so far this week attended the Purple Masque play, "The Admirable Crichton," last night. A review of the play will appear in Tuesday's issue of the Collegian.

VOTE TO WEAR GOWNS

Senior Still Favor Academic Garb—To Increase Stadium Pledges

The senior class meeting held Tuesday in A 59 was attended by the largest crowd of students that has attended a similar meeting this year. John Tole, president of the class, presided. Dr. H. H. King made a short talk, explaining the present status of the stadium fund, and urging students to increase their pledges to $100. So far, out of the 406 members of the class of 1924, 10 have pledged $100, and 80 have made no pledge at all.

M. M. Williamson moved that the motion passed at the previous class meeting, relative to wearing caps and gowns from Sunday, May 25, until commencement day, be reconsidered. Another vote was taken, a majority of the class being in favor of the proposition to wear academic garb during Commencement week.

FRIDAY, MAY 9, 1924

IF THIS BE TREASON—

The Senior class discussion over the wearing of caps and gowns during Commencement week seems to the Collegian to be almost as silly as the similar faculty controversy.

In the first place, it is impossible to enforce any action that might be taken. If a Senior chooses to be comfortable on a hot day, a rainy day, or any day, the powers that be will probably still consider him eligible to receive a diploma.

The result of the action taken at the last class meeting will be the same as if the matter had not been considered at the last class meeting. Those modest violets who are proud of the fact that they have finally amassed enough points to graduate, will smother, and those who value comfort more than show, will dress decently.

THE BROWN BULL

The "Nice Number" of the Brown Gentleman Cow has made its appearance on the campus; and in this issue the animal has depicted himself in a fashion so altogether mannerly and genteel that we feel he is entitled to a tour—personally conducted, of course—through the proverbial china shop.

There is nothing—positively nothing—in the present number that could possibly shock the sensibilities of the most fastidious devotee of Comstockery—not to mention discipline committees and things—for this number is nice—awfully nice. Even the President of the B. Y. P. U. might carry it to church instead of his quarterly and no one could ever tell the difference; it's just that nice, no fooling.

The editorial staff undertook quite a job when it planned to issue the "Nice Number;" and all things considered, it succeeded very well. There are several original features that would be appropriate only in a nice number; which shows that the staff was very much alive to the possibilities of the magazine. The quotation of a Phoebe Cary poem was a delicious bit of humor; a little too subtle for the emoron majority, perhaps; but a clever stroke nevertheless. One wonders why the device of direct quotation was not used more freely. Dr. Frank Crane, Arthur Brisbane, and Doctor Coué should have been granted a hearing; for they are never quite so ridiculous as when they speak for themselves and they are always speaking.

A few of the best features were Post's "What Wrong with this Picture?," "Living Art and Why They Let it Live," "25 Nice Things to Say," the sampler—"The Time to Be Happy Is Now: The Place to be Happy Is Here" and the "Advertisin Blues."

If any criticism can be made against the number, it is that there is too much of a sameness in the titles and the subject matter. "Aunt Polly" and "Aunt Hetty" are too nearly alike in title and perhaps in subject matter. One ancient advice-giving female is sufficient; two are one too many. Again, the Third Prize Article in "The Happiest Moments in my Life," and the little playette, "Looking Forward," are shafts directed against the same target. Four columns on 'suppression of books' are too many for the size of the magazine. They make one think of Gertrude's criticism of the Player Queen: "The lady (in this case, 'the gentleman') protests too much, methinks."

The "Nice Number" is perhaps not quite so original as the "Leap Year Number;" but then it is not at all shocking, and is awfully nice.—C. W. M.

Plan Club Round-up

The boys' and girls' clubs of Kansas will meet at K. S. A. C. in a state wide round-up May 19-24. The meeting is arranged especially for club members, but any boy or girl from 10 to 12 years of age may attend.

The programs will include class instruction by members of the college faculty in the mornings, tours of the buildings and the campus in the afternoon, and special stunts and entertainments in the evenings.

EASTERN PAPER PRAISES AGGIE'S SPORTSMANSHIP

Ivan Riley Is Referred to As America's Olympic in 400 Meter Hurdle

Sport comment by the "Observer" in the Philadelphia Public Ledger of May 2 pays tribute to Ivan Riley, Kansas Aggie athlete and world record track man. The sport editor writes of a bit of sportmanship shown by Riley during the recent University of Pennsylvania Relay carnival and refers to the Aggie sprinter as "America's Olympic hope in the 400 meter hurdle race."

The complete clipping reads: "There was a bit of sportmanship at the University of Pennsylvania relay carnival that has gone unnoticed. It occurred on the second day of the gigantic program, and the principal actor was Ivan Riley, of the Kansas State Agricultural college.

"Riley won his heat in the 120 yard high hurdle event and was regarded as the man to give Charley Moore, the Penn State ace and winner of the event in 1923, a fight for the championship in the final heat. "But here is what happened: Riley toed the mark along with four other athletes, all of whom had succeeded in working their way to the final by good performances in their heats.

"The starter raised his pistol, gave the command 'on your mark' and then 'get set,' and hesitated for the command that would have sent the timber-toppers away. Riley, allowing more time than he regarded necessary for the firing of the pistol, started.

"To the amazement of those who sat in the north stand near the start of the hurdle event, Riley was penalized for a false start. It was plain that the pistol of the starter had a dud in it and that caused Riley to make his false move.

"Did America's hope in the 400 meter hurdle race complain? Not a bit. He went back a yard, got his start when the pistol did go off and raced to the tape with Snyder, of Ohio State, who won the race.

The margin of less than a foot separated Riley from the Ohioan shows that had the athletes started on even terms Riley would have been the victor. When the Kansan trotted back to get his sweater he was given a round of applause by the fans who saw his sportsmanlike conduct. Riley could have protested, but he figured that it was the better part of valor to try to win despite the handicap that was given to him."

Reflection cast on K. S. A. C. by the actions of the Aggie were mentioned by M. F. Ahearn, athletic director, in discussing the recognition given to the western athlete by an eastern paper. "The spirit an athlete shows," Mike said, "usually tells the type of training he has been through in his school."

"Rosaling," we said to our capable and efficient managing editor this morning, Rosaling, don't you think it would be a good idea to dispense with an original column today, and give the student body a sample of the alleged humor found in contemporary publications? They are growing so accustomed to the best in column material, that a glance at what the student bodies in other colleges must put up with would be enlightening, to say the least, and make them better able to appreciate the sparkling, rollicking, original—

"Uh, huh," answered Rosaling as she typed a Number 2 on Thackrey's sport story. "Uh, huh, especially since it's 20 minutes till press time now, and it takes you half a day to write anything that approaches a sparkling, rollicking, original column—yes, your idea is a good one."

After which enthusiastic approval on the part of the M. E., we produced the following:

Man (entering grocery store)—I want two tuna fish.
Grocer—You better stick to pianos.
—Purple Parrot.

Poor But Honest

He—What time should I come?
Voice on line—Come after supper.
"That's what I am coming after."
—Rice Owl.

"Good Morning."

It was just a glad "Good morning,"
As he passed along the way.
She called a cop and had him juggled
For getting fresh and gay.
—Black and Blue Jay.

Juliet—Whither art thou, Romeo?
Romeo—Dunno, Shuliet, 's'nawful wet town—muzzbe Venice.

She—Are you sure that you will always be faithful to me?
He—Yes, I've been faithful to other women.—Mercury.

"Sire, there is a messenger without."
"Without what, oaf?"
"Without the gate."
"Sirrah, then give him the gate."
—Chaparral.

A Mended Heart

I can recall, oh, poignant memories,
When I wooed you—and you cast me aside;
How I hid out the hour that you were wed,
Nor heard the organ play.
"Here comes the Bride."

Today—I changed; my heart's again my own,
After long years I am in happy mood;
I saw you on the street and envied not
As people looked and said,
"Here comes the brood."
—M. C. K. in Judge.

"What ho, Erroneous Brutus?"

"Don't ask such dumb questions, Cassius. I told you to use a plough."

As It Was in the Beginning—
Man to the field and woman to the hearth;
Man with the sword and with the needle she;
Man with the head and woman with the heart;
Man to command and WOMAN TO OBEY.

—H. G. N.

FROSH TRACK MEET MAY 14

To Compete with Valley Teams by Wire

The first telegraph track meet to be held by the Aggies will take place on May 14 when the freshmen tracksters will compete with all the freshmen teams in the Missouri valley.

This meet will be open to first year men only and is being sponsored by the athletic department of Washington university in an endeavor to interest more freshmen in track work. The contest will be held under regular varsity valley rulings and the results of each event wired to George L. Rider, director of athletics at Washington university.

Competition at each school will be held against time. Three watches are to be used in each event in order to get accuracy as the meet will be decided solely from the time and records made during the afternoon. Preliminaries will be run off on May 13 if there are more than four men entered in an event.

Telegraph meets have been held this year by some of the schools in the Kansas conference with great success. Excellent records have been made, while the cost of the meets is very low.

The Aggies have a large number of freshmen reporting for practice every evening and their showing has been exceptional. The yearlings are expected to give other valley schools a close race for the trophy which goes to the winner.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT OFFERS SPECIAL TEACHERS' COURSES

Recitals and Concerts Planned for Summer Term

Eleven regular faculty members in the department of music will remain at K. S. A. C. during the summer term to give private instruction in all lines of music, voice, violin, piano, and wind instruments. Class work will be given in history of music and in harmony. Work will also be given in public school music for teachers who wish training in music for their regular teaching work.

A number of music students always remain for the summer term, and this year some of the more advanced students are remaining, and the music department is planning a more extensive program than has been attempted in the past.

A number of recitals will be given to the students and town people this summer by members of the faculty, students, and an out of town artist.

Professor Pratt will direct the community singing at chapel as he did last summer. This year the entire chapel group will take part in the pageant to be given July 4. Professor Wheeler will have charge of the summer school orchestra.

Have you a Royal Purple.

Publication is Written, Edited and Set by Freshmen

The Typography Student, a two-column, 36 page magazine, written, edited, and set by students in principles of typography laboratory under the supervision of E. M. Amos, instructor in industrial journalism and printing, made its first appearance last week.

"The aim has not been a literary one," according to one of the editorial writers, "but rather one for practice in setting type. The typography students, of which there are nearly 100, have displayed great interest in writing and setting up material for the magazine."

The magazine contains, among other things, verse, a one-act play, a character sketch of Dean J. T. Willard, items from the Poseyville Post and the Podunk Bugle, a page of poems written by students in a class in English literature, editorials, and illustrations.

"A Tiny Newspaper in a Tiny Town," by Alice Nichols, deserves special mention. At the age of 9 years Miss Nichols edited, printed, and published Nichols Journal, a paper which was featured in the metropolitan papers and Pathe news. Miss Nichols' account of her experiences as "the youngest editor in the world" is one of the entertaining articles in the magazine. J. H.

Aggie Grad Makes Good

Commendation for the work of John B. Elliot, a graduate of K. S. A. C., was voiced by the St. Joseph (Mo.) Gazette in a recent issue reporting the spring music festival at St. Joseph. Mr. Elliot is director of the school orchestras in St. Joseph.

Assists in Cafeteria Management

Medrith Droll, senior in home economics, has been appointed assistant manager of the conference cafeteria in Estes Park. She will begin work June 1.

The Royal Purple is your college annual. It is the best and most treasured book you will have after college days have faded.

The following girls were week end guests at the Pi Beta Phi house: Gladys Wones, Hiawatha; Cornelia Adams, Frances Bone, Virginia Mills, Nadine Buck, Topeka; Emily Caton, Madeline Maher, Lois Stever, Winfield; Caroline Sheetz, Dorothy Stevenson, Lindenwood College, Dorothy Speer, Wichita.

Studies Case Records

The class in social problems is using for reference this semester, case studies of persons in this section of Kansas who are to be interviewed as relatives of city cases who are to be rehabilitated. These studies are obtained through Prof. Walter Burr who is correspondent for the Organized Charities in a number of cities.

A large number of cases of people stranded in Chicago, Pittsburg, Kansas City, Omaha, and Topeka have been aided by this form of cooperation.

EXHIBITS OF OILS ON DISPLAY AT APPLIED ART DEPARTMENT

Twenty-three Pictures by William P. Silva in Collection

The department of Applied Art is fortunate in having a collection of William P. Silva's pictures on exhibit this week in room 68, Anderson hall. There are twenty-three pictures done in oil in the exhibit, showing California and southern landscapes. One received honorable mention from the Salon Paris in 1922.

William P. Silva is an American and is an example of a man who changed his avocation when 50 years of age to the advantage of both himself and the world. His father was a hardware merchant and Silva was trained for the same business, in which he engaged in Chattanooga, Tenn., but he spent his spare time painting.

When his son was old enough to take over the hardware store, William P. Silva decided to lay aside business for art, and went to Europe to study. His landscapes have been exhibited in Paris, London, Washington, D. C., Boston, and many other cities, where they have been commended by the critics.

Miss Helen A. Bishop, assistant professor in the department of household economics, received word Monday evening of the death of her mother in Decatur, Ill.

MUSIC STUDENTS WILL PLAY OWN COMPOSITIONS IN RECITAL

Harmony Classes Present Varied Program

A novel recital, in which members of the harmony classes will play their own compositions, is being planned by R. B. Gordon, assistant professor in the music department. The recital will be given in the public school music room of the cafeteria, the exact date to be announced later.

The program will include original compositions in counterpoint, studies by elementary harmony students, and songs and piano numbers by advanced harmony students. Four hymns composed by students will be given by a string quartet. Of special interest to music students is the announcement that a symphony will be analyzed.

Anyone interested in this work is invited to attend the recital.

AWARDS TO H. S. PAPERS

Ribbons and Certificates Given to Successful Publications

Winners in the 1934 high school newspaper contest, conducted annually by the department of industrial journalism and printing of the Kansas State Agricultural college, were announced today. Sixty were recorded in the seven classes.

First prize winners in the various classes of the competition were The Kansas City (Kansas) High School Pantograph for high schools of more than 500 enrolment, The Mirror of Pratt for high schools of 301 to 500 enrolment, The Holtonian of Holton for high schools of 101 to 300 enrolment, The Galva Current for high schools of 100 enrolment or less, The Hamilton Herald, Wichita, for junior high schools, The Kansas City (Kansas) High School Pantograph for high school papers in which the printing is done by students of the school, and The Neodeshan of Neodesha for the best magazine.

Second and third honors were awarded in the various classes as follows:

Newspapers in high schools of more than 500 enrolment—The Ottawa Record, second, and The Topeka High School World, third.

Newspapers in high schools of 301 to 500 enrolment—The Abilene High School Booster, second, and The Oracle, Kingman, third.

Newspapers in high schools of 101 to 300 enrolment—The Argentinian, Argentine, second; and The Decatur Dictator of Decatur, third.

Newspapers in high schools of 100 enrolment or less—The Live Wire of Leonardville, second, and The Bendena Wild Cat, third.

Newspapers in which the printing was done by students of the high school—The Booster, Pittsburg, second, and The Topeka High School World, third.

Publications in junior high schools—The Junior High Spirit, Fort Scott, second.

Awards in the first five classes were based upon quantity, quality, variety, and effective writing of news; copy reading, head writing, and general makeup; feature writing; and the editorial page.

Newspapers in which the printing was done by students of the school were judged purely on the basis of what constitutes good printing.

Members of the faculty of the department of industrial journalism and printing were the judges.

Ribbons and certificates were awarded to first, second, and third places in all classes.

Royal Purple must be ordered now.

ARTICLE BY PROFESSOR BURR APPEARS IN MONTHLY BULLETIN

June Issue Will Give Results of Study of Rural Conditions

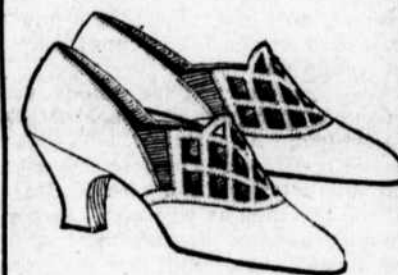

The June issue of the "Monthly Bulletin," a publication issued by the American Country Life association is to present the results of a study which has been made this year in rural organization by Prof. Walter Burr.

One half of the entire June number will be taken up with the results of this study. The work is prepared in condensed form, and is intended to be the last word in rural social organization. The association is planning to print thousands of extra copies, so that they can be disposed of in quantities for the use of extension divisions and of leaders in all sorts of community work throughout the nation.

The Bulletin is recognized as the national standard publication in the country life movement. It is financed by the Russell Sage foundation. Last year Professor Burr merged with the Bulletin his former publication, "The Community Program," and so became an editorial contributor to the Bulletin. He now has charge of membership and subscription work for Kansas.

Y. W. FUNCTIONS IN SUMMER

Finds Rooms and Employment for New Students

The program of the Y. W. C. A. during the summer months is to render the same sort of service which it does during the regular winter terms of school. The greatest work is done in finding desirable rooms and employment for new students coming in. Much of this work can be done before the close of the spring semester, due to the fact that summer school begins immediately and most summer school students are anxious to have these matters settled before they arrive.

Throughout the month of June the office will be open and either Miss Lois Wildy or an assistant will be there to carry on the work. During the summer many plans and programs for the opening of the fall term are definitely planned. Members of the cabinet, whether they live in Manhattan or not, have definite duties to carry on. The importance of the Big and Little Sister organization at K. S. A. C. calls for a great deal of work on the part of the committee chairman in assigning new girls big sisters, finding rooms and giving general information. The Estes Park conference committee assists prospective delegates in making their plans to attend conference.

During the months of July and August the Y. W. C. A. office in the home economics building is closed and headquarters are moved to Dean Van Zile's office in Anderson hall.

Students Edit "Black Cat"

The "Black Cat," a magazine written, edited, and set by students of typography, will make its appearance in the near future. The material for the magazine is mostly humorous and the work is done entirely by the students under the supervision of Prof. E. M. Amos. The typography lab course is required for freshmen journalists.

Your friends, your classmates, and your college campus are all in the Royal Purple. Place your order for one of the extra copies.

CLASS IN AGRICULTURE IS LARGEST SINCE 1916

95 Students Are Candidates for Degrees—48 Kansas Counties Represented

The 1924 class in agriculture at the Kansas State Agricultural college is the largest agricultural class since 1916, according to Dean F. D. Farrell of the division of agriculture. The class contains 95 candidates for the agricultural degree.

"Ordinarily in past years two of three departments have furnished nearly all the major work, but recently the selection of major departments has been better distributed," Dean Farrell said. "This year's class is better distributed among departments than any previous class has been. Of the 95 candidates for degrees in agriculture, 24 are majoring in agricultural economics, 18 in agronomy, 25 in animal husbandry, 17 in dairy husbandry, seven in horticulture, three in entomology, and one in milling industry.

"The average age of this year's class is higher than usual. It is slightly above 25 years, whereas previous classes usually have averaged less than 23 years of age. In age, the 1924 class ranges from 21 to 43 years. Fifty-one members of the class are 25 years old or older and seven are 30 or older."

"Eight states besides Kansas, and one foreign country, Mexico, are represented. Five members of the class are from Missouri and there is one each from Illinois, Nebraska, Iowa, Texas, New Mexico, Ohio, and New Jersey. The class represents 43 counties of Kansas, from Wallace and Hamilton on the west with one representative each to Brown and Cherokee on the east, with one each. Riley county leads with 14 representatives."

"More than 85 per cent of the members of the class are farm reared, the remainder coming from small towns," Dean Farrell said. "All the candidates but one have filed acceptable evidence of having had the required amount of farm experience."

PLAN PANNELL RIFLE MATCH

Annual Contest Will Be Held Saturday, May 17

The annual Pannell rifle match will be held at 2:30, Saturday, May 17, if present plans carry through. A three man team from each Pannellian fraternity will be used. The fraternities expected to enter are Acacia, Alpha Tau Omega, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Kappa Pi, Kappa Alpha, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Nu, Phi Sigma Kappa, and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

The distance will be 200 yards slow fire. Two sighting shots will be allowed with 10 shots prone and sitting for a record. A silver cup, now held by the Sigma Phi Epsilon, will be given the winning organization. When won three times in succession it becomes the property of the victors. To the highest individual a gold medal will be given, to the next highest a silver one, and to the third highest a bronze medal.

In case of a tie for any of these the sitting score will decide the winner. If this is also a tie five shots will be taken from the kneeling position to decide the winner.

The range will be open for practice on Monday and Saturday morning and from 1:30 to 5:00 on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

RIVALRY KEEN IN ANNUAL HIGH SCHOOL SCHOLASTIC CONTEST

Officials Anticipate Strong Competition in Meet Saturday

Early entries indicate that competition in the annual state scholarship contest for high school seniors to be at K. S. A. C. next Saturday will be much keener than last year. Entries are to be accepted until the day of the contest, according to officials in charge.

Silver loving cups will be given to the teams making the three highest scores, with gold, silver, and bronze medals offered to members of the teams winning first, second, and third places respectively. Six scholarships, good at K. S. A. C. only are offered as part of the prize list.

Teams will consist of the three leading scholars of the senior class of high schools entering. Any four year accredited high school in the state is eligible to compete.

The tests will be objective in type and will require twenty minutes to complete. Each contestant will take eight tests over standard high school work, following the state high school course of study and based upon state adopted texts.

Prize cups and medals are offered by the following five scholarship organizations—Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Delta Kappa, Alpha Zeta, Omicron Nu, and Sigma Tau.

A $100 scholarship is the prize for the individual making the best score. A $75 scholarship goes to the maker of the second highest score, and a $50 scholarship to the one who scores third highest. Scholarships of $25 each will be given to those making fourth, fifth, and sixth highest scores.

CRAWFORD TO TOUR EUROPE

Group of 60 to Confer with European Leaders in Paris and London

Prof. N. A. Crawford will sail for Europe on a tour sponsored by the Fellowship of Christian Orders and other organizations for the study of world conditions on June 27. The group which will make the tour includes 60 writers, lecturers, and educators.

The American delegation will attend conferences with European leaders at Paris and London. They plan to spend July in England and from there go to Paris. Some time will be spent at the headquarters of the League of Nations at Geneva. A short visit will be made to Germany and Holland before the group returns to the United States about September 1.

While in England, Professor Crawford will meet with the heads of the Southeastern Agricultural college at Wye, in Kent, to assist them in establishing a school of journalism there.

HORSE SHOE CONTESTS ARE BEING HELD WEST OF GYM

Much Interest Is Being Shown in Old Time Game

The old barn lot game of horse shoes is coming into its own at K. S. A. C. Prof. E. A. Knott, director of men's physical education, has had pits installed west of Nichols gymnasium and official horse shoes have been purchased.

Although this old game is a new one to the college it promises to be successful. A great deal of enthusiasm is being shown in this sport by those who do not have the time for other games such as tennis or baseball. Competition is keen and there is usually several challengers waiting for the final toss of each game.

If this type of athletics proves popular, an intramural tournament may be held next fall. Some colleges have regular horse shoe teams and it may prove to be an intercollegiate sport here in the future.

ENTER EXTEMPO CONTEST

Washburn Takes First Place in Novel Meet

Representatives of K. S. A. C., Washburn college, and Emporia Normal competed in a novel extemporaneous speaking contest in MacVicar chapel at Washburn college Wednesday night, the Washburn speakers winning first place. The K. S. A. C. team was composed of Joe Muir, G. A. Reid, and W. Londerholm.

The speakers did not know until an hour before the contest what subjects they were to speak on. The general subject was "The National Political Situation." A long list of topics was sent out some time ago and an hour before the contest each contestant drew three subjects, with the privilege of talking on any one. The speakers were not allowed to study after the drawing was made.

The Aggie team was handicapped because of lack of time to prepare. They were not informed of the contest until the eleventh hour, and did not arrive in time to draw their subjects until 15 minutes before the opening speech.

The subjects drawn by the Aggie speakers were as follows: Muir, "The Need of a Third Party"; Reid, "Apparent Failure of Our American Government"; and Londerholm, "Who Represents the People?"

A similar contest will be held at K. S. A. C. next January, according to present plans.

You can place an order for one of the Royal Purples. Extra copies have been ordered.

TICKETS FOR WOMEN'S DAY ON SALE MONDAY

Interclass Track Meet, Baseball and Tennis Finals, and May Fete Are Included on Program

Tickets for the first annual Women's day and May fete to be given May 17 under the auspices of the Woman's Athletic association and the physical education department will go on sale Monday morning at 8 o'clock in Anderson hall. The admission to the May fete is 25 and 35 cents, the latter being for reserved seats which will be in the shade. Children under the age of 10 years will be admitted free.

This year is the first time in the history of the college that a Women's day has been observed, if sufficient interest is shown it will be an annual affair. During the afternoon of Women's day, May 17, final baseball and tennis games, for class and individual championship will be played off. The outstanding feature of the day's events will be the interclass track meet. The events to be contested are as follows: javelin throw for distance, baseball and basketball throws, 50 yard dash, 150 yard low hurdles, running high jump and an archery meet.

The annual May fete which will close the Women's day program is scheduled for 6 o'clock in the evening on the east campus. The story of King Midas is being carried out in the fete. Costumes for the 150 girls taking part in the various dances and the solo dancers were designed by the classes in costume design under the supervision of Miss Florence Clarke.

REPEAT LEADERSHIP SCHOOL

Courses of Interest to Teacher, Minister, and Club Worker Offered

The second annual session of the School of Community Leadership will meet during the summer term, June 24 to July 9, under the supervision of Dean E. L. Holton and Prof. Walter Burr. The success of the first session, held last year, will insure its continuance this year at least.

Plans for the coming session are similar to those of last year. The school offers 25 courses, including subjects of interest to the school teacher, minister, chamber of commerce secretary, club leader, and Sunday school teacher. The course attempts to teach how to do things demanded of the leader under present conditions.

Each course will be under the personal supervision of a specialist in the subject. Attention will be given to the needs and desires of each individual student, and such readings will be assigned as will give him the greatest amount of information in the limited time. Students may enroll for five courses. There is no fee.

More than 100 answers have been received to the questionnaires sent out recently by Professor Burr, which indicates that the courses will be well attended.

No More Drill for Rookies

There will be no more drill for the R. O. T. C. this year, according to an announcement by Major Charles A. Chapman. This is in accord with the promise made before the inspection that if a good showing was made drill would be discontinued.

Classes will be continued as usual until further notice.

It is requested by Captain Spencer that all uniforms be turned in to the military department by May 15.

CABINETS OF PRESBYTERIAN CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR MEET

Alvin Farmer Is President for Next Year

The old and new cabinets of the Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church held a retreat at the Waggoner farm on Sunday. The program consisted of talks given by Dr. Frederick Lewis, president of the College of Emporia, Dr. A. A. Holtz, and the Rev. W. U. Guerrant.

The new cabinet is as follows: president, Alvin Farmer; vice president, Harold Bachelor; corresponding secretary, Helen Graham; recording secretary, Laurie Russell; treasurer, H. H. Higginbottom. The chairmen of the committees are, look-out, Mildred Leech; program, Margaret Foster; missionary, Carl Hartman; publicity, Jane Griffes; music, Ira Price; literature, John Moyer; information, Wilma Biddle; social, Jennie Fisk and Mary Haise; and editor of the Progress, Alton Walker.

Tennis Match with K. U. May 10

Saturday, May 10, the Kansas university tennis team will meet the Aggie racquetters on the varsity courts west of Nichols gym at 2:30 o'clock. Kansas is rated as having the prize team of the valley this year. Three more meets are scheduled for the remainder of the season, all of which will be played on the home courts.

TWO YEARS FOR GOOD SOD

Only Home Games on Stadium Field Next Year

At the present time the new sprinkling system on Stadium Field is producing a fine crop of weeds.

This system consists of pipes laid across the field every fifty feet, making six pipes in all. These are perforated every few inches, allowing the water to be placed on the ground in a fine mist. By this method it is possible to put one inch of water on the ground in eight hours time.

A unique feature of the system is the automatic turning of the Skinner pipes. This is operated by pressure of the water on hydraulic pumps on each pipe, which reverse the spray from side to side every few minutes. This is known as the oscillating system.

Blue grass and red top were planted for sod, but are having stiff competition with the weeds. According to Mike Ahearn it will take two years to form a good sod. During that time no events will be allowed on the field. Football practice will not be held on it this fall and it will be used only for the home games.

WHITE MICE ARE SUBJECTS OF NUTRITION EXPERIMENTS

Results Show Time Required for Mouse to Gain Weight

White mice, carefully fed and cared for, weighed, and the weights recorded, are the subjects of an experiment in nutrition carried on this winter by Emily Bennett of the home economics department.

The experiment consists of stunting the mice at the age of 26 and 32 days for a period of 5, 9, 18, or 27 days. During this time the mice are given a diet adequate in food elements but insufficient in amount. The amount of food given to the mouse varies to such a degree that the animal is kept at approximately the same weight during the stunting period. At the end of this period the mouse is given all that it will eat and the time it requires to gain in weight equal to a mouse not stunted is determined.

Similar data has been obtained from a number of small children and the relation between malnutrition in mice and children has been found. The aim of the experiment is to learn at what age children when stunted necessitate the longest periods to get back to the normal weight.

During the winter 150 mice have been used in the experiment. They are each weighed every day and the amount of feed given to each is also weighed and accurate records are kept.

JUNIOR CLASS NOMINATES FOUR FOR HONORARY COLONELS

R. O. T. C. to Elect at Special Meeting Next Week

At a meeting of the Junior class last week four girls were nominated for the position of honorary colonel of the R. O. T. C. The names will be voted on at a special meeting of the R. O. T. C. to take place some time next week. Those nominated were Laureda Thompson of Manhattan, Lucille Herr of Hutchinson, Virginia Reader of Troy, and Maxine Ransom of Downs.

The girls receiving the highest number of votes will be honorary colonel and the other three will be honorary majors. Next year the honorary officers will wear uniforms and take part in many of the activities of the R. O. T. C.

FORECAST FAST MEET SATURDAY

CHAMPIONS OF FOUR STATES TO COMPETE IN M. V. RELAYS

Entries Close Today—Ivan Riley and "Red" Irwin to Compete in Special Match Races

Entries for the third annual Missouri Valley Interscholastic relays in Memorial Stadium Saturday had passed the "forty mark" and were going strong late yesterday afternoon. Four states were represented in the list, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma, and Kansas schools having sent entries.

Five Entries from Missouri
To date Missouri is leading the list of "outside" states with five entries including the towns of Holden, Senath, Bethany, Marysville, and Northeast high school of Kansas City. Northeast has entered relay teams in all events, and will have entries in all special events except the shot, high hurdles, and pole vault, and the tennis meet.

Two Iowa schools, Guthrie Center and Ottumwa, are sending teams despite the fact that the Iowa state high school meet date coincides with that of the Valley meet here. Oklahoma will be represented by Woodward, which has a medley relay team two members of which are state champions over their distances.

El Dorado Has Three Teams
El Dorado, which last year took four out of the five relay events, has entered three relay teams this year.

John Kuck, Wilson, who broke the world's high school record for the 12 pound shot with a heave of 56 feet 3-4 inches, and the state discus record with a 126 foot toss last Saturday at Emporia will "do his stuff" in the discus, shot, javelin throw, and high jump.

Cooper, Saffordville, who tied the state high school quarter mile record in the same meet, also has entered Saturday's contest.

Interest in the tennis tournament is unusually high, with 11 schools sending entries, while four have entered both tennis and golf.

Riley to Race Haskell Stars
Ivan Riley, Aggie senior and member of the 1924 American Olympic team, will be seen in action in both the high and 400 meter hurdles matched against Kipp and Levi of Haskell Institute, Lawrence.

Captain L. E. Erwin, who did the 100 yards in 10 seconds flat over a loose track in Saturday's track meet with Missouri will try to better the mark running against G. Smith, Haskell, for the benefit of the high school visitors.

Entries Close Today
Entries for the meet close today. Schools entered yesterday are as follows: Iowa—Ottumwa, Guthrie Center; Oklahoma—Woodward; Missouri—Holden, Senath, Marysville, Bethany, Northeast of Kansas City.

Kansas—Miltonvale, El Dorado, Saffordville, Eureka, Wamego, Troy, Sedgewick, Wilson, Protection, Baldwin, Dickinson county, Kiowa, Beloit, Abilene, Cottonwood Falls, Scranton, Anthony, Sabetha, Agra, Highland, Wichita, Council Grove, Osawatimie, Onaga, Kansas City, Waterville, Marysville, Ellsworth, Wellsville, Manhattan.

Teams for Joker Relays Are Picked

Saturday night a bronze trophy will be resting in somebody's sorority house, emblematic of the "joker relays championship" of K. S. A. C. But until then members of the nine Greeks whose "boys" will sprint for the trophy as part of the program for the Missouri Valley Interscholastic relays tomorrow afternoon can continue to engage in "word relays." And perhaps the word relays may prove the most thrilling of the two.

Any way, the teams have been picked from a list of the 36 best 220 yard dash men in school, and balanced as nearly as possible to make an even race out of the affair.

The Alpha Deltas may well exult over having "drawn" Captain L. E. Erwin, of the Aggie track team, but "it takes four men to run the relay, not one."

The teams follow:
Alpha Delta Pi: Erwin, Dayhoff, Nixon, Weddle; Delta Zeta: Whitfield, Flack, Hamilton, C. Randall; Pi Beta Phi: Knause, Logan, Reed, Lehman; Kappa Delta: Sappenfeld, Foote, J. L. Wilson, Hawkins; Phi Omega Pi: Karns, Coffman, Bredchoft, Ehrlich; Chi Omega: Slocum, Coleman, Byers, Miller; Kappa Kappa Gamma: Brockway, Doolen, Lester Davis, Stout; Delta Delta Delta: Meek, Hoffman, C. L. Wilson, Staley; Alpha Xi Delta: Riley, Stewart, Schindler, Elder.

Laureda Specializes in Home Ec, Swimming, and Politics

"I haven't any 'philosophy of life' but I do believe that one should be a square-shooter," said Laureda

—By Wolf's Studio.

Thompson, junior in home economics. "That's what I try to be."
"My main interest, aside from home economics, is athletics, especially since I went to the W. A. A. convention in California."

Laureda is the newly elected president of the K. S. A. C. chapter of the Women's Athletic association and was sent as a delegate to the biennial convention. She has won her sweater and a chevron for additional points in athletics. She specializes in swimming, and has earned a Red Cross Life Saving certificate. Her minor is hockey.

In school politics she has been prominent, having been a class officer at various times. She was a member of P. R. X this year.

Her popularity was proved when she was elected one of the most popular girls in the Royal Purple contest this winter. She is president of Bethany Circle and is pledged to Pi Beta Phi sorority.

This summer she will be recreational director at a Campfire girls' camp at Lincoln, Nebr. Last summer she was assistant director, but this year she will be in charge of all the sports, especially the water sports.

When she finishes school, Laureda plans to do home economics work in a church school.

HUSKERS CAPTURE BOTH GAMES FROM WILDCATS

Secure 5 to 1 Victory in First and 6 and 3 in Second Contest
Saturday

Poor hitting and fielding on the part of the Aggie baseball team, combined with an occasional smile of Dame Luck on Nebraska, enabled the Huskers to take both ends of a double header played Saturday afternoon on city park field. The first game ended 5 to 1 and the second 6 to 3.

Vohs, starting his first game of the season, held the Huskers to three hits during the entire game and earned a 1 to 1 tie at the end of the seventh, the Aggies connecting for only one hit off Lang. In the eighth Nebraska garnered two of their three hits and scored four runs on them and a pair of Aggie errors after the side should have been retired.

Henry Karns started the second game, a seven inning affair. He was nipped for six hits, most of them being bunched, while his team mates erred not often, but entirely too often. Most of the bobbles were mistakes of omission rather than of commission, although the infield seemed to have difficulty in throwing the ball in the air to first base during the entire game. Most of the trouble seemed to lie in failure to co-ordinate thought and action in time to catch the runner.

Nebraska showed a hitting power sufficient to strike fear into the heart of any Valley pitcher, and played "heads up" ball during the entire 15 innings played.

The Wildcats nearly tied things up in the fifth and sixth innings of the second game, scoring three runs on one hit and Nebraska misplays, but lost their chance in the seventh when Nebraska put the game on ice with two runs.

No Valley game is scheduled for this week end but the Aggies will meet the Haskell Institute team on the home diamond here Friday afternoon.

The score by innings of Friday's games:

First game: R H E
Nebraska 000 100 04-5 3 2

15 MEN TO NEBRASKA MEET

Aggies Take Measure of Cornhuskers at Lincoln Friday

A 16 man Aggie track team will go to Lincoln Friday morning to meet the Nebraska Cornhuskers in a dual track meet on Nebraska field.

Nebraska has one of the strongest track teams in the Valley this year, and nearly tripled the score on the University of Kansas team last week. The Nebraska policy of always counting third places for points in dual meets will aid the Aggies rather than the Huskers, as the great Aggie weakness so far this year has been in the lack of men to take places other than firsts.

The Aggie team will include the following men, with the possibility that Coach Bachman may decide to carry other men who show up well during the week: Roberts, Erwin, Kimport, Knause, Doolen, Brockway, Coleman, Kimport, Balzer, Aikman, Munn, Brunkau, Gartner, Sappenfeld, and Carter.

LABOR PARTY RECEIVING FAIR TRIAL IN ENGLAND

Party More than a Mere Foundation of Trade Organizations Says
Sidney Wicks

"The challenge of Labor party is yet to come. So far it has done nothing towards remedying domestic conditions because European relations have demanded all its attention. But the English people will give the party a fair trial," said Mr. Sidney F. Wicks, editor of the Manchester Guardian, in a chapel address Monday afternoon on the subject, "The Significance of the British Labor Party." Mr. Wicks is on the editorial staff of the Manchester Guardian, one of the world's leading newspapers.

The Labor party is more than a mere federation of trade organizations, according to Mr. Wicks. It is the natural outgrowth of the industrial institution of England, and has the democratic ideals necessary to a political party.

The alliance of intellectual geniuses with the labor movement have given the party its rise into power, the speaker stated.

THOLE WINS IN DAIRY JUDGING

FRESHMAN FROM STAFFORD IS HIGH WITH 1,086 POINTS

Hoffman Places Second and Thompson
Third—136 Enter Annual Contest

C. W. Thole of Stafford, freshman, vanquished all opposition in the annual dairy judging contest held at the pavilion Saturday. He won in both the freshman division and the entire contest with a score of 1,086 out of a possible 1,200.

Thole will receive the $5 prize for the best freshman judge, but the rules of the contest preclude him from being awarded also the gold medal for the high student in the entire contest, as no two of the more substantial awards may go to one contestant.

Medals to First Three
A. C. Hoffman, Abilene, with a score of 1,035, was second in the contest and Ivan K. Thompson, Barnes, with 1,032, third. Second place winner will receive a silver medal and third place a bronze medal.

The remaining seven of the 10 ranking contestants were: O. L. Norton, LaCygne, 1,030; G. E. Truby, Anthony, 1,024; A. A. Jackson, Westmoreland, 1,017; Alex Van Pelt, Carthage, Mo., 995; T. L. Barr, Manhattan, 994; E. F. Carr, Byers, 993; and Elmer Cook, Topeka, 992.

The 10 high contestants each receive subscriptions to Hoard's Dairyman and the Dairy Farmer. Subscriptions to the breed publications are given by breed associations to the high men in judging each breed of dairy cattle.

High Men on Breeds
Ranking judges for each of the four breeds, and their scores were as follows:

Holsteins—C. W. Thole, 286; C. K. Thompson, 286; O. L. Norton, 282.

Ashires—Harold Ahrens, 266; T. L. Barr, Elmer Crooks, John Whetzel, and A. B. Griswold, each with a score of 265.

Guernsey—John Whetzel, 275; I. K. Thompson, O. L. Norton, A. C. Hoffman, and E. I. Chilcott, each with a score of 270.

Jerseys—Robert H. Fort, 291; H. H. McGee, 290; and E. F. Carr, 284.

The contestants numbered 136, one of the largest groups ever to enter the competition.

THOMAS BECK OF HOLTON WINS SCHOLARSHIP MEET

Holton High Takes Team Honors—
Manhattan Is Second and Concordia Third

Thomas Beck of Holton and the Holton high school team carried away first honors in the annual statewide high school scholarship contest at the Kansas State Agricultural college Saturday. Thomas won the $100 state agricultural college scholarship for placing first among individual contestants and the Holton team, composed of Thomas, Mary Reed, and Charlotte Thompson, claimed the large silver loving cup for making the best team score. Twenty-one teams were entered.

The teams representing the Manhattan high school made the second best score, and Carroll Brady, Manhattan, received the $50 cash scholarship for receiving the third best individual score. Concordia won third place in the individual contest, Joseph Bertrand receiving a $25 cash scholarship for sixth place. Mary Frances White, Paul Chappell, and Carroll Brady represented Manhattan. Joseph Bertrand, Alice Uglow, and Richard Lewis composed the Concordia team. Lester Kirkendall received the $75 state agricultural college scholarship for winning second place among individuals.

Any four year high schools in the state of Kansas was entitled to enter a team of three members selected from its senior class. The teams met in Recreation center at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning and registered, following which they at 9 o'clock were directed to Waters hall where the contest was held. Prof. V. L. Strickland and Prof. C. V. Williams had charge. Advanced classes in educational psychology, under the direction of Dr. J. C. Peterson, did the scoring. Eight objective tests of 20 minutes each, covering subjects in the four year high school course, were given.

The contest closed at noon and the results were announced in Recreation center at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Dean R. A. Seaton, president of the Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholarship society, presented the medals and scholarship, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Delta Kappa, Sigma Tau, Alpha Beta, and Omicron Nu, scholarship and honor societies, furnished the cups and medals for the contest.

A summary of the winners and prizes awarded follows:

Holton high school—Silver loving cup to team making best score.
Manhattan high school—Silver loving cup to team making second best score.
Concordia high school—Silver loving cup to team making third best score.
Thomas Beck, Holton—$100 scholarship to individual making best score.

Lester Kirkendall, Oberlin—$75 scholarship to individual making second best score.

Carroll Brady, Manhattan—$50 scholarship to individual making third best score.

Mary Reed, Holton—$25 scholarship to individual making fourth best score.

Edith Carnahan, Stockdale—$25 scholarship to individual making fifth best score.

Joseph Bertrand, Concordia—$25 cash scholarship to individual making sixth best score.

Aggie Prof Takes the Hay on Recent Soil Survey Trip

A movement which will undoubtedly prove popular among canny faculty members who are supervising the studies of a class in the field was instituted by R. I. Throckmorton, professor in the department of agronomy, on the trip made by the class in soil surveys last week end. In order to add variety to the program, the class took advantage of the lodging rates offered by the farmers in the vicinity of Hays and spent Friday night in a hay loft.

The class, accompanied by Professor Throckmorton, left Manhattan Friday morning on an extensive field trip through the western part of the state. Their work began near Ellsworth where several series of soils were examined and discussed. The Dakota sandstone formation near Ellsworth was also noted.

The class arrived at Hays late that evening, only to find that there were no lodgings to be had. After a consultation Professor Throckmorton suggested that they sleep in a hay loft. Altogether it was a most enjoyable night, the cold weather, the scant bedding, and numerous sandbars being contributing factors. About 4 o'clock Professor Throckmorton gave up the attempt to sleep and began to pace the floor in order to shake off the chill. Breakfast time, however, found him fully recovered and ready to enjoy the meal.

Saturday morning a number of the soils, series in and about the Hays Experiment station were studied and discussed. In the afternoon the class inspected the crop improvement work of the station. The work carried on at the Hays station is in direct relation and connection with the work at the K. S. A. C. This work gave the students a realization of the enormous work which the state and government is carrying on in order to improve the crops in the state.

Those who made the trip were: Prof. R. I. Throckmorton, M. C. Barrows, F. H. Bosman, J. D. Buchman, B. R. Churchill, Jack Heywood, M. H. Hoover, G. J. Ikenberry, J. E. Norton, R. B. Smith, M. M. Williamson.

Receives Austin Fellowship

Prof. Eric Englund of the department of agricultural economics has been offered the Austin fellowship at Harvard university next year. The opportunity is offered Professor Englund for further work in public finance and other relative economic subjects in the advanced school of arts and sciences.

MISSOURI TAKES MEET 67 TO 45

ERWIN, RICHARDSON, AND WADDELL TIE FOR FIRST HONORS

Aggies Secure Six Firsts to Missouri's
Eight—Fall Behind in Second Placings

A well balanced University of Missouri track team got revenge for a defeat administered in 1923 by taking the long end of the second dual meet held on the Aggie field this year 67-45. The Aggies gathered in six firsts while Missouri was taking eight, but could only take five seconds while the Tigers were accounting for nine.

Erwin Makes Good Time
In individual high point scoring Captain L. E. Erwin of the Aggies and Richardson and Waddell of Missouri tied for first with 10 points each. Kimport of the Aggies was next with nine points, losing a chance to tie for high point honors when he slowed down on the tail end of the half mile and finished even with Coleman for first.

Captain Erwin made exceptional time in winning both the 100 and 220 yard dashes, doing the century in 10 seconds flat and the 220 in 21 9-10 seconds. Both were in the face of a slight breeze on a soft track.

Mile Is Sensational Race
Kimport and Captain Pittenger of Missouri staged the most sensational race of the afternoon in the mile. Kimport took the lead from the start and fairly ran Pittenger down. The Missouri man started to make one of his usual speedy finishes on the last half lap but lacked the reserve power of the Aggie, who won by a 10 yard margin.

Pittenger finished the mile in such bad shape that he was unable to run the half, giving the Aggies both places in the event. Kimport's chances for winning the mile in the Valley meet at Lincoln May 24 were made much brighter by the victory, as Pittenger took the Valley indoor mile on a speedy finish earlier in the season, and is rated as the man whom the other milers will have to beat to win.

Poage Runs Heady Race
Poage, Missouri, ran a heady race in the two mile, trailing "Puff" Balzer until the last half lap, when he rapidly closed the gap and won by a safe margin.

Harold Sappenfeld, Aggie, celebrated his second "try" at broad jumping since coming to K. S. A. C. by winning a second in his event.

K. G. Knause again showed his supremacy over Bond of Missouri in the quarter, while Brockway missed a second only by lack of a little more drive on the last 10 yards.

After throwing the discus 140 feet in practice a day or so before, John "Gat" Gartner of the Aggies failed to "stand up" under competition and failed to place. Brunkau tossed the javelin a little over 155 feet for a first.

The Aggies track team will meet the University of Nebraska team next Friday afternoon in Nebraska Memorial stadium.

The summary follows:

100-yard dash—Won by Erwin, Kansas Aggies; Bond, Missouri, second. Time, 10 seconds.

Shot-put—Won by Richardson, Missouri; Etter, Missouri, second. Distance, 45 feet 1 inch.

High jump—Bransford, Missouri, and Reed, Missouri, tied for first place. Height, 5 feet 10 inches.

Mile run—Won by Kimport, Aggies; Pittenger, Missouri, second. Time, 4 minutes 35 6-10 seconds.

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Waddell, Missouri; Roberts, Aggies, second. Time, 16 6 seconds.

220-yard dash—Won by Erwin, Aggies; Smith, Missouri, second. Time, 21 9-10 seconds.

440-yard dash—Won by Knause, Aggies; Newton, Missouri, second. Time, 52 2-10 seconds.

Discus throw—Won by Richardson, Missouri; Kraken, Missouri, second. Distance, 138 feet 6 1-2 inches.

Two-mile run—Won by Poage, Missouri; Balzer, Aggies, second. Time, 10 minutes 16 1-10 seconds.

Pole vault—Won by Donahue, Missouri; Carter, Aggies, second. Height, 12 feet.

Javelin throw—Won by Brunkau, Aggies; Kelfner, Missouri, second. Distance, 155 feet 11 inches.

Broad jump—Won by Simpson, Missouri; Sappenfeld, Aggies, second. Distance, 21 feet 3 inches.

220-yard low hurdles—Won by Waddell, Missouri; Simpson, Missouri, second. Time, 26 6-10 seconds.

Half-mile run—Kimport, Aggies, and Coleman, Aggies, tied for first place. Time, 2 minutes 4 5-10 seconds.

THE ADMIRABLE CRICHTON

The Purple Masque players added considerably to their steadily increasing fame last Thursday evening by their excellent presentation of Sir James M. Barrie's "The Admirable Crichton" as the Purple Masque contribution to the eighth annual festival week program. In a manner quite convincing even to the most critical, they demonstrated their ability to present comedy of predominantly intellectual appeal by producing a play that amateurs will, as a rule, do well to let alone.

In "The Admirable Crichton," Barrie, in the mood half-satirical and altogether cynical, reveals the amalgamated philosophies of a rather extensive cross-section of English society. A fairly complete representation of the extreme upper class is mixed boldly in with a full complete group of servants, and the whole dramatic personae is now and then ushered upon the stage in an utterly fearless manner.

That the first act of the play and especially the scene in which Lord Loam essays to entertain the servants, went off with such perfect timing and smoothness is a pronounced and convincing tribute to the work of Prof. Ray Holcombe, who coached the play. Moreover, the acting throughout was restrained and finished, and there was little of the broad, farcical mimicry so frequently found marring the work of college players.

Mr. David Hervey, who took the difficult role of Crichton, created and sustained a butler personality that only a dramatist of Barrie's ingenuity—there are few such dramatists—could conceive. Crichton's profound respect for the English social order, his natural power as a leader and his glory in that power, his philosophy of leadership, and his shallow flair for romance combine to produce a character that is next to impossible for portrayal. However, Mr. Hervey interpreted the role convincingly and smoothly, more by his sustained manner than by his lines. Such interpretation is good acting.

Miss Muriel Shaver as Lady Mary Lasenby had an equally difficult task and performed it with a finished skill and reserve. To move from languid haughtiness to youthful enthusiasm, expressiveness and honesty, and then to go back to a believable compromise between the two is a difficult assignment for the most skillful, but Miss Shaver did it entirely charmingly. Aside from a bit of stiffness in the third act, in which the dramatist deserts his excellent cynicism for some mediocre sentiment, Mr. Hervey and Miss Shaver showed themselves quite capable of most excellent acting.

Of the others, the work of Mr. Charles Claybaugh as the Hon. Ernest Wooley, Mr. Ferdinand Volland as the Earl of Loam, and Miss Lillian Kammeier as Lady Brocklehurst was perhaps best. Miss Inga Ross and Miss Gladys Sanford, as Agatha and Catherine, Lady Mary's languid, indolent sisters, Mr. Paul Pfeutze as the Rev. John Treherne, Mr. John Wray Young as Lord Brocklehurst, and Miss Helen Correll as Tweeney, however, supported the leads in a manner that left little to be desired.

Barring the protracted waits between acts, to which playgoers at the college auditorium have become accustomed but not reconciled, the presentation of The Admirable Crichton was entirely pleasing. The sets were complete and interesting, and went a long way toward making up to the audience for the lack of exciting action in the play. Certainly much credit and praise are due Professor Holcombe, the Purple Masque organization, and especially the cast for the fine work they did.—H. W. D.

BEDTIME STORY

Let's see, kiddies, where did we leave the Little Woody Folks last week? Oh yes, Clarissa Coon and Rachel Rabbit were just going down to old Mister Frog's brand new barber shop to get their hair bobbed.

Hippity hop, hippity hop, they went, for they were very much excited, since none of the Woody Folks girls had ever had their hair bobbed before. Rachel was going to have a marcel, and Clarissa was going to have a shingle bob—and think of the time it would save!

"Now I can help Ma wipe the dishes in the morning," said Rachel and the thought made her so happy that she turned a double somersault right there in the middle of the Big Green Path.

"Now I'll have time to make the beds every morning," said Clarissa Coon, and she was so full of joy that she spoke as nice as nice to Malinda Muskrat, when she hadn't intended to even recognize her!

"I bet Malinda will be surprised to see us with our hair bobbed," said Rachel, as she hippity-hopped along, her clean pinafore apron actually creaking every time she hopped, it was starched so nice and stiff.

"I bet she'll be jealous as anything," said Clarissa, "because she didn't think of it first, the hateful old thing!"

Which wasn't at all what Clarissa should have said, but you see, kiddies, although Mrs. Coon had done her very best to teach Clarissa to be kind to poor little Malinda, she hadn't succeeded very well. For old Matthew Muskrat, Malinda's father, was only a plumber, and Mrs. Muskrat, Malinda's mother, just would not learn how to play Bridge. And the Rabbits and the Coons, while they were very kind—you understand, don't you kiddies?

Well, Rachel and Clarissa hippity-hopped along, and hippity-hopped along, and pretty soon they came to old Mister Frog's brand new barber shop, and whom do you think they saw through the bright plate glass window? Yes, sir, all the little Woody Folks were there, all dressed up too, like it was the Fourth of July, or Christmas, or something. Manuel Meadowmouse had a red bandanna around his scrawny little neck, and Roger Rabbit had on his pepper and salt suit, and Charley Coon was wearing his best polka dot tie, and Freddie Fox—oh, sly old Freddie Fox pretended he wasn't dressed up at all, but there was a purplish silk handkerchief sticking out of his coat pocket, and Willy Weasel had on his high silk hat, and Reverend Roscoe Rat was carrying his very best gold cane!

"Why, why, we can't go in there!" said Rachel and Clarissa, as they flattened their tiny furry noses against the window, and gazed at the Woody Folks, who looked just the least bit sheepish, as they grinned and bowed.

"Why don't you come in?" said jolly old Mister Frog, who was always on the look out for more business. "Why don't you come in and let me make you look pretty?"

"Malinda's going to," said Roger Rabbit, who never could learn to keep still. "She's going to get a marcel, and everything, and I'm going to ask Malinda if she'll go with me to the—"

"You're not!" "I am!" "She told—" "I are!" "You am not!" And all the little Woody Folks began to shout, and call each other ugly names, and oh, it was shocking!

"Roger Rabbit, you come right on home with me this minute," said Rachel, and "Charles, you know what Ma thinks about you hanging around a barber shop," said Clarissa, and pretty soon Roger Rabbit and Charley Coon walked out of the barber shop and started home with their sisters, although they were not very willing, I am afraid.

And right around the corner, whom should they meet but Malinda Muskrat, on her way to the barber shop to get her hair bobbed, and marcelled, and everything! You may be sure Rachel and Clarissa didn't forget themselves this time. No sirree, they walked right past, with their little furry noses high in the air, Clarissa holding on tight to Charley Coon, who smiled and smiled at Malinda, and Rachel holding on tight to Roger Rabbit, who smiled and smiled at Malinda. Because Malinda was pretty, even if her father was a plumber, and her mother couldn't learn to play Bridge.

"That Muskrat person makes me tired," said Rachel, who should have known better than to use such a rude expression, and "Malinda Muskrat is always trying to start something new," said Clarissa, who was a little bit peevish, I fear.

Next time you will find out what Rachel Rabbit and Clarissa Coon said when they saw how pretty Malinda looked with her hair marcelled and everything.

THE CONCERTS SATURDAY

The presentation of "Elijah" by the college chorus and the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, and the concert by the orchestra Saturday evening must divide the honors for first place on the 1924 Festival week program. The rendition of "Elijah" was easily the best thing of its kind ever given in Manhattan—perhaps the best rendition of "Elijah" ever given in Kansas. It was rare good fortune to hear it, and those who had taken that opportunity will remember it always.

The Minneapolis Symphony is one of the big symphonies in America, ranking with Boston, the Philharmonic, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, and Chicago. Arthur Middleton alone would have made the program worth while. Add to Middleton, Lenora Sparks of the Metropolitan Opera, Ernest Davis, and Mary Welch, and one has a combination that one is rarely fortunate enough to find singing together.

Under the combined inspiration of a fine orchestra, talented soloists and competent direction, the chorus responded with a volume and spirit that it has never before achieved. "Elijah" is perhaps the most melodic of oratorios, and Arthur Middleton and Lenora Sparks after their experience in opera brought to the "Elijah" a feeling for effects that is new in oratorio.

Too much cannot be said in praise of the Minneapolis Symphony concert. Henri Verbrugghen proved that he is in every way intellectually and artistically competent to wear the mantle left by his distinguished predecessor, Emil Oberhoffer. The Minneapolis Symphony, now in its 21st year, has attained its artistic major-

HENRY CAVENDISH

1731-1810
English chemist and physicist, of whom Biot said, "He was the richest of the learned and the most learned of the rich. His last great achievement was his famous experiment to determine the density of the earth."

He first made water from gases

Henry Cavendish, an eccentric millionaire recluse, who devoted his life to research, was the discoverer of the H and the O in H₂O. In fact he first told the Royal Society of the existence of hydrogen.

He found what water was by making it himself, and so became one of the first of the synthetic chemists.

Cavendish concluded that the atmosphere contained elements then unknown. His conclusion has been verified by the discovery of argon and other gases.

The Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company have found a use for argon in developing lamps hundreds of times brighter than the guttering candles which lighted Cavendish's laboratory.

In this age of electricity the General Electric Company has blazed the trail of electrical progress. You will find its monogram on the giant generators used by lighting companies; and even on the lamps and little motors that mean so much in the home. It is a symbol of useful service.

OPTIMIST OR PESSIMIST?

Optimism and confidence are almost synonymous. One must be filled with confidence in order to be genuinely optimistic, and optimism and confidence is the corner stone of REAL TRUE LASTING PROSPERITY. The disgruntled Pessimist has no place in the upbuilding of a community and the fewer we have in our midst the better off we are.

Grumbling, complaining, voicing "hard times" is sure to have an influence in that direction, and the actual influence of the mind upon the body is well known to all of us who have taken time to give the matter any thought. So it pays to be an optimist for your's body's sake, if for no other reason.

We knew a chap once, who often boasted that he had never been sick and that he had never lost a day from his work in 17 years. One of his fellows who knew considerable about the ways of life and the vagaries of the human mind, made a bet that he could send this man home sick by noon hour by simply working on his imagination. The test was carefully planned and carried out.

Next morning, everyone the "booster" met about the works, made mention of how badly he "looked". At first he laughed at these remarks and said he never felt better in his life. But by mid-forenoon he was seen gazing into a mirror to see, if possible, what was wrong. By 11 o'clock he was admitting that he wasn't feeling any too well, and when he went home to lunch he did not return but sent word to the Boss that he was going to take a half-holiday for a change. This isn't a "fairy tale." It is a fact, and it only proves just how susceptible we are to mind influence over the body.

NEVER LET THE "HARD TIME" GERM GET UNDER YOUR CHEST. It never spells anything but trouble, and never will. The major constellation may not shine any brighter over our domicile than over that of our neighbor, but we have a lot to be thankful for just the same. What if every juicy hundred dollar bill we possess today was to be deflated tomorrow so it wouldn't buy a 2 cent stamp as is the case across the water right now. Then we would have a kick coming. What if business conditions were disrupted by financial panic, our whole country torn assunder by revolution or visited by earthquakes and like disaster, then we might have reason to be pessimistic. But today we find ourselves a happy, contented, prosperous people and because of that blessing should be busy living after the Golden Rule and doing everything that makes for the betterment of our country, our community and our homes.

Practice COMMUNITY BOOSTING. Learn the "Pull Together" lesson and then put it into practice. The people of a community gain nothing at all by pulling in opposite directions. Your own team never got you anywhere by so doing and surely if our mules and horses can so easily learn what it means to PULL TOGETHER, it should not be so very hard for us to grasp the idea ourselves.

As students, we are, of course, only temporary residents of Manhattan, but even so, there is no better time or place to put into practice our idea of Civic Patriotism. We should consider ourselves citizens of Manhattan while we are here, and as such, aid willingly, yes, gladly, in the upbuilding of the community.

We want to make this an individual matter with every one of you, just as it is an individual matter with every one of our business men. All those who are responsible for this Booster Campaign give employment to those who need it, and they wish to give more. So the more freely you patronize the local merchant, the more you will be helping others to employment and vocation and hence, contentment. The purchasing of a hat, a pair of shoes, a suit of clothes or any other of the innumerable articles which constitute the needs of our personal living, all require the labor of someone in consummating the purchase, so you see, you are doing your bit every time you patronize the business men of Manhattan.

Don't let offers of credit, bargain sales and other lures from the Big City, influence you to send or spend your money away from here. Flattering inducements held out by other trading points is nothing but a bait to pull your dollars their way. They could have no possible interest in the advancement and civic success of Manhattan as you have.

Just get this one good resolution deeply rooted in your thought and keep it there: I AM GOING TO SUPPORT, AS MUCH AS POSSIBLE, EVERY BOOSTER ON THIS PAGE AND THUS DO WHAT I CAN TO BENEFIT MANHATTAN.

WOMEN ATHLETES HOLD BIG MEET

MAY FETE TAKES PLACE SATURDAY EVENING

Track and Tennis Tournament in Morning—Archery and Baseball in Afternoon—150 Take Part

The first annual Women's day at K. S. A. C., May 17, will begin at 10 o'clock with the interclass track meet and tennis finals. At 1:30 the baseball championship game between the seniors and the freshmen will be played. The archery contest will begin shortly after the baseball game. The May fete at 6 o'clock will be the final event of the day.

Track Meet in Morning

In the morning the events in the track meet are: 50 yard dash, 60 yard low hurdles, javelin throw, baseball throw, basketball throw, high jump, and relay. The persons entered in these events are: senior, Lanora Russell, Alice Marston, Ruth Leonard, Ruby Saxton, Mary Roesser, and Amy Conrow; junior, Grace Davison, Lona Hoag, Ida Conrow, Anna Jacobs, Florence Haines, and Hilmarie Freeman; sophomore, Wilma Hotchkiss, Lillian Worster, Merle Grinstead, Genevieve Tracy, Dorothy Stahl, and McGaw; freshman, Mildred Strong, Lois Long, Merle Nelson, Marie Farmer, Inez Jones, Carol Odell, Marie Perkins, and Doris Kimport.

In the tennis tournament, Lucia Blittz, senior, and Ruth Leonard, senior, will play for the championship in the singles. All the preliminaries in the doubles have not yet been played off so it is not known who will play in the doubles.

Archery and Baseball in Afternoon

For the archery contest in the afternoon, the senior team is composed of Ruth Leonard, Alice Marston, Lucia Blittz, and Leonora Doll; the junior team, Laureda Thompson, Ethel Crumbaker, Grace Davison, and Hazel McConnell; the sophomore team, Leila Colwell, Sara Jolley, Ethel Watson, and Mamie Bruce; the freshman team, Audrey Hybskmann, Erma Fulhage, Dorothy Sheetz, and Doris Soper.

The members of the baseball teams are: senior, Lucia Blittz, captain, Amy Conrow, Marie Correll, Leonora Doll, Beatrice Gaither, Elmina King, Ann Klassen, Ruth Leonard, Alice Marston, Mary Roesser, Lanora Russell, and Ruby Saxton; freshman, Helen Batchelor, captain, Ruth Blachly, Lena Crider, Marie Farmer, Mary Halse, Thelma Hull, Inez Jones, Merle Nelson, Carol Odell, Alice Nichols, Mildred Strong, and Dorothy Zeller.

Fete Originated by Miss Wade

The theme of the May fete is King Midas, the king of Greece who desired great wealth. He is given the "golden touch" by a stranger, and soon learns that wealth is not all that brings happiness. In the end the stranger removes the curse of gold and King Midas becomes satisfied.

HOFFMAN IS HIGH MAN IN STOCK JUDGING MEET

Had Highest Score Ever Made in Junior Division—E. C. Smith Senior Winner

A. C. Hoffman of Abilene, won first place in the annual judging contest held Monday, by the Block and Bridle club. His score was 550 of a possible 600, believed to be the highest ever made in the junior division of the contest. He will receive the gold watch awarded the winner of the division. E. C. Smith of Pratt, was ranking judge in the senior division, and will receive a gold watch.

The number of entries was slightly smaller than last year, 162 being entered. Eight judges, members of the animal husbandry department faculty, J. J. Moxley, Leonardville, and Louie Knight, Gray county farm agent, placed the work of the competitors in eight classes of livestock with four sets of reasons for each class.

The second place winners in each division will receive silver medals and third place winners, bronze medals. Cash prizes ranging from $10 for fourth place to $2 for tenth place are given in the junior division, and prizes of $5 for fourth place and $3 for fifth are given in the senior division.

Silver medals are given to the high men of the junior division in judging fat stock and breeding stock. Edward Watson won the fat stock medal, and E. F. Carr won the breeding stock medal.

Winners in the senior division,

Columnist Has Mottoes all Ready but Interviewer Fails to Appear

At last the happy moment arrived—I was going to be interviewed for the Kansas State Collegian! There, on the front page, right alongside my picture, would be broadcast to the world my favorite motto, and my long list of activities, complete even to the Rebekah lodge and the National Geographic society. And I must not forget to mention, casually, that I had successfully sponsored a "Be Kind to Goldfish" week. The mottoes were ready—"The only way to have a friend is to be one," and "Viam veniam aut faciam." That will set 'em back, I thought to myself, there's nothing like a little Latin to lend tone to an interview.

There would be direct questioning, of course, something like this, perhaps:

"You are a journalism senior?"

"I am a senior in the department of industrial journalism."

KLIX REORGANIZES UNDER NAME OF ALPHA THETA CHI

25 Girls Belong to New Local Sorority

Announcement was made Sunday of the reorganization of the Klux club as a local sorority, Alpha Theta Chi. The membership is made up of 25 college girls whose organization was founded three years ago.

The members are as follows: June Harter, Nelle McComb, Edna Striegel, Leone Bacon, Helen Rogler, Marian Randles, Viola Dicus, Mildred Pound, Ruth Bacheider, Opal Gaddie, Helen Deely, Ella Schrupf, Venda Laman, Mildred Moore, Elsie Jarvis, Thelma Coffin, Mary Hall, Thelma Merwin, Vera Alderman, Ruby Northup, Helen Northup, Mary Russell, Margaret Foster, Jennie Fisk, Katherine Huginin.

"Thank you so much. Do you believe that the press is the world's most powerful factor for good?"

"Absolutely."

"Thank you. What is your favorite novel?"

"People Will Talk." It's a story of small town life.

"Oh yes. The author is—it's one of the late books is it not?"

"It hasn't been written yet." (A subtle bit, that.)

"Ah, I understand. Do you think 98 per cent of the students crib?"

"Not necessarily, but please do not quote me on that subject." I had weighed that answer carefully—on must always be on his guard, when being interviewed.

"Thanks a lot. Are you going into the newspaper game? That is, have you a job—er, accepted a position for next year?"

"I may write special features for the Saturday Evening Post."

This was the psychological moment to yawn delicately, to register extreme ennui, if not boredom, and look at my watch, but if the interviewer begged for a few more minutes of my time, I might yield, reluctantly of course.

It grew late, and the interviewer did not arrive. Had he been kidnapped, abducted by some jealous colleague who did not want my picture in the paper? I would go to the office and investigate.

"Punk column you wrote today," said the jovial editor-in-chief, clipping his leading editorial from the Christian Science Monitor.

"Did you want something?" asked the managing editor, noting my unusual silence.

"Oh, no, dear, nothing at all. I was just thinking how forgetful people are. Don't you want me to write you a feature story about some worth while student?"

"Viam veniam aut faciam"—not so bad, as mottoes go.—J. F. H.

AGGIES TO MEET HASKELL INDIANS IN PARK TODAY

Visitors Have Made Good Record in State Contests—Wildcats Handicapped by Loss of Aikens

The Aggies will play their second non-valley game in baseball this afternoon when they meet the fast stepping Haskell Indians at the city park.

The Aggie team will be somewhat handicapped due to the loss of Glenn Aiken who suffered a broken ankle bone in practice on Tuesday. Captain Aiken will be out of the game the rest of the season and his supe fielding and timely hitting will be greatly missed by the fans. However his position will be capably filled, as Henry Karns will probably take the left field position. The right field will change hands between Munn and Harter the remainder of the season.

The Haskell Indians are bringing one of the fastest ball clubs that the Aggies have faced this year. Haskell has been winning against the strongest teams in and around the state and will make the home team step to land in the win column. The game will be called at 4 o'clock.

XIX ANNOUNCES MEMBERS

Fourteen Juniors Initiated into Honorary Society

The XIX members for the coming year were announced today, the initiation having taken place April 30. The organization has abandoned the custom of keeping the membership secret until the spring semester of the following year because of their petition to Mortar Board, national honor society of college senior women.

Xix was organized in 1915. The members are chosen at the end of their junior year by the active members of the chapter. The organization emphasizes scholarship, leadership, and constructive cooperation, and women are chosen who best express these three aims.

The new members as announced are: Laura Russell, Laureda Thompson, Hilda Frost Dunlap, Evelyn Colburn, Catherine Bernhiesel, Mildred Moore, Maxine Ransom, Lois Richardson, Lucille Herr, Elizabeth Bressler, Gladys Sanford, Phyllis Burtis, Hilmarie Freeman, and Florence Haines.

The officers for next year are as follows: President Lois Richardson; vice president, Hilda Frost Dunlap; secretary-treasurer, Phyllis Burtis; marshal, Lucille Herr; historian, Laura Russell; board of directors, Mildred Moore, chairman, Maxine Ransom, and Elizabeth Bressler.

GARTNER, RANSOM ELECTED EDITORS

VETERAN STAFF MEMBERS TO GUIDE COLLEGIAN NEXT YEAR

Each Has Had Much Practical Newspaper Experience—Elected Business Manager at Next Meeting

John Gartner of Manhattan, as editor-in-chief, and Maxine Ransom of Downs, as managing editor, were elected editorial guides of the Kansas State Collegian for the respective first terms next year, at a meeting of the Collegian executive board Monday evening. The editor-in-chief is elected for one semester, and the managing editor for nine weeks.

The selection of a business manager for the first semester will be made at the next meeting of the board, it was announced.

Both Seniors in Journalism

Each of the new editors is well qualified, both by scholastic record in journalism, and by actual journalistic experience, for the new position. Both will be seniors in journalism next year. Mr. Gartner is a member Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalism fraternity, and Miss Ransom is a member of Theta Sigma Phi, similar organization for women.

Mr. Gartner has held the positions of sports editor, and of associate editor on the Collegian staff and has also served as reporter and city editor of the Manhattan Daily Mercury. During the year just closing he has been business manager of the Brown Bull, Aggie humor publication.

Three Semesters on Staff

Miss Ransom has had three consecutive semesters of service on the editorial staff, and during the last nine weeks term has been assistant managing editor, the highest appointive position on the staff. She has also held the position of society editor and assistant editor.

FIVE STUDENT MUSIC RECITALS TO BE GIVEN THIS SEMESTER

Both Piano and Voice Programs Are Included

Five recitals have been planned by the music department which will be given before the close of the semester. Those who will present programs are Bernice Hedge, senior in voice, May 19; Orpha Russell, senior in voice, May 20; Lavina Waugh, senior in piano, May 21; Eunice Anderson, senior in piano, May 23; and Laura Russell, junior in voice, May 26.

Both juniors and seniors in applied voice and applied music are required to give a recital. Music students and others interested in the programs are invited to attend.

SECRET OF SUCCESS IS FORMATION OF JUDGMENT

Dr. Stratton Brooks Tells of Educational Aims in Annual Phi Kappa Phi Address

"Development of ability to form accurate judgment is the final test of the value of your education. It is your judgment that will make a success for you," said Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, president of the University of Missouri, in the annual Kansas State Agricultural college Phi Kappa Phi address delivered by him at student assembly last Friday.

Facts in education were formerly given all prominence, according to Doctor Brooks. The student was expected to notice the details of every day life and to be able to describe the things about him. But the purpose of all this fact gathering, said the speaker, was to develop in the student the seeing eyes so that he might be able to recognize and appreciate the facts that confront him in the business of life.

"One of the essentials of education is that it enable you to see facts as they are, not as you would like them to be," declared Doctor Brooks. "The forming of educational habits is a very important thing in education," he continued. "There is no need of having to turn to references for a bit of information that you need again and again when it would take a very little time to learn the fact and have it your own. Such details as the multiplication tables or the declensions of verbs, should be become a habit with the student."

The value of the development of judgment was emphasized by the speaker in closing.

"In doing a work in manual training, the finished product or the shavings on the floor," he said, "are of much less importance than the fact that the worker can build another piece of the same kind or of a different kind. The details and principles are of much less importance than the development of judgment."

Dean R. A. Seaton, president of the local chapter of the Phi Kappa Phi, presented certificates of membership to 41 persons, including seniors, graduate students, faculty members, and alumni.

A banquet at the college cafeteria followed initiation services Friday.

The following toasts were given: "To the Initiates" by Dean R. A. Seaton, president of the organization; "For the Initiates" by Max Hoover; "Phi Kappa Phi in Land Grant Colleges" by Dr. J. T. Willard; and "Fruits of Scholarship" by Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, president of the University of Missouri.

S. S. G. A. CONVENTION TO BE HERE NEXT YEAR

Representatives of 32 Colleges Were Present at Last Meeting in Knoxville, Tenn.

K. S. A. C. has been chosen as the next meeting place of the national Students' Self Governing association, the selection having been made from a number of schools in the middle west. The next meeting is scheduled for May, 1925.

The last convention of the S. S. G. A. was held May 1, 2, and 3, at Knoxville, Tenn., under the auspices of the University of Tennessee. Thirty-two colleges in the Mississippi valley were represented, each school sending two delegates. K. S. A. C. was the only school to send two juniors as representatives, the other schools following the plan of sending one senior and one junior delegate. Jerry Dowd and Harold Gillman went as representatives of this college.

The honor system was one of the main topics discussed at the convention. The colleges that have used the honor system expressed themselves as being against using it another term. The general conclusion was that an honor system could succeed only where the student body desired it and pushed it. Some of the honor systems that are being used are following traditions rather than set rules.

"When the convention meets here next year it will require the cooperation of the entire student body to make it a success," said Mr. Dowd. "The hospitality shown to us in Knoxville certainly lived up to the reputation of southern hospitality."

The business men of Manhattan and the Y. M. C. A. have already promised to help entertain the delegates. The houses of various organizations will probably be used to accommodate the visitors.

PROFESSOR HOLCOMBE RESIGNS

Officials Characterize His Work at Institution as Outstanding

Ray Edward Holcombe, assistant professor of public speaking, has resigned his position in the agricultural college. A successor will be appointed in the near future.

Professor Holcombe, who is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, has been a member of the public speaking department since 1921. His teaching of dramatic interpretation and similar subjects has been of high quality, while his work as a coach of college plays is characterized by officials of the institution as outstanding.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR FAST MEET

SEVENTY HIGH SCHOOLS ENTER ANNUAL RELAY CARNIVAL

Several Records Should Fall as All Champions Will Be Present—Tennis and Golf in Morning

Preparations are being rapidly completed for the staging of one of the fastest high school meets the Middle West has ever seen on Stadium field Saturday. Five states and 70 high schools are sending the cream of their track and field talent to Manhattan for the Third Annual Missouri Valley Interscholastic relay carnival conducted by the Kansas State Agricultural college. States represented are Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, and Oklahoma.

Tennis Matches in Morning

The new Memorial Stadium track with its 220 yard straightaway and quarter mile cinder oval is being rolled and rerolled to insure a speedy meet. Space for 7,000 spectators is provided in the completed west wing of the stadium stands. Fourteen high schools have entered teams in the tennis meet which is being conducted at the same time as the track meet, and seven in the golf tournament, both of which will start Saturday morning and run all day or until play is finished.

Preliminaries in all special events will be run off Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and finals in all events start at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

All Champions Out

State champion will meet state champion in several events. Practically every man who won a place of any description in the Kansas state high school meet last Saturday is entered in the Valley meet. Winfield, Kansas state champion, and Northeast high of Kansas City, Missouri state champion, are sending strong teams, the Missouri school having entered 19 men.

Ottumwa and Gutherie Center, Iowa, two of the strongest high schools in that state, are splitting their teams for the date, sending part of their athletes to the Iowa state meet and part to the valley meet. Woodward, Okla., is backing a team in the medley and mile relays that is one of the strongest in the valley. Two of the medley men are Oklahoma record holders in their events.

Central, Northeast, and Manual highs of Kansas City, Mo.; Kansas City, Kan., high, and Wichita high are among the larger schools entered.

One Man Team Present

Up from Wilson, Kan., is coming John Kuck, the one man track team who took second place for his school single handed in the Kansas state meet. Kuck holds the world's high school record for the shot put and the state record in the discus throw.

Not to be outdone, Joplin, Mo., is paying the expenses of a lad by the name of Potts, who figured high in the point scoring in the Missouri state meet. Potts is entered in the shot, discus, javelin, broad jump, high jump, 100 yard dash, pole vault, and low hurdles.

El Dorado Back to Defend Record

Shaw, colored century dash man from Winfield, and Cooper, Saffordville, quarter miler, both of whom are joint holders of Kansas records in their events will be after new honors. Hot competition is in store for the boy who takes home the bronze high point man trophy, as several schools are entering one man in a majority of the special events.

El Dorado, Kan., will be back to defend the record it set up in 1923 by capturing four of the five relay events then listed on the program. The El Dorado mile relay team won the state mile relay last week, and also is entered in the medley and 880 yard relays.

R. O. T. C. TO HOLD RIFLE MATCH

Gold Medal Will Be Presented to High Man

A rifle match for all members of the Reserve Officers Training corps will be held during the week, May 19 to 24. Any member of the corps will be eligible.

A gold medal will be given the man making the highest score. For second prize a silver medal will be given and for third a bronze medal.

The range will be open for firing as follows: Monday, from 9 until 12 o'clock and from one till 4; Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, 1:30 until 5; and on Saturday from 9 until 12. The contestants may fire trial shots at any time during this time and upon notifying the officer in charge will fire for record. Firing will close at 12 o'clock, May 24.

THE MUSIC FESTIVAL

Looking back over the musical season, one cannot but feel that the present year has been a most successful one. The department recitals have been good. The Artist Series with Elly Ney, Albert Spalding, and the Impresario Opera company was eminently worthwhile. The Spring Festival put the K. S. A. C. productions in a class with the best music festivals in the state.

One thing, however, is evident. The Festival has grown so rapidly that it is now too much of a problem for one man to take care of. It is to be regretted that the people of the college and of Manhattan did not support this year's Festival as it should have been supported. One of the things that distinguishes the Kansas State Agricultural college from the other agricultural and mechanical colleges of the United States, is the large amount of attention devoted to the arts. The fact that we give a Festival every year makes us distinctive among agricultural colleges.

That we should let the Festival lag for lack of interest in the student body, is unthinkable; that the city of Manhattan should let the Music Festival die, and thus invite unfavorable comparison with our sister cities—Lindsborg, Hays, Pittsburg, Emporia and Lawrence—is ridiculous. If the Festival failed to draw a crowd this year, there is only one sane solution—make it bigger and better next year. But the college and town should be willing to shoulder their full shares of the responsibility, and to pay for what they receive.

LAWS AND MORALS

Spread of mental disease is more dangerous in the United States than the most formidable epidemic. Ten years ago it was the Pollyanna philosophy that gained ground in this country and worked havoc. Then came the ravages of the Saturday Evening Post from whose attack the country has not yet completely recovered. And now we have with us Dr. Frank Craneism.

The philosophy and wisdom expounded by the eminent doctor reach thousands each day through syndication. The country is flooded with wise saws and a butter-won't-melt-in-my-mouth attitude of mind. Verily Dr. Frank Crane rivals tuberculosis.

His latest spasm is an outcry at the lack of justice in the world. Commenting on the conviction of Anderson, a conspicuous member and leader of an organization opposed to the liquor traffic, he rhetorically inquires, "It is a nice question of law which, being a mere layman and writer, I cannot pretend to decide: whether forgery in the third degree is any worse than rum running in the first degree."

In other words, Dr. Crane believes that because the crime of rum running exists, it is an injustice to convict a man of forgery, especially when that gentleman is engaged in hunting down rum runners. Let him forge, says the doctor, as long as he catches rum runners. Logic indeed.—Michigan Daily.

THE SONG RECITAL

The song recital by Ernest Davis and Miss Mary Welch, Friday evening of Festival week, delighted a small but appreciative audience. The program was more interesting to musicians than to the general public, but the sincere interpretation, clear enunciation and perfect voice control of the singers must have appealed to the least technical. The audience also welcomed the variety of songs without an undue proportion in foreign languages. It is a pleasure to see Brahms, Schumann and Schubert again occupying their rightful place on the program with Handel, Puccini and Arensky.

Mr. Davis improved with each appearance, although the Italian group early in the program was well received, especially the selection and encore from "Tosca." His humorous mood in the encores after the third group won the audience completely, so that he was recalled three times. He responded with two short songs, "To a Messenger" by La Forge and "If I Were" by Dickinson, and finally by an aria from Il Pagliacci. In all his singing there is a background of power and a virile quality in the lower registers that often is lacking in a tenor voice.

Miss Welch appealed to the audience by her womanly dignity and graceful bearing as well as by her smooth and mellow tone-quality. She showed great dramatic ability in "Der Erlkönig," especially in the rapid changes of parts which demand emotional sincerity and perfect voice control. In the first group, the "Reverie" by Arensky was especially pleasing, and in the last group, "The Pages Road Song" by Novello. Her encores also were very happily chosen, the first an old favorite, "The Silver Ring" by Chaminade; after the German group "The Sapphic Ode" by Brahms and at the end, "Down Here" by Brahe.

The accompanists did much to make the recital a complete success. Miss Smith of the department of music was exceptionally brilliant in her playing of the difficult numbers, "Hopak" by Mussorgsky and "Der Erlkönig." These songs give opportunity for a display of technique which ordinary accompaniments do not give.

The recital was so artistic throughout that Manhattan folk will be glad to have the opportunity of hearing these singers again in future programs.—P. P. B.

W. H. Jury spent Mother's day at his home in Topeka.

"I know something I won't tell," sang Roger Rabbit as he hippity-hopped home from the Givem-Away Clothing store. "I know something I won't tell, I know something—"

"Maybe you do, brother, but if so, it's the first time."

Roger stopped singing when he heard old Reverend Roscoe Rat tapping along with his gold headed cane.

"Well, anyway, I won't tell you," he said in as sassy a tone as the little Woodsy Folks ever dare use toward the Reverend Roscoe. And then, frightened at his te-mer-ity, Roger hurried home, holding on tight to his big package.

"Oh, Clarissa," he panted. "Oh, Clarissa, come quick and see what I've got!"

Clarissa put a big piece of warm fudge in her mouth, and two pieces in her pocket, and hid the rest of it before she answered her brother.

"Lookie here, Clarissa," exclaimed Roger, as he hopped excitedly around the cozy little parlor. "Lookie here, Clarissa, golf knickers and a sport shirt, and socks! Oh, Bunny! Wouldn't Rudyard Rattlesnake be jealous if he could see my socks?"

"But Roger, you can't play golf," said Clarissa, as soon as she could speak. Clarissa was a very practical person.

"Of course not, it's the Style, Clarissa. All the best folks in the Woods are wearing 'em, that is, all the folks who aren't bowlegged!"

Clarissa was extremely shocked to think that Roger would use such language in her company, and with her furry little nose high in the air, whisked out into the kitchen.

And where do you think Roger was going, all dressed up like—well, you know what he was dressed up like children. He was going to see Malinda Muskrat, of course, and she had her hair bobbed, and marcelled, and everything.

Jolly old Mister Sun smiled to himself when he saw the vain little Rabbit boy hopping along, and he decided to play a prank on Roger. For even old Mister Sun enjoys a joke, when it's on somebody else.

But Roger was so happy he didn't notice it was growing darker, as he hippity-hopped along to Malinda's house. And when he got there, right in Malinda's porch swing, whom should he see but sly old Freddy Fox, talking to Malinda, and strumming a ukelele, and eating salted peanuts, just like—well, use your imagination, children. Poor little Roger, how his nose wiggled, when the Merry Little Brèezes teased him about the peanuts!

"Hello, Roger," said Malinda, kindly, "won't you come up and have some of Freddy's peanuts?" She didn't even mention his new suit!

"No thank you, Miss Malinda, I was just taking a walk for my health. Fine spring weather we're having this spring ain't—Isn't it?"

"Why no, Roger, it's going to rain. Won't you come up and listen to Freddie's ukelele?"

"No, thank you, Miss Malinda. I'm taking a walk for my health."

How he hated that sly old Fox fellow, who grinned and grinned, till all his gold teeth showed! Back and forth past Malinda's house walked Roger, and he whistled and whistled, while Malinda and Freddie ate peanuts and played the ukelele on the big sheltered front porch. The harder Old Mister Sun's saucy Little Raindrops fell, the louder Roger whistled. He'd show Malinda he wasn't afraid of a little rain!

And then, all of a sudden, he saw Freddie laughing at him, and Malinda hiding her face behind her new orchid handkerchief.

"Whadda yuh think you're pulling off, you hare-brained scamp, a coming-out party?" said that vulgar, wicked old Fox, pointing his finger at Roger.

And oh, it was simply terrible! The Saucy Little Raindrops had made Roger's new little golf knickers shrink up and up, and his fancy wool socks shrink down and down, and his knees were showing and showing! He was so mortified and embarrassed, that he gave one tremendous leap, and landed in a mud puddle right in front of Malinda's house, and got up quick as quick, and ran and ran and ran, till he got home.

Next time you will hear what happened to Roger when Freddie told the rest of the Woodsy Folks about the new golf suit.

Try This on the Cop

In addition to pleasing a college audience with his singing, Ernest Davis, who appeared on the Festival program Friday evening, knows how to persuade New York policemen to permit him to violate the city traffic laws. It happened this way.

Mr. Davis, who was to sing at the Metropolitan opera house had started late and was delayed in a traffic jam. As the time of his appearance on the stage approached without any prospect of his being able to reach the hall in time, Mr. Davis called to the policeman that he had to move on, that he had an appointment to sing at that very minute. The traffic cop, an Irishman, asked what he was to sing.

Mr. Davis replied, "Oh—'Mother Machree' and 'My Wild Irish Rose.'" The order to move on was immediately given.

THE BAND CONCERT

A small but unusually appreciative audience attended the band concert given at the auditorium Friday afternoon. The program, while not heavy, was well selected, "Silhouettes," by Hadley, with its characteristic music of different nations, and Herbert's "Babes in Toyland," being of special interest.

The overture, "Barber of Seville," always a popular number, and the Tchaikowsky waltz were also well received. After the last number an ovation was given the band and in response to the insistent applause, "Semper Fidelis" was repeated.

Two unique features of the concert were the performance of a number which had been arranged by the class in orchestration, and the appearance for the first time of girls in the K. S. A. C. band.

Professor Wheeler, director of the band, is to be congratulated on the results he has accomplished this year. While the band does not play with the finish achieved by the orchestra, it should be taken into consideration that many of the members of the band are almost with out experience in ensemble playing. Many of them were practically beginners this year, and a still greater number took up band work only last year. Remembering this, the concert Friday was especially commendatory.

The brasses are the weak spot in the organization. The attacks of the cornet section left a great deal to be desired, and the bass section lacked somewhat in volume for the size of the band. The wood winds, however, deserve particular commendation.

The concert as a whole, indeed, was very pleasing, and merited of a much larger hearing than it received. —M. V.

WASHINGTON U. TENNIS TEAM WINS TWO OF THREE MATCHES

Rankin Defeats Piker Opponent in Feature Contest

The Washington university tennis team won a two out of three match yesterday afternoon on the varsity courts.

The feature of the match was the defeat of Bearman, Washington, by Rankin, Aggies. Bearman won the first set easily by a 6-3 score. The second set was at set-point for Bearman when he miscalculated a high lobe. From this point throughout the set and the next set, Rankin had everything going his way.

The final match score was 3-6, 7-5, 6-2. Healea, Aggies, lost his match by a 6-1, 6-2 count, and Miller and Goodell, Aggies, were defeated in the doubles.

Gloria Swanson with her new boyish bob

To Bob—or Not to Bob?

DEANS of great universities, leading hair-dressers, health authorities, screen and stage actresses express their views on this tantalizing question that is causing the greatest discussion American women have ever engaged in. One woman says the bob is barbaric. A noted hair-dresser fears bobbing will bring bald heads. Others defend it vigorously, while some call it the greatest boon ever conferred upon the fair sex. Their remarks, pro and con, reveal an amazing division of opinion in the first nationwide survey of this important subject.

"The Battle of Bobbed Hair"

If you are planning to have your hair bobbed don't do it until you see all the styles illustrated in June Photoplay. They are authoritative designs and give you a wide selection to choose from. One of them will be the one you will require if you want your bob to fit your head and face.

"Great Lovers of the Screen"

THERE is a kick in every kiss, whether it be on the screen or elsewhere. The thrill of being loved by the greatest Romeo in pictures is bared by fourteen prominent actresses with amazing frankness. They tell which stars are the greatest screen lovers and why. Nothing as fascinating as these intimate disclosures of love-making that has ever been printed.

"The Kiss that Shocked the Sheiks"

RAMON NOVARRO and Alice Terry did it. They walked right out on the Sahara Desert and smacked the kiss that started pandemonium in the land where a man can have four wives and kiss them all at once if he wants to. But such a kiss as the screen stars gave to each other was too much for the real sheiks. They simply gargled Arabic in their excitement and their orchestra of pipes and drums ran wild. Herbert Howe tells all about it in his inimitable style.

$5,000 in Prizes

Don't miss the great prize contest announcement in this issue. $5,000 in cash prizes and four De Forest Radio Sets for the title to a great story by Arthur Stringer.

PHOTOPLAYS reviews of new pictures is the greatest service ever given to picture fans. Authoritative and accurate summaries of current film dramas in tabloid forms show you at a glance whether you want to see them. They save you time and money.

MEET CONCEDED TO CORNHUSKERS

WILDCATS HOPE TO TAKE 45 COUNTERS TO NEBRASKA'S 72

Dope Gives Aggies Four Firsts and Seven Seconds—Erwin Expected to Place as Usual

Although the Kansas Aggie track team will be taking on a rather large mouthful in the persons of the Nebraska Cornhusker track team next Friday afternoon on Nebraska field the Wildcats are far from downhearted as they prepare for the Husker team. True, the Wildcats entertain no very high hopes of winning the meet, yet they expect to finish a somewhat closer second than did their brethren from the University of Kansas last Thursday on the Lawrence field.

Aggie men are giving the Huskers the edge by around a 72 to 45 score, or about the same margin of victory which Missouri carried home last Saturday.

Should Secure Four Firsts

The Aggies should be good for four and possibly five firsts, and six or seven seconds. Captain Erwin is expected to take the 100 and 220 yard dashes as usual, although Locke may give him some stiff competition the latter event. Any one who saw Kimport win his mile races from both Missouri and Kansas in the two meets here this year could scarcely concede the race to any one else, and the Norton boy may also be good for a victory in the half, which he has won in both outdoor meets so far.

Balzer of the Aggies is given the edge in the two mile run because he defeated Grady of Kansas a couple of weeks ago, while Grady in turn bested Slemmons of Nebraska in the Kansas-Husker dual recently.

Gartner Is Practice Star

P. R. Carter, Aggie pole vaulter, should be good for a first or tie for first in his event, as Gleason of Nebraska has been doing around 11 ft. 6 in. all year, which is the usual Carter attainment.

The Wildcats might turn the meet into a very close affair if John Gartner, the "practice star" of the team could come through under competition. Last week Gartner threw the discus 140 feet in practice against a wind, and the next night in competition against Richerson of Missouri could scarcely let go of the platter at all.

14 Men Make Trip

Nebraska should have little trouble in taking a first in most of the other events and making a clean sweep of the high jump and shot put. Nebraska also may take a first and second out of the broad jump, although Coach Bachman may spring another one of his surprises in Harold Sappenfeld, Abilene, who is making around 21 feet with only a week of practice in the last two years.

The men who will make the trip to Nebraska are Knause, Brockway, Coleman, Kimport, Munn, Brukau, Gartner, Doolen, Sappenfeld, Carter,

Aikman, Balzer, Roberts, and Erwin. The Meet in Advance Points

DR. LILLIE TO SPEAK

Eminent Biologist to Give Gamma Sigma Delta Address

Dr. Frank R. Lillie, head of the department of zoology of Chicago university will give the annual address for Gamma Sigma Delta, honor society of agriculture, in Recreation center Friday evening, May 16, at 8 o'clock.

The address will follow the Gamma Sigma Delta annual initiation banquet which will be given at the college cafeteria at 6:30 o'clock. Doctor Lillie will talk on the subject "Causes of the Free Martin and Aspects of the Biology of Sex." The address will be open to all.

There will be a reception for Doctor Lillie in home economics rest room Friday afternoon. Doctor Lillie is one of the foremost biologists of the day. He is director of the Biological Fellowships of Research Council, and during the war he was chairman of the division of biology and agriculture of the national research council.

The following are to be initiated: Division of agriculture—M. L. Baker, Ralph W. Sherman, Max M. Hoover, Dan M. Braum, E. M. Lillwiller, R. L. Stover, C. O. Dirks, F. F. Lampton, A. W. Stover, F. M. Alexander, E. C. Scott, G. A. Filling, George R. Hendrix, Walter E. Myers, J. D. Farrand, C. D. Tolle, B. R. Churchill, R. G. Lewis, T. W. Bruner, Walter T. Crotchett, J. K. Muse, Mrs. Dorothy Nelson, R. T. Patterson, and M. M. Williamson.

Division of veterinary medicine—W. T. Miller, E. E. Hodgson, and C. J. Coon.

Candidates for degree of master of science—M. N. Beeler, Dudley B. D. Moses, P. W. Gregory, R. R. St. John, and H. R. Bryson.

You can place an order for one of the Royal Purples. Extra copies have been ordered.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR FAST MEET

Ten gold watches are up as prizes to special event winners, with silver and bronze medals for second and third place men. Each winning relay team will carry home a bronze trophy for "keeps" and challenge loving cups are up for prizes in four of the six relays, permanent possession going to the team winning each cup three times.

Special features of the program for the entertainment of the high school stars will be put on by Aggie track men. Ivan Riley, American 400 meter hurdle champion, will race George Kipp and John Levi of the Haskell Indians in the 120 yard high hurdles and 400 meter low hurdles, while L. E. Erwin, Aggie track captain and valley, 50, 100, and 220 yard dash champion, is matched against Smith of Haskell over the 100 yard dash route.

Individual Entries

Approximately 375 individual entries have been received, most of the men being listed to compete in at least two events. Outside of the Kansas entries, Missouri is leading the list with eight schools. Iowa is sending two, and Oklahoma and Nebraska one each. Beatrice, Nebr., is said to have a fast relay team.

Several meet records are due to fall, as most of those now standing were made in 1922, the first year of the meet. Last year rain prevented the making of good marks.

Entries from Five States

The entries by states and schools: Missouri—Kansas City Manual, Kansas City Central, Kansas City Northeast, Joplin, Senath, Maryville, Bethany, Holden.

Iowa—Ottumwa, Guthrie Center, Nebraska—Beatrice, Oklahoma—Woodward.

Kansas—Gardner, Burns, Harper, Elmdale, Marysville, Agra, Dickinson county, Troy, Eureka, Oakley, Leavenworth, Wichita, Havensville, Wilson.

RILEY RECEIVES APPLICATION. BLANK FOR OLYMPIC PASSPORT

Aggie Wonder Hurdler Will Leave for Europe in June

Ivan H. Riley, the wonder hurdler of the Aggies, has received his application blank for passports to Europe where he will represent the United States in the 400 meter hurdle race. Riley will train in different sections of the country before leaving in June. His last training station will probably be in Montreal, Canada.

Although the final Olympic tryouts have not been held as yet, Riley is rated as the best distance hurdler in the United States.

able Olympic contestant and he did look formidable in the action pictures they used. "Gat" has won his sweater, is a member of the K fraternity, and so far this season he has won the distinction of being the Valley's "practice star."

In journalism John is quite active. In his sophomore year he was elected to Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalism fraternity, and he is president for next year. He has held staff positions on the Collegian for several semesters, having served as sports editor and as associate editor. As reporter and later, city editor of the Manhattan Mercury, John has gained practical experience in newspaper work. For the past year he has been business manager of the Brown Bull, Aggie humor publication. Recently he was elected editor-in-chief of the Collegian, the highest honor offered in the journalism department.

"Gat's" hobby is fishing. His summer is not a vacation unless he has a fishing trip to some good stream for several weeks. He has developed his hobby until it is quite an art with him and one of his favorite topics of conversation.

John's home is in Manhattan and he is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. He will be graduated with the class of '25.

Esther Rodewald was awarded the prize for the freshman girl who ranked highest in scholarship at the end of the first semester.

General Science Division

Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary music society for women, Marjorie Hubner. Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism society, Mary Elva Crockett, Hilda Frost Dunlap, Helen Van Gilder, Olive Hering, Grace Justia, Alice Paddleford, Maxine Ransom.

Phi Alpha Mu, honor society for women in the division of general science, excepting music and journalism—Elizabeth Bressler, Penelope Burts, Audrey Freeman, Opal Gaddie, Lona Hoag, Margaret Newcomb.

Phi Alpha Mu offers each year a prize of $20 to the freshman woman making the highest average of grades in the freshman year. This prize was awarded for the year 1922-23 to Dora Mae Porter, Fredonia, a student in the curriculum in general science. Martin Fritz and George Corbet, Aggie orators, were presented diplomas and were allowed to wear the K. The debaters Randall Hill, B. J. Miller, John Wilkins, M. L. Baker, Helen Correll, and Charlotte Swanson were also recognized.

ALPHA XI DELTAS WIN RELAY

Alpha Delta Second and Kappa Deltas Third—Delta Taus Also Win

The Alpha Xi Delta relay team was victorious in the first annual inter-society joker relay race Saturday on stadium field track. The Alpha Deltas finished second, due largely to the finishing power of Captain "Red" Erwin of the Aggie track team, and the Kappa Deltas were third.

Delta Tau Delta was the first Panhellenic team to finish in the fraternity medley relay, Sigma Nu running a close second.

Erwin allowed Smith of Haskell a three yard lead in the 100 yard special race and beat the Indian by a safe margin in 10 seconds flat.

Ivan Riley, Aggie and Illinois Athletic club, ran away from Kipp and Levi of Haskell in the 120 yard high hurdles, and made a gallant attempt to win the 400 meter hurdles against Kipp and Levi each of whom ran half the distance.

Manhattan high school was an easy winner in the golf section of the interscholastic tournament, while Salina took the tennis doubles from Junction City, runners up. Johnson, Northeast, won from Ragle, Salina, in the singles.

Smith and Remick composed the Manhattan golf team, Smith winning the individual low medal score trophy from Dold of Wichita. Smith and Dold were even at 36 holes, Smith winning the trophy by taking a six for the thirty-seventh hole while Dold took a seven. Manhattan took a 319 for team score over 36 holes, Minneapolis finishing second with 232, and Wichita third with 328.

To Deliver Two Addresses

President W. M. Jardine will give two commencement addresses this week. Wednesday May 21, he will speak at the Kansas City, Kan., high school exercises and May 22 he will give the address at the Cottonwood Falls high school. His subject is, "What of the Morrow."

AGGIE BABE RUTHS TAKE INDIANS TO 7-0 DEFEAT

Bernard Conroy Pitches Fourth Straight Victory—Wildcat Meets Tiger Again Today

The Aggie Wildcat baseball team adopted the motto of "the bigger they are the harder they fall" Friday afternoon and walloped the Haskell Indians 7 to 0. Bernard Conroy won his fourth straight victory of the season, letting the Indians down with five hits while the Aggies were collecting 10 off Hamilton and Killbuck.

Henry and Ralph Karns collected seven of the 10 Aggie hits, "Hank" connecting for four safeties and "Shorty" for three. Since Captain Glenn Aikins suffered a broken leg Thursday while sliding for second, H. Karns has been working in left field. Munn, Huey, or Harter probably will fill right field in the Missouri game this afternoon and against Oklahoma Friday and Saturday.

Oklahoma comes to Manhattan with one of the most powerful teams in the valley. They knocked the Wildcats off for two games at Norman early in the season, but with Conroy, Vohs, and Cunningham all ready for a turn on the mound, the Aggies should earn at least an even break on the series.

The scores by innings of the Haskell game:

Haskell	0	5	5
Aggies	7	10	0

NO SENIOR PLAY THIS YEAR

Presentation of "Robin Hood" Scheduled for May 26 Called Off

According to an announcement made by the senior play committee the class play "Robin Hood" will not be given. Because of the resignation of Prof. R. E. Holcombe there was no one to direct the play and so it was abandoned.

The play was scheduled for Monday, May 26.

SIG EPS WIN RIFLE MATCH

Shoot 211 Out of Possible 225—Kappa Sigs Second

The Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity won the Panhellenic rifle match cup for the second successive time Saturday when it made 211 points out of a possible 225. The Kappa Sigma team placed second with a ranking of 204 points. The other six fraternities entered ranked as follows: Phi Kappa, 197; Delta Tau Delta, 196; Acacia, 195; Phi Sigma Kappa, 190; Pi Kappa Alpha, 188; Beta Theta Pi, 186.

Ten shots were made prone and 10 sitting. Sears, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Forrester, Delta Tau Delta, tied for individual honors but Sears was awarded the medal because his sitting score was higher; Drummond, Kappa Sigma, was third. Sears made 72 points out of a possible 75.

This is the third annual match. Delta Tau Delta won the cup the first year. The cup must be won for three successive years before it becomes a permanent award.

The men on the winning team were: R. E. Sears, 72; N. W. Turner, 70; and G. N. Young, 69.

BIG COMPANIES GET ENGINEERS

ELECTRIC AND MECHANICAL SENIORS HAVE GOOD POSITIONS

More Offers Have Been Received from Electric Firms Than Could Be Filled

Each year the electrical engineering department receive offers from many large electrical companies who are in need of college graduates to fill various positions. This year has been no exception and more offers have been received than could be filled. Practically all the men graduating from electrical engineering have positions with some large company.

Eight to General Electric

The following men will enter the employ of the General Electric company, at Schenectady, N. Y.: Earl G. Abbott, Bert Bivens, G. E. Buck, R. S. Yoder, G. H. Weckel, D. R. DeTar, C. K. Gibbons, and James Hume.

E. L. Misegades, C. J. Lydick and F. L. Werham will enter the employ of the same company at Fort Wayne, Ind. Seven men will be employed by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company at Pittsburgh, Pa. They are: R. E. Boroff, D. C. Bushey, V. O. Clements, J. M. Leonard, T. L. Weybrew, G. D. Linglebach, and A. E. Messenheimer. Boroff was graduated in February, 1924, and is now with the company, and Leonard, who will finish next February, will spend the summer with them.

The following men will enter the employ of the Bell Telephone system, in the manufacturing division with the Western Electric company at Chicago, or the engineering or operating division in St. Louis or Topeka, or the research division in New York City: E. E. Henderson, R. H. Peters, R. L. Smith, F. E. Wahlbridge, O. C. Wood, and G. A. Barber.

X-Ray Company Selects One

A. B. Haines will return to the Utah Power and Light company, where he spent last summer, and L. E. Jennings, I. R. Ward and V. N. Nass, who are juniors, will work for this company during vacation and return to college next fall. J. F. Swarner will go to the engineering department of the Wagner Electric company at St. Louis, and H. N. Williams will return to the Kansas Gas and Electric company at Wichita, where he was employed during 1922-23.

W. K. Lockhart is one of the fifteen men selected from over the United States, to be offered a position by the Union Switch and Signal company, to enter the field of Railroad Signal Manufacturing. O. F. Fulhage, is one of the 12 men selected by the National X-Ray company to be given training course in the manufacture of illumination appliances. M. J. Copeland, who graduated in February, entered the employ of the Commonwealth Edison company in their training course conducted by the Chicago Central Station Institute and P. M. Lucile Herr Chosen by R. O. T. C.—Three Honorary Majors

Lucile Herr, of Hutchinson, was chosen honorary colonel for the coming year as a result of the balloting of the R. O. T. C. Of the junior girls who were recently nominated by members of the class, Miss Herr won first place, with 225 votes. Laureda Thompson of Manhattan, with 212 votes, will be honorary major of the first battalion; Maxine Ransom of Downs, with 211 votes, will be honorary major of the second battalion; and Virginia Reader, with 122 votes, will be honorary major of the third battalion.

Honorary colonel for the coming year will have similar honors to those tendered Doris Riddell, honorary colonel during the past year. As honorary majors the three young women will act as sponsors of the three battalions.

According to Major C. A. Chapman of the military department, Doris Riddell will be presented with a sash, given her by the military department of the college.

A. S. M. E. Installs Officers

Recently installed officers of the student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at K. S. A. C. are: President, I. K. McWilliams, Girard; vice president, Fred Sheel, Earlton; secretary, Earnest Miller, Coffeyville; treasurer, R. P. Farquhar, Lawton, Okla.; departmental editor, H. D. Franklin, Hottelton.

Going into last of the ninth with Missouri on the long end of a 9 to 4 score yesterday afternoon, the Wildcats drove out 5 runs in the ninth, held the Tigers scoreless in the tenth, and won the game on Blehn's single with two on a one down. Karns pitched great ball in the last eight innings. The teams play again at 4 o'clock this afternoon. City park field.

The score by innings: R H E

CORNHUSKERS TAKE DUAL MEET BY 78-39 MARGIN

Aggies Account for Six Firsts but Are Short on Seconds—Nebraska Secures Nine Firsts and 11 Seconds

Lack of men to take second places cost the Kansas Aggie track team its third dual meet of the season against Nebraska university on the Lincoln field last Friday afternoon 78 to 39. The Wildcats took six firsts while the Cornhusker was accounting for nine, but only cut in for three seconds out of a possible 14.

Captain L. E. Erwin lowered the Valley 40 yard dash record from 21 seconds flat to 20 9-10 seconds, and equalled the Valley century dash mark in 9 4-5 seconds, being pushed by Locke in both races, the "Red top" winning by a scant six inches in the 220.

Kimplot left Gardner, one of the fastest milers in the Valley, behind in that event, hanging up the fast time of 49 2-5 seconds, which looks good for a victory in the Valley meet on the same track Saturday.

Roberts took first in the high hurdles when Weir knocked over too many and was disqualified. Brunkau tossed the javelin 155 feet 5 1/2 inches, which was enough to win, while Gartner showed a little of his real form in winning the discs at 126 feet 7 inches.

The summary:

100-yard dash—Won by Erwin, Kansas Aggies; second, Locke, Nebraska; third, Hein, Nebraska. Time 9 4-5 seconds.

160-yard dash—Won by Erwin, Kansas Aggies; second, Gardner, Nebraska; third, Ross, Nebraska. Time 4 minutes 29 2-5 seconds.

880-yard run—Won by Higgins, Nebraska; second, Doolen, Kansas Aggies. Time 2 minutes, 1.2 seconds.

Two-mile run—Won by Slemmons, Nebraska; second, Balzer, Kansas Aggies; third, Zimmerman, Nebraska. Time 10 minutes 10.6 seconds.

440-yard dash—Won by Crites, Nebraska; second, Layton, Nebraska; third, Knouse, Kansas Aggies. Time 50 seconds.

220-yard dash—Won by Erwin, Aggies; second, Locke, Nebraska; third, Hein, Nebraska. Time 21.9 seconds.

120-yard hurdles—Won by Roberts Aggies; second, Lear, Nebraska. Time 16 seconds. (Weir, Nebraska, finished first but was disqualified because he knocked down three hurdles.)

220-yard low hurdles—Won by Beehkle, Nebraska; second, Weir, Nebraska; third, Logan, Kansas Aggies. Time 25.2 seconds.

High jump—Won by Turner, Nebraska; second, Dishaus, Nebraska; height 6 feet 1 1/2 inches.

Broad jump—Won by Hatch, Nebraska; second, Rhoades, Nebraska; third, Bloodgood, Nebraska. Distance, 21 feet, 10 1/2 inches.

Pole vault—Won by Gleason, Nebraska; second, Carter, Aggies; third, Davis, Nebraska. Height, 12 feet, 3 3-4 inches.

Javelin throw—Won by Brunkau, Aggies; second, Hartman, Nebraska. Distance, 155 feet, 5 1/2 inches.

Shot put—Won by Hartman, Nebraska. Distance, 42 feet, 8 1/2 inches.

Discus throw—Won by Gartner, Kansas Aggies; second, Myers, Nebraska. Distance 126 feet, 7 inches.

1 mile relay—Won by Nebraska (Hein, Whipperman, Layton, Crites.) Time, 3 minutes, 26.4 seconds.

FRESHMAN GIRLS WIN TRACK MEET

FIRST YEAR COEDS ALSO TAKE TENNIS AND BASEBALL FINALS

Seniors Place Second and Juniors Third—May Fete Closes Day's Program

The freshman girls walked away with high honors Saturday at the first Women's day meet by winning the interclass track meet, tennis finals, and defeating the seniors in the championship baseball game with a score of 26 to 24.

Freshmen Win in Track

In the track meet which was held on the east campus at 10 o'clock the freshman girls placed first, the seniors second, and the juniors third. Individual placing was as follows: 50-yard dash—Marie Farmer, first; Alice Marston, second; Ida Conrow, third; low hurdles—first, Alice Marston, second, Inez Jones; third, Lillian Worcester; baseball throw—first, Lois Long, second; Ida Conrow, third; Mildred Strong; basketball throw—first, Merle Nelson; second, Amy Conrow; third, Merle Grinstead; javelin throw—first, Lois Long; second, Merle Nelson; third, Wilma Hotchkiss; high jump—first, Ida Conrow; second, Marie Perkins; third, Alice Marston; relay—first, sophomores; second, freshmen; third, seniors.

Inez Jones and Bernice Faley, freshmen, defeated Ruth Leonard and Lucia Blitz, seniors, in the final class tennis games. The individual championship in tennis has not as yet been decided but lies between Ruth Leonard and Lucia Blitz.

Seniors First in Archery

The members of the senior archery team placed first in scoring in the archery contest which was held Saturday afternoon. Points were seniors, 357; sophomores, 252; and freshmen, 195. Lucia Blitz, senior, and Lella Colwell sophomore, tied for individual championship with scores of 103 points each. Second place was won by Mamie Bruce, freshman, and Ruth Leonard placed third.

The May fete at 6 o'clock closed the Women's day program. The theme of the fete was the story of King Midas of Greece. More than 150 girls, enrolled in dancing classes, took part in the various dances. The solo parts were King, Mary D. Russell; Pan, Dorothy Rosebrough; Daughter, Doris Handlin; Stranger, Myrle Broberg; Heralds, Lois Glick and Frances Shepp.

Costumes Were Elaborate

The entire program was characterized by a smoothness and finish which has been too often lacking in past May fetes, and gave evidence that the dancers were particularly well trained. The costumes, too, were unusually elaborate, the harmonious and pleasing color combinations adding not a little to the success of the production.

Only a fair sized crowd witnessed the fete which was held on the east campus.

TWO COEDS TO ATTEND ESTES PARK CONFERENCE

Evelyn Colburn and Dorothy Rosebrough Are K. S. A. C. Representatives

Evelyn Colburn, president of the Y.W.C.A., and Dorothy Rosebrough, who is the undergraduate representative, will attend the summer conference of the Rocky Mountain region of the Y. W. C. A. which will be held during the month of August at Estes park.

The states included in this conference are Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Arkansas and New Mexico.

For the past two years K. S. A. C. has had the largest number of delegates at the conference; 10 delegates attended last summer and 16 attended the year before.

At the conference there are speeches by prominent persons, discussion meetings in which the problems of the day are discussed, and song fests around the camp fire in the evenings. A recreational leader is in charge of mountain trips and sports, of which tennis is the most popular. Those who attend the conference live in cabins and eat at the camp dining hall.

Anyone interested in attending the conference should see Ruth Bachelder, who is the chairman of the conference committee.

I do not like Miss Sally Jones,
Her prattle makes me weary,
With no regard for time or place
She always calls me "Dearly."

Another maid I do not love
Is Miss Selina Purley,
She still insists, whenever we meet,
On calling me as "Girle."

Artie Choke

"Jessie," we said to our room mate Saturday morning, "Jessie, how would it be for us to go down town and buy a new dress. Being a Senior and all, it doesn't seem hardly right not to buy something new. Don't you think a pink silk crepe de chine would suit our peculiar style of beauty—if any?"

Jessie agreeing, as she does once in a while when we catch her unaware, we hurried down to Manhattan's leading drygoods emporium.

"Something in pink silk crepe de chine," we said politely to the saleslady, who greeted us affectionately. "This way, dearie, I have just what you want in a blue French voile with tucks."

"You misunderstood. Haven't you any pink dresses?"

"Try this on, honey. Just your color, and worlds of style!"

"There, isn't that a perfect fit? Just needs a little shortening here"—she jerked it up 16 inches—"and tightening here"—she pulled the waist in seven inches—"and it looks like it was made for you, girle!"

We looked in the mirror. Then in a perfect calm level voice, we spoke.

"We have submitted to trying on this blue thing, much against our wishes, because you insisted. Now, will you kindly bring out a pink crepe de chine? You have two in the window."

The saleslady was hurt. Without a word she removed the blue voile, looked at us evenly, and there was the light of challenge in her eyes—in both her eyes. Very well, we would fight it out together!

"Something in pink crepe de chine!" The die was cast.

The saleslady was all smiles and endearing terms again. Little did we realize what an old hand she was at the game!

"Girle, we have just the thing for you! Came in yesterday, and worlds of style! You go to college, don't you—or do you work? It doesn't matter—wait a minute."

In less than a minute she returned with a brilliant red and green plaid. We were simply overcome.

"Is this pink crepe de chine?" we muttered feebly as the plaid settled over our head.

"Girle, this here dress was just made for you. There isn't that be-yoo-tiful? Charmaine, come in here and see how wonderful this here dress looks. Did you ever see anything like it?"

Charmaine never did. She went into raptures—almost into hysterics. She folded her hands and gazed heavenward. She touched the plaid gently and spoke to me low. "Girle, it has worlds of style!"

While Charmaine raptures and gloated over the beautiful plaid creation, the saleslady had gotten down on her knees. She was measuring the hem! Lost, irrevocably lost!

When she removed the plaid we made one last feeble attempt.

"Would you be willing to let me just look at a pink taffeta?"

"Dearly, which bank will you write a check on?"

Resignedly we wrote a check which would increase considerably the size of the overdraft. As in a daze, we took the box, stopping a moment to look with longing eyes at the beautiful pink dresses in the window.

LANDSCAPE GARDENING IS OFFERED NEXT SEMESTER

Will Lead to Degree of Bachelor of Science

A new course in landscape gardening, leading to the degree of bachelor of science in landscape architecture, will be introduced at K. S. A. C. next fall. The demand for more courses in this subject has arisen from an ever growing need for more landscape architects.

The K. S. A. C. campus contains one of the largest collection of trees, shrubs, and vines in the middle west and affords ample opportunity for a first hand acquaintance with woody plant materials. The college formal garden contains more than 500 different perennial flowering plants. This is used as a laboratory for identification and for instruction in practical gardening.

February, began work with the Consumer's Power and Light company at Jackson, Mich.

Good Chances for Advancement

One man, M. R. Wilson, will teach in a Kansas high school.

In all cases the men who are entering the employ of the various company's training courses, are paid nominal wages for the first year, starting at from $100 to $152 a month, with a definite promise of increases at the end of each six months and 12 months, from which time on they will be considered on the basis of regular employees and receive promotions as they are earned.

Mechanicals Get Special Training

Practically all of the men graduating mechanical engineering have secured employment. The salaries range from $105 to $125 per month. In the case of mechanical engineers the graduates are employed and placed in special training for a period of 15 weeks to two years preparing them for various duties they will later be called upon to perform.

In the department of mechanical engineering, N. J. Swenson, R. E. Jansen, and J. H. Tole have accepted employment with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company at Philadelphia, Pa. Wesley Nurfird, and F. Miller will go to the Empire companies at Bartlesville, Okla. H. K. Burns will probably be with the Denver Gas and Electric company and L. McCord will enter the service of the United States Army as second lieutenant, or go with the General Electric company at Schenectady, N. Y. L. B. Dial has a position in the test department of the Santa Fe railroad at Topeka. J. W. Wasson will enter the employment of the Western Electric company at Chicago, and C. E. Fogleman has an offer from the Waggoner Electric company located at St. Louis. Two men will finish at the end of summer school. They are G. R. Sawyer who will go to the Century Electric company at St. Louis, and W. H. Jury who will be employed by the Santa Fe railroad, at Topeka.

NORTHEAST HIGH BREAKS WORLD'S RELAY RECORD

Fifty High Schools Compete in Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Track Meet

One world record and six carnival records were broken in the third annual Missouri Valley Intercollegiate track meet on Aggie memorial stadium field Saturday.

An eight man team from Northeast high of Kansas City dropped the world's interscholastic record in the quarter mile relay from 45 4-10 to 45 1-10 seconds, incidentally breaking the American record of 45 6-10 seconds, ran away with the two mile and half mile relays, and placed second in the mile relay. Offutt, Northeast, tied for first in the high jump with Blake of Baldwin, and Johnson, Northeast, took the singles in tennis.

John Kuck, Wilson, was high point man with two first and a second, closely followed by Mutt Thornhill, Protection, with two seconds and a first. Kuck threw the javelin 185 feet 9 inches in a try for the world's record, which stands below 185 feet, but fouled, and on his next trial threw 183 feet 9 1/2 inches, setting a carnival record that should stand for some time.

Fifty of the 78 high schools entered arrived for competition. Every state represented took a first or second place, Iowa, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, and Nebraska sending teams.

Oskaloosa, Kan., turned the four mile relay into a joke by lapping Wellington and Sabetha twice.

Kuck of Wilson set two new carnival records, putting the 12-pound shot 55 feet 2 1/2 inches and throwing the javelin 183 feet, 9 1/2 inches. Titus, Harper high school, set a new mark for the 220-yard low hurdles at 26 3-5 seconds. Offutt, Northeast high school, Kansas City, Mo., and Blake, Baldwin high school, tied for a new mark in the high jump at 5 feet, 10 3-4 inches. Brickell, Wichita, holds the new broad jump record of 21 feet, 10 1/2 inches.

The summary:

Two-mile relay: won by Northeast, Kansas City, Mo.; (Koonse, Kirkpatrick, Lewandoski, Thelen); second, Guthrie Center, Ia.; third, Lawrence, Time, 8 mi. 47 5-10 sec. (New Carnival record.)

100-yard dash: won by Wilcox, Liberty, Mo.; Shaw, Winfield, second; Titus, Harper, third. Time, 10 4-10 sec.

440-yard run: won by Cooper, Saffordville; Smith, Holsington, second; Kellogg, Sedgwick, third. Time 52 2-10 seconds.

120-yard high hurdles special race: won by Riley, Illinois Athletic Club; Levi, Haskell, second; Kipp, Haskell, third. Time, 15 6-10 sec.

880-yard relay: won by Northeast, Kansas City, Mo.; (McDaniel, Daniels, DeMott, Henley); Winfield, second; Staffordville, third. Time, 1 mi 35 5-10 seconds.

220-yard low hurdles: won by Titus, Harper; Bourette, Maysville, Mo., second; Gartner, Manhattan, third. Time, 26 3-10 sec. (New Carnival record.)

Medley relay: won by Woodward, Okla.; (Innis, Laune, Sibel, Dudley); Florence, second; Junction City, third. Time, 8 mi. 5 3-10 sec.

880-yard run: won by Kleck, Wamego; Palmer, Concordia, second; Barret. Wichita, third. Time, 2 mi. 6 8-10 sec.

440-yard relay: won by Northeast, Kansas City, Mo.; (McDaniel, Daniels, DeMott, Henley); Manhattan, second; Beatrice, Nebr., third. Time, 45 1-10 sec. (New world's high school record.)

Special 100-yard dash between L. E. Erwin, Aggie track captain, and Elijah Smith, Haskell Institute. Won by Erwin. Time, 10 sec.

4-mile relay: won by Oskaloosa; (Wheeler, Barr, Langley, Bell); Wellington, second; Sabetha, third. Time, 20 mi. 57 2-10 sec.

One-mile relay: won by Woodward, Okla.; (Innis, Laune, Sibel, Dudley); Northeast, Kansas City, Mo.; second; Wamego, third. Time 40 5-10 sec. (New Carnival record.)

Pole vault: won by Howard, Chase County high; Klutz, Chase County, second; Craig, Osawatomie, third. Height, 11 feet 3 1/2 inches.

High jump: tie for first, Offutt, Northeast, Kansas City, Mo., and Blake, Baldwin; Young, Osawatomie, third. Height, 5 feet, 10 3-4 inches. (New Carnival record.)

EURODELPHIANS MEET HERE

K. S. A. C. Hostess to Literary Society Biennial Convention

Delegates from five colleges were here last week to attend the national biennial convention of the Eurodelphian literary society, May 15 to 17.

The following schools were represented: Kalamazoo college, Kalamazoo, Mich.; Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind.; Washington State college, Pullman, Wash.; Park college, Parkville, Mo.; and K. S. A. C.

The first chapter of Eurodelphian literary society was established at this college in 1904 and together with a society at Purdue university, was granted a national charter in 1920. Since then the organization has made a steady expansion. Miss Beatrice Ann Weber, retiring national president, for the two years of her office has done much to further the growth of Eurodelphian.

Officers for the coming two years are as follows: President, Kathryn Fowler, Washington; vice-president, Pearl Sellers, Purdue; treasurer, Alice Mustard, Washington, formerly of K. S. A. C.; secretary, Aileen Radkey, Kalamazoo; editor, Genevieve Tracy, K. S. A. C.; historian, Gladys McClave, Park college.

The convention in 1926 will be held at Kalamazoo, Mich.

LETTERS ARE AWARDED TO K. S. A. C. SWIMMING TEAM

Six Men Are Permitted to Wear the K

Letters to members of the K. S. A. C. swimming team were awarded at a meeting of the athletic board last week. The following men received letters: Burt Colburn, J. T. Mackay, P. R. Carter, Paul Stuenkel, L. C. Miller, C. W. Schemm.

The swimming team has made a very favorable showing this year, according to Prof. M. F. Ahearn, winning from Ames and Nebraska, and placing second in the Missouri valley swimming meet at St. Louis.

ACACIAS WIN INTRAMURAL BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Final Game Wednesday Is Pitchers' Battle

The Acacia baseball team won the championship of the Panhellenic division of the intramural baseball league by defeating the Sigma Nus 2 to 0 in a six inning game Wednesday afternoon.

The contest was a pitchers' battle between Umbarger, Acacia, and Barclay, Sigma Nu. Umbarger struck out 10 men and turned in a no hit game, while Barclay struck out five and was bounced for three singles and a double.

Several feature plays made the game interesting from the spectators' standpoint. Stark dragged down a Texas leaguer back of second for the third out in the fourth inning, while McWilliams and Touben kept Umbarger's record clean by fielding a couple of hard chances.

SCATTER SMILES AS YOU GO

Do you know, boys, that if you start out in the morning and proceed to live after the GOLDEN RULE throughout the day you are sure to leave a trail of happiness, cheer and good will behind you wherever you go?

Every good deed, be it great or small, must leave its good impression, and, after all, we must admit, that in general, it is the little things that put the smiles in life and help so much to smooth over the rough spots on the journey through.

Every day brings its opportunities to SCATTER SMILES ALONG THE PATHWAY, to add some of joy and happiness to somebody's home and somebody's existence. And, speaking of the Golden Rule, we have been in towns where they seemed to have that thing all twisted backwards. Their conception of it seemed to read "DO THE OTHER FELLOW BEFORE HE DOES YOU." Can you imagine what sort of a town that would be to spend your life in?

Study the comparison; the right way means to spread joy, to radiate happiness, to prove by right living that it is easy to enjoy PEACE ON EARTH if we go about it as we should; the wrong way means to spread misery and unhappiness, to foster malice and hate, to live in an atmosphere of greed and selfishness.

That sort of a community never gets anywhere until a few second class funerals or an invitation to "move on" clears out the garbage, and the wide-awake decent element takes the steering wheel.

In general, the homes of Manhattan are homes of comfort. The exceptions are probably due to lack of financial income necessary for the needs of living. What is the remedy for the latter condition? Simply that it is the duty of every good citizen to aid, as far as we can, in bringing about commercial and industrial conditions that will make for more and better employment for those who need it. This can be accomplished, in a large measure, by patronizing local industries and keeping community finances within ourselves. Even though you, as a student, consider yourself but a temporary resident of Manhattan, you will have done only your duty by joining wholeheartedly in this movement, and if you learn the lesson of Civic Patriotism and Loyalty while you are here, you can but benefit by it when you have gone out into the big world to fight life's battle.

BOTH PREACH AND PRACTICE HOME LOYALTY and it will mean just so much towards supplying employment, prosperity and contentment. You will profit yourself by helping to create conditions which make for prosperity. You will have done your bit for your community and aided materially in its progress when you have set your foot down against buying anything elsewhere; against sending or spending your money in some other community. And, anyhow, there must surely be a lot of satisfaction in knowing that you are doing your civic duty towards the City and have justly earned the reputation of being a REAL BOOSTER.

To tell you the honest truth, you really cannot afford to send or spend your money any place but in Manhattan even if prices offered elsewhere seem more attractive, for when you do this you are helping just that much to knock the supporting props from under property values here, helping to weaken the structure that supports and is the home of your Alma Mater, and denying just that much of happiness and cheer to those who can and do enjoy those things when "times are good," as the saying goes.

It has been said that Community Patriotism finds its outlet indirectly in all phases of life; that it strengthens our banks, promotes our manufacturing interests, creates jobs for our working people, encourages development and assists in everything that goes to make a city commercially great, socially attractive and widely known.

ENERGY, INTELLIGENCE, LOYALTY. These are the chief human contributions in the creation of a city worth while, and the greatest of these is LOYALTY. Cultivate loyalty. Loyalty to your friends, your associates, your colleagues, your officials and your merchants.

AND THE RESULT WILL SPELL SATISFACTION.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR SENIOR WEEK

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL GRADUATION EXERCISES THIS EVENING

Dr. Ira M. Hargett is Baccalaureate Speaker, and Dr. Edward C. Elliott Will Deliver Commencement Address

Commencement week activities will swing into full motion tonight beginning with the vocational school commencement in Recreation center, at 8 o'clock. J. C. Mohler, secretary of the Kansas state board of agriculture, will deliver the address to this, the last class to be graduated from the vocational school.

Baccalaureate Sunday Afternoon

Dr. Ira M. Hargett, pastor of the Grand Avenue Temple, Kansas City, Mo., will deliver the baccalaureate sermon Sunday, at 4 o'clock in the auditorium. The complete program, as announced by Dr. J. E. Kammeyer, is as follows:

"Coronation March," (Meyerbeer), "Prayer," (Cesar Franck), college orchestra; hymn "Lead Kindly Light" (Newman), audience; invocation, Dr. George H. Parkinson, pastor, Methodist Episcopal church; scripture reading, Matthew V:1-12; "Listen to the Lambs," (Dett), college glee clubs; sermon, "God and Radio," Rev. Ira Mason Hargett, D. D.; "Doxology," audience; benediction.

March in Academic Procession

A pamphlet of complete instructions, prepared by Doctor Kammeyer, has been mailed to every senior and faculty member. It is requested that the seniors form in their various divisional headquarters and march in academic procession to the auditorium.

The faculty will not participate in the procession on Sunday, but at the commencement exercises on May 29, both faculty members and seniors will unite to form the procession. In case of inclement weather the procession will not take place, but the seniors will go directly to the assigned seats in the auditorium.

Senior Chapel Wednesday

Wednesday, May 28, is the big day for seniors and alumni. At 11 o'clock the senior class will hold its last assembly exercises. The program will consist of the president's speech, by John H. Tole, Independence; the reading of the class prophecy by Josephine Hemphill, Clay Center; music by Lavina Waugh, pianist, Orpha Russel, soprano, and a chorus of 16 seniors.

At 2 o'clock the alumni business meeting will be held in Recreation center. At 4:30 President W. M. Jardine will hold a reception for alumni and former students at his home on the lower campus, and at 6 o'clock the alumni-senior banquet will be held in Nichols gymnasium.

Banquet Wednesday Evening

More than 200 seniors and 50 out of town alumni have signified their intention of being present at this (Continued on page 4)

OBJECTIVE TESTS FOUND TO BE MOST RELIABLE

Scores in Subjective Quizzes Vary Greatly with Instructors—Differences from M to E in Grade Scale

Results of experiments regarding the comparative value of subjective and objective examinations in their various forms for measuring the achievements of students were reported at the faculty meeting this week by various members of the faculty of general science. The experiment was carried on during the final examinations of last semester.

Six departments of the college cooperated in the experiment, each giving subjective and objective examinations upon the same material. The subjective tests were scored by five competent judges of the department in which the test was given. The five scores were then averaged and this pooled score was taken as the basis of comparison. The examinations were too few and too short to give conclusive results and the so-called subjective tests were largely objective in character. However certain conclusions could be tentatively drawn from the experiment.

In general the results favored the subjective tests in chemistry where five teachers worked in close cooperation and subjective tests are largely objective in nature and in other departments in which objective tests were given only a fraction of the time allowed for the subjective. However in psychology where subjective tests were really subjective and the same amount of time given to each kind, objective tests were found to be the more reliable measures of the achievements of students. This was true even when the criterion of value was the combined judgments of the five examiners upon the subjective examinations. That the subjective test grades are extremely unreliable Professor Peterson indicated by the following facts.

The average difference between grades given the same paper by different examiners was 11.9 per cent in history, 4.27 per cent in chemistry, 11 per cent in psychology and 11 per cent in physics. It was observed that the average difference of grades assigned the same paper by different examiners was equal to 1 1/2 steps in our grade scale, or a difference equal to that between F and M or between M and E. The average difference between the highest and lowest grade given to the same paper by different examiners was 26.1 per cent in history, 22 per cent in psychology and 8.84 per cent in chemistry.

MISSOURI VICTORIOUS IN SECOND GAME 7-5

Aggies Fail to Duplicate Winning Rally of Monday in Tuesday's Game

After battling through to a tenth inning victory in the opening game with Missouri Monday afternoon, the Aggie baseball team tried to duplicate in Tuesday's game, but fell short by two runs, the final score being 5 to 7. Missouri bumped Conroy, the Aggie ace, rather hard in the early innings, and were ahead 3 to 1 when the seventh rolled around.

In that stanza the Tigers tried to ice the game by driving over two more tallies but the Aggies duplicated with a pair. In the home half of the eighth the crowd began to beg for a rally, and the team responded by tying the score, a smash by Harter acting in the role of pinch hitter being the main factor.

Prospects for an extra inning game looked exceedingly bright when Conroy worked two strikes over on Denny with two gone. Conroy patted Denny in the ribs with a wild pitch on his next throw, however, and Greathouse slammed out a line single that scored the winning run and one to spare.

Swartz raised Wildcat hopes by singling and Harter came up, but was a little too anxious to emulate his feat of the eighth, and nearly knocked the second baseman over with a drive that went for a double play. Blehn fanned, and the Tigers went home with their first victory in four starts.

TO PLAY FOR FIFTH PLACE

Games Today and Tomorrow Will Decide Sooner Championship

With fifth place in Valley standings at stake for the Aggies and the leadership of the Valley for Oklahoma, the Sooners and Wildcats will open a two game series this afternoon on City park field.

The Aggies will be out for revenge for the two beatings Oklahoma gave them down at Norman in the season's opener. Henry Karns, who was defeated in the first Oklahoma game, probably will get a chance to retaliate in today's game after the remarkable game he pitched to win from Missouri Monday. Bernard Conroy is due for the second game, though Vohs or Cunningham may get a chance in one of the two battles.

If Karns does not pitch he will be out in Alkin's position in left field, with "Squirrel" Barth in center and Huey, Munn, or Harter in right field. The remainder of the line up will be as usual with Blehn receiving, R. Karns in short, Ernst on third, Staley, second, and Swartz, first.

The entire team played a brand of ball in Tuesday's game that deserved a better fate.

K. S. A. C. PLACES FIFTEENTH IN HEARST RIFLE COMPETITION

Minnesota Is First—103 Schools Compete

K. S. A. C. placed fifteenth among the 103 teams from colleges and universities which competed for the William Randolph Hearst senior R. O. T. C. rifle trophy.

The team score of Kansas Aggies was 1,857 out of a possible 2,000; the individual score was 376 out of a possible 400. Then university of Minnesota placed first with a team score of 1,932. The University of Missouri placed sixth, the University of Kansas fortieth, Nebraska placed forty-fourth, and Oklahoma A. and M. placed fifty-seventh.

The university and college rifle trophy is one of the three offered by Mr. Hearst to the R. O. T. C. units; the other two are the junior national championship, and the military academy championship. Each trophy must be won three consecutive years to be retained permanently by any institution.

The teams are made up of seven men, the scores of the five highest being counted for the rating. A gold medal goes to each team member in addition to similar medal to the individual champion irrespective of his unit's final rating.

The University of South Dakota received the honor of having the highest individual score. T. Kleinsasser of the institution made 397 points out of a possible 400.

Miss Polson to Edit Paper

Miss Izil Polson, assistant professor in journalism, who is now getting her master's degree at Northwestern, has been elected editor of the daily paper that appears for five days during the Delta Zeta national convention, which will be held at Evanston, Ill., June 23-28. Miss Polson will resume her work at K. S. A. C. July 1.

FACULTY MEN TO GIVE COMMENCEMENT SPEECHES

Plan to Reach Over 20,000 Persons During Two Weeks from May 11 to May 28

Over 20,000 persons over the state will be reached, it is estimated, by the faculty members who will deliver high school commencement addresses to practically 70 audiences during the two weeks from May 11 to May 28.

Every one of the 28 available men addressed some graduating class on the evening of May 15. Most of the speakers have been placed in the territory north and west of Manhattan. Dr. R. K. Nabours, who will go to St. Francis in Cheyenne county, the northeast county of the state, will travel the greatest distance.

Circulars containing the names of speakers available for a limited number of addresses and the names of the addresses which they would deliver were sent out by the department of home study and most of the dates have been arranged under the supervision of George Gemmel, head of the department.

President W. M. Jardine will deliver two addresses, one at Cottonwood Falls and one at Kansas City, Kan. Other members of the faculty who will give from one to six speeches each are:

Prof. T. J. Anderson, Dr. W. H. Andrews, Prof. P. P. Brainard, Major C. A. Chapman, Prof. N. A. Crawford, Prof. H. W. Davis, Dean F. D. Farrell, Prof. J. O. Faulkner, Prof. R. M. Green, Prof. W. E. GIRLS' LOYALTY LEAGUE DISBANDED

WORK ASSUMED BY XIX AND WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Balance in Treasury to Be Presented to Stadium Fund—G. L. L. Was Organized in 1918

The Girl's Loyalty league is to be disbanded at the close of this semester, according to an announcement made by the members of the present council. The members of the council and faculty advisors have decided that the work done by the members of the Loyalty league can be carried on just as effectively by other organizations on the campus. The Women's Athletic association has voted to take charge of all pep work for the football games in the future, and XIX will sponsor the annual freshman spread which is given by members of the sophomore class.

Money Presented to Stadium

The financial statement of the league shows a balance of $107.57. It has been decided to present $87.57 of the balance to the stadium fund and the remaining $20 will be held to back freshman spread in the future.

The Girl's Loyalty league was organized in 1918 by Elizabeth Cirle and Marcia Seiber, seniors, who saw a need for such an organization at that time. The following officers were elected: president, secretary-treasurer, representative from each class, and a faculty advisor. The purpose of the junior and senior representatives was to work in cooperation with the Wampus Cats in promoting pep and interest in all football games and other activities. The sophomore representative was to have charge of the annual freshman spread.

Ruth Leonard Last President

Officers on the council for the past year were: president, Ruth Leonard; senior representative, Lanora Russell; junior representative, Laureda Thompson; sophomore representative, Genevieve Tracy; secretary and treasurer, Virginia Deal; faculty advisor, Grace Derby.

S. S. G. A. Council Elects

The following officers were elected at the meeting of the S. S. G. A. council Thursday evening: Margaret Corby, secretary; Christiana Ruth, treasurer; Harold Gillman, chairman of discipline committee; Mary Lee Keith, chairman of calendar committee; Bruce Pratt, chairman of social committee, and E. R. Lord, temporary chairman of pep committee. Jerry Dowd and Harold Gillman gave their reports on the Midwest student conference which was held at Knoxville, Tenn., a short time ago.

MAJOR CHAPMAN IS TRANSFERRED

Will Go to Fort Monroe, Virginia—Captain Norris to Honolulu

Major C. A. Chapman, who has been for the past four years head of the military department, will leave at the end of this year to enter service at Fort Monroe, Va. Lieutenant Colonel F. W. Bugbee, who is now at School at Fort Leavenworth, and Lieutenant Colonel Robert E. McBride, have been appointed by the war department to succeed Major Chapman and the appointment has been approved by President Jardine. Lieutenant Colonel Bugbee will be in charge of military science and tactics, and Lieutenant Colonel McBride of artillery.

Captain Don Norris of the military department has also been transferred and will sail August 2 for Honolulu. As yet no one has been appointed to fill this vacancy.

Buck; assistant business manager, E. C. Kuhlman; circulation manager, E. E. Howard; assistant circulation manager, H. A. Carmean; alumni editor, Lawrence Bradley; treasurer, C. W. Eshbaugh.

Ambitions of Costume Design Instructors Result in Art Room

The costume design instructors have finally revolted against the bareness of their surroundings and hung pictures upon the dirty gray walls of L51.

The room, when they first took it, would have discouraged any budding genius. An unimaginative row of lockers filled the front of the room. A dusty Winged Victory posed precariously on top of the lockers. Water for painting has to be brought in buckets—it was like carrying water for horses.

Gradually they prevailed upon the powers above to remove some of the most offensive features and add some of the most needed equipment. The gaunt lockers were banished to the locker room. The Winged Victory came down from her perch, was dusted and placed upon a more suitable pedestal. Beaver board was put in along the front of the room for mounting drawings. Water and a sink were installed so the buckets were relegated to a dark cupboard.

The latest improvement is the hanging of framed Japanese prints and silhouettes of historic costumes. The prints are in the soft, subtle colors, characteristic of Japanese art. The silhouettes are in black and white.

The ambitions of the costume design instructors do not end there. Magazine racks, a coat of paint for the walls, and more pictures are among the things they hope to achieve next year.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUBS REPRESENT 43 COUNTIES

Winners of Contest Will Be Announced at Banquet Tonight—300 Attend Round-Up

At the banquet for the Boys' and Girls' Club Round-Up tonight the prize winners of the demonstration team contest winners will be announced along with the winners of the other contests that are open for members of the boys' and girls' clubs. The finals in the agricultural demonstration team contest and the home economics demonstration team contest were held this afternoon.

There have been 300 boys and girls here this week for the club rally representing 43 counties. The largest delegation is from Lyon county, which is represented by 43 club members.

There will be a silver cup awarded to the club traveling the longest distance with the largest delegation and staying the entire time. Meade county club traveled 300 miles in trucks with 35 members and have stayed the full time of the rally. There seems to be no question as to where the cup will go with this fact in mind. The Meade county club members are here under the joint direction of C. S. Merydith, county agent, and Caroline Kessler, home demonstration agent.

Lieutenant Governor Paulen, who was recently elected president of the Kansas Bankers' association, is expected to be here to talk to the club members this afternoon. Mr. Paulen has been interested in the work that is being done through the boys' and girls' clubs. He contributed $750 to the work last year.

The program for the clubs has consisted of instructional work by faculty members of the college in the mornings, and club work and demonstration team contests in the afternoon, with the nights left for the entertainment side of the program. Thursday night was "stunt night" and each delegation had a stunt to present for the amusement of the others.

Miss Ina Cowles, instructor in textiles, will leave next week for her home in Lawrence. From there she will go east and expects to sail for South Hampton, England, June 18.

PREDICT FAST VALLEY MEET

DOPE EXPERTS RETICENT AS TO OUTCOME, HOWEVER

Aggies Hope for Two Firsts and Eight or 10 Points in Seconds, Thirds, and Fourths

What place the Kansas Aggie track team will take in the Missouri valley meet at Nebraska today and tomorrow is a problem. If around 20 points will put any one team in second or third place, as is usually the case in the Valley outdoor, the Aggies will place that high, as Aggie men should be good for 15 points with two firsts and eight or 10 points more in seconds, thirds, and fourths.

Erwin Good for Two Firsts

Captain L. E. Erwin should have no trouble in winning the 100 and 220 yard dashes, as he equalled the valley century record on the Nebraska track last Saturday and beat the old 220 record of 21 seconds flat by a tenth of a second. Locke, Nebraska, was leading him until the finish of the 220, and lost by less than a foot margin, which forecasts a mighty sweet race when the pair meet again, as the Nebraska sophomore star has the idea that he can be just a little faster than "Red" over the 220 route.

Ralph Kimport, Norton, is a possible Aggie first in the mile, although Bierbaum of Ames appears to be the fastest outdoor miler in the valley at present and McIntyre, also of Ames, is not entirely out of the reckoning. Capps of Washington and Pittenger of Missouri are another fast pair in the mile. Pittenger won the indoor mile this spring, Bierbaum finishing second and Kimport third. Kimport turned the tables in the Aggie-Missouri dual by outrunning Pittenger. It is possible that the Tiger may enter in only the half. Kimport may stand a chance of placing in the half as well as the mile, though Erwin is about the only sure two event performer on the Aggie team.

Discus Conceded to Missouri

John "Gat" Gartner may do anything in the discus from a first to a failure to place, although he will scarcely do better than second with Richardson of Missouri throwing above 138 feet in almost every meet this year. Gartner took first from Broady of Kansas by a half inch in the Kansas-Aggie dual, failed to even place second against Missouri, and came back for a first from Nebraska.

P. R. Carter, Bradford, can clear 11 feet 6 inches in the pole vault consistently, and 11 feet 9 inches occasionally, which may give him a fourth place in the valley meet.

Smith, Kansas, seems to be the most consistent javelin thrower the Aggies have faced so far. Hartman, Nebraska, beat Smith in the Nebraska-Kansas dual with a toss of 169 feet, but lost to Brunkau of the Aggies a week later on a throw of less than 156 feet.

The greatest hope of the Wildcats lies in the fact that Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri are almost equally strong in the events in which the Aggies are weak, and consequently should split up the points pretty well.

Poor and Graham of Kansas seem to be strongest in their events, while Nebraska has shown the best all around team in dual meets so far this year.

Munn and Brunkau, shot and javelin men, Balzer, two miler, Knause, quarter miler, and Doolen in the half may any one step in for a third or fourth. Balzar's greatest asset is his "staying power" and his greatest drawback a lack of sprinting power on the finish, which cost him his race against Nebraska and Missouri in the last half lap.

Outcome Problematical

Although advance dope is highly uncertain and extremely susceptible to upsets, Nebraska looks like a winner in the meet at present. The rest of the field seems pretty well bunched. The Aggies have all the better of the argument in the dashes, while Kansas has the jumps practically cinched. The Huskers and Washington may have to battle it out in the pole vault unless Iowa entries spring something. Missouri's ability to take away a second or possibly a first place depends largely on the eligibility of Keeble, which would give the Tigers the edge in the hurdles, weights, and the half. Ames can be pretty well counted on in the mile, and usually is in the running for first in the two mile, half, and quarter, while Drake, Grinnell, and Oklahoma are unknown quantities from a local standpoint.

WORTH RETURNING FOR

It used to be the case that loyal alumni of every college returned to their alma mater at commencement time. Now they return for a homecoming football game in the fall. The latter has certain advantages. The college is in session. The student body is all on the ground. There is the zest of combat with a rival institution. The weather often has the snap and tang of autumn.

Nevertheless, commencement time should not be neglected. It has its advantages, and they are many and fine. At commencement there is about the college that air of leisure which for generations has been associated with academic life—an air which is worth bringing back into one's busy life, if only for a few days or even hours. It is true that the zest of a football game is lacking, but likewise there is absent the often nerve-racking strain of the game. At commencement the campus is at its best. Its beauties, which the alumnus dreams about during his absence from it, are realized before him. There is opportunity for long talks with other graduates and with members of the faculty. Above all, there is the living picture of young life going out from the college to try to make society a little better—a picture that has grown dim to many an alumnus in his years away from the institution. These are things that can be found at no other time than commencement, and they are worth returning for.

WHAT IS "PROFESSIONAL?"

Kansas City hospitals are in a row over rules that nurses in their training schools shall not bob their hair. The superintendents, a news story states, regard bobbed hair as "unprofessional." Thus long hair for nurses goes into the ancient category of long hair and flowing ties for poets, Van Dyke beards for physicians, Prince Albert coats for lawyers, slouch hats for politicians, and diamond shirt studs for gamblers.

The members of these vocations have mostly abandoned their "professional" adornments, and find that they can accomplish just as much without them. In the course of time the superintendents of the hospitals may find that long hair is not essential to success in nursing. They may even reach the conclusion that brains are about the best professional assets one can possess. Though possibly such a conclusion is too much to expect.

SIDNEY WICKS IS SPEAKER AT JOURNALISM SEMINAR
Editor of Manchester Guardian Visualizes Ideal Newspaper

"The newspaper of the future will give a general background of culture and interpret the significance of the news rather than give the news itself," declared Sidney P. Wicks, one of the editors of the Manchester Guardian, the most influential paper in the world, in a recent address to the students of journalism. Mr. Wicks visualized the ideal newspaper of the future in which murder and divorce news will be minimized, and the papers will be edited by men and women of outstanding intelligence.

"It has been proved that the modern newspapers have no influence in politics, either in America or other countries," he said. "Sensationalism and the restlessness that comes with it, and the propaganda of the newspapers are largely the cause of this."

"The healthiness of the nation's futures depends in a large measure on the newspaper," he commented. "The papers should get back to a clean, formative influence. Journalism is a career for a person with ideals. The profession is not so much one of technique as an attitude of mind."

CORNHUSKERS CONFIDENT OF M. V. CHAMPIONSHIP

Pleased with Victory Over K. U.—
Ray Watson to Run Special Race

Nebraska's chances for a fourth consecutive Missouri Valley championship was boosted considerably when the Cornhusker cinder path artists ran aways from the Kansas Jayhawkers in their dual meet at Lawrence by a 90 to 41 count.

This is one of the most decisive defeats the Cornhusker school has ever administered to their old time foe and Coach "Indian" Schulte is more than pleased with the showing of his proteges. With the annual Missouri Valley Championships only two weeks away, the Huskers will be down to hard work every day in preparation for another championship.

That Jole Ray and Ray Watson, two of the fleetest middle distance runners in America, will appear at the Missouri Valley Conference championships in a special half mile race has been assured and this will be only one of the many special attractions that will be offered the public. Both of these men are running under the colors of the Illinois Athletic club and are almost certain to be representatives on the United States Olympic track team that goes to Paris this summer.

Entries are already coming in from the Valley schools and when the starter's gun barks for the event May 24 it is expected that some of the greatest athletes of the middle west and country will get into competition. Tom Poor, the Kansas entry in the high jump, has predicted that he will break the present Missouri Valley high jump record. Poor could do no better than 6 feet 1 inch in the dual meet with the Cornhuskers and was forced to accept a tie for first place with Turner of Nebraska.

With the great military spectacle scheduled for Friday and Saturday, May 23 and 24, and the Missouri Valley championships on Saturday, May 24, too, Nebraska expects to entertain the greatest gathering of athletic enthusiasts the stadium has ever seated.

"We strive to please"

The Jack o' Lantern suggests the following six prominent Americans as presidential possibilities: H. L. Mencken, Calvin Coolidge, William Randolph Hearst, Hiram Johnson, Edgar A. Guest, W. L. Douglas, and Dr. Frank Crane. After careful study of the matter we have decided that Dr. Frank Crane is the only logical candidate, and take pleasure in quoting what Jack o' Lantern has to say in his defense:

"There are six good reasons why we should elect Dr. Frankie Crane president.

"(First) He was born on Christmas morning.

"(Twice) He has no parents living to be photographed by the Sunday supplements.

"(Three) He is a prophylactic author of no mean ability. Dr. Frank's daily articles appear twice a week in every daily paper this side of Sioux City and back.

"(Four) He is subject to train sickness and cannot travel.

"(Five) If made president, he would be forced to abandon his literary pursuits.

"(Six) He is the nation's only optimist, and gets away with it. He makes Pollyanna look like Schopenhauer with a grouch.

"For these ten reasons we firmly believe and maintain that Frank should be elected Pres. Besides, he was born on Christmas morning."

"Louise I cannot have you reading novels on Sunday."

"But, grandma, this one is all right. It is all about a girl who was engaged to three Episcopal clergymen, all at once."

Close Schedule with Defeat

The Aggie tennis schedule was completed Tuesday afternoon when Washburn defeated the Aggies 2-1 in a three point match. Rankin playing a heady game defeated Chase, Washburn, 6-2, 6-2. Healea was defeated after a heated first set by Couts, Washburn, 7-5, 6-1.

The doubles furnished the excitement for the afternoon. The first set was taken by the Washburn pair, 6-4. The second set started fast and every man won his serve for 22 games when the Aggies dropped two games straight for a 13-11 count, giving the match to Washburn.

TWO SENIORS GIVE RECITALS

Bernice Hedge and Orpha Russell Present Graduating Programs

On Monday, May 19, and Tuesday, May 20, the department of music at K. S. A. C. under the direction of Prof. Ira Pratt presented Bernice Hedge and Orpha Russell in their senior recitals in voice. Miss Russell is a four year student at K.S.A.C. and studied under Prof. Ira Pratt. Miss Hedge has taken only two years of her work here, studying this year under Prof. L. R. Putnam.

Miss Hedge's recital consisted of four groups. The first group contained, "Se tu m'ami se sospiri," by Pergolesi, "No Blade of Grass Can Flourish," by Bach, "Passing By," by Purcell, "L'Heure exquise," by Poldowski and "Ouvre tes yeux bleus," by Massenet. The second group consisted of a selection by Mozart, "Voi Che sapete 'Nozze di Figaro.'" The third group was by Cowen and contained Recitative, "O, Peaceful Night" and Aria, "Say, What Dost Thou Bear." In her last group of light songs Miss Hedge was particularly pleasing as the group was well adapted to a light soprano voice. The songs were "Sheep and Lambs," by Sidney Homer, "Swinging," by Foster, "Black Bird Song," by Cyril Scott, and "The Meadow Lark," by Abbie Gerrish-Jones.

Miss Russell's first group, consisting of three numbers by Bach, was very unusual and effective. The songs, "O Saviour Mine," "Come, Let Us All Day," and "Be Thou Contented," were very well presented. Her second group consisted of "Whither," by Schubert, "Songs My Mother Taught Me," by Cvorak, and "To be Sung on the Water," by Schubert.

The third group of French numbers was perhaps Miss Russell's best. Particularly fine was "Si mes vers avaient des ailes," by Hahn. The other numbers in the group were "Bonne Nuit," by Massenet and "L'Oiselet," by Chopin. Her last group contained "My Heart is a Lute," by Marum, "I Love Thee," by Grieg and "Orpheus with his Lute," by Sullivan.

Miss Russell has very fine tone quality and true intonation. Her musicianship is excellent and the interpretation of all the numbers showed an intelligent appreciation of the moods of the songs.

DELTA PHI Upsilon HOLDS INITIATION FOR 10 STUDENTS

Offers $25 Prize to High Junior in Rural Commerce

Delta Phi Upsilon, men's professional commerce fraternity, initiated the following men at the meeting Tuesday night: W. H. Newheart, J. F. Allen, Eric Tebow, Frank D. Anderson, C. W. Londerholm, H. E. Brown, Theodore Potter, Harry Lutz, Fritz Koch, and Albert H. Bachelor.

At last week's meeting the following officers were elected for next year: president, Cecil R. Prose; vice president, Donald A. Shields; secretary, E. R. Lord; treasurer, H. R. Wilson.

At this meeting it was decided that a prize of $25 in cash would be given as a Delta Phi Upsilon award to the junior man or woman attaining the highest scholastic average in three years of college work in the curriculum of rural commerce at the Kansas State Agricultural college. Additional information concerning the prize may be had from Dr. J. E. Kammerer.

Children to Give Recital

The closing recital of the year for the children who are taking music is announced by the department of music for 2 o'clock Saturday at the college auditorium.

The children's piano classes include about 40 boys and girls between the ages of five and 15. The work is under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Brown and Miss Mildred Thornburg. Anyone who is interested is invited to attend. Miss Brown is very anxious that the recital be well attended.

INTERESTING PLACES ON ROUTE TO SUMMER CAMPS

Much Besides Drill for Student Officers—Coast Artillery at Fort Monroe

"We are not only going to learn how to do squads right and left at camp this summer," say the boys who are going to the coast artillery camp at Fort Monroe, Virginia, this summer. "Besides the training we get at camp we get a fine trip with stop over privileges at the most important points. Camp life is not as bad as it sounds, either."

The route which will be taken by the men going to Fort Monroe this summer is one which is worth the time spent in the camp itself, according to some of the men who have been there before. This year it is even more attractive.

From Kansas City they go to St. Louis. From there by way of the Baltimore and Ohio lines they will go through Cincinnati, Chillicothe, where Camp Sherman is situated, Cumberland, Md., and Harper's Ferry, W. Va., which is famous as the place where the first battle of the Civil War was fought. Washington, D. C. is the next point of interest. From Baltimore, the Chesapeake Steamship company furnishes a means of transportation to Old Point Comfort and Fort Monroe.

Those who have their tickets made out to Fort Monroe, or Norfolk, have until August 31 to use that ticket. Many will take tickets to New York and these have 60 day privileges. Those going on to New York take the Old Dominion Steamship Line to that city. From that point they go to Schenectady, N. Y. Since the artillery corps is composed of engineers most of them will spend some time looking over the General Electric company and other objects of interest to men of their profession.

The route from there goes through Buffalo where many will be interested in the immense power plants. Then it takes the travelers to Niagara Falls, through Canada touching at Windsor, Ontario, and then to Detroit, Chicago, and back to Kansas City.

The men who will go to the Coast Artillery camp from the K. S. A. C. corps are E. L. Brady, John Brightman, Kirney Bunker, Edgar Bush, A. B. Cash, R. B. Chilcott, C. B. Diefendorf, C. W. Eshbaugh, B. W. Friedel, H. L. Gilman, F. W. Hanson, E. E. Howard, H. E. Jung, A. W. Kimball, F. F. Kimball, R. E. Machin, A. W. Marshall, E. E. Meils, Ernest Miller, Wayne McKibben, I. K. McWilliams, I. L. Patterson, A. H. Pfeiffer, Bruce Pratt, H. V. Rathbun, L. H. Schutte, G. O. Schwandt, P. A. Shepherd, D. C. Taylor, E. T. Van Rankin, Aubrey J. Webber, T. E. Wiebrecht, Capt. L. E. Spencer, and Sergt. R. O. Paquette.

Novel means of getting to camp are often used. It is rumored that several of the men are fixing up an old Ford in the hopes that its reputation will carry it through to the destination. Often some of the men start out walking. They ride most of the way however because some kind hearted person almost always picks them up with a car before they go very far.

Deliver Commencement Addresses

Prof. H. A. Shinn of the department of public speaking delivered the commencement address at Claiborne and at Alma. Miss Osceola Burr, also of the public speaking department, gave the address before the graduating class of the Westmoreland high school.

BACHMAN AND CORSAUT OFFER SUMMER COURSES

H. S. Coaches May Learn Fundamentals of Successful Aggie Systems in Various Sports

Summer school coaching courses under the direction of Head Coach Charles W. Bachman, assisted by C. W. Corsaut, are expected to attract a large number of high school coaches of the state to the Kansas State Agricultural college for the summer school.

The courses are for the purpose of giving high school coaches a thorough training in the sports that are demanded in their work. The courses are arranged so as to give the students field work and theory together, with demonstrations by prominent Aggie grads.

Work in football, basketball, baseball, track, and physical education will be offered and the courses are to be open to all summer school students.

Coach Bachman is a graduate of Notre Dame where he made all American guard. In track, Bachman starred in the discus throw, shotput, and pole vault. After graduation from Notre Dame he was coach at De Pau university and Northwestern university. During the war he was a member of the Great Lakes naval training station football team which won the championship in the United States forces.

Since 1920 Bachman has been head coach at the Kansas State Agricultural college where he has developed a forward passing system that has attracted the attention of football followers both east and west. In 1922 this passing machine completed 22 forward passes against the Nebraska Cornhuskers, establishing a world's record for the forward pass. Bachman has developed some of the best track stars in the history of track athletics. Ray Watson champion miler; Ivan Riley, champion 440 yard hurdler; and L. E. Erwin, Missouri valley dash champion, are some of the more notable products of the Bachman system.

C. W. Corsaut will handle the classes in basketball and baseball. Corsaut is well known in the Missouri valley as a coach of successful teams. During the time he was coach of athletics in the Kansas City, Kan., high school, his team won the National interscholastic basketball championship. Corsaut has been instructing in athletic departments of Illinois and Kansas for a number of years.

LAVINA WAUGH APPEARS IN SENIOR RECITAL IN PIANO

Performance Would Do Credit to More Experienced Musician

A program of professional size, with every number characterized by its difficulties of technique and in interpretation was presented by Lavina Waugh, senior in the department of music, in her graduating recital in piano, which was given in the auditorium Wednesday afternoon.

The program follows:
Sonata, Op. 13, Grave-Allegro, Adagio. Rondo, Beethoven; "Liebes-traume," Liszt; "If I Were a Bird," Henselt; "Melodie," Rachmaninoff; "Hexentanz," MacDowell; "Fantasie," Chopin; Valse, E minor, Chopin; Scherzo, B flat minor, Chopin.

The outstanding performance was the Rachmaninoff "Melodie," a performance which would do credit to a musician of far greater experience than Miss Waugh. The entire second group was composed of numbers difficult in the extreme, both technically and musically.

Miss Waugh gave an excellent interpretation of the Beethoven Sonata. She made particularly good use of the dramatic effects throughout, both in dynamics and tone color.

The three concluding Chopin numbers are numbers from advanced piano repertoire, and were done in good Chopin style. All through the program Miss Waugh's style was pleasing and her attack true, and she delighted the rather small audience which was present. She proved herself a pianist of marked ability, showing fine technique and a well developed musical intelligence.

DOCTOR KRAMER PUBLISHES VITAMIN RESEARCH RESULTS

Journal of American Chemical Society Prints Report

The April number of the Journal of the American Chemical Society contains a report of experiments upon vitamin A conducted at Columbia university by Dr. Martha M. Kramer under the direction of Dr. Henry C. Sherman. Doctor Kramer is now in charge of the research work in the department of food economics and nutrition in the Kansas State Agricultural college. The experiments described deal chiefly with the storage of vitamin A in the body, using young rats as subjects, and the bearing of this storage upon methods for the quantitative determination of vitamin A in foods.

The rate of rat growth has been rather commonly used in determining the amount of vitamin B present in a given food but this method cannot be used for vitamin A with satisfaction unless account is taken of the capacity of the rat for storing this particular vitamin. According to the report, "this research showed that both the growth and the survival of experimental animals on a diet free of vitamin A depended on the content of vitamin A in the diet of the family of which they were members." The capacity of the body to store vitamins at later as well as earlier ages was also brought out. Even when diets devoid of vitamin A were strikingly different in their mineral content and in their ability to support mineral metabolism, the vitamin deficiency of the experimental diet and the vitamin content of the preceding diet determined the survival period.

At the present time Doctor Kramer is supervising research on the relation of the preparation and digestibility of certain cereals and the suppression and acceleration of growth. There are 15 graduate students enrolled in the division of home economics this year, six of whom are working under the direction of Doctor Kramer. According to Dr. Margaret M. Justin, the division of home economics now offers opportunities for graduate study equal to any in the land grant colleges or state universities.

banquet. Miss Elsie M. Carp is in charge of the serving, Dean Margaret Justin in charge of decorations, and Dean R. A. Seaton in charge of program. L. C. Williams will be toastmaster, and talks will be given by President Jardine, A. B. Carney of the board of administration, A. T. Kinsley of the class of '99, J. C. Wilkins, '24, and a few old grads of 40 years or more ago. Music will be furnished by the Second Cavalry orchestra from Fort Riley. Immediately after the dinner a reception will be held on the main floor and there will be dancing in the women's gym.

Commencement exercises are scheduled for Thursday, May 29, at 10:00. Dr. Edward C. Elliott, president of Purdue university, will deliver the address. Alumni of Purdue are planning to hold a reception for Doctor Elliott Thursday evening.

Old Grads Hold Reunion

Several classes have signified their intentions of holding reunions during commencement week, among others the classes of '04, '09, and '14. The members of the class of '14 are planning to have their meeting broadcast from station W. P. A. M., Topeka, on 360 meters. They will meet in the K room of Nichols gym at 10 o'clock Wednesday night, after the reception.

Receives Degrees from Two Schools

Miss Izil Polson, assistant professor of journalism, is being granted degrees in journalism this spring from two institutions. On May 29 she will receive the degree of Bachelor of Science in Journalism at S. A. C., and on June 16 the degree of Master of Science in Journalism at Northwestern university. Miss Polson's former degree carried only a minor in journalism, but during her teaching time here she has taken enough work for a journalism degree, but had not applied for it until this spring.

PANHELLENIC ASSOCIATION ELECTS OFFICERS MONDAY

Miss Mary Worcester Is President for Next Year

The last meeting of the city Panhellenic association was held at the home of Mrs. C. W. Bachman, Monday afternoon, May 19. Election of officers comprised the main business. The officers elected are: Miss Mary Worcester, president; Mrs. C. E. Sawyer, vice president; Miss Edith Miller, secretary-treasurer.

Following the meeting a social hour was held during which the city Panhellenic alumnae entertained the active girls with tea. Two active members from each chapter were guests. At this time the silver tray given by the city Panhellenic for the highest scholastic record, among the sororities, was presented to the Alpha Xi Deltas. The hostesses were Mrs. L. J. Stevenson, Miss Wilhelmina Bates, Miss Dorothy Brooks, Mrs. E. A. Stokdyk, and Mrs. C. W. Bachman.

Let students haul your baggage, Aggie Transfer and Baggage company. Phones 278 or 1230.

Many College Debaters and Orators Are Graduates of Vocational School

The Lincoln and Philomathian literary societies of the Vocational school will go out of existence when the school is discontinued at the end of this school year. With them will perish the source of much of K. S. A. C.'s oratorical and debate material. The societies were organized in 1913 for the purpose of giving the students in the school of agriculture training in the different phases of literary work. About that time there was also organized a mixed society known as the Hesperian society. This organization was soon disbanded.

Before the Hesperians were disorganized, however, oratorical contests were held between the three societies. Intersociety debates were also held. Later the oratoricals were discontinued. Not all the emphasis, however, was placed on debate and oratory. Training was also secured in dramatics and many of the players of these societies came into college and took the lead in Purple Masque activities.

Probably the most outstanding alumnus of the Lincoln society is J. Wheeler Barger, who, besides winning the intersociety oratorical contest in this school, won second in the Missouri Valley contest. He was also one of the best debaters that K. S. A. C. has ever had.

Speaks Before Bankers' Association

Prof. Eric Englund of the agricultural economics department of the college spoke before the bankers' association of Kansas on the subject of the tax amendment to the Kansas constitution with special reference to building and loan associations.

SENSATIONAL RACES EXPECTED FROM ERWIN IN VALLEY MEET

"Red" Plans to Equal Both and Smash One Short Sprint Record

Almost as much speculation is being centered on a lone runner, Captain L. E. Erwin of the Aggie track team, as on all the other representatives of the nine Valley schools entered in the Missouri Valley track meet at Lincoln today and tomorrow.

Erwin is expected to equal both and smash one of the short sprint records in the finals tomorrow. Last week, running on the same track against Locke of Nebraska, Erwin ran the 220 in 20 9-10 seconds, a tenth under the valley record for the event and 4-10 of a second under the Valley outdoor meet record. Erwin also equalled the Valley 100 yard dash record of 9 4-5 seconds on the same day. His strongest competition will come from Locke of Nebraska in tomorrow's meet.

Erwin's injured leg is stronger now than at any time during the year, according to Coach C. W. Bachman. "Bach" believes that Erwin is the fastest dash man in the United States. Incidentally, Bachman has a deeply rooted conviction that Erwin is the fastest dash man in America today and that he will prove it, barring accidents, in the Olympic tryouts at Kansas next week and the finals at Boston later on.

Other men from the Vocational school who have made good in debate or oratory at K. S. A. C. are: J. J. Seright, '14; Ray Ferree, '15; Clair McCall, '15; F. H. Gulick, '14; C. J. Medlin, '16; K. D. Thompson, '17; and Harold Sloop, '19.

Nor have the Philomathians lagged far behind the Lincolns. Among the girls coming into the college and contributing to the success of forensic activities are Mabel Bentley, "K" debater and also an orator; Marie Johnson, '17, debater and orator; Helen Mitchell, '18, debate and oratory, and Mabel Swanson, '21, orator.

More than 80 per cent of the members of these two societies have become active members in the college societies even if not outstanding in intercollegiate activities.

WEST POINT WINS THREE CORNERED PISTOL SHOOT

Aggie Training with One Man Yet to Shoot—Shepard High Scorer

West Point Military academy placed first in the three cornered pistol shoot Saturday, Culver Military academy was second, and the Aggies, with one man, J. E. Smith, yet to shoot are trailing. The West Pointers scored 4,179 out of a possible 4,480, Culver scored 3,856, and thus far the Aggies have a total of 3,007.

Of the nine men on the Aggie squad, three qualified for the rank of expert; three qualified as sharpshooters, and two as marksmen. The rankings follow: Experts—P. A. Shepard, 92.6, Craig Drummond, 83.3, and R. A. Coe, 80.6; sharpshooters—Walter Mayden, E. Miller, and D. C. Taylor; marksmen—G. C. Hornings, and Hal

Irwin; T. W. Schultz did not qualify. Pistol shooting is a comparatively recent sport with the Aggie marksmen, and five of the team members had never practiced with an automatic until this spring. A regular team has not been selected as yet, those who competed in the meet being "pickups" for the one contest.

"GOD'S RADIO IN PRAYER"-HARGETT

BACCALAUREATE SPEAKER BELIEVES IN ITS EFFICACY

In Addressing K. S. A. C. Graduates Sunday, Pastor Tells of Its Influence Among World's Leaders

"Is it conceivable that God who made the laws by which radio operates cannot use that law himself, and has no radio of his own? I believe the very love thoughts of God toward his children are radioed out to them through all the world bringing peace and help and hope," declared Dr. Ira Mason Hargett, pastor of the Grand avenue temple, Kansas City, Mo., in delivering the baccalaureate sermon for the graduating class of the Kansas State Agricultural college in the auditorium Sunday afternoon. Doctor Hargett's subject was "God and Radio" and his text was from Luke 11:1, "Lord, teach us to pray."

"I believe we are surrounded by holy atmospheres and heavenly presences," continued Doctor Hargett. "I believe the air about us is filled with the infinite presence of God. I believe heaven is in continuous touch and communication with the earth."

"I do not believe that Moses' bush was the only one that ever flamed with the presence of God."

"I do not believe Jacob was the only man who ever saw angels coming down the ladder of light."

"I do not believe that Elijah was the only one that ever heard God's still small voice in our world, so full of discordant voices."

"I do not believe God has made only one visit to our world and that more than 1,900 years ago."

"Stand Weeping as of Old"

"I do not believe Mount Olivet is the only hill on which Christ stood and wept his heart out over man's sin, but that today he stands on the hills about Manhattan and every other city in our world weeping as in the days of old over the disobedience of his children and saying in the same old tender tone, 'Oh, Manhattan, how oft would I have gathered thee together as a hen gathers her chickens under her wing, but ye would not.'"

"I do not believe the two on the way to Emmaus are the only ones with whom Christ has walked and talked since he arose from the grave, but that today he walks and talks with men and women in every city just as he did in those old days of long ago."

"I believe many a man and woman walking our streets daily hears above the din and roar of the city about them the voice of God and the music of heaven."

"God's radio was working perfectly thousands of years before Marconi was born. Abraham, thousands of years before the American continent was dreamed of, set up his sending and receiving station out in the plains of Syria and got a message across to God and got an answer back from God to emigrate and so sure was he of that message that he lifted himself up, root and branch, and left all and went out not knowing where he was going, only that he was going in obedience to that message. Was he mistaken? Let the history of the Hebrew people answer. Let Christ himself answer for he was of Abraham's line."

Elijah Asks for Rain

"The prophet Elijah went up to the top of old Mount Carmel and set up his radio and got a message from God that it was going to rain, after three and a half years of terrible drought, and so sure was he of his message that he sent his servant to tell Ahab of the coming storm and to hurry into Hazeel before it broke. Did it rain? It always rains when God says it is going to rain."

To Teach in Bennett Academy

Mary Katherine Russell, senior in home economics, has accepted a position for next year as domestic science teacher in the Bennett academy, Mathiston, Miss. Bennett academy is supported by the women's home missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church for educational work with the mountain whites of Mississippi. Miss Russell is a member of Omicron Nu, honorary home economics organization, and has chosen elective courses to prepare especially for social service work.

Plans Meals for Y. W. Camp

Helen Reid, senior in home economics, has accepted a position for the summer with the Y. W. camp at Maple Hill. Miss Reid will have entire charge of the buying of food and the planning of meals. An average of 25 girls a week live at the camp during the summer. That number is usually increased to 35 over the week end.

EUNICE ANDERSON APPEARS IN SENIOR PIANO RECITAL

Performance Would Do Credit to More Experienced Musician

One of the most outstanding recitals of the year was that given by Eunice M. Anderson, senior in the department of music, Friday afternoon.

Mozart's Sonata was the best of the numbers played by Miss Anderson, as it showed splendid understanding. Bach's Partita proved to be a favorite with the audience, for in this number as well as in Brahms' Intermezzo and Capriccio, and in Rachmaninoff's Barcarolle, Miss Anderson had the opportunity to display variety and a mastery of interpretation. She had excellent poise throughout the recital, and she proved herself a capable pianist.

Journalists Initiate Three

John Collins, editor of the weekly Kansas City Star, Ralph Blackledge, sophomore in journalism, and Louis Childers, junior in journalism, were initiated into Sigma Delta Chi, men's honorary journalism fraternity, Saturday at noon. After the initiation services there was a luncheon at the cafeteria.

SCHOLARSHIP OFFERED TO THIRD YEAR WOMEN

A. A. U. W. to Award $150 Each Year to Highest Ranking Junior Girl

The Manhattan branch of the American Association of University Women has announced a scholarship to be awarded to a woman student at K. S. A. C. upon the completion of her junior year. The scholarship of $150 will be awarded upon the basis of grades received in specified hours of work.

The stipulated subjects in group 1 shall be English, not less than 12 hours, mathematics not less than six hours, history, civics, economics, modern languages not less than six hours. The remaining eight hours shall be chosen from any of the subjects in group 1. The total in group 1 shall be 50 hours. All of the required subjects shall be counted in the computation but only 50 hours shall be used.

Group 2 shall consist of 10 hours of required work in science, biological, physical, or applied; mathematics, social science, industrial journalism, education or English may be chosen from the entire group but the subjects listed in group 1 shall not be used in group two.

Group 3 shall consist of 25 hours of non-specified work to complete 85 hours necessary at the end of the first semester of her junior year.

The scholarship is available to any woman in any curriculum at K. S. A. C. who has attended here for five semesters and who has finished 85 hours of work. If the student does not return to K. S. A. C. her senior year she automatically forfeits the scholarship and if she attends only one semester she forfeits one half of the amount.

Any student who has incurred serious censure during her stay at K. S. A. C. will not be considered a candidate for this award.

The award which is made for one year is to be recommended by the scholarship committee of A. A. U. W. and approved by the deans of the divisions of general science and home economics. In case of a tie the committee will use its own best judgment for the disposition of the award.

Helen Adams, former student in the public school music course, is here from her home at Everest, to attend the commencement week exercises.

Miss Wildy to Estes

Lois Willy, Y. W. C. A. secretary, will leave next week for Estes park, Col., where she will help as the K. S. A. C. representative at the Y. W. C. A. conference, from June 6 to 16. Miss Wildy will conduct a Bible study group at the Girls' Reserve Conference from June 17 to June 27.

WIN EXEMPTIONS BY WRITING ACCEPTABLE ONE ACT PLAYS

Dramas of Real Value Have Been Received by Miss Bower

Miss Katherine Bower, instructor of English in Kansas State Agricultural college, has hit upon a new method of exemptions from examinations for students. Both last semester and this semester Miss Bower has urged her students to write one act plays with the promise that if they were well enough written to be accepted she would exempt them from their final examinations.

"There were several which were of real value," says Miss Bower, "and I hope that some day they will be presented by the Purple Masque. Dorothy Willetts, a student in English literature, last semester, won her membership into Quill club by the writing of her one act play entitled 'Just Like the Cuckoo.'"

Vice President of Coolidge Club

Vice president and a member of the executive committee of the National Coolidge College club are the distinctions that were bestowed upon Ferdinand Volland, senior in the department of rural commerce, by the chairman of the national committee. This is the only national organization that is definitely behind the "Coolidge for president" movement and it is affiliated with the National Coolidge league which has its headquarters at Chicago.

Volland is the president of the local Republican club.

AGGIES TAKE SOONERS TO A PAIR OF DRUBBINGS

Pull O. U. Out of First Place With Shutout Victory—Karns and Vohs Star

Lawrence (Special).—The Aggies defeated the Jayhawkers in the opening game, 2-0.

"Lost two baseball games, by Oklahoma Sooners somewhere in vicinity of Manhattan City Park Friday and Saturday afternoons. We don't know how they did it, but our private opinion is that the Kansas Aggies got them while we were asleep."—(signed) Oklahoma Sooners.

That just about covers the situation, from an Oklahoma standpoint at least. Except that the ad writer neglected to mention 'one stranglehold on a tie for first place' which Oklahoma also lost at the time and place mentioned.

The scores were 2 to 0 and 1 to 0. Henry Karns pitched the Wildcats to victory in the first game, and Paul Vohs repeated in the second. Both were earning sweet, sweet revenge, Karns for a beating handed him by the Sooners in the opening game of the season, and Vohs for a likewise unmerciful drubbing received from the same gang a year or so ago.

In the Friday game Karns pitched masterly ball. Both teams were scoreless until the Aggie half of the eighth, when the Wildcats ran over two runs, the second on a "Lady Luck" hit by Ernst that bounced off a tree in left field.

Saturday found Vohs, who seldom has been favored with the smiles of fortune while pitching for the Aggies, in his last fling at the Sooners.

But Vohs was working for more than a ball game. He was working for a letter, for a victory over Oklahoma, for a win in his last Aggie game, and for a slap at Dame Misfortune. And his team mates were with him. Three times they crossed up Oklahoma with double killings. Ten Sooners were left stranded on bases. Eight hits, and not an Oklahoma run.

In the fourth Rex Huey found time to smack the ball down past third where Karns was waiting to trot home with the winning run, the last of the home season.

Yesterday the Aggies played Kansas at Lawrence, and today are finishing up their season against the Jayhawkers there. Bernard Conroy was on the mound for the Aggies yesterday, and Henry Karns was slated for today.

Saturday's victory gave the Aggies seven conference victories and seven losses. A sweep of the Kansas series would give a good chance for first place, and a fifty fifty break would mean about fourth.

Ralph C. Erskine, '16, has erected the Colonial Hotel at Fort Pierce, Fla. He has a splendid business and is planning a 25 room addition.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK CROWDED

CHAPEL, ALUMNI MEETING, RECEPTION, AND BANQUET

Final Exercises to Begin at 10 O'clock Thursday Morning—Seniors Must Be Present

Commencement exercises for the class of '24 will be held in the auditorium Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. All seniors must be there, it has been announced. Any senior who is not present will receive neither degree nor diploma.

It is urged that the whole class present themselves at the various divisional headquarters promptly at 9:15. This will enable those in charge to form the lines in strictly alphabetical order as is absolutely necessary this year because the class will file past the president and each member personally receive his diploma. The names will be called in the order in which they appear on the printed program.

Senior Assembly Wednesday

The senior assembly will occur Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. The seniors are expected to be there in cap and gown. At the conclusion of the assembly a photograph will be taken of the class. Professor Colburn of the illustrations department will be ready and will have bleachers erected in the quadrangle west of the auditorium. The picture will appear in photogravure in the leading journals of the middle west. There are no exams scheduled for that hour and there is no good reason why any member of the faculty or student body should miss the last student assembly, according to Dr. J. E. Kammerer.

Wednesday at 2 o'clock the alumni will hold their regular business session in Recreation center. At 4:30 there will be a reception in the president's new home.

Banquet and Reception in Evening

The first annual senior alumni banquet and reception will be held Wednesday evening in Nichols gymnasium. Dean R. A. Seaton, '04, of the engineering division is in charge of the general arrangements. He states that a short but excellent program has been prepared.

Two hundred seniors have signified their intention of being present and old "grads" from various parts of the country have sent in their reservations. Several from distant states are Delmer W. Randall, Milwaukee, Ore.; Mrs. J. O. M. Smith, Commerce, Ga.; Alfred C. Smith, Upland Calif.; and George L. Christensen Houghton, Mich.

Address by A. B. Carney

L. C. Williams, '12, of the extension division will be toastmaster. "The College and State" is the subject of an address by A. B. Carney, chairman of the board of administration. President Jardine will talk on "The College and the Alumni." "Today" will be represented by J. C. Wilkins of the '24; "Yesterday" by Russell Williamson of the class of '14; and "Day Before Yesterday" by A. T. Kinsley, '99. Mrs. Emma Bowen, '67, will tell of "In the Beginning." Cheering will be under the leadership of Jimmie Parker, '24. The singing of "Alma Mater" in charge of Prof. Ira Pratt, will close the program. Following the program a reception and dance will be held.

Decorations and the hostess work are in charge of Dr. Margaret Justin, dean of the division of home economics. Miss Effie Mae Carp is in charge of the banquet. Music for the banquet and dance will be furnished by the second cavalry orchestra, directed by warrant officer Herman Rech of Fort Riley.

To Attend Entomologists' Meeting

Prof. J. W. McCollough of the entomology department, went to Kansas City, Mo., to attend a meeting of the entomologists and agronomists of Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and Missouri. The object of this meeting was to develop a plan to control the Hessian fly, which will apply to the southwest winter wheat area.

Phi Kappa Phi Boasts a Husband and Wife Among New Initiates

It is a fact to be commented on when a person receives the distinction of being elected to Phi Kappa Phi, but when a man and his wife have both achieved this scholastic honor at the same time, as in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Smith of this college, it deserves more than ordinary attention.

This is the first time this coincidence has occurred in the history of Phi Kappa Phi at this institution. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have been married two years and both have practically worked their way through college. Mr. Smith is student assistant in the library, a position he has held four years.

In spite of the busy lives of the Smiths they have taken time to participate in college activities. Mrs. Smith is a member of Kappa Phi and the Alpha Beta literary society and Mr. Smith is a member of the Phi Kappa Theta fraternity and the Webster literary society.

After graduation the Smiths say they intend to have a little vacation; then they will go to Chicago where Mr. Smith will be with the Western Electric company.

THREE AGGIES ENTERED IN OLYMPIC TRYOUTS

Gartner, Kimport, and Erwin to Compete at K. U. This Week

Three members of the Aggie track team are entered in the Mid West Olympic try outs which will be in the University of Kansas stadium Thursday and Saturday afternoon. They are L. E. Erwin, track captain and dash man, Ralph Kimport, miller, and John Gartner, discus.

Ivan Riley, Aggie senior, running for the Illinois Athletic club, probably will not compete in the meet, according to Head Coach C. W. Bachman. Riley clinched his place on the Olympic team by winning the 400 meter low hurdle race at the Penn relays recently. Saturday in Nebraska stadium he tied the world's record of 54 seconds flat for the event. Any competition which he would be apt to meet in the midwest Olympics would be a mere workout.

Erwin's defeat by Locke of Nebraska in the 100 and 220 yard dashes in the Valley meet Saturday did not in any way injure his chances of winning the dashes at the Midwest tryouts. Coach Bachman said, "Red" got away to a poor start in the hundred, and would have won anyway had he been given another yard, spectators said. He was forced to run the 220 race around a curve, which was somewhat of a handicap, as the Aggie flash is not adapted to that art and has yet to win a close 220 race on other than a straightaway. Erwin probably will enter the 100 and 300 meter dashes in the tryouts at Kansas. Victory means a trip to Boston and probably a chance against Charley Paddock for supremacy.

Neither Gartner nor Kimport is expected to do a lot, being entered for the purpose of gaining experience for next year than with the expectation of making the trip back to Boston as midwest representatives. Kimport always stands a chance of winning his race, however, and may come through unexpectedly for first. Gartner also is an athlete who always has the possibility of "breaking loose" and throwing the discus away. His competitive record this year, however, would not make him a favorite to win so long as Richerson of Missouri is competing.

Gartner took third in the Valley meet at Nebraska Saturday and Kimport did the same in the mile. Kimport will run either the 1000 or 1500 meter race in the tryouts.

Litwiller to Be Horticulturist

E. M. Litwiller, '24, has been appointed horticulturist of the extension division, the appointment to become effective June 1. Mr. Litwiller is filling the position vacated by J. C. Winkfield, who has a position as horticulturist in the experiment station at Matanuska, Alaska.

Prof. R. M. Green, of the agricultural economics department, is in Stafford on departmental investigation work.

SIGMA NU WINS INTRAMURAL CUP

OVER 43 PER CENT OF MEN STUDENTS COMPETE

Coffman High Point Man with Total of 52—Hutchinson of Delta Tau Delta Second

The final scorings of the organizations competing for the intramural athletics championship trophy were released yesterday. Sigma Nu won the cup with a total count of 625 points. The winners were closely pushed by Delta Tau Delta, with 608 points.

High point men in the intramural competition were Coffman, Sigma Nu, with 52 points, and Hutchinson, Delta Tau Delta, tied with Logan, Acacia, for second with 51 points.

There were 1,831 men enrolled in school this last semester and of these, 805 took some part in intramural athletics. This does not include the men who are in varsity athletics. Over 43 per cent of the male enrolment of school have taken some part in intramural athletics.

The first 10 men on the list of point makers who will be awarded white slipover sweaters with the official intramural "K" are as follows: Coffman, Sigma Nu, 52 points; Hutchinson, Delta Tau Delta, 51 points; Logan, Acacia, 51 points; O'Brien, Sigma Phi Sigma, 50 points; Weddle, Sigma Nu, 49 points; Sappenfield, Sigma Phi Sigma, 44 points; Hawkenson, Acacia, 42 points; Winkler, Lambda Chi Alpha, 40 points; Wilson, Delta Tau Delta, 38 points; Miller, Sigma Phi Sigma, 36 1/2 points.

The men with the next highest points are to be awarded the intramural "K" and are as follows: Westwood, Sigma Nu, 36 points; McWilliams, Acacia, 36 points; Kohler, Lambda Chi Alpha, 36 points; R. Huey, Pi Kappa Alpha, 35; Dannelevitt, Sigma Phi Epsilon, 34 points; LeVitt, Sigma Phi Epsilon, 34 points; G. Huey, Pi Kappa Alpha, 33 points; Toburen, Acacia, 33 points; S. Kirk, Beta Theta Pi, 33 points.

The results of the different tournaments are: Basketball won by Sigma Nu, Tri V runners up; swimming meet, Sigma Phi Sigma 26 1/2 points, Delta Tau Delta 16 points; boxing, Sigma Phi Epsilon 22 points, Phi Sigma Kappa 13 points; wrestling, Sigma Phi Sigma 25 points, A. V. A. C. 22 points; indoor track, Sigma Nu 44 points, Delta Tau Delta 32 points; outdoor track, Sigma Nu 342 points, Delta Tau Delta 251 points; tennis singles, Mier, independent, and doubles Sappenfield and Alley, Sigma Phi Sigma; baseball, Acacia, Panhellenic champions, Sigma Phi Sigma, independent champions.

O. K. CORRELL WINS RIFLE MEET AFTER TRYING V. C. HILL

W. Mayden Was Third—Forty Men Participated in Competition

In open rifle competition for all R. O. T. C. students at K. S. A. C. held during the week May 19-24 the gold medal was won by O. K. Correll with a score of 224. Second place was won by V. C. Hill and third by W. Mayden. The first shoot resulted in a tie between Correll and Hill at 224. The tie was shot off Saturday and Correll scored 38 and Hill 37. About 40 men participated in the competition.

PHYLLIS BURTIS IS ELECTED NEXT YEAR'S FORUM LEADER

Discussional Meetings to Be Continued It Is Decided

The student forum held the last meeting of the year in home economics rest room. Student friendship was the subject of the discussion. Several students talked giving reasons why the students of this country should put on drives for money to relieve the suffering and needy in Europe. The main issue discussed, however, was not as to whether we should have the friendship drive but as to how we could best put on such a campaign. Marie Correll directed the discussion.

Phyllis Burtis was elected leader of the forum for next year, and various plans for carrying on the work were taken up.

Winifred West to Boulder

Winifred West, home economics graduate, has been elected to an instructorship at Boulder, Colo., in the division of home economics. Miss West will teach elementary foods.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad and loving memory of Our Rosy, late lamented Managing Editor of the Kansas State Collegian, who on Saturday last was united in the howling bands of matrimony to one Joseph D. Buchman. Peace to his ashes.

Now our little Rosy is up and gone,
Life with her was one grand sweet song,
The song has turned to chords so bitter—
She's married. Heaven help the critter!

—H. Sappenfield

'Tis regrettable indeed, that so promising a character in the field of literary arts should, by the fates, be stricken down in such a fashion, to bloom no more but to remain in absolute silence and obedience for evermore.—H. L. Howard.

Rosy Reasoner passed away,
A wedding march on Saturday.
'Tis my love of Rose and my hate of labor,
Indeed the theme makes my verse macaber!

—C. E. R.

'Twas ever thus.—R. Shideler.

Rosy, radically rouged,
Rearranged ritual rites;
Reconsidered real renitently—
Rushed rapturously, res adjudicata!

Rosy, purposely Puritanized,
Prayed, paused, Pansofied;
Pretty partner peccadillo—
Rosy, Posy partnership renounced!

—M. S. E.

Our little Rosy ran away,
She left us flat.
We'll tell her what we think when we find where she's at.

—A. L. Paddleford

Obit.

Oh Posy dear, and did you hear
The news that 's going round,
That Rosy has gave up the ship
To fame and honor bound.

Henceforth she 'll cook, and bake and sew,
Instead of writing news,
The Collegian she has forsook
To sing the "Housewife Blues."

—M. Ransom.

She was exceeding clever, and fair to look upon.—A. C.

Rosy, dear Rosy, come home to us now,
The clock in the printshop strikes four
There isn't a single iota of news,
And Mister Keith's pacing the floor.

The linotype's still, and the press never turns,
The office is empty and dark,
The mice cavort peacefully over the desk

Come in and see this New Corona!

THE A B C OF LOVE

HE
In the gloaming, oh my darling,
When the lights are dim and low,
That your face is powder painted,
How am I, sweetheart, to know?
Twice this month I've had to bundle
Every coat that I possess
To the cleaners—won't you, darling,
Love me more and powder less?

SHE
In the gloaming, oh my darling,
When the lights are dim and low,
That your cheeks are sharp with whiskers,
You can bet your boots, I know,
If I powder, I must do it,
Or else suffer great distress;
Buy a razor, won't you darling?
Lather more—I'll powder less.

—Poison Ivy.

Offers Complete Summer Schedule

An unusually complete schedule of botany and plant pathology is being offered for the summer school this year. Professor W. C. Davis will teach Botany I and Botany II and Prof. H. H. Haymaker will teach plant pathology, economic botany, and field botany. There are varied advantages in taking these courses in the summer. First hand plant material is more abundant, the classes are smaller than in winter school, and thus the student is able to receive more of the instructor's time and aid; the department takes every effort to provide a cool place for the students to work; and the time required for completion of the subject is much shorter than in regular term.

Miss Queenie Hart of Minneapolis, Kan., is back for commencement. Miss Hart finished her work at the end of the first semester and has been teaching school the last semester.

Miss Geneva Watson and Miss Ruth Morris, of the physical education department, have gone to their homes for a short vacation before taking up their work in the summer school here.

Miss Myra Wade, of the women's physical education department, leaves soon for her home at Oak Park, Chicago, where she will spend the summer.

The Fuller Brush Co. is taking a few college men for summer work. If interested call Mr. Harned at the Y. M. C. A. Tel. 758 Fri. or Sat.

FRANK ROARK'S ORCHESTRA ON REDPATH-HORNER CIRCUIT

Will Give Program Each Afternoon and Evening

Frank Roark's orchestra will leave this week, to fill a 15 week contract with the Redpath-Horner chautauqua. The circuit includes Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, and Kansas.

The personnel of the organization is piano, V. B. Proctor; saxophone, Ernest Diven and Max French; trombone, Ray Diven; trumpet, Vernon Knapp; violin, Art Gibson; drums, Frank Roark.

The orchestra will play a half hour concert each afternoon, and put on a full program of classical and popular music at night. The group will play at Fort Riley on Saturday at a reception for General Pershing. According to Mr. Roark, the members of the organization will return to K. S. A. C. next fall.

PLANS SEMINAR FOR HOME EC FRESHMEN AND SOPHOMORES

Semi-Monthly Conferences to Be Inaugurated Next Fall

Freshman and sophomore students enrolled in the home economics course held a conference in the home economics rest room recently with Dr. Margaret Justin, dean of the division of home economics, as the speaker.

It is planned to make the conference a regular part of the home economics course for freshmen and sophomores in that division. The seminar will be held semi-monthly, attendance will be required and perhaps one half hour of college credit will be given. This new plan will be given its first trial at the beginning of the fall semester.

The purpose of the seminar is to establish a closer union and relation between the students and faculty. The various vocations in which graduates from the home economics course may successfully engage will be discussed with the students. It has been observed that the students in these classes could profit from such a discussion, as the number of students plan to teach after graduation because it is the only field with which they are acquainted.

CLAYBAUGH GETS DOUBLE JOB

Placed on Business and Editorial Staffs of Collegian

At the last meeting of the Collegian board, Charles W. Claybaugh, junior in industrial journalism, was elected business manager of the Collegian for the fall semester of the year '24-'25. Mr. Claybaugh was selected from among six applicants for the position. He was also elected associate editor of the Collegian at a previous meeting of the board.

Claybaugh is from Pretty Prairie where he has had actual newspaper work on his father's newspaper, the Pretty Prairie Times. At the same meeting of the board the salary of the business manager was raised from $5 to $6 an issue.

WANTS ORIGINAL LYRICS

Professor Pratt Calls for Words for Aggie Songs

A call has been broadcast by Prof. Ira Pratt for original Aggie lyrics to be set to original tunes by members of the department. Football and pep songs, marching songs, songs suitable for serenades, and in fact, all kinds of songs, are acceptable.

"We have a bunch over here that can set music if we can get suitable lyrics," claims Professor Pratt, and he earnestly requests anyone with poetic genius to send in his literary gems.

Next year K. S. A. C. enters the valley contest for glee clubs, one requirement of which is that representatives from each school must sing an original school song.

To you capitalists — the class of '24

Your college training is in truth a capital. Its value is not fixed, but depends on the way you invest it. Some men demand a quick return — a high percentage of profit. Others look more to the solidity of the investment.

The man of speculative mind may stake all on the lure of a high starting salary, without a thought to the company which gives it or where this may lead him in ten years. True, his opportunism may reap exceptional profit; or else a loss.

The man who knows that great things develop slowly will be content with six months' progress in six months' time—provided he is investing that time in a company which offers him a future.

You who are about to invest, satisfy yourself that the security you are getting is gilt-edged.

SOCIETY

The annual Ionia cake feed was held in Lovers' Lane Saturday evening. The members of the society who have been married during the past year furnished the cakes and the ice cream was furnished by the girls who have become engaged. Following the "cake feed" a joint meeting of the Ionia and the Hamilton literary societies was held in their hall in Nichols gymnasium.

Mrs. G. W. Southern entertained the members of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, Saturday evening, with a dance at the country club.

The members of the Kanza club entertained with a house dance Friday evening.

The members of Tobacco held their last dance of the season Friday evening at Harrison hall. Music was furnished by a ten-piece orchestra.

Beta Theta Pi will entertain with a house dance Wednesday evening.

President and Mrs. W. M. Jardine will entertain with a reception for the alumni members Wednesday afternoon from 4 until 5:30 at their home.

Phi Delta Theta fraternity will entertain with a house dance Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Russell, of Elkhart, Ind., were dinner guests at the Kappa Delta house, Sunday.

The members of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority are planning a house dance for Wednesday evening.

Dinner guests at the Delta Tau house Sunday were Lillian Oyster, Annie Laurie Moore, Jeanne Lingenfelter, Bernice Elliott, Willetta Reynolds, Charles Batdorf, George Winters, '23, Ray Hahn, '23, and Billy Read of Clay Center.

The Farm House fraternity announces the pledging of A. C. Hoffman of Abilene.

An engagement announcement of special interest to K. S. A. C. is that of Miss Amy Jane Leazenby to Mr. Eric Englund. The announcement was made at a breakfast at the Ellen Richards Lodge Sunday morning, May 25. The house was decorated with lavender iris, and pink roses and the lavender and pink color scheme was used in the menu. The following guests were present: Dr. Margaret M. Justin, Mrs. R. C. Smith, Dorothy Cashen, Jean Dobbs, Dorothy Brown, Mary Elva Crockett, Mary Mason, Martha Pittman, Nora Dalbey, Pearl E. Ruby, Elsie Smith, Mina Bates, Mary Worcester, Margaret Ahlborn, Florence Clarke, Katherine Hudson, Dr. Margaret Russel, Martha Kramer, and Emily Bennett.

Big Sister Plans Complete

A Big Sister conference was held recently to plan next year's Big Sister campaign. Phyllis Burtis, chairman of the committee, explained the duties and responsibilities of the girls who serve on committees. About 26 captains were present at the meeting. Committees were chosen to work during registration, at teas, and to meet new girls at the trains.

Baptists Give Farewell Picnic

The World Wide guild of the Baptist church held a farewell picnic in Lovers' lane recently. Officers were installed and plans made for next year. The new officers are: president, Susie Geiger; secretary, Leonice Wells; treasurer, Nell Wolf; cabinet members, Ozeta Hutchinson, Katherine Welker, Alice Melton, and Bernice McKee; chairman of the work committee, Esther Snodgrass.

Installs Euro Society

Velma Lawrence, national secretary of the Eurodelphian literary society, was installing officer at the installation of the Zeta chapter of the society at Park college, Parkville, Mo., May 10.

Zeta chapter was formerly the Aurora club, a sister society of the Arion club, which is now a chapter of the national Webster literary society.

How to Teach in Wisconsin U.

Harold Howe, a graduate of K. S. A. C., '22, has accepted an assistantship in the department of agricultural economics, at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

Besides his B. S. degree from K. S. A. C. Mr. Howe holds an M. S. degree from the University of Maryland. During the last semester he has taken graduate work in the agricultural economics department at K. S. A. C.

At Wisconsin he plans to take additional work under Dr. B. H. Hibbard. He will apply the credit for this work toward a doctor's degree.

While at K. S. A. C. Mr. Howe has been very active in many circles. He is a member of Phi Kappa, Alpha Zeta, Pi Kappa Delta, and Gamma Sigma Delta fraternities.

city of Babylon, threw open his windows and set up his radio and heard from heaven and so sure was he of his message that on the strength of it he risked his life in a den of lions. Did the lions hurt him? No, for God shut their mouths. One served as a pillow and another as a footstool and hot water bottle while Daniel slept as peacefully as if he had been at home in old Jerusalem.

Luther Hears God's Voice

"Martin Luther, intrepid reformer, tuned in at Wittenberg and so certain was he that he heard the voice of God he went boldly out and nailed the 95 revolutionary theses on the door of his church and threw out his challenge to the world. So sure was he that there had been no mistake that he took his life in his hands and started the great reformation. Was he mistaken? Let Protestantism answer.

"John Wesley set up a radio station in the Holy club at Oxford and heard a call from God to evangelize the British isles. So certain was he that he had heard aright that he cast aside his cap and gown and professor's chair and went out and up and down the isles preaching Christ. Was he mistaken? Let 15,000,000 Methodists answer.

"Dwight L. Moody set up his radio station in a Boston shoe store and heard God's call to the evangelistic field. He left all and went not knowing where he was going. Was he mistaken? Let the multitudes of his converts all over America answer.

Washington Tunes in

"George Washington, the father of our country, tuned in in the woods at Valley Forge and heard from heaven and so sure was he of his answer that he pressed on with his ragged, hungry, footsore patriots until Yorktown and victory. Was he mistaken? Let a 110,000,000 freemen answer.

"Abraham Lincoln at a late hour in the night in the White House tuned in, sobbed out his cry for help to God for the oppressed, and so sure was he of his answer that he ordered a forward march all along the line and pressed the war with all possible vigor until Appomattox and victory. Was he mistaken? Let a united nation answer. Let 1,000,000 black freemen answer.

"Generalissimo Ferdinand Foch was found operating a sending and receiving set at an altar of a Catholic church in a French village while a doughboy stood reverently near by in the shadows and looked on with wondering gaze. Did he get an answer? Let the allied world reply.

One Faces God Alone

"Just a little while before President Harding died he said, 'I believe in prayer. I believe in prayer in one's closet, for there one faces God alone.'

"Prayer is the only means of communication between earth and heaven. Prayer is the only way that man can register his attitude and feeling in the mind of God. Prayer is man's method of contact with the eternal. Prayer is tuning in to God—his will, his word, his spirit. Prayer is the most outstanding thing differentiating man from the whole lower animal world. Man is the only animal that prays. No lower animal prays. All men pray, sometime, somewhere.

"It is man's capacity for prayer that makes him only a little lower than the angels. It is man's power of fellowship with God that gives him the stamp of God's image."

Mr. E. C. Shenk of Rossville visited A. B. Griswold of the Phi Lambda Theta house over the week end.

NINE RELIGIOUS GROUPS ON HILL

THETA TAU AND WISE CLUB ORGANIZED RECENTLY

Only 312 Students Give No Church Preference—Methodist Lead with 1,133

That college students are taking an interest in matters of a religious nature is shown by the number of religious organizations on the hill and the list of church preferences. Two new organizations have recently been added, making a total of nine active organizations.

Theta Tau, recently organized by girls of the Presbyterian church, has for its purpose the promotion of interest in the religious life of the student. The Wise club, also recently organized, is an organization of the students of the Episcopal church for the purpose of acquainting its members with ecclesiastical matters and economic problems in relation to the church.

Sponsored by Methodists

Kappa Phi, a national organization for women, was organized several years ago by the Methodist church for the purpose of acquainting the students with the church program and give students more experience in work designed for more active and efficient service in their later religious life. Membership in the Methodist church is not a requirement for membership in Kappa Phi.

Bethany Circle of the Christian church is a national organization of young women for the purpose of promoting friendship among the young women of that church and acquainting them with the aims and plans of the church.

Two Catholic Groups

The Newman club is an organization of Roman Catholic students for the fostering of fellowship among the students of that faith, the development of sound morality, character, and knowledge and practice of their faith. Phi Kappa, men's Roman Catholic fraternity, is an organization for the social and spiritual development of its members.

Lambda Tau Kappa was organized by the students of the Congregational church for the purpose of promoting Christian fellowship among the men and women of the college.

Is Non-Denominational

Probably the most universal and best known organizations are the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., non-denominational groups of men and women standing for the development of character and Christian citizenship in young people.

These organizations foster religious activities, encouraging students to take interest in the activities of the churches.

Thirty Sects Represented

A glance at the preference list of the students shows that there are represented in K. S. A. C. 30 religious denominations. The largest number of students, 1,133, gave as their preference the Methodist church. The other churches and the number of preferences follows: Presbyterian, 490; Christian, 326; Baptist, 241; Congregational, 188; Roman Catholic, 104; Lutheran, 78; Episcopal, 68; Christian Science, 46; United Presbyterian, 35; United Brethren, 26; Evangelical, 23; Protestant, 22; Mennonite, 6; Friends, 5; African Methodist Episcopal, 5; Universalist, 4; Reformed, 3; Advent Christian, 2; Free Methodist, 2; Federated, 2; St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal, 2; Methodist Protestant, 2; Reformed Protestant, 2; Moslem, 2; Church of God, 1; Unitarian, 1; Nazarene, 1; Hebrew, 1. No preference was given by about 312 students, out of a total of 3,240.

TO IMPROVE "FOOTBALL PARTIES"

Sigma Delta Chi Constructing Miniature Football Field

Prof. E. T. Keith, head of the printing department, will draw the plans and supervise the construction of an electrically operated scoreboard, for reproducing the football games played away from home. The board will be similar to that used by the schools of the "big ten" and will depict each play and the player making it, at practically the same moment that it is taking place.

Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, will own the board. They have held "football parties" the last two years, using a home made board, which did not prove entirely satisfactory. For the Grinnell game last fall, a Gridgraph was leased but not purchased.

According to present plans the new board will be ready for use at the first game of the season next year.

BUILD SCORE BOARD AT STADIUM

Pledges of Sigma Tau Submit Plans for Electric Board

Designs for a new electrical football score board have been submitted to the athletic department by the pledges of Sigma Tau. This scoreboard is electrically controlled, being operated almost entirely from the side lines. It is more complete than the one formerly used, giving the minutes to play, names and positions of the players, downs, yards to go, and practically all information given by the Grid Graf.

The pledges of Sigma Tau next year will erect this scoreboard.

AGGIES LAND SIXTH IN MISSOURI VALLEY MEET

Food and Climate Do Not Agree with Athletes—Erwin Fails to Win First

Nebraska food and Nebraska climate did not seem to agree with the Wildcat track team that competed in the Missouri Valley Conference track meet held at Lincoln on Friday and Saturday. The team of nine men who represented the Aggies were able to garner only 10 points, placing in four events.

The big surprise of the day came in the 100 and 220 yard dashes in which Captain "Red" Erwin of the Aggies was able to take only second places. Erwin was defeated by Roland Locke, sensational sprinter of the Cornhuskers. The time on the hundred yard dash was 10 1-5 seconds, much slower than Erwin's usual time. The 220 yard dash was much the same story, Locke winning in 22 4-10 seconds. Erwin had defeated Locke on the Friday before, running the 100 in 9 4-5 seconds and the 220 in 20 9-10.

Kimpor, the Aggie entry in the mile run, who was doped for a first place, just succeeded in nosing out a third in the event which was won in 4 minutes, 29.3 seconds. Kimpor has run the distance this year in time which was approximately as fast as that of the winner.

John Gartner tossed the discus 129 feet for a third in the event. The winner of the platter toss, Doss Richardson of Missouri, established a new valley record, throwing 136 feet, 4 1-4 inches. The former record was 133 feet, 11 inches, made by Kramer of Washington in 1920.

The rest of the team failed to place at all. Brunkau was nosed out of fourth place in the javelin by 5 1-2 inches after he had tossed the spear 156 feet 1 inch. Knause failed to qualify in the quarter mile, Roberts failed in the 120 yard high hurdles, Carter in the pole vault, and Doolen in the half mile.

The meet was one of the best ever held. Five records were broken, all of them in the field events. Cox of Oklahoma tossed the javelin 191 feet for a record, Tom Poor of Kansas jumped 6 feet, 3 1-8 inches, for a new mark, Richardson tossed the shot 43 feet, 7 inches, and the discus 136 feet 4 1-4 inches, both new records, and McKown of Emporia vaulted 12 feet 8 3-4 inches for a new height.

Ivan Riley, former Aggie hurdler, tied the world's record for the 400 meter hurdles in 54 seconds flat. Riley is without a peer in the country in the long barrier event and is America's chief hurdle hope in the Olympic games this summer.

GET PAPERS OF YOUR OWN SCOTT ADVISES STUDENTS

Iola Register Publisher Address Journalism Classes

Get papers of your own as soon as possible, Charles F. Scott, editor and publisher of the Iola Register, advised students in industrial journalism in a recent address.

"Women as well as men are fitted for work of this kind," Mr. Scott commented. "Several women here in Kansas are making distinguished successes as publishers of newspapers."

"In making a success in the town or small city, it is essential to get and hold the confidence of the community. Discreditable personal conduct, false news, fallacious editorial reasoning, will destroy your reputation and the reputation of your paper. In the community you and your paper are indissolubly linked. Eventually people will use your name and the name of your paper interchangeably."

"The editor must make himself a factor in the general life of the community. People look to him for leadership, especially if he comes from a college. Some may sneer at colleges or at schools of journalism, but they look for their leaders to come from these institutions."

Mr. Scott urged attention to the editorial page.

"An editorial page is necessary," he said. "It doesn't matter how dull or feeble it is in the beginning—keep at it."

MYRON RUSSELL AND HARRY WILSON GO ON CHAUTAUQUA

Will Make 14 Week Tour with Red-path-Horner Circuit

Myron Russell and Harry Wilson left for Kansas City for a few days rehearsal before going on the Red-path-Horner chautauqua circuit for the summer.

Mr. Russell will play oboe and English horn with the Gilbert's All-American Concert band, a 20 piece band covering the circuit through New Mexico, Colorado, Oklahoma, Nebraska, and Kansas.

Mr. Wilson is on the Premier circuit, his company being composed of a man banjo player and baritone singer, a lady pianist and comedienne and himself as singer and accompanist. Both men will be out about 14 weeks.

UNDERWEIGHT CHILDREN GIVEN MODEL DINNERS

And One Little Fellow Is Disappointed Because He Has Normal Averdupois

An interesting feeding experiment is being conducted by Margaret Ahlhorn, graduate assistant in the department of food economics and nutrition, under the direction of Pearl E. Ruby, associate professor.

Twelve underweight children are fed a model dinner every Saturday noon, to give them an idea of the quantity and selection of the diet. Only those children are permitted to come whose mothers have been visited and are willing to cooperate in the plan. Histories of infancy and diseases are secured and any physical defects noted. The children keep records of what they eat at home and these are listed in their weekly diaries.

The children are weighed each week and the weight plotted in a chart which shows the gain or loss from week to week. They are encouraged to make gains as fast as possible and red, blue, and gold stars serve as stimuli and are given for certain gains or observance of health rules.

Each child has a part in preparing the food in order that he may have a better idea of what is contained in certain dishes and have more interest in the selection of food. The children enjoy the arrangement and tell their playmates what good times they have in "playing the health game." One Saturday one boy brought his chum. He was allowed to stay for dinner that day but great was his disappointment when he was weighed and found to be only one-fourth pound underweight. That was not enough to permit him to be a member of the health club.

ENGLISH TEACHERS PUBLISH BULLETIN OF WORK IN STATE

Magazine Edited by Miss Ada Rice—Sent to 300 Instructors

Articles on the training of teachers, high school newspaper problems, the review of novels suitable for high school English work, and a summary of the English work given at the Kansas State Agricultural college are the contents of a bulletin published this month by the Kansas Association of Teachers of English.

The articles are written by high school and college teachers of the state and are edited by Miss Ada Rice K. S. A. C. Her associate editors are I. G. Wilson, Pittsburg, and Katherine McLean, Hays. The bulletin is issued quarterly and is sent to 300 English teachers in Kansas high schools and colleges.

Notes on meetings of the association and notices of interest to the members of the organization are also given in the bulletin.

The officers of the association at present are: president, Eva Hagen, Lawrence; secretary-treasurer, C. C. Alexander, Baldwin; vice-presidents, Ruth Hunt Topeka, Helen Cramer, Winfield, Florence DeLay, Parsons, and Daisy Chamberlain, Salina.

THREE PLEDGES INITIATED INTO PURPLE MASQUE FRATERNITY

Officers for 1924-25 Installed—Thompson Is President

The last Purple Masque meeting of the year was held May 14 for the purpose of initiating the pledges and installing the new officers. The officers for 1924-25 are as follows: President, Melville Thompson; vice-president, Charles Claybaugh; secretary, Lillian Kammer; treasurer, Paul Pfeutze, and marshal, Forest Whan.

The pledges who were initiated were Paul Pfeutze, Carrie Justice, and Fern Fairchild.

The active year closed for the Masque with the presentation of "The Admirable Crichton." In the fall semester the organization presented as a one act chapel play the "Turtle Dove" and the fall play which went on the road was "Three Wise Fools." In addition a series of four one acts, "The Brink of Silence," "Sham," "Three Pills in a Bottle," and "The Trysting Place" were presented under the direction of Purple Masque members. Four go to college teams were sent out presenting "Isn't this a Fine Day," "Suppressed Desires," and "Poor Old Jim."

CERTIFICATES TO 400

Radio Pupils Graduate From First College of Air

The first certificates of graduation from college courses offered by radio will be awarded June 1 to some 400 farmers and their families who passed a written examination covering work broadcast from K. S. A. C. during the 10 weeks course conducted by the extension division.

The courses include agriculture, home economics, and engineering. A canvas of county agents in the state indicates that the majority of farmers plan to be equipped with receiving sets by next fall, should K. S. A. C. offer another short course.

LIVESTOCK MEN HEAR FEEDING TESTS DATA

Seven Hundred and Fifty Attend Feeder's Day Convention at College

Reports of feeding tests conducted at the Kansas State Agricultural college during the last year occupied the leading place on the program of the twelfth annual livestock feeders' convention at the college Saturday. Approximately 750 farmers attended. H. W. Avery of Wakefield, a member of the graduating class of 1891, was chairman.

In the address of welcome, President W. M. Jardine stressed the importance of the general adoption by farmers of a diversified system of agriculture. Speakers representing the livestock industry of the state who appeared on the program were J. D. Joseph of Whitewater, W. H. Shroyer of Miltonvale, president of the Kansas Livestock association; and J. H. Mercer of Topeka, secretary of the Kansas Livestock association. D. W. Martin, director of the bureau of merchandising of the Institute of American Meat Packers, spoke in behalf of that organization. Members of the board of administration briefly acknowledged presentation by the chairman. The Block and Bridge club served luncheon in the livestock pavilion during the noon hour.

Dr. C. W. McCampbell, head of the animal husbandry department; Prof. H. E. Reed, and Prof. B. M. Anderson presented reports of feeding tests conducted at the college since last feeders day, a year ago.

"I want to emphasize the fact that the common practice of violating the fundamental principles of practical livestock management and feeding is responsible more than any other single factor for the unsatisfactory experiences in handling livestock," said Doctor McCampbell, continuing with a detailed account of a few types of mismanagement and improper methods of feeding that have resulted in production costs "much higher than they need have been."

PHYSICS DEPARTMENT OFFERS 10 SUMMER SCHOOL COURSES

Wide Variety of Subjects Included—for Students and Teachers

The physics department offers 10 courses for the students in summer school this year. The courses are as follows: Elementary physics; general science for high school credit or for teachers preparing to teach the subject; household physics; wireless telephony; college physics for engineers or general science students; laboratory technique for high school teachers of physics and others who wish to study instrument design, repair, and making; molecular physics and heat for students who wish work in advanced courses in college physics; harmonics, or the physics of music and musical instruments, for those who wish to teach sound or for those who wish to study sound from the musical viewpoint; special methods in the teaching of physics; teachers course in the electron theory, alternating current, and radio.

Questions concerning any of these courses will be answered promptly by the physics department of the college.

HAROLD HOBBS A VICTIM OF RIVER

WAS PROMINENT STUDENT AT K. S. A. C. AND COLUMBIA

Post Mortem Examination Reveals Attack of Cramps as Cause of Death

Harold W. Hobbs, a former student of K. S. A. C., was drowned Friday afternoon in the Blue river at the old piers about a quarter of a mile north of the Union Pacific railroad bridge.

Mr. Hobbs together with Prof. R. W. Conover, Prof. J. A. Munro, and B. C. Harter had canoed up the river from the Jones cabin, beaching the canoe above the "hole" where the accident occurred. They swam across the river, rested a short time, and started back, after Harold had assured his companions that he could cope with the strong current at this point.

Attempts at Rescue Fail

Harter reached the east bank first, and as he came up from a dive, Professor Conover called to him to help Harold, who was apparently in distress. Harter guided him to a point where he supposed the water to be shallow, releasing him there with the question, "Made it all right, Harold?"

Harold sank without a word, caught in a whirlpool of the river. As he went down, Harter clutched his hair, and Professor Conover rushing to his assistance, also grabbed the hair of the youth. As Harold sank he pulled both his friends under and while they were beneath the surface they lost their hold upon him. He never returned to the surface.

Cramps Cause Death

Dragging with grappling hooks was carried on for five hours before the body was recovered. Examination by the coroner established the fact that Harold suffered an attack of cramp which probably was the cause of death. Only a small amount of water was found in his lungs, and blood clots, together with the posture of the body when it was found, indicated that he was seized with a severe cramp.

The death of the young man is particularly sad because of the promise he had given of a brilliant future as a writer. During the three years of his student life at K. S. A. C., where he was enrolled in journalism, he was regarded as the most capable and outstanding student in the department. He was the originator of the Campus Echoes column in the Collegian, and was editor-in-chief of the Brown Bull. He was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity and of Sigma Delta Chi.

Received Scholarships at Columbia

His work at the Pulitzer school of journalism, Columbia university, where he studied last year was also noteworthy. He was president of his class at Columbia. The day after his death word was received by his parents that he had been awarded a scholarship offered by the university for superior work. During his stay in New York he wrote a weekly column on New York life for the Topeka Daily Capital.

Harold is the son of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Hobbs of Manhattan. He had returned to Manhattan to spend the vacation with his parents and had been home only three days when the accident occurred.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Christian church.

Misses Laura and Margaret McAdams are visiting at the home of their brother, J. H. McAdams, 1567 Leavenworth.

Strayer Is Assembly Speaker

Dr. George D. Strayer of Columbia university will be the speaker at the second student assembly of the summer session which will be held at 10 o'clock, Friday, June 13. The subject of Doctor Strayer's address will be "Building a Nation."

Zero hour will be shortened, it was announced from the office of Dean Holton yesterday, four classes being held before the assembly period.

COMMUNITY LEADERSHIP SCHOOL BEGINS JUNE 24

25 Courses of Interest of Teacher, Minister, and Club Worker Are Offered—Regular Students May Enrol

June 24 to July 9 is the date set for the School of Community Leadership, a series of short courses in subjects of interest to local leaders. More than 100 persons from different parts of the state have already enrolled, and an even larger number is expected.

Dean E. L. Holton, director of the summer school, has expressed himself as especially favorable to having regular summer school students enrol for these courses. While credit is not given toward a college degree, there is a vast amount of information available with regard to sources and methods for work in the average community. Each student enrolled in school will no doubt find it possible to take at least one of these special courses. There is no charge of any kind for this work.

The School of Community Leadership was instituted last year and the success of the first session insured its continuance. Plans for the coming session are similar to those of last year. Twenty-five courses are offered, each under the personal supervision of a specialist in this field. Particular attention will be given to the needs of the individual student.

Courses are offered in the following subjects: community organization, rural commerce, advertising and salesmanship, local government, rural education, the community school, the rural church, religious education, the community program, dramatic coaching, making a community drama, pageantry production, community music, community games, interpretative and folk dancing, public speaking for leaders, the community in print, community health and sanitation, elementary nutrition and dietetics, boys' and girls' club work, Boy Scout training, Campfire girls' training, community radio, social evolution, eugenics.

FIRST MIXER NEXT WEEK

Summer Entertainments to Be "Bigger and Better"

The first summer school mixer of the 1924 session will be held on Friday or Saturday evening, June 20 or 21. The exact date and details will be announced later.

As has been the custom for the past three or four summers, the mixers this year are to be bigger and better than ever. The gymnasium will be used, the summer school student body having outgrown Recreation hall. Dancing is to be the chief form of amusement, though entertainment for the non-dancing contingent is to be provided.

Special effort is being made this summer by Dean E. L. Holton and the committee on entertainment to make the mixers unanimous. Admission is, of course, free to all regularly enrolled students and it is expected that everybody will come and get acquainted with the other 1091.

TRYOUTS FOR PAGEANT BEGIN

MISS BURR TO DIRECT THIRD PRODUCTION AT COLLEGE

Second Chapter of Trilogy Covers Period from Revolution to Civil War—Rehearsals Begin

Preparations for the historical pageant, which will be staged at the college on July 4, will begin this week, according to an announcement by Miss Osceola Burr, instructor of pageantry at the college.

Cover Three Historical Periods

The historical pageant, which was written by Miss Burr, is in the form of a trilogy, the three parts covering three periods in American history. The first period covers the history of this country from the time of its founding until the close of the Revolutionary war, even going back some into the history of the old world. This part first was produced at the college on July 4, 1922, with such success that it was repeated last year.

This year's pageant, the second period, covers the era of development of the history of the United States from the close of the Revolutionary war until the Civil war. One of the features this year will be the fact that between 500 and 600 people will be used in the pageant instead of 200, the number necessary to stage the first pageant of the trilogy.

Pageant a Community Project

This pageant is not expressly for the summer school students and faculty at the college, but is for the townspeople as well. It is a community project.

THREE AGGIE GRADS TO ENTER OLYMPIC FINALS

Red Erwin Entered by K. S. A. C.—Ray Watson and Ivan Riley to Run Under Colors of I. A. C.

Three graduates of the Kansas State Agricultural college, two of them of the class of '24, stand excellent chances of making the American Olympic team. They are Ray Watson, '21, middle distance runner; Ivan Riley, '24, hurdler; and L. E. Erwin, '24, sprinter.

Run Under I. A. C. Colors

Since his graduation, Watson has been running under the colors of the Illinois Athletic club. Riley also is a member of the Illinois Athletic club, and for the last year, having previously completed his three years of competition in the Missouri valley conference, has been entered in numerous events as a representative of the I. A. C.

All three former Aggies will compete in the final Olympic tryouts at Boston next Saturday, Watson and Riley being entered by the I. A. C. and Erwin by his alma mater.

Watson Is Half Mile Champion

Watson, a member of the last Olympic team, is one of America's best bets for the middle distance at the international games in Paris this summer. He is American champion in the half mile and the 1,000 yards indoor. He holds the Missouri valley record in the mile.

Wichita, Kan., is the home of this remarkable athlete, always a favorite in his races because of his spare build and the fact that he has only one hand. Before his college days he was regarded as a weakling. His doctor especially warned him to avoid great exertion because of an alleged weak heart. Watson never worked out for track until his freshman year in college. When he first appeared in track suit the old timers on the team had a good laugh at the expense of the "weakling."

The idea of a man having only one hand taking part in athletics was rather ludicrous but Watson trained hard and ignored the gawking somewhat amused onlookers. His persistence and his conscientious training attracted the attention of the coaches. He made the track team in his sophomore year, developing rapidly during his junior and senior years.

In the last three years he has been in a dozen or so match races with Joie Ray of Chicago, breaking about even with the famous middle distance runner in victories won.

Riley Holds World's 400 Record

Watson won the 800 meter at the Olympic semi-finals at Ann Arbor May 31 in 1 minute 52 1-5 seconds. He probably will run the 800 meter and 1,500 meter races at Paris.

Riley's rise to nation wide athletic fame within the last year brought him numerous opportunities to compete in all parts of the country. He is Missouri valley high and low hurdle champion. National Intercollegiate high hurdle champion, and holder of the world's record in the 400 meter hurdles which he ran in 52 1-5 seconds at the Ann Arbor Olympic tryouts last month.

Erwin Represents the Aggies

Although Riley, whose home is Newton, Kan., ran only the quarter mile as a high school athlete, Coach Bachman very soon discovered in him the possibilities of a hurdler, and the youngster owes much to the Aggie head coach for his development.

"Red" Erwin, generally regarded as one of the fast sprinters of America, was a lucky find. Following his sophomore year he attended a reserve officer's summer training camp and while there competed in a regimental meet. His showing was so remarkable that he was induced to come out for track at the college the following spring. He became valley indoor sprint champion and led his team as captain during his senior year. At the Olympic tryouts held at the University of Kansas May 31 he equalled the time of Paddock of California in the 100 meter against a slight wind, running it in 10 4-5. He also won the 200 meter race in the rain and against a slight wind, at 22 1-5 seconds. He will represent the Aggies at the Olympic finals at Harvard next Saturday.

ENROLMENT PASSES 1,000 MARK

Official Count Showed 1,091 in Attendance Yesterday

With the enrolment figure well over the 1,000 mark, a few students are still enrolling according to a report from the registrar's office. The official count at noon yesterday was 1,091.

This is a considerable increase over the attendance last year, 929 being registered up to June 10, 1923. The total enrolment last year was 978. The few late comers who are still straggling in are expected to swell the total to more than 1,100 this year.

engagement by the public speaking department of the college, and will appear in recital at the auditorium Thursday and Friday evenings, June 12 and 13.

Will Read Two Plays

Last January Professor Immel delighted a large audience at the regular assembly period with his interpretation of George Bernard Shaw's play, "The Devil's Disciple." Because of the popularity of this program he has been asked to present this play again on Friday evening. On Thursday evening he will read William Clyde Fitch's drama, "Nathan Hale."

Professor Immel has attained a well established place for himself in the field of public speaking. He is treasurer and general manager of the national association of teachers of speech, is a former editor of the Quarterly Journal of Speech, and was at one time general manager of this publication. He has also gained considerable prominence as a reader. He is at present making a tour of schools and colleges of the west and central west, more than half of his performances being return engagements.

Tickets on Sale Tuesday

According to those who have had the opportunity to hear him, Professor Immel's recitals are characterized by the accuracy and interesting quality of his character interpretations, and his ability to visualize for his audience each of the persons he represents. Another source of his charm is the pungency and readiness of the wit which he puts into the reading of any play.

Tickets for these performances will be on sale in Anderson hall Tuesday and Wednesday, and at the box office Thursday and Friday evenings. A general admission charge of 50 cents will be made. There will be no reserved seats. The recitals will begin each evening at 8:15.

New Dramatic Director Here

E. G. McDonald of the University of Illinois has been selected director of dramatics for the summer session, to take the place of Prof. Ray E. Holcomb who resigned in May. Professor McDonald arrived in Manhattan last week to begin his new duties.

HAROLD HOBBS

Few students who are now in attendance or who have attended Kansas State Agricultural college in the past have possessed an inherent gift for their particular professions as did Harold Hobbs. His work came as from a genius, on the threshold of his career.

The many friends of Harold who have admired his ability, his zeal, were saddened by the accident last Friday, which took so promising a life.

Harold received the major part of his education in Manhattan. He attended the grade schools and high school of the city and then took practically all of the work offered in the department of journalism at K. S. A. C. The past year was spent at Columbia where he took his first year of professional study in journalism.

Literature was his delight. And in it he excelled. His writing was individual. He edited several issues of the Kansas Aggie Brown Bull; he contributed generously to various magazines, and when he attended Columbia university he was author of a Sunday column in the Topeka Daily Capital. At Columbia, too, he received the distinction of being one of the editors of the journalism year book and received the further honor of being elected president of the class.

It was his ambition to become a literary critic on one of the large dailies of this country; he had made long strides toward the realization of this ambition. His fitness for such a position is testified in all he wrote. Harold's friends will always remember best his eagerness to devote all his energy to the job before him, his determination to reach the pinnacle in his chosen profession. His accomplishments as a student and an amateur, yet, in writing instilled his associates to try bigger things.

One's real attainments come after the training stage in school is ended. What Harold might have done in the literary field is now only a matter of thought. What he would have done for the betterment of conditions of life is a certainty in the minds of us all.

As sure as I am of my mother's love so sure am I that the writing craft has been despoiled of a true workman and the world of a choice spirit in the death of Harold Hobbs.

Taken in the early days of his life, as he was just beginning to come into the heritage of training and to reap the fruits of experience, Harold left only fragments to attest what might have been his to give to the world. Upon what he had done was, however, the stamp of the earnest Truth-seeker and Toller, the mark of high talent.

Capacity for labor was his beyond that of the ordinary mortal and he was possessed with the driving desire to attain closer and ever closer to perfection that lifts the true craftsman in any field above his fellows. Never have I known him to be satisfied with any piece of work. Not once did he invite inspection of an accomplishment as something ultimate. Always he deprecated the results of his effort as somehow lacking.

Truth was Harold's goal. So many apparent truths presented themselves to him that he was in constant turmoil to separate untruth and half-truth from the absolute Truth. This inward tumult manifested itself in a restless spirit incomprehensible to most of his acquaintances and oftentimes puzzling to us who knew him best.

His continuing effort to find an answer to the enigma of Truth led him to despise sham and pretense and ignobility of whatever sort. It made him a crusader.

Harold did not believe in a policy of attrition in attack. Quick, hard thrusts with a sharp sword was his method. He tilted unceasingly at cant and bunk and hokum in undergraduate life. He irritated many an unctuous schoolfellow by turning the searchlight of his scornful logic full on the warty features of college tradition with the sacred veil of custom thrown aside.

The very vehemence of Harold's crusading was evidence of his hopefulness. Although he professed to be carrying on his forays simply because it amused him, the biting quality of his phrases belied him. He was not and never would have been a cynic who despaired of betterment. He could not be gently facetious with offenders against his cherished Truth.

"This man decided not to Live but Know" wrote Browning. Harold was the exemplar of that spirit. May he find Truth.

SOCIETY

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Amy Jane Leazenby and Prof. Eric Englund, both members of the faculty of K. S. A. C., was made recently at a breakfast at Ellen Richards lodge, 1641 Laramie street. The following guests were present: Dr. Margaret M. Justin, Mrs. R. C. Smith, Miss Dorothy Cashen, Miss Jean Dobbs, Miss Dorothy Brown, Mrs. Mary Elva Crockett, Miss Mary Mason, Miss Martha Pittman, Miss Nora Dalby, Miss Pearl E. Ruby, Miss Elsie Smith, Miss Mina Bates, Miss Mary Worcester, Miss Margaret Ahlborn, Miss Florence Clark, Miss Katherine Hudson, Dr. Margaret Russell, Miss Martha Kramer, and Miss Emily Bennett.

At a meeting of the U. and I. club, held at the home of Miss Ethel Myers Thursday, May 29, announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Sylvia Petrie to Earl Carrol. Mr. Carrol was graduated from K. S. A. C. with the class of '23, while Miss Petrie received her degree at the end of summer school last year. The members of the club and guests who were present were Miss Sylvia Petrie, Miss Maud Mueller of Pratt, Miss Jeanette Otto, Miss Gladys Pierce, Miss Hazel Currence, Miss Doris Cooksey, Miss Birdie May Gear, Miss Kitty Faulconer, Miss Evelyn Colburn, Mrs. I. D. Colburn, and Miss Ethel Myers.

Miss Helen Van Gilder and Miss Dahy Barnett entertained at the home of Miss Barnett Monday afternoon with a handkerchief shower in honor of Miss Lenore Berry who is to be a June bride. The guests were as follows: Miss Marie Correll, Miss Laura McAdams, Miss Margaret McAdams, Miss Eleanor Watson, Miss Content Peck, Mrs. Margaret R. Buchman, Mrs. Helen Berry of Kansas City, Mrs. Max Wolf, Mrs. Claude Graves, Miss Josephine Hemphill of Clay Center, Miss Mildred Halstead, Miss Velma Lawrence, Miss Hazel Richards, Miss Grace Justin, Miss Helen Van Gilder, and Miss Dahy Barnett.

Lease—Honska

Announcement was made last week of the marriage of Miss Zella Lease and W. Benjamin Honska which took place December 24, 1923. Mr. Honska was graduated from K. S. A. C. in '11, and for several years following his graduation was district engineer in the Philippine Islands. He is now engaged in federal highway work. Miss Lease attended Washburn college and has been teaching in Mankato. The young people will make their home in Topeka.

Miss Jean Frances Middleton entertained with a dinner dance Friday evening, May 30, in honor of Miss Dolly Boyle of Dubois. The dinner was served at the Gillett hotel, and was followed by dancing at the Country club house. The guests were as follows: Miss Eleanor Dempsey, Miss Mary Higinbotham, Miss Dolly Boyle, Miss Helen Eakin, Miss Jean Frances Middleton, Tom Griffith, Burr Swartz, Tom Drake, Milton Eisenhower, and Jack Eakin.

Wilson—Buster

The marriage of Miss Hazel Wilson of Luray, and Dr. Cecil J. Buster of Manhattan was solemnized at the Delta Zeta house, Sunday evening, June 1. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. H. Fisher. The attendants were Miss Ella Wilson, the bride's sister, and Arthur Stark. Miss Wilson is a former student of K. S. A. C., and a member of the Delta Zeta sorority. Doctor Buster, a graduate of the Kansas City Dental college, has conducted a dental office in Manhattan for several years. Out of town guests at the wedding were the parents of the bride and of the bridegroom, all of Luray.

HOLD PLAY TRYOUTS

Summer School Students Will Present "Dulcy"

Tryouts for the summer school play, "Dulcy" will be held in G56 Monday and Tuesday of next week from one to five, according to an announcement from E. G. McDonald, director of dramatics.

The play is a satirical comedy of American life. It was chosen by the class of '23 as the senior class play, but was not presented. The cast includes three women and seven men, one of whom must be able to play the piano. The play will be presented about the middle of July.

Professor McDonald is particularly anxious that a large number of students shall try out. If any of the members of the cast are now in school who were chosen for the parts a year ago, he will be glad to have an interview with them.

CAMPUS ECHOES

J. F. H.

It's fun to go to summer school
At old K. S. A. C.
The days are warm, but the nights are cool—
At least, they're s'posed to be.

It's fun to rise at early dawn
Before the milkman passes,
My friends have told me this is so—
They have no first hour classes.
Pessimistic Prue.

Greetings, summer school students. Take it from one who has been there, it's a great life, if you don't take American government under I. Victor Iles. If you innocently make such a mistake as to sign up for three hours of torture which rivals that of the Spanish Inquisition, let nothing prevent you from spending five hours a day on your assignments, and always get to class on time.

And another bit of advice—don't try to show your individuality and freedom from convention by using dashes instead of the approved Iles system of punctuation in your notebook—only the scatterbrained, featherbrained, harebrained journalism students dare to do that—and even they do it only once.

There is a tradition current in Manhattan to the effect that in the summer time the instructors are more lenient—more democratic, perhaps, due to the warm weather—and that the spirit of camaraderie which exists between teachers and pupils makes the summer session an unmitigated pleasure.

We will not disillusion you so early in the season. Suffice it to say we detected an error in this popular tradition last summer.

Of course there are interesting moments.

We remember one sultry day last July when Professor Limper's class in beginning French was more than usually dull. "Sans" was the word that stumped the third girl from the right in the second row. "Sans," said Mr. Limper encouragingly, "you know what that means. Remember the old Mother Goose rhyme, 'sans eyes, sans teeth, sans taste, sans everything'?"

The joke was too good to keep! Fancy—an instructor in modern languages who didn't know his Mother Goose better than that!

We hurried right over to Kedzie to tell H. W. D. about it. He smiled, vaguely—gropingly. "Lessee," he mused, "didn't Omar Khayyan write that is his Rubiyat?" And he the head of the English department!

Once more we tried to brighten up the summer school atmosphere by telling what we thought was a joke. This time we chose our victim with more care. Marie had just completed a course in Shakespeare under Miss Sturmer. We didn't intend to risk any more professors.

Marie didn't fail us. She saw the point, she laughed, long and loud. "The very idea," she chuckled, "of Mr. Limper thinking Mother Goose wrote that! He'd better brush up on his Longfellow."

"But Marie, Longfellow didn't write it."

"Yes, he did," she insisted. "I learned that when I was a child—there's something more to it, about 'footprints on the sans o' time.'"

We somehow lost interest in the joke after that—it had fallen flat, as it were.

Another thing, don't fail to attend chapel. You may feel the call of the Great Outdoors, or the need of a coke to sustain you through 60 minutes of English Bible, but if you don't go to chapel and sing "The Crocodile Lives in the Tropical Belt," with Professor Pratt, you're missing half your life.

And you can't afford to do that in summer school.

munity project and Miss Burr is anxious that the people of Manhattan lend their time and effort to making a success of this project.

The selection of characters for the various parts of the pageant began Monday, although rehearsals will not start until the latter part of the week. The costumes for the pageant are being prepared in the clothing and textiles department of the college. They will include every manner of dress and wearing apparel included in the period which will be characterized.

Miss Burr Is Director

The third chapter of the trilogy, which will conclude the depiction of the stages of development of our country, will be given July, 1925. This chapter will cover that period of history which extends from the close of the Civil war to the World war.

Miss Burr, instructor of pageantry at the college and director of this production, is noted throughout the country for her skill in pageantry conducting. She has written several pageants which have been put on at the college and over the state.

LOCAL LEADERS BEGIN TRAINING

TWENTY-ONE COURSES OFFERED FOR TWO WEEKS

School of Community Leadership Holds First Classes Today—Schedule and Instructors Announced

Considerable interest is being manifested in the school of Community Leadership which was officially launched at the college yesterday. The school is a two weeks' short course designed especially to meet the needs of the local leader. Class work began today, and will continue until July 9.

Offer Twenty-One Courses

A number of people have come to the college for the sole purpose of taking this work, and in addition there are a large number of students regularly enrolled in summer school who are interested in community work.

Twenty-one courses are being offered, all under the direction of specialists. The short course is planned to guide the community leader, to help him to get started in his work, and then to help him after he has made a start.

May Still Enrol

Those who did not enrol, but who desire to do so should attend the first meeting of the class today.

The schedule for the courses follows:

Advertising and salesmanship, Prof. H. W. Davis, K 56, 10 o'clock; community organization, Prof. Walter Burr, A 73, 11 o'clock; local government, Prof. I. Victor Iles, F 56, 1 o'clock; religious education, Dr. A. A. Holtz, Y office, 10 o'clock; dramatic coaching, Prof. Earle S. McDonald, G 34, 9 o'clock; rural commerce, MWF, Prof. Walter Burr, A 74, 2 o'clock; heredity and eugenics, Prof. R. K. Nabours, F 53, 11 o'clock; rural education, Dean E. L. Holton, F 60, 8 o'clock; pageantry, Miss Osceola Burr, G 53, 9 o'clock; public speaking, Dr. Howard T. Hill, G 56, 1 o'clock; the community in print, Prof. C. E. DR. J. S. DAVIS TO SPEAK ON EUROPEAN SITUATION

Well Known Economist Will Give First-hand View of European Situation

Doctor J. S. Davis, director of the Food Research Institute of Stanford University, Stanford, Cal., will talk at the summer school assembly at 10 o'clock Friday morning, June 27. Doctor Davis' subject will be the European situation.

Doctor Davis is just returning from Germany where he was connected with the Dawes commission on the German reparations problem. He will bring to Manhattan a first-hand knowledge of the present day problems of the German reparations and the entire European situation. Previous experience which Doctor Davis has had makes him well fitted to be a member of this commission and to discuss the European situation. During the World war he was statistician for the American section of the Inter-Allied Maritime commission at London.

Previous to taking up his work with the Food Research Institute, he was a member of the Harvard committee on economic research. He is recognized as one of the most capable of the younger American economists. He is an excellent speaker and his address is one which will be of interest to all those who can attend.

The immediate cause of Doctor Davis' visit to Manhattan is to go over the work done by the department of agricultural economics. The Food Research Institute has been cooperating with the department of agricultural economics in marketing and farm organization studies. Doctor Davis is stopping at Manhattan on his return from Europe so that he may confer with members of the department of agricultural economics concerning these cooperative studies.

PROF. IRA PRATT TO GIVE CHICAGO RECITAL JULY 10

Will Present Program at Assembly on July 3

Prof. Ira Pratt, head of the department of music at the college, will appear in recital at the Cosmopolitan School of Music in Kimball hall, Chicago on July 10. The recital is one of a series which will be given by singers from different sections of the country in connection with lectures on vocal development by Mrs. W. S. Bracken.

Twice before, Professor Pratt has appeared in recital in Kimball hall, once during the summer of 1921, and again in 1922. The audience at these recitals is made up almost entirely of music teachers.

Miss Mary Welch who sang at the college auditorium during Festival week will give one of the recitals of the series. Other noted singers will appear during the summer, so that the request to sing comes as a distinct recognition of Professor Pratt's ability.

Dean Holton has asked Professor Pratt to present his program in assembly and this he has promised to do on July 3.

AWARD LETTERS TO 21 MEN

Karns Is Baseball Captain and Knouse Heads Tracksters

R. M. Karns of Ada was the selection of his team mates for the captaincy of the Kansas Aggie baseball team, and Kenneth Knouse of Valley Falls was named captain of the track team by the track letter men, according to a recent announcement of the athletic board. Thirteen baseball and eight track men were awarded letters at a meeting of the athletic board last week.

Letter men on the baseball team are Albert Biehn, Hebron; Paul Vohs, Osawatomie, Henry Karns and R. W. Karns, Ada; Burr Swartz, Hiawatha; L. M. Staley, Garden City; Lyle Munn, Colby; Glenn Aikens, Valley Falls; Rex Huey, Louisville; Edward Cunningham, Bernard Conroy, Lyle Ernst, and N. S. Barth, Manhattan.

The track men awarded letters are L. E. Erwin, Manhattan; Kenneth Knouse, Valley Falls; H. A. Brockway, Olathe; E. E. Coleman, Oskaloosa; Ralph Kimport, Norton; A. L. Blazer, Inman; John Gartner, Manhattan, and P. R. Carter, Bradford.

Purchase New Home

The Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity has recently purchased the W. T. Foster house, 1630 Humboldt. The house will be remodeled during August and will be ready for occupancy by September 1.

PAGEANT PLANS ARE UNDER WAY

COMMITTEE ADOPTS PLAN OF PATRONS AND PATRONESSES

Chorus of Children Under Direction of Professor Putnam Will Furnish Music

Work on the historical pageant which will be staged on the east campus on the evening of July 4 is progressing rapidly, Miss Osceola Burr, director of pageantry at the college, announces. "The Symbol of Union," this year's production, is the second chapter of a trilogy, covering the period of history from the close of the Revolutionary war to the Civil war.

Children's Chorus to Furnish Music

Music for the production will be furnished by a chorus composed of members of the boys' band and the Campfire girls. Professor Putnam of the music department is training this chorus.

In order to place the undertaking on a more firm financial basis, the plan of appointing patrons and patronesses, which is used in connection with large productions in the east, has been adopted. The plan provides for the appointment of 100 influential men and women to back the enterprise. They are kept posted as to the progress of the pageant and are thus able to give first hand information to their friends.

Name Episode Leaders

Miss Burr returned last night from Kansas City where she selected the costumes which it will be necessary to rent. Part of the costumes are being made by students in the department of clothing and textiles.

Episode leaders who are assisting with the production are as follows:

Marie Louise Cox, in charge of the Daniel Boone episode; Mrs. Velva Louise Allen and Berta Weyer, the immigration episode; Miss Clara Yowell, the soldiers' farewell episode; Grace Curris, secession; Laura and Orpha Russell, George Washington inauguration; Edith Godwin and Margaret Howe, Civil war soldier; Claramary Smith, followers of Hope; Phona Clingen Smith and Mary Frost, the pony express and the stage coach; Edith Reece, the thirteen colonies. Laura Sumners and Anna Seville will have charge of the part entitled "Westward Ho!" which includes the old hunters, traders, cowboys, forty niners, and settlers who helped make possible the settling of this western land. Mrs. Pearl Nelson will have charge of the Surrender of General Lee episode; and Mr. Freeman will have the directing of the plantation scene.

STRAYER ADDRESSES ASSEMBLY

Public Service Here to Stay Columbia Professor Declares

"Public service is here to stay. The welfare of the state and nation depends upon that service," said Dr. George D. Strayer of Columbia in an address delivered at the second student assembly of the summer school, Friday, June 13. "There will be no decrease in the proportion of our incomes devoted to public service," he declared.

"The tax system of today is based upon conditions 100 years ago," the speaker said. It should be so supported that there would be an equalization of benefits. One of the mistakes is that taxes are levied upon tangible assets such as farms, property, houses, and other buildings instead of upon incomes.

Taxes should be levied upon business profits, upon inheritance, and upon gifts. In only 17 states today are there personal income laws.

"In order to make people interested in the government, it is necessary for them to pay part of the bills," Doctor Strayer stated. "If they do not think that they are paying anything on public debts, extravagance will predominate."

"No other public service is so fundamental to the development of the nation as public education. Yet there are more than a million children who are denied this privilege. In the United States today there are more than 6,000,000 who have been denied this opportunity."

SUMMER SCHOOL STUDES WILL NOT GIVE "DULCY"

Three One Act Plays Will Be Substituted—Rehearsals to Begin Next Week

That men are less ambitious than women, or that they are more easily overcome with the heat was the conclusion of E. M. McDonald, director of dramatics, at the close of the tryouts for the summer school play last Tuesday. Owing to this inertia on the part of the men, the public speaking department has been obliged to change its plans for the presentation of "Dulcy."

Instead, three one act plays will be given. The plays selected are "The Twelve Pound Look," by James M. Barrie. "The Step Mother," by Arnold Bennett, and "Joint Owners in Spain," by Alice Brown. All three are comedies.

Rehearsals will begin the first of next week and the plays will be presented about the middle of July, probably on the evening of July 18.

The cast for the plays follow:

"The Twelve Pound Look"—Sir Harry Sims, David Hervey; Lady Sims, Inga Ross; Kate, Helen Schneider; Tombs, Verne C. Hill.

"The Step Mother"—Mrs. Prout, Claramary Smith; her secretary, Katherine King; Adrian Prout; R. L. Andres; Doctor Gardner, Harold Flamm.

"Joint Owners in Spain"—Mrs. Mitchell, Lottie Butts; Mrs. Fullerton, Louise Alexander; Miss Dyer, Frances Curtis; Miss Blair, Verda Weyer.

VALUATION OVER THREE MILLION REPORT SHOWS

Enrolment Increases in Last Five Years

Three million three hundred five thousand nine hundred twenty-four dollars is the total valuation of the Kansas State Agricultural college grounds, buildings, and equipment as given in a report from the college business office. These figures do not include the value of property at the sub-stations.

The college now owns 1,399 acres of land at Manhattan valued at $392,600. The 23 buildings on the campus are reputed to be worth $1,767,000, and the equipment in these buildings at $1,084,532. The livestock owned by the college is valued at $61,792.

The faculty includes 393 professors, assistant professors, and instructors. The enrolment has increased steadily during the last few years. Students attending the college during the last five years have numbered as follows: 1919-20, 3,352; 1920-21, 3,395; 1921-22, 3,560; 1922-23, 3,626; 1923-24, 3,812.

Men's Pool Open

The men's pool will be open each day except Saturday from 4 to 6 o'clock and a competent swimming instructor will be on duty each day from 5 to 6 the department of physical education announced yesterday. All men, either students or faculty members, will be permitted to use the pool.

TWO AGGIES ON OLYMPIC TEAM

WATSON AND RILEY RUN UNDER IAC COLORS

Both Placed Fourth in Boston Tryouts—Riley Holds World's Record in 400 Meter Hurdle

Ray B. Watson and Ivan Riley, former stars on the Aggie track team, will take part in the Olympic games which will be held in Paris next month. Watson and Riley both are entered for the Illinois Athletic club. They have been running for this organization since they finished active competition on the Aggie athletic teams.

Both Runners Place Fourth

Watson, by placing fourth in the 800 meter run at Boston in the final Olympic tryouts, earned his place on the American team. He was a member of the 1920 Olympic team. Watson has been running better each year and he is expected to go well at the international games, although he did not exert himself at Boston.

Riley won his position on the American squad by placing fourth in the 400 meter hurdle race. The former Aggie athlete holds the world's record in this event but he placed fourth in the final tryouts. The time made by the winner in the event, however, was .6 seconds below Riley's record so it is believed that he will be able to show the field his heels in the race at Paris.

Erwin Fails to Qualify

L. E. Erwin, Aggie speed merchant and captain of the 1924 team, competed in the finals at Boston but did not qualify. He drew the heat in which Murchison and Paddock were entered and was not able to place. In any other heat he would have stood a good chance of winning since he tied Paddock's Olympic time for the 100 meter hurdles when he ran the distance in 10.8 seconds at the district tryouts at K. U. He was unable to get up his usual speed in the finals however.

Add New Gleaner

A gleaner to gather up hay missed by the hayloader, is an innovation recently added by the dairy department of the Kansas State Agricultural college. Something of a rake-like attachment, it is fastened onto the hayloader to pick up any hay which has been dropped or missed. It is very easy to operate, requires no additional power, and saves time and money in hay. The test to which it has been subjected by the dairy department has proved that the gleaner is quite successful unless the hay is extremely wet.

CRAWFORD TO EUROPE

Journalism Department Head to Tour England and the Continent

Prof. N. A. Crawford, head of the department of journalism at K. S. A. C., left Sunday, June 15, for New York. He will sail on June 27 for Europe where he will make an extended tour, returning to the United States the latter part of August.

Professor Crawford will be a member of a party under the auspices of the Fellowship for a Christian Social Order and other organizations. The party will visit England, France, Germany, Switzerland, and Czechoslovakia. About half of the time will be spent in London.

While in England, Professor Crawford will visit Wye in the county of Kent where he will confer with the authorities at the Southwestern Agricultural college concerning the establishment of a department of agricultural journalism in that school.

ECONOMY

An exchange yields the following. "One of the instructors at the agricultural college recently made a trip to a Kansas town to give a talk on 'Bird Conservation' and the expense voucher contained this significant notation: 'Not only was the address valuable to the people of the community, but she saved more than $3 express on 25 cats which she brought back with her.'"

If the instructor in question will make her identity known, we shall devote our entire attention to giving her the publicity which this heroic deed so richly deserves.

IT'S WORTH WHILE

Every once in a while there comes to K. S. A. C. an entertainment that is really worth while. There are a few that deserve the effort and energy that is necessary to carry them to a successful conclusion. Such a project was the music Festival. And such is the Pageant.

Those in charge of the pageant are planning to make it an annual affair which in time will become the summer attraction of the state and even of the middle west. Lindsborg developed its Messiah, which is attended each year by huge crowds, Manhattan is going to develop its Pageant.

According to those in charge of the event, its fame has reached the outskirts of Kansas in the two years in which it has been held. This year it has become an attraction that rivals any celebration in the middle west of the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

If you are asked to aid in the presentation of the Pageant, do so with the idea that you are helping a very worthy cause.

There is nothing as valuable in old age as the Royal Purple, get one now at the Co-op Book Store.

Oldhometown, June 24.—Lots of showers we're having lately. The rain is good for the corn, but the accompanying wind is bad for the wheat.

Deacon Ogilvie says the folks in this town are getting so blamed friendly that a man can't take a walk for his health any more without turning down nine or 10 auto rides.

The young people who are home from college had a bridge-dance Saturday night at the Parker home. Mrs. B. Wareham Parker, who is a great friend of Reverend and Mrs. Dowright, wrote up the affair for the Daily Zephyr, and threatened to stop her subscription if the society editor changed one word of the sentence which read: "The young folks had a lovely time at the party, playing the old-fashioned games and stunts, and devoting the evening to a delightful combination of music and conversation, followed by exquisite refreshments of angel food cake and strawberry ice cream."

The society editor says she can conceive of even greater calamities than losing Mrs. B. Wareham Parker as a subscriber.

Grandma Orris has had her hair bobbed and declares she is going to Kansas City for one of these here "prominent waves" her coed granddaughter talks about.

"What's the matter, Uncle, bee sting you?" asked young Wilbur Wilkins as he passed by the Tompkins house today.

"No, youngster," said Uncle Ezra, coming down slowly from a two-foot leap in the air, and settling himself gingerly in the porch swing. "No, youngster, nothin' like that. Every time Sarey starts that daggoned new vacooum cleaner o' hern, I look around to see where the fire's at."

Miss Malinda Tucker, who is running for register of deeds on the Democratic ticket, was out to lodge Friday night for the first time in two years.

The Whitneys, that is, Mrs. Whitney and the children, picked gooseberries and picnicked down by the river last Sunday. Mrs. Whitney worried all day for fear Reverend Dowright would call and Pa would tell more than he ought. Although, as Mrs. Whitney maintains, the good Lord would just as soon have her picking a few gooseberries on Sunday as staying home and sweating over a hot stove.

Everybody in our neighborhood knows when Aunt Sarah Tompkins is mad, because she always sings hymns until her angry passions subside. Even the children talk in whispers when they hear the more or less sweet strains of "Rock of Ages" broadcast from the kitchen window, and see Uncle Ezra hot-footing it for the tool shed.

STADIUM AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

Structure Will Be Completed Before October 18

The east wing of the Aggie Memorial Stadium will be completed some time before October 18, the date of the Aggie-K. U. game. Work on the structure is now three weeks ahead of schedule, according to W. B. Stingley, contractor.

Three of the eight sections have been poured, while work on the fourth has begun. Mr. Stingley expects to have five sections run by July 4. This will leave only three sections to run, but the excavation work for the sections on the north end is exceedingly difficult, and it is feared that it will be a problem to get the ground ready for the forms.

The payment of outstanding pledges is being urged by the committee on funds. All of the promotion force in the publicity department has been released, thus eliminating one item of expense. From now on the committee is depending on pledges coming from volunteer effort. Pledges amounting to $7,400 have come in since February 15, 1924.

Attends Estes Park Conference

Although not the largest, the Estes Park student conference which closed Monday, June 16, was the best ever held. Dr. A. A. Holtz, student secretary of the Y. M. C. A. declared upon his return from the conference. One hundred and seventy-five boys, representing every school in the Rocky mountain district were in attendance. The teachers and speakers brought the total attendance well over the 200 mark.

Dick Patton, Newton, was the only student representing K. S. A. C. at the conference. Doctor Holtz went as a representative of the Baptist church. He was director of camp athletics.

Asked to Speak at Amherst

Miss Louise P. Glanton, head of the department of clothing and textiles at Kansas State Agricultural college, has been invited to make two addresses at the Farm and Home week at the Massachusetts Agricultural college, Amherst, Mass. Miss Glanton will be unable to make these addresses since she is to teach during the month of July at the University of Colorado. Miss Glanton has been granted leave of absence for next year and will study at Yale.

Inspect College Farm

A party of about 100 farmers from Washington county motored to Manhattan recently to spend the day inspecting the dairy and agronomy departments of the college. They were accompanied by the county agent, who showed them the college farm.

IMMEL'S RECITALS PLEASE

Only Fair Sized Audiences Attend
Reading of Plays

Prof. Ray K. Immel of the public speaking department of the University of Michigan proved pleasing to the rather small audience which heard him read "Nathan Hale," by George Fitch and "The Devil's Disciple," by George Bernard Shaw on June 13 and 14.

"Nathan Hale," while not especially adapted to one-man interpretation, was nevertheless very well done, and Professor Immel was able to keep the interest of his audience throughout the program.

"The Devil's Disciple," proved even more popular. A thoroughly enjoyable play in itself, the lines were made even stronger by Professor Immel's skill in portraying character and by the pungency of the explanations and comments which he employed.

MANY AGGIES TO TEACH NEXT YEAR

HOME EC AND AG GRADS ARE IN DEMAND

College Placement Bureau Secures Good Positions for Many—75 Have Jobs

An increased demand for Aggie teachers, especially graduates from the agricultural and home economics divisions, is being evidenced this year by high school boards of education. Approximately 75 Aggie graduates and students have been placed in high school and grade school positions. An employment bureau for the placing of teachers is maintained in the office of Dean Holton.

Many superintendents have made trips to Manhattan in order to interview prospective teachers. A number of others are in attendance at the summer session, and are constantly on the lookout for teachers.

The Aggies who will teach next year, together with the places at which they will be located are as follows:

Ethel Adams, Attica; Howard A. Ames, Corning; Maurine Ames, Coffeyville; Eunice Anderson, Phillipsburg; Leone L. Bacon, Coffeyville; Alvin K. Banman, Americus; Reba Bommer, Pratt; Thomas Bruner, Jewell City; F. C. Butel, Overbrook; E. R. Button, Mankato; Irene Conkel, Little River; Grace Constable, Ada; G. W. PROFESSOR DEHNER RESIGNS

John T. Helm Will Take Place in Architecture Department

John T. Helm of Syracuse university has been elected to succeed Prof. Walter L. Dehner, who recently resigned his position in the department of architecture, according to the announcement of Dean R. A. Seaton. Professor Dehner expects to enter commercial work, and to do some further study.

Mr. Helm will have charge of the free hand drawing classes this fall, Dean Seaton said. He comes highly recommended by Dean Butler of Syracuse university, who considers him an exceptional student in free hand drawing and water color.

Announce Assembly Speakers

A. A. Thompson, state superintendent of rural schools in Wisconsin will be the speaker at the student assembly Thursday, July 10. Mr. Thompson will speak on some phase of rural education. George Chumos of Topeka, the boy orator who recently took part in a national contest at Washington, D. C., will be the speaker at the assembly next week, Wednesday, July 16.

EISENHOWER APPOINTED TO SCOTTISH CONSULATE

Instructor in Journalism at College Is Appointed Assistant to U. S. Consul at Edinburgh

M. S. Eisenhower, '24, for the past year instructor in the department of journalism at the college, has been appointed assistant to the United States consul at Edinburgh, Scotland. He will sail sometime in August.

While in Scotland, Mr. Eisenhower expects to take some advanced work at the University of Edinburgh, specializing in the development of journalism in Europe. He will also gather data for a master's thesis.

During his undergraduate days, Mr. Eisenhower was one of the outstanding students of the college. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, was the winner of first honors in the Missouri Valley oratorical contest in 1922, is a member of Purple Masque, and this year was elected to Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholastic society. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity. He was editor-in-chief of the Kansas State Collegian, for a time was city editor of the Abilene Reflector, and was assistant to Keith Clevenger, public relations director of the Associated companies.

Mr. Eisenhower's appointment is for two years.

LAURA RUSSELL IN RECITAL

Pleases Audience at Auditorium Tuesday

Excellent tone quality, sympathetic interpretation, and pleasing stage presence characterized the appearance of Laura Russell, senior in the department of music, in recital at the auditorium last Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Russell possesses a mezzo-soprano voice of great flexibility. Her presentation of "When the Heathen Trumpets Clang" and "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair," by Haydn were particularly pleasing to her audience.

The program was as follows: "Vergiss Mein Nicht," Bach; "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair," Haydn; "Slumber Song," Gretchaninow; "Morning Hymn," Henschel; "When the Heathen Trumpets Clang," Old Welsh; "My Love's an Arbutus," Old Irish; "The Red Lark," Old Irish; "La Charmante Marguerite," Old French; "Break, Break!," Carey; "The Summer Wind," Bischoff; "Cloud Shadows," Rogers; "One Golden Day," Foster.

Mabel Murphy accompanied Miss Russell.

Professor Keith Returns

E. B. Keith, who has been studying for his doctor's degree at the University of Chicago for the past year, has returned to K. S. A. C. and is doing research work in chemistry this summer. He will resume his work in the department of chemistry next fall with the rank of assistant professor.

Miss Madalyn Avery of Wakefield, '24, visited friends in Manhattan last week.

FOOTBALL CLASS GIVEN WORKOUT

STUDENTS IN FOOTBALL COACHING REPORT FOR PRACTICE

Aggies Make Good at Coaching Game by Use of Bachman System

Workouts for students who are taking the course in football will be in order this week, according to an announcement from Coach C. W. Bachman, who is teaching the class. Practically all of the men who are taking the course will coach some high school team next year, Coach Bachman said.

Bachman Trains Winners

Aggies who have played under Coach Bachman or have taken his courses in coaching are meeting with unusual success when they introduce the Bachman style of play in different high schools.

Everett and Brady Cowell, who played under Coach Bachman during their last year in college have met with unusual success in the coaching game. Last year Everett produced the best team that Ottawa has ever had, a team that received favorable comment throughout the Kansas conference. Brady, who completed his second year of successful coaching at Iola high school this spring, has recently accepted an offer to take charge of freshman athletics at the University of Florida.

Karns Makes Good

Henry Karns has also been very successful in producing teams according to the Bachman system. He has coached for the past two years at Ada. Although the Ada high school has an enrolment of only 50 students, the team has lost only one game in the last two seasons. In one game last year, Karns' team piled up a score of 315 to their opponents 6.

Cliff Gallagher is another Aggie who has produced winning football teams by applying the principles which he learned at K. S. A. C. He has been coaching for the past two years in Manhattan high school.

Many Are Inexperienced

Many of the men who enrol in the coaching courses have not had actual experience on the gridiron, and it is for their benefit, particularly, that the workouts this week will be held.

SPECTATORS ENJOY PAGEANT

Large Crowd Sees Presentation of "Symbol of Union"

More than a thousand persons witnessed the presentation of "The Symbol of Union," the patriotic pageant which was staged on the east campus Friday evening, July 4. Against a picturesque background of green, lighted by searchlights and a high spot light from the auditorium, the pageant presented a picture which will not soon be forgotten by those who witnessed it.

The entire production was run off in a manner which showed not only efficient direction, but splendid co-operation on the part of those who were assisting with the work. The inaugural scene alone, with the imposing looking coach, the scarlet livery of the coachmen, and the colorful uniforms of the cavalry troop, was worth the price of admission.

The most applause was given to the group of old plantation singers, composed of colored students of the college. Their version of the old camp meeting spirituals was particularly enjoyable.

Music by the college orchestra with the chorus of children's voices added not a little to the strength of the production.

Brown Bull Suggests Rules of Procedure for Saturday Night

Are you acquainted with the Brown Bull, the college humor magazine? If you have been in school before, you undoubtedly are, but did you ever hear of subscribing to the college humor magazine?

The Brown Bull management has conceived the idea of selling subscriptions for next year, in order to serve their patrons better. There have been times in the past when not everyone who wanted a Bull got one—the edition ran short. If you subscribe you'll be sure of getting your copy, for "Subscribers first," will be the motto.

The Brown Bull is issued four or five times a year and sold at 25 cents a copy. A subscriber will get every issue mailed to him, free of charge—the Bull pays the postage.

The humor in the Brown Bull is of the best type. The Bull is quoted in many other college humor magazines and such national publications as Life, Judge, and College Humor.

The Saturday Night number will come out October first. It promises to be a hilarious number. Subscribe now and insure against the blues next fall. One dollar does it.

LEGUME SPECIAL VISITS SOUTHEASTERN KANSAS

Staff of Speakers to Urge More "Lime, Legumes, and Livestock"

The Legume-Livestock Prosperity Special, an automobile and truck caravan bearing a staff of speakers and a cargo of exhibits, left the college Monday, July 7, for a 10 day trip through southeastern Kansas. The purpose of the journey is to outline a legume-livestock program for this section of the state.

A county wide picnic of farmers and business men is scheduled for the day on which the caravan will visit the county. A mile long parade, headed by a band will be a feature at each stop. Following the lunch hour, a local farmer will be given a mock trial for the crime of robbing the soil. A three hour speaking program will follow.

J. C. Mohler, secretary of the state board of agriculture; George W. Catts, agricultural commissioner, Kansas City chamber of commerce; Dean H. Umberger, Prof. L. E. Call, Prof. R. I. Throckmorton, Prof. J. B. Fitch, Dr. C. W. McCampbell, Prof. C. G. Elling, Prof. A. W. Knott, Miss Amy Kelly, and Miss Luella Sherman are included on the list of speakers.

Stops will be made at Paola, Iola, Fort Scott, Girard, Chanute, Fredonia, Independence, Parsons, and Columbus.

TO GIVE SONATA RECITAL

Varied and Entertaining Program Is Planned

Of particular interest to Manhattan music lovers is the announcement of a sonata recital which will be presented by Helen Colburn-Ringo, pianist, and Harry King Lamont, violinist, some evening next week. A definite date will be announced later.

This recital will be the first of a series of presentations of chamber music, which will be given during the winter. For the first recital, particular care was taken to make the program as varied and entertaining as possible. The program includes sonatas by Mozart, Brahms, and Grieg.

There is no admission charge for this recital and everyone who desires to do so is invited to attend. The program will be given at the college auditorium.

DATE SET FOR ONE ACT PLAYS

THREE COMEDIES TO BE PRESENTED ON JULY 18

Plays Are Given Under Auspices of Public Speaking Department—Admission Charge 50 Cents

July 18 is the date set for the presentation of the three one act plays, which are to be given by summer school students under the auspices of the public speaking department. The plays are "The Twelve Pound Look," by Sir James M. Barrie, "Joint Owners in Spain," by Alice Brown, and "The Stepmother," by Arnold Bennett.

Rehearsals Held Daily

One change has been made in the cast which was recently announced. Mrs. V. L. Allen will play the part of Miss Blair in "Joint Owners in Spain."

Daily rehearsals are being held in the auditorium this week, under the direction of E. G. McDonald, director of dramatics.

All Three Are Comedies

All three of the plays are comedies. "Twelve Pound Look," concerns the coming back into the life of an egotistical, self-centered Englishman of his first wife, who had divorced him. She appears in the scene just as he has attained success, and is to be knighted.

The scene of "Joint Owners in Spain" is laid in an old lady's home. It presents two old women who have been forced to room together because they are not able to get along with any of the other inmates. The play is for the most part a comedy of characterization.

Tickets on Sale July 16

"The Stepmother," is the story of a woman novelist who has driven her stepson out of the house because his attentions to her secretary interfered with her regular work. His retaliation and the consequences are taken up in the play.

There will be no reserved seats for these performances, but a general admission charge of 50 cents will be made. Tickets will be on sale in Anderson hall on July 16 and 17, and at the box office in the auditorium on July 18. The curtain will rise at 8:30.

CANTEEN, BARBER SHOP OUSTED FROM CAMPUS

Order of Board of Administration Ends Fight of Long Standing

The college canteen, operated by N. S. Spangler, and the college barber shop, operated by J. E. Cooper, will be closed at the end of the summer session, it was announced from the office of President Jardine recently. Both the canteen and the barber shop were installed on the campus during the war and have been in operation since that time.

The order of the board of administration for the closing of the canteen and the barber shop ends a fight which has been waged by some local business houses for more than a year to bring about this result. Their contention was that the competition with Manhattan business was unfair.

The canteen and barber shop paid rental in the form of a percentage of their receipts. The revenue was applied to the support of various college activities for which no provision was made in the regular budget.

Prof. R. W. Conover entertained a group of friends at the home of Prof. H. W. Davis, 1727 Fairview, after the pageant Friday evening.

THE OLD ORDER CHANGETH

We drop a tear at the passing of the college canteen and the barber shop. In accordance with an order from the board of administration, they will be closed at the end of the present summer session.

Will life, we wonder, be worth living if, after flunking a quiz, we are not permitted even a coke in which to drown our sorrows? And what is to become of the Recreation center slicker, whose popularity varies directly with the number of drinks he will buy?

The barber shop, too, will be missed. Indeed, the modest little coed who is too bashful to go to a down town shop, but who would drop in at Joe's to have her tresses shorn, will probably have to bob her own—or let it grow out.

For one thing the oncoming generation of students can be thankful. Seminars must be abolished. For with the canteen closed, no peanuts will be available.

We almost belong to the Elect.

A Paltry Five Dollars stands between us and 12 months' association with the Top Cream of America's Intelligentsia.

It's this way. We received a confidential letter this month from Aroundamioag, which translated with the aid of the key on the letterhead, means Alfred A. Knopf. Mr. Knopf says a friend of ours sent him our name "in the belief that we should be one of the Elect."

All we need to gain admittance to the Elect is the aforementioned Paltry Five Dollars, which will entitle us to a year's subscription to the American Mercury.

Which, quoting from the personal letter, is "the only magazine of which an intelligent American can be proud."

The subtle flattery implied in that statement almost won us over.

It was with a feeling of guilt that we bought one of the two and a quarter million copies of a popular weekly which the bourgeoisie spends its nickels for every Thursday.

The American Mercury, you will remember, is edited by George Jean Nathan and H. L. Mencken, two versatile young Intellectuals who can dance a jig in their editorial offices way back East and the vibrations will knock down the neat little sets of traditions which our grandfathers (Continued on page 3)

SOCIETY

Delta Zeta entertained Wednesday evening with a dinner party, the occasion being the visit of several members from out of town. The dinner was held at the Gillett hotel at 7 o'clock. Those present were: Miss Lois Emily Litchfield of Los Angeles, Cal., Mrs. Evalene Kramer Sullivan of Fort Riley, Miss Mary Hazel Phinney of Russell, Mrs. Elizabeth Dickens Shaffer of Albuquerque, N. M., Miss Garnet Grover, who has just returned from Porto Rico, where she has spent the last two years, Miss Ruth Davison of Kansas City, Miss Velma Lockridge and Miss Vaughn De Young of Wakefield, Miss Ella Wilson of Luray, and Miss Araminta Holman, Miss Izil Polson, Mrs. Hazel Wilson Buster, Miss Bernice Fleming, Miss Charlotte Swanson, Miss Thelma Smith, Miss Verna Smith, Miss Virginia Reeder, Miss Edith Norris, Miss Ila Knight, Miss Lois Edgerton, Misses Evelyn and Leila Colwell and Miss Esther Tracy, who are in Manhattan for the summer.

Miss Janice Berry entertained the members of the Chi Omega sorority who are in town for the summer at her home, 414 North Juliette avenue, Thursday evening. Bridge was played at five tables.

Members of Phi Omega Pi entertained with a house dance Thursday evening, July 3. Mrs. A. M. Lair chaperoned, and music was furnished by the Walton orchestra. Out of town guests were Misses Helen and Mildred Stamey, Hutchinson; Miss Lois Welch, Glen Elder; Miss Vivian Jewett, Kansas City; Miss Grace Clute, La Crosse.

Biby—McArthur

Miss Ernestine Biby, '20, was married recently to Charles Edward McArthur of Kansas City. While in college Miss Biby was prominent in student activities, being a member of Xix and Phi Beta Pi. For the past year she has been teaching home economics at Sumner.

Prof. Albert Dickens and daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Shaffer, and Miss Izil Polson, left Friday for a motor trip to Gridley and Fredonia. They expect to return Monday.

Berry—Bennett

Miss Lenore Berry, '24, and John Bennett were married on June 18 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Berry, 1526 Poyntz. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. H. Fisher, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett will make their home in Washington, D. C., where Mr. Bennett is employed as an agricultural specialist with the federal tax commission.

Mrs. Eusebia Thompson gave a dinner party Tuesday evening in honor of Prof. F. C. Sears and daughters, of Amherst, Mass., and T. W. Morse of Topeka. Mrs. Thompson's guests were: Prof. and Mrs. Albert Dickens, Mrs. Elizabeth Dickens-Shaffer of Albuquerque, N. M., T. W. Morse, Prof. F. C. Sears, Misses Elizabeth and Florence Sears, Miss Lillian Bridgman of Topeka, M. R. Mudge, and Melville Thompson.

Burgwin—McWilliams

Miss Jessie Burgwin of Manhattan, f. s., and Earl M. McWilliams of Alta Vista, '24, were married on July 5 at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams left immediately after the ceremony in their car for a trip east. They will be at home after August 1, at Auburn, where Mr. McWilliams will teach vocational agriculture.

Members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity who are in town for the summer entertained with a dance at the chapter house last Friday evening.

Members of the Delta Zeta sorority entertained with a bridge party Monday evening in honor of Mrs. Elizabeth Dickens Shaffer of Albuquerque, N. M., and Miss Hilmarie Freeman, who returned recently from the Delta Zeta national convention at Evanston, Ill. The guests were Miss Izil Polson, Mrs. C. J. Buster, Miss Araminta Holman, Miss Charlotte Swanson, Misses Verna and Thelma Smith, Misses Leila and Evelyn Colwell, Miss Edith Norris, Miss Virginia Reeder, Miss Lois Edgerton, Mrs. Elizabeth Dickens Shaffer, and Miss Hilmarie Freeman.

Wednesday evening Mrs. Elizabeth Shaffer entertained with a house dance at the home of her parents, Prof. and Mrs. Albert Dickens. Preceding the dance, the guests attended a line party given by Prof. Charles Matthews. The parties were given in honor of Miss Izil Polson, who has just returned from Chicago.

PROFESSOR PRATT'S RECITAL

For the past three years, Prof. Ira Pratt, director of music at K. S. A. C., has been invited to give song recitals before Mme. Bracken's master classes in voice at the Chicago Musical college.

This year Professor Pratt consented to sing his Chicago program before the summer school students, and in general assembly last week, he sang a program which for variety in composition and difficulty in technique, surpassed anything that has been given by the college department of music in years.

That Professor Pratt sang his program exactly as it was arranged for his Chicago recital is no small compliment to the musical intelligence group. That the summer school students appreciated his recital is no small compliment to Professor Pratt.

As the programs at the Chicago Musical college are sung before specialists in voice, they are designed primarily to demonstrate the use of the voice in various styles of composition. Sacred music, aria from grand opera, folk songs, descriptive sketches and lyrical ballads all found a place on Professor Pratt's program.

The first number, Quoniam tu solus santus, from Bach's "Mass in B Minor" amounted almost to a vocal obligato to a pipe organ solo; at any rate, in this case, voice and piano shared honors. Madamina from "Don Giovanni" was a vivid operatic number in typical Mozart style. Of the group of English, Irish and Russian folk songs, the "Song of the Volga Boatmen," immortalized by the incomparable Chaliapin, was the best received. It was, perhaps, the most popular number on the program. The colorful subjective sketches of Arensky, Cui and Gretchaninoff, and the Salt Water Ballads, especially "Trade Winds" by Keel rounded out as diversified a program as it has been our good fortune to hear for some time.

Professor Pratt's voice is a flexible baritone of wide range, pleasing quality and great dramatic power. He sings easily; he sings with feeling; and his interpretive ability is away above that of the average singer on the concert stage. It was a pleasure to hear his program.—

MISS CARP RESIGNS

Director of Cafeteria to Leave K. S. A. C.

The resignation of Miss Effie Mae Carp, associate professor of household economics and director of the cafeteria, was announced yesterday by Dean Margaret M. Justin.

Miss Carp was graduated from K. S. A. C. in 1915, and after her graduation went to Michigan where she was home demonstration agent with headquarters at Ironwood. She took her master's degree in institutional management at the University of Chicago in 1921, coming to K. S. A. C. in September of that year. Miss Carp was in charge of the college cafeteria when it was moved into its new quarters, and had a hand in the planning of the new building. In addition to her work as director of the cafeteria, she teaches the classes in institutional management.

Although she has had several interesting offers, Miss Carp has not announced her plans for next year. Her successor has not yet been appointed.

FORMER AGGIE KILLED BY ELECTRIC CURRENT

Frank Dilts, Member of Swimming Team, Electrocuted in Accident at Ogden, Utah

Frank Dilts of Leon, who has attended K. S. A. C. for the past two years, was electrocuted Friday, July 11, at Ogden, Utah, where he was employed by the Utah Light and Power company.

According to the report received by friends in Manhattan, Dilts was left in charge of the power plant during the absence of the superintendent. He had been up on the roof to warn some painters who were working there that they were getting too close to high tension lines. On the way down, he stepped upon a platform, apparently to rest, and accidentally leaned against a pole which was charged with electricity. He was taken immediately to the company hospital, but lived only four hours.

Dilts was a member of the Aggie swimming team last year, and made a number of points in the various meets. He was enrolled in electrical engineering. He had two radio devices patented this spring.

Raymond Ward and Lester Jennings, both students of K. S. A. C. accompanied the body back to Leon where the funeral services were held Tuesday morning.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT BUSY

20,415 Cases Treated Last Year Siever Declares

During the school year 1922-23, 20,415 cases were treated by the medical department of the college, according to Dr. C. M. Siever. This year the number will be increased by about 2,000 Doctor Siever estimates. "Few students realize the extent of the treatments given at the college hospital and medical office, or realize the purposes for which their $3 enrolment fee is used," he declares.

A study of the cases attended during the year discloses the fact that almost every conceivable ailment was treated last year. Colds and bronchial trouble seem to be in the lead. Each year the number of cases treated by the medical department increases, Doctor Siever stated. This is due to the increased enrolment as well as to the fact that more students are taking advantage of this service.

The equipment at the office is complete and includes a high-grade X-ray machine. The hospital, too, is well equipped. At no time during the year has the hospital been without patients, and many times it has been filled.

Garnet Grover in Manhattan

Garnet Grover, '22, who has been teaching for the past two years in Porto Rico, spent last week in Manhattan. During her first year in Porto Rico, Miss Grover taught home economics in the Guanico public schools, and last year she taught in the University of Porto Rico at Rio Piedras. From Manhattan she went to her home in Iola where she will spend the summer.

GRADUATE STUDY SHOWS INCREASE

139 ARE ENROLLED IN ADVANCED WORK THIS SUMMER

Fifteen Students Will Receive Degrees August 1—Form Graduate Club

One hundred thirty-nine students, or nearly twice as many as were enrolled last summer, are working for advanced degrees at K. S. A. C. this summer. Of this number, 15 will complete their work at the end of the summer school.

Shows Rapid Increase

The enrolment of graduate students has increased rapidly within the last few years. During the year 1922-23 there were 118 students taking graduate work. In 1923-24 there were 213 working for advanced degrees. Of the 139 enrolled this summer, 65 were not enrolled for the spring semester, thus making a total of 278 graduate students for the past year.

The requirements for a master's degree are 32 credit hours, or one year of full time study. In three-fourths of this work, the student must make a standing of "G" or better. The candidate must prepare a thesis, and must pass an oral examination from one to two hours in length over the work studied for the thesis.

Students Form Graduate Club

The graduate work is administered by a council of seven members, of which Dr. J. E. Ackert is chairman. A Graduate club, made up of students who are taking graduate work has been formed, and meetings which take the form of luncheons, hikes, dances or parties are held each month.

The students who will complete their work for a master's degree are as follows: Margaret Ahlborn, Smith Center; M. L. Baker, Syracuse; Emily M. Bennett, Peoria, Ill.; Harry Bryson, Leon; F. H. Bosman, Moemfontein, O. F. S.; Ruth Campbell, Springfield, Mo.; Marie Correll, Manhattan; F. E. Emery, Manhattan; F. P. Root, Iola; Bertha Snyder, Winfield; S. R. Todorovic, Manhattan; W. E. Watkins, Manhattan; Henry E. Wickers, Manhattan; E. W. Winkler, Rozel, and Mary A. Worcester, Manhattan.

Appoint New Student Pastor

Miss Charlotte Sparrowhawk of Oberlin, Ohio, has been appointed assistant pastor and director of social activities of the Congregational church, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Floyd Davidson, who has accepted the pastorate at Maize, a suburb of Wichita, and who will study at Fairmount college. Miss Sparrowhawk will begin her new duties August 31.

PROFESSOR RINGO TO TULSA

Music Faculty Member and Wife Teach in Oklahoma

Boyd R. Ringo, pianist, who for the past four years has been assistant professor in the department of music at K. S. A. C., has accepted a position as head of the piano department at Tulsa university, Tulsa, Okla., it was announced by Prof. Ira Pratt yesterday.

Professor Ringo's resignation will take effect at the close of the summer session, and he will leave Manhattan August 1. He will be accompanied by his wife, Helen Colburn Ringo, who will also be connected with Tulsa university where she will organize a piano department for children.

Which Would Tempt You Most—Pearls or a Typewriter?

If you were about to receive a present from your husband, or from someone else's husband, or from a man whom you wanted for your husband, and should be given a choice of a string of pearls or a typewriter, which would you choose?

Of course. So would most women. But if the husband was rich and successful, and was about to receive a title, and choosing between the pearls and the typewriter involved choosing between him and a position as a typist wouldn't that complicate matters still further?

This is the problem which confronts Lady Sims in "The Twelve Pound Look," which is one of the three one act comedies to be presented at the auditorium this evening at 8:30. The other two are "The Stepmother," by Arnold Bennett, and "Joint Owners in Spain," by Alice Brown.

Each day this week practices have been held in the auditorium under the direction of E. G. McDonald, with a resulting ease and finish which is very gratifying.

The plays are entirely suitable to the weather, and are guaranteed to keep you awake, even if the evening is sultry. There are no reserved seats, so get your tickets early at the box office.

CHUMOS PRESENTS LIFE AND WORKS OF HAMILTON

Topeka Boy Orator Speaks at Assembly Wednesday

The life and achievements of Alexander Hamilton, statesman, orator, financier, and one of the framers of the constitution were related to the students and faculty members at assembly Wednesday morning by George Chumos, the boy orator from Topeka, in his oration on "Alexander Hamilton and the Constitution of the United States." Mr. Chumos represented 16 states in this district at the National Oratorical contest which was held at Washington, D. C., on June 6.

"There is no need to urge loyalty to the Constitution. The thing which we need to do is to ponder on it," said Mr. Chumos. "Nothing in the past few years has awakened so much interest in the constitution over the United States as the national oratorical contest which was conducted this spring.

"Although we cannot confer the honor upon any one man for this constitution, the dominating ideas and propositions came from the pen of Alexander Hamilton. In fact, 22 provisions included in the constitution are a result of a six hour speech by Hamilton which appears in history as one of the greatest pieces of oratory the world has ever known.

"Everyone knows the tragic fate which befell Hamilton, the fact that he was killed by a bullet from the pistol of Aaron Burr, who had no grounds for the challenge which he hurled at Hamilton other than his disagreement over political ideas. Although Hamilton did not live to complete his work, that which he did accomplish lives after him."

In conclusion Mr. Chumos said, "The structure of the Constitution projected statesmanship into the future. This masterpiece will ever stand as an example of governmental foundation which has been patterned after by many countries and was the forerunner of the democratic form of government."

Grace Long, '23, has been appointed extension specialist in nutrition at the New Mexico State college.

SUMMER SCHOOL GROWS STEADILY

INCREASES FROM 31 TO 1,116 SINCE 1910

Aim Is to Meet Needs of Teachers of State—Appeal Made to Students Who Want to Work

From a modest beginning, with only 31 students enrolled, the summer school has grown slowly but steadily since 1910 to an enrolment of 1,116.

The aim of the summer session is two-fold. First, to meet the needs of teachers who desire to keep up with changing conditions, by taking work during their vacations; second to enable regularly enrolled students to make up back work, to complete their college work in less time, or to take work not permitted in their regular courses. The enrolment usually runs about 60 per cent teachers and 40 per cent regular students.

Is Not a Summer Resort

"We have not tried to advertise entertainments or amusements, or to compete with summer resorts," Dean Holton said. "Since the beginning, we have made our appeal to those students who want to work, and it is in this way that the enrolment has been built up."

With the exception of two years when he was away on leave of absence, Dean Holton has been in charge of the summer school. Being in the educational department, and therefore closely in touch with the needs of the teacher, he was the logical choice as director for a school which was planned primarily for teachers.

Instruction Is the Best

Practically every department offers courses during the summer, and a sufficient number of faculty members are retained to insure the best instruction to the students. The department of education, in particular, offers a variety of courses, not only for the experienced teacher, but for the high school graduate who wishes to qualify.

While the recreation side of summer school is not featured, ample amusements are provided. Of these the pageant, the summer school play, the mixer, and recitals and popular lectures by faculty members are the most outstanding.

The increase in enrolment in the last five years is shown by the following figures: 1920, 604; 1921, 820; 1922, 884; 1923, 978; 1924, 1,116.

To Teach at Boulder

Miss Mary Worcester, instructor in clothing, is teaching clothing during the first six weeks of the summer session at Boulder, Col. Miss Louise P. Glanton, head of the department of clothing and textiles, will take these classes during the last six weeks of the session.

TWO STUDENT RECITALS ARE ANNOUNCED FOR NEXT WEEK

Harold Flamm and Clara Howard to Give Programs

Two recitals by students in the department of music are announced for next week by Prof. Ira Pratt, head of the music department. The first recital, by Harold Flamm, baritone, will be given at the auditorium Tuesday at 4 o'clock, and the next by Clara Howard, soprano, will be at 4 o'clock Friday, July 25. Frances Allison will be accompanist at both recitals.

Both students have done outstanding work in the department, and the recitals should prove interesting. No admission charge will be made, and everyone is invited to attend.

MENTAL VERSUS PHYSICAL

Statistics disclosed as a result of investigations made this year by Dr. James Naismith reveal the fact that out of a large number of University students examined, those whose high scholastic standing has gained for them membership in Phi Beta Kappa or Sigma Xi are inferior physically to those not so scholarly inclined.

Doubtless these revelations were received enthusiastically by a large majority of students who, for one reason or another, have failed to achieve academic honors. To those of us who have not received grades of which we are proud, Doctor Naismith's statement will come as a convincing rationalizing argument and the opportunity to send marked copies of the Kansan home will not be overlooked.

The negative relation between physical and mental development, however, has long been suspected. The highest quality of work in a large institution in which scholastic standing is competitive necessarily requires many hours of hard study and leaves little time for exercise or recreation.

The Phi Beta Kappa doubtless realized this, but he also realized that he was in the University to secure an education. Within certain limits, is it not possible that the mental development he enjoys is more to be desired than the physical development he might have had?—The University Daily Kansan.

"And I tell you there is one single article in this here magazine that will open up hitherto unrecognized avenues of intelligence which have hitherto laid dormant avenues of which you have no knowledge avenues of which—"

We had read six galley's of proof and the Book Agent was still on the line.

"And I tell you lady when you subscribe for this here magazine of Scribblers and open up these avenues of intelligence which have hitherto laid dormant, your salary will be increased a hundred-fold and life will be one grand sweet song because Scribblers—"

Ho, hum. Read proof on that galley twice and found only 20 mistakes. Mind must be wandering.

"And I tell you I was brought up on Scribblers myself. All that I am or ever hope to be I owe to—"

Galley 10, and no relief in sight. Can't go on like this forever. Life is short and time is fleeting, and the paper must go to press tonight.

"Rudyard," we called—Rudyard is the office boy—"Ruydard, please bring the pistol immediately. You'll find it on top of the cupboard in the stock room."

The Book Agent paused for the first time in three hours. "May I ask why the firearms?"

"Certainly. It's a disease, an uncontrollable impulse. Comes on suddenly, and when we have a desire to shoot, we must shoot! The doctors say repression would be bad for our health. It's unfortunate, in a way, because so many nice people have to suffer. There was a salesman in here last week—had brown hair, like yours. We aimed at the window, but—but it's too horrible to talk about—the walls, spattered—. Tell us some more about your good magazine, please."

"Why, I—weren't you arrested?"

"Oh, yes, but—temporary insanity, you know. There was another in June—a real nice young man, about your age. See that reddish spot on the telephone? . . . His wife was hysterical when they brought the—"

He might at least have been courteous enough to bid us goodbye.

Brown Bull Plans Thrills for Profs Studes and Grads

Maybe you won't be here next winter. Perhaps you are going off somewhere to teach. But you'll still be interested in the college.

The Brown Bull will bring you the college atmosphere—the jolly, carefree, off-duty part of it that you want to remember—the part that makes "college life." Next winter when you are getting homesick for the old campus and the big stone buildings and Anderson and Recreation and the chapel jam and the postoffice rush, you'll be glad to see every issue of the good old Bull coming in the mail. You'll feel, then, that you are still a part of the college and are getting some of the "college life" mailed to you.

Perhaps in the town where you'll be there are some persons you want to interest in the college—some seniors in high school who haven't decided yet where they'll go. What would appeal to them more than the Brown Bull, showing them the "fun" side of going to college? Subscribe for them. They are worth the expenditure of one dollar.

SONATA RECITAL

Harry King Lamont and Mrs. Helen Colburn-Ringo are two of the most deservedly popular young people of the music faculty at the college; and their sonata recital Wednesday night drew a large crowd in spite of the decidedly uncomfortable weather.

Mr. Lamont and Mrs. Ringo, although they have appeared many times before Manhattan audiences, were never more heartily received than they were in their joint recital, Wednesday evening; and never have they appeared to better advantage. Their heavy program of Mozart, Brahms and Greig seemed not so much to make demands upon their interpretive ability as it seemed to give them room to express themselves.

Both Mr. Lamont and Mrs. Ringo are young artists. Mr. Lamont studied violin with Woodard of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra and played with the Chicago Civic orchestra before coming to K. S. A. C. Mrs. Ringo, after graduating from the music department of the college, took post-graduate work at the American Conservatory at Chicago and studied privately with Levy and Sturkow-Ryder. Their programs always have that competency of grasp, that adequacy of technique, that feeling for music values, which distinguishes the artist from the mere musician.

The program of Mozart, Brahms and Grieg was an ambitious one—it lacked only a Beethoven number to make it perfect—but Mr. Lamont and Mrs. Ringo were equal to the task. In its class there is nothing finer in the literature of violin and piano music than the Tema con variazioni movement of Mozart's "Sonata in F Major." Mozart's agile lyric brain here selected a melodic theme and gave it infinite variety; yet none of Mozart's subtlety or fantasy was lost at the hand of either Mr. Lamont or Mrs. Ringo. The same thing may be said of their interpretation of the impish twists in the Minuetto movement of the same sonata. Everything was done spiritedly, and decidedly in keeping with the best Mozart tradition.

The Brahms "Sonata in A Major" was more or less familiar to us on account of its similarity in theme to "Walther's Prize Song." The Grieg "Sonata in F Major" was a fitting climax to the splendid program.

The program Wednesday night was of more than average interest, because in all probability it was Mrs. Ringo's last public appearance before she leaves Manhattan to become head of the children's section of the department of music in the University of Tulsa. During the time that Mrs. Ringo has been here, she has built up a large and an enthusiastic following. Her work as piano soloist and as accompanist for visiting artists has always been of an exceptionally high order. Her charming personality will be missed in the music circles of the college next year.—C. W. M.

DAVIS OUTLINES WORK OF DAWES COMMISSION

Present Year Marks Transition Period, Speaker Declares, in Assembly Address

"The year which we are going through is a transition period; second only to the one in which world hostilities ended," said Dr. J. S. Davis, director of food research at Leland Stanford university, in an address to the student assembly recently. Doctor Davis was a member of the Dawes commission, which made a study of conditions in Germany in an effort to determine her ability to pay the reparations.

"Europe has been handicapped in several ways since the war," he continued. "The first handicap has been bad money. Two methods were employed to raise money. In Russia, paper money was turned out in large quantities at the mints, with the result that prices soared. Germany tried a system of borrowing with results similar to those in Russia."

A second disturbing influence was the problem of German reparations, and it was to solve this problem that the reparations commission was called together. The question was taken up under two divisions—first, how the German budget could be balanced, and second, how the currency could be stabilized.

After a thorough examination, a plan was drawn up which seemed to promise a solution. The plan is as follows: (1) Germany must be restored to full control of her natural and industrial resources; (2) a bank independent of government control, must be established, which will be responsible for putting the money on a sound basis; (3) a new reparations schedule must be worked out which will lower the annual payments; (4) a loan shall be arranged for the first year in order to give temporary relief; (5) a certain percent of the taxes, and also of the bonds and securities of all corporations shall be set aside for the payment of the reparations; (6) the final clause provided that Germany should discharge her obligations by paying all funds into the newly established bank, and it would then be the task of a committee to transfer the funds from the bank to the creditors abroad without endangering the stability of the currency.

LILLIAN BAKER TO TAKE PLACE OF MISS GLANTON

Clothing and Textiles Department Head to Study at Yale

Miss Lillian Baker, a graduate of K. S. A. C. with the class of '14, has been appointed to take the place of Miss Louise P. Glanton, head of the department of clothing and textiles, who has been granted a year's leave of absence to study at Yale.

Miss Baker took her M. S. degree at the University of Chicago, specializing in the hygiene of clothing. She was formerly head of the home economics department at Goucher college at Baltimore, and has recently resigned her position as head of home economics at Lombard college, Galesburg, Ill.

TRAINING COURSE OPENS FOR CAMPFIRE GUARDIANS

Classes Meet Daily Beginning Last Wednesday

A training course for Campfire guardians is being offered this week under the direction of Miss Ethel Myers, local Campfire executive, for the benefit of summer school students.

The courses began Wednesday, July 16, and will close July 23.

Prof. J. C. Peterson of the psychology department was the speaker on the first day, taking for his subject, "Mental Health of the High School Girl." Craft work was taught by Mrs. Paul Nickel on Thursday, and on Friday Campfire music will be taken up. Next week details of Campfire organization will be discussed.

The meetings are held at 4 and 7 each day at the home economics rest room.

ADMINISTRATION CLUB IS ORGANIZED BY STUDENTS

Members Meet Each Tuesday to Discuss Problems

An Administrative club, composed of high school superintendents and principals, was formed at the beginning of summer school for the purpose of discussing the problems arising in high school work. This club meets every Tuesday.

The officers of the club are: Supt. O. M. Chilcott, chairman; J. H. Houston, vice-chairman; Miss Gracelee Wolverton, secretary. Other members of the organization are: James E. Knox, A. V. Hedges, Isaac V. Martin, George Corbet, L. T. Perrill, Arvid Nelson, Martin Fritz, R. A. Esdon, R. C. Maddy, Neill S. Smith, Sister M. Euphrasia, Sister M. Stanislaus, Earl Walker, J. H. Borror, and Nellie M. Gibbets.

Will Have Educational Building

The present vocational building, known familiarly as the "old Ag building" will be known as the Educational building after the close of the summer session. Repairs are now being made in the building, and the offices of all faculty members in the department of education will be moved to this building during the summer. The public speaking department will continue to occupy the second floor of the building.

TO ERECT BROADCASTING STATION

College of the Air Will Be Continued Next Fall

Construction work on the K. S. A. C. broadcasting station will begin as soon as necessary material arrives, probably about September 1, Prof. E. R. Lyon of the department of physics announces. The fund of $20,000 which has been appropriated will insure the installation of a station which will equal those in nearby cities.

Nichols gymnasium will be the location of the new station. Two large steel towers will be erected on top of the building, and one of the rooms on the second floor will be used as the broadcasting room.

By means of this station, the "college of the air," initiated last year by the extension division of the college, will be conducted again next fall.

Forty courses, covering the fields of agriculture, general science, engineering, and home economics are included in the radio curricula. In addition to the courses planned especially to meet the needs of farmers, courses of interest to business men, to young people, and to women will be offered. Prospective students who desire to enrol will be furnished a catalog of radio extension courses and enrolment blanks.

The 10 weeks "college of the air" was conducted this year as an experiment, the programs being broadcast by remote control from the KFKB station at Milford. The success of this first course has made evident to college officials the practicability of radio as an agency in education. Kansas State Agricultural college is the first educational institution in the world to use radio as a means of conducting regular courses of study.

Prof. and Mrs. G. E. Raburn left recently for a two months' tour of the Yellowstone Park, Idaho, and Colorado. They were accompanied by Professor Raburn's parents.

Miss Wildy to Estes Park

The Y. W. C. A. work for the summer is being taken care of at the office of the Dean of Women while Miss Lois Wildy, Y. W. C. A. secretary, is in Estes Park attending the various conferences. Miss Wildy attended the conference which closed June 17 and is now at the Girl Reserve conference.

TWO ASSISTANTS APPOINTED IN HOME ECONOMICS DIVISION

To Succeed Miss Margaret Ahlborn and Miss Mary Mason

Miss Mary Margaret Shaw and Miss Lucille Rust have been elected graduate assistants in the division of home economics, it was announced at President Jardine's office yesterday.

Miss Shaw will take the place of Miss Margaret Ahlborn in the department of food economics and nutrition. Miss Ahlborn has been raised to the rank of an instructor in this department.

Miss Rust will be graduate assistant in the department of household economics, taking the place of Miss Mary Mason, who has accepted a position as instructor in household management at the Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa.

Professor Williams to Alabama

Prof. C. V. Williams of the department of education will leave Manhattan the latter part of July for the Alabama Polytechnic institute, where he will teach three educational classes in the second term of the summer school session. The classes which Professor Williams will teach are special methods of teaching vocational agriculture, the community program of the vocational teacher, and job analysis as applied to curriculum building. He will return to K. S. A. C. this fall.
